Barton Unanimously Chosen SP Presidential Candidate

Orientation Chairman Ken Barton, a former acting-president of the Student Body, last night became the Student Party's candidate for President in the approaching early-April elections.

The Elizabeth, N. J., junior was nominated by Ken Pennegar and received the bid by acclamation.

In accepting the nomination Barton expressed his "personal desire to serve the students and to make student government their tool. I am convinced that through positive action this can be done, even on a large campus such as this one," he asserted.

"A candidate," Barton explained, "should not seek office in student government without having a real reason for doing so. His term in office could not be successful without a positive purpose and program.

"I am looking forward," he said, "to talking with the students of the campus in the coming campaign in an effort to bring about a student government which is personal to them and which is based upon their needs. Student government is inadequate unless it serves every individual."

He told the Student Party that "there is a need for a reaffirmation of party principles if we are going to continue to serve the campus and put in action the platform which our name carries."

Barton administered campus student government last summer as acting president during the first summer school term.

As Orientation Chairman this year, he won praise for inaugurating a program of class-room orientation of freshmen to replace the old mass-assemblies. Administration, faculty and student leaders participated in the class discussions, calculated to give the freshmen a better understanding of the philosophy of the University.

A political science and journalism major, Barton has served as editor of the Carolina Handbook, as a member of the President's cabinet and as a Daily Tar Heel staff-member for two years.

A member of Chi Psi fraternity, he acted as vice-president last year.

At present, he is a member of the sponsoring committee for the current YMCA State of the Campus conference and has been a member of the Y cabinet for the past three years.

He is head of the student government committee which is now investigating the "date-ticket" situation in Kenan stadium, in an attempt to enable students with out-of-town dates to sit in the concrete stands.

UP Delays

The University Party postponed nominations for president and vice-president of the student body last night.

Nominations were delayed because of the scant attendance and will be made next Monday night at 7 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

Legislature

A special session of the Student Legislature has been called for tonight at 7:15 in the Di hall, third floor New West. They will set a new election date for the constitutional amendments.

The legislature is meeting at the request of Sid Shuford, UP legislator, who contested the election date for the constitutional amendments originally scheduled tomorrow. The Student Council ruled the date void.

Six days public notice must be given before an election can be held on an election concerning constitutional amendments according to the constitution.

Merchant Association committee last year, he worked for better relationships between Chapel Hill merchants and University students.

Cox Leaves Coaching For Clothing Job

Bob Cox, coach of the undefeated junior varsity team this fall, became the second football coach in two weeks to quit yesterday when he announced that he will leave the staff and go into the clothing business here in Chapel Hill.

Backfield coach Charlie Justice announced two weeks ago that he would leave the coaching staff to take a business job in Charlotte that would permit him to play for the professional Washington Redskins.

George Barclay, former head University, was added to the staff three weeks ago in the first of three recent changes in the coaching staff. Head coach Carl Snavely would not comment on the possible hiring of additional coaches.

Cox will open a store called The Town and Campus about March 15 in partnership with Monk Jennings. It had been rumored for some time that he would leave his post.

Cox, from Germantown, Tenn., was a member of the football team from 1945-48 and the regular offensive right end in 1947 and 1948. He was called "True Toe" for his ability to kick extra points. In 1946 he made 31 of 36 and kicked a field goal in the Sugar Bowl and in 1948 he kicked 33 of 37 and caught three touchdown passes for 51 points.

He was a sure pass catcher, especially on short ones, and led the team in passes caught in 1947 (See COX LEAVES, page 4)

'Guys And Dolls'

Two Carolina 'Guys' and 60 sorority 'Dolls' will star in "Pan-Antics", the Pan-Hellenic Council's benefit variety show, to be presented tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall. Durwood "Nose" Jones will act as Master of Ceremonies.

Also featured in the show will be the Cavaliers of Duke and Carolina, Johnny Minter and his orchestra, the Divine Travelers, vocalist Carl Viperman, Pi Phi Ginny Clark, vocalist, and Bill Cook and quartet.

All participants in "Pan-Antics" are donating their services for the charity show, proceeds from which will go to the Crossnore School. Tickets may be purchased in the lobby of the YMCA building, or from sorority members for 50 cents.

Two Trustees Will Attempt Plan At Friday's Meeting

(Special to The Daily Tar Heel)

RALEIGH, Feb. 25—An attempt will be made by two University trustees at Friday's Board meeting here to muzzle the three student newspapers of the Consolidated University, it was revealed to The Daily Tar Heel tonight.

In connection with this move and the recent University-wide fight with the two trustees and a group of N. C. State Charlotte alumni, several student leaders have been told to appear at the 11 a. m. meeting.

The informant, an unimpeachable source who declined to be named, said the effort to stifle the student paper's attacks on John Clark would be made either by Clark or his brother Dave of Charlotte.

John Clark, who signs his letters as a "member of the Executive Committee" of the Trustees, has tangled with The Daily Tar Heel at Chapel Hill and The Carolinian at Woman's College in Greensboro.

His brother Dave is one of 16 Mecklenburg alumni clamoring that Editor Paul Focht of State's Technician be "punished" for a "scurrilous" editorial he wrote concerning Athletic Council Chairman Dr. H. A. Fisher.

The informant further told The Daily Tar Heel that he expects Clark's efforts to be defeated.

Freedom Discussion

"Are We Losing Our Academic Freedom?"

That is the topic of a public discussion to be held at 8 o'clock tonight in Gerrard hall.

Participating will be Phillips Russell, professor of journalism; Lee Brooks, professor of sociology; Wayne Bowers, professor of physics, and two students—Jack Phillips and Allan Mill-edge.

The panel will consider recent evidence that pressure is being applied against students and faculty members voicing their opinions on controversial issues. They will also attempt to determine if a general state of apathy and suspicion is throttling the intellectual life of the campus.

The public is invited to join the discussion and help determine suitable courses of action.

French Honor Society Initiation Set Tonight

An informal banquet will be held at 7:00 in the Faculty room of Lenoir Hall for the installation and initiation ceremonies of Beta Alpha, the newest and forty-ninth chapter of Pi Delta Phi, national French Honor Society. Local officers will be installed and the charter will be presented by Dr. Reino Virtanen, Associate Professor of French at the University of Tennessee.

Dr. Virtanen is very active in Pi Delta Phi, now serving as Representative of their National Executive Committee and is very qualified in the field of Modern French Literature. One of the highlights of the evening will be his presentation of a paper entitled "French Opinions of American Literature."

Sixty members have qualified for initiation this evening. Mr. Hugo Giduz is the Faculty advisor and Mmm. Charlotte Huse is the Counselor.

GUSC Gives John Clark Another Slap

RALEIGH—The student council of the Consolidated University at a meeting here this weekend called upon the University Board of Trustees to "take steps to prevent recurrence of further attempts to suppress the free expression of student opinion."

The resolution, passed unanimously by the 33-member council, was a slap at Trustee John W. Clark of Greensboro.

Clark has written letters to home town officials, as well as the Dialectic Senate in Chapel Hill, seeking information on University students opposed to segregation. Student newspapers at both Womans' College in Greensboro and the University in Chapel Hill, have charged him with trying to intimidate campus leaders with "Gestapo Tactics." The Daily Tar Heel has also charged that Clark was trying to be a self-appointed censor of student opinion.

Eleven representatives from each of the three Greater University units attended the meeting here which passed the resolution.

Text of the resolution: "Whereas: A certain alumni and/or members of the Board of Trustees and others of the Consolidated University of North Carolina have attempted to influence student opinion through outside pressure and by a direct request to college administrators, and

"Whereas: B, An atmosphere of secrecy has continuously surrounded the handling of certain college funds.

"Therefore, be it resolved that the student council of the Consolidated University of North Carolina take steps to prevent the recurrence of further attempts to suppress the free expression of student opinion, and

"Article 2: That the Board of Trustees require the publication of all information concerning the disbursements of student funds, including the profits of all State-controlled businesses patronized by the students.

The portion of the resolution calling for the publication of information concerning the use of student funds came as one of results of a lengthy battle at State College this year. Student leaders at State demanded that figures showing the net profits of campus student supply stores be published. The figures were furnished after demands by newspapers and a student mass meeting.

Most of the proceeds from the stores go into a scholarship fund, primarily for athletes, and part for a general campus improvement fund.

Council members said the resolution will be placed before the trustees of the Consolidated University at their meeting here Friday.

From Raleigh News and Observer

Gray Should Speak

The following editorial, printed February 19 in the Raleigh News and Observer, was answered today in the Letters to the Editor column of that newspaper, with letters from both John Clark and Junius Scales. Scales denied the alleged correlation between his work and that of John Clark. Clark denied that he had used "bullying tactics" towards students. And both violently reasserted the separate but strangely similar views so often propounded by the two men.

There can hardly be any question that Junius Scales, North Carolina's one and only proclaimed Communist, is trying to give the impression that his propaganda comes from the University when he uses as an address a post office box in Chapel Hill though he does not live there. There can be no doubt either that John Clark, conservative trustee of Greensboro, is energetically supporting Scales in his pretension when he undertakes to prove that among the leaders of the student body itself the situation is "rotten" in terms of subversive ideas and attitudes. Scales' propaganda is ridiculously unsuccessful as was demonstrated by his recent outrageous but futile efforts to undermine the Red Cross blood
