

Baarcke, Wall, Tinkham

Medley Relay Swim Team Wins DTH Athlete Award

By Bill Peacock

Coach Dick Jamerson says of his fine 300-yard medley relay team, "They had more to do with winning the State meet than anything else," and for the first time this year The Daily Tar Heel has chosen three men instead of one for its Athlete of the Week.

The three swimmers are Buddy Baarcke, Barry Wall, and Stan Tinkham who won the medley relay in record time against a very strong State team here last Thursday and got the Tar Heels off to a flying start in a meet which they won handily, 49-35.

The Wolfpack came to Chapel Hill that night with the best team in State history and were prepared to return to Raleigh with the Southern Conference dual meet championship. In the leadoff event, the medley relay, Coach Willis Casey of State sent in his top three men, Tom Dunlap, Paul Arata, and Frank Nauss.

Hotter Than Ever

But the Carolina trio were hotter than ever before and won easily, with Tinkham coming home about seven yards before Nauss in the fine time of 2:54.5, easily topping the old conference and University record of 2:56.3 set by Jimmy Thomas, Wall, and Tinkham last year.

The showing of that relay team was typical of the entire team which put forth its best effort, which was necessary to win. The best previous time that Baarcke, Wall, and Tinkham had turned in was 2:57.5.

"It's a perfectly good illustration of a bunch of kinds that didn't believe they were licked until they were beaten," said Jamerson. Only Wall had equalled his time this year.

The trio of Baarcke, Wall, and Tinkham did well in the individual events, too. Baarcke won the 200-yard backstroke in 2:17.2 with teammate Warren Heeman and Dunlap tying for second place.

Wall clinched the meet for Carolina with a second in the 200-yard breaststroke, finishing behind Arata. Tinkham lost a split decision for first place in the 100-yard freestyle to Don Sonia of State. Both men hit the end of the pool at almost the same instant and both were given the time of 53.5. Tinkham was the team's hardest worker, also competing in the 400-yard freestyle relay which lost to State's recording setting team.

Tinkham, Wall, and Baarcke were all scholastic stars before they came to Carolina three years ago. Baarcke, a Birmingham, Ala., boy, was a sensation at Sewanee Prep and Tinkham and Wall were top notch AAU performers for the Ambassador Hotel team in Washington, D. C. They became interested in Carolina after competing in the Interscholastic meet here.

Second place in the voting went to forward Al Lifson who was the only bright spot in the basketball picture last week while the Tar Heels lost three straight. He boosted his average to almost 16 points per game with 69 points, an average of 23 for the week.

Third place went to swimmer Donnie Evans who won his specialty, the 440 against State and set a conference record. He did the distance in 4:49.9.

UNC Players Are 'Basketball Happy'—Scott

Coach Tom Scott sat on the sidelines as his Carolina basketball team ran through warm-up drills yesterday and tried to figure out what has happened to his unpredictable team.

The Tar Heels, pleasant and bewildering surprises early in the season, have slumped badly. With another tough one coming up with N. C. State College tomorrow night, it looks as though the only redemption possible could be an upset over the Wolfpack.

Oddly enough it was the Wolfpack defeat in overtime a month ago that kicked off the Tar Heels' downgrade ride. Since that defeat the Tar Heels won only two contests in eight, all against Southern Conference opposition.

The Tar Heels went into the State game with a fine 6-2 loop record. It was obvious that the Tar Heels were "up" for the scrap, led by 11 points in the third quarter, ended the regulation game tied 53-53, and lost in the overtime by 58-53.

Then the Tar Heels skidded and lost successive games to Wake Forest, Duke and West Virginia. A slight recovery saw the Tar Heels defeat The Citadel and Furman, but they were knocked from tournament contention by losses to South Carolina, Clemson and Davidson.

Scott explains that the Tar Heels may be "basketball happy." Lacking a strong bench, Jack Wallace, Al Lifson, Howard Deasy, and Vince Grimaldi have played practically without relief in all 25 contests to date.

"I believe they're mentally and physically stale," Scott says.

Wallace and Lifson had been the steadiest Tar Heels. Wallace's all-around floor game has been a highlight of the season, while freshman Lifson's outstanding shooting has kept the Tar Heels a high scoring team.

Lifson has scored 391 points for the Tar Heels for an average slightly under 16 points a game, including the first five battles in which he was used sparingly. In the last four Tar Heel games he has hit for 22, 27, 25 and 17 points.

Maryland, Duke Threaten UNC Crown In Indoor Meet

By Martin Jordan

Carolina's six year reign in the Southern Conference Indoor Meet may end this year as potent teams from Maryland and Duke make their bids for top honors in the annual event.

The Terps, third in last year's meet, served first warning by dethroning Carolina in the conference outdoor meet last spring. This year they will enter the indoor event with four defending champions.

Maryland's Jack Unterkofler, last year's shot put champion, is highly favored in his specialty. Mile runner Tyson Creamer, high jumper Bill Barnham, and Al Buehler in the 880-yard division are other Terp defending champions who will be trying to repeat.

Monty Cohen Outstanding

Monty Cohen, who placed second in the 70 yard low hurdles, fourth in the broad jump and fourth in the 70 yard high hurdles last year, is another outstanding Maryland entry along with Tex Carter, hurdler, Phil Stroupe and Gus Meier, middle distance runners, and shot putter Pete Augsburg.

Additional strength on the Maryland team will come from last year's freshman entries who won the freshman division of the mammoth event. Mac Byrd has shown much promise in the 60-yard dash and two relay runners from the frosh group have moved into starting positions on the Terp mile relay team.

With these many potentialities Maryland has been established as favorite in the conference divisions, but a very strong Duke team will furnish another field of runners.

Duke placed second in the indoor meet last season and is rated as one of the top possibilities to capture the crown this year. Duke's hopes are built around John Tate, defending champion in the 440 yard run, and Henry Poss, last year's broad jump champion.

Duke's Piney Field, second last year, will be one of the 60-yard dash favorites, and Joel Shankle, Blue Devil freshman ace is an outstanding hurdler. Distance runners Bob Marshall and Tom Sanders, and shot putters Tank Lawrence and Jack Kistler are high ranking Duke entries.

Numerous point placers in last year's meet and many talented newcomers from other conference and non-conference schools are expected to give rugged competition to the eight returning champions and the other favored entries.

LACROSSE PRACTICE

Coach Allen Moore requests that all lacrosse hopefuls report to Room 313 in Woollen Gym Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, is one of the oldest voluntary agencies in America, with a history of 30 years of continuous service. The North Carolina Crippled Childrens League is a member of this society, and the Campus Chest.

UNC Teams On Road

All the Carolina athletic teams go on the road this week and all but the wrestling and basketball teams close out the season before the conference meets here next week.

The wrestling team meets powerful Maryland in College Park, Md., tonight and the junior varsity swim team takes on Staunton Military School at Staunton, Va. The Terp wrestling team is favored to win the conference championship and should whip the Tar Heels, who have won one and lost six, with out any trouble.

in Philadelphia, Pa., the gym team meets Navy in Annapolis, and the wrestling team takes on Virginia in Charlottesville.

CUSTOMERS' CORNER

George Washington said it first.

This week, the celebration of Washington's birthday brings to mind the story about the famous cherry trees. Whether he said, "I cannot tell a lie" . . . we don't know, but the father of our country did say, "Honesty is always the best policy." The founding father of A&P — George Huntington Hartford—had the same idea when he said, "Always do what is honest, fair and sincere and in the best interest of our customers."

That's the spirit that has always guided the folks of A&P. It always will!
