

Stacked Miss Chapel Hill Is Dealt Out -- Too Young

Miss Chapel Hill won't represent Chapel Hill at the State Beauty Pageant, July 24-26.

Attractive, well-built Ann Jacobs, who won the title last Friday night, was declared ineligible yesterday.

National Miss America Pageant rules call for all contestants to be 18-years-old by September 1. Miss Jacobs will not be 18 until September 6.

Gran Childress, Co-Chairman of the local pageant, said yesterday that Miss Jacobs is still Miss Chapel Hill.

She can keep the wardrobe she won in the pageant and a check for $250 will be deposited in the bank as a scholarship for her. The scholarship is another prize of the pageant.

The local Jaycees have not yet decided whether to send a substitute to the State pageant in Winson-Salem. Iris Merritt took second place in the beauty show here.

Artist's Work On Display At Forum

Robert Howard, visiting sculptor in the art department, is one of four artists whose works will be on exhibition in the Weather-spoon gallery at Woman's College in Greensboro for the 1952 Fine Arts Forum there.

Howard will exhibit several pieces of sculpture in terra cotta, metal and other media. Among these will be three new works completed within the last month; "The City", a large construction of metals; "Prisoners," a terra cotta sculpture of encaged figure forms; and "Table Painting," a painting designed to be seen coming and going, and mounted on a wire, three dimensional structure.

Howard who studied at Phillips University and the University of Tulsa in Oklahoma, and with Ossip Zadkine in Paris, will lead a discussion group on "Today's Sculptor and His Art" in the auditorium of the Home Economics building at 2 p.m. He will also participate in a panel discussion on art with other exhibiting artists, Wolfgang Behl, sculptor; Stuart Purser, painter; and Duncan Stuart, painter.

This is the ninth annual Arts Forum held by Woman's College. It will open Thursday, March 13, at 10 a.m. and continue with discussions, exhibitions of student work in art, as well as presentations of music, dance, theatre arts and writing.

Statistics Expert Sets Talk At Duke

Samuel Weiss, secretary of the American Statistical Association and chief statistician of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, will be the guest of the State chapter of the association for an address at Duke University next week.

He will speak on "The Current Revisions of the Indexes Issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics," at 7:30 p.m., March 12, in room 114 of Duke's social science building.

All UNC faculty members and students have been invited to attend.

Tables have been reserved in the Oak room of the Duke Union building for those who desire to have dinner there before the meeting. The regular menu will be offered at the usual prices. Persons planning to eat in the Oak room should notify Miss Lambert, 113 Bingham hall here, by Monday, March 10.

Junior Council Finishes Series

Junior Council, YWCA leadership training program, completed its series of four meetings Monday night. These meetings were planned by a committee composed of Carline Hassinger, Marilyn Walker, Frankie Strosnyder, Mary Nell Boddie, Janie Piper, Adair Beasley, Gay Currie and Dickie Evans.

Next year's Y officers will be elected from the Junior Council group in April.

The Y wishes to express its thanks to Mrs. R. H. Wettach and all others who helped make this program possible.

Women's Hospital Auxiliary To Be Formed Here Mar. 19

A Women's Hospital Auxiliary, an adjunct of the University's teaching hospital, scheduled for opening this summer, will be organized at a meeting of interested persons at the Institute of Pharmacy Wednesday, March 19, if sufficient interest is indicated by those attending.

The meeting will get under way at 10:30 o'clock and all women of Chapel Hill and Carboro who may be interested are invited to attend.

The presidents of the various civic and church groups and other community organizations have been invited to attend and bring representatives.

Plans for the meeting are being made by a committee appointed by Administrator Robert R. Cadmus of the hospital. Mrs. Gordon Gray is chairman of the committee and other members are Mrs. W. R. Berryhill, Mrs. H. T. Clark, Jr., Mrs. Cadmus and Mrs. M. R. Jacobs, supervisor or volunteers.

Mrs. Gray will preside over the organizational meeting and Dr. Cadmus will be the speaker.

The wives of the members of the Trustees' committee on hospital affairs have also been invited.

If sufficient interest is shown locally the plan is to organize auxiliaries throughout the state. There is a national organization called the Women's Hospital Auxiliaries which has a membership of 500,000, more than double what it was two years ago.

A question asked the Chest officials frequently is who is this year's Miss Campus Chest. And many are wondering why the contest was not held this year. In 1950 a contest was planned but was called off due to lack of contestants.
