

Door Stolen Says Graham Dorm Man

Several residents of Graham dorm complained Thursday night that living there was "like living in a goldfish bowl," as a result of a unique robbery. Chapel Hill Police received a call from one resident who reported that his door had been stolen. They thought it was a joke.

John Sipp knew otherwise: it was his door.

At least one door was carried off and several others switched sometime Thursday. While other residents were trying their room keys in every door, attempting to locate theirs, Sipp wanted to locate just any door.

Be on the lookout for a 'hot' door.

Graduation Invitations To Be Sold

June graduates will have their first opportunity to purchase senior class invitations and announcements Tuesday when they will go on sale in the Y Court at 9 o'clock in the morning. The Order of the Grail will again handle the selling of invitations as it has in the past.

A desk will be maintained in the lobby of the Y building daily for about three weeks according to Frank Allston, Grail invitation chairman.

Samples of the different invitations and announcements will be available for inspection at the desk.

The Grail is the only organization authorized to handle the sale of invitations and announcements as well as class rings. Seniors desiring to obtain invitations and announcements are urged to order them as soon as possible.

Foght and the business manager are paid $50 a month; five other staff members receive $13.89 a month.

The petitioners also asked for the home addresses of nine Technician staff members with non-Anglo-Saxon names: Paul Foght, D. E. Marrus, Steve Elstein, Dan Harnat, Allan Nishball, Elliot Kabash, Walser Kasman, Robert Cabaniss and Ken Gibaldo.

Foght has also urged, editorially, that Consolidated University President Gordon Gray conduct a "thorough study" of "State's athletic policy and the Athletic Council."

"The firing of Beattie Feathers by the Athletic Council violates the spirit of the Southern Conference athletic meetings led by Mr. Gray himself," Foght charged.

In October Chancellor Harrelson was quoted in the Technician, as saying "Athletics is out of control."

According to Foght, "that statement is true, but incomplete. The Athletic Council is also out of control."

"Only a drastic alteration of the present organization and power of the council will bring it back in line with the rest of the college. The power of the President and the Chancellor should exceed that of the council. The proceedings of the council should be made subject to review by college officialdom and some of its authority should be taken away."

"The time has come," Foght asserted, "to reduce the power of this agency which has created such turmoil on our campus."

-Election-

necessary in order to hold an election on the question this quarter.

He stated he didn't like the laxness in regard to the constitution as the reason for taking the bill to the Student Council, adding that a trend was starting toward a laxness in all elections beginning with the fall elections.

Shuford said he would ask Speaker Bunny Davis to call a special session for Monday night in order to have the election date set and give the Election Board enough time to make public notice.
