

Netters Defeat Springfield By 9-0

Team Loses One Match In Doubles

The University of North Carolina tennis team took its second straight match of the season here yesterday afternoon, beating Springfield College by the score of 8-1, losing only one of the doubles matches.

The Carolina team made a clean sweep of the singles and coach John Kenfield played his second stringers in the doubles to give them some experience. The combination of Cecil Milton and Bill Temple was the only one to turn in a loss. They were beaten by Bob Lake and Jeff Resnick.

Sylvia Wins Easily

Carolina's number one player, Del Sylvia, had an easy time in taking the measure of Springfield's Bill Summers. He was in control of the situation the whole time and at one time in the first set won three games in a row by love scores.

Carolina's quartet of freshmen, Herb Browne, Bob Payne, Sam Handel, and Ronald Kerdasha, all turned in victories. Kerdasha, playing in the number six spot, was the only one to be extended. He lost his first game 4-6, but rallied to win the last two easily, 6-0, 6-2.

Two Love Matches

Two men turned in wins without losing a single game. Freshman Sam Handel took the measure of John Connors in 12 straight games and Bill Izlar did the same to Jeff Resnick.

The weather was warm and comfortable for the players, but toward the end of the match a strong wind hampered them slightly.

Tar Heels Meet Virginia Nine Today

Bill Lore Will Pitch Against UVa

by Ed Starnes

Carolina's baseball team moves into Emerson Stadium at 3 o'clock today for its first home game of the season, meeting Virginia, a team the Tar Heels haven't beaten since 1947. The Cavaliers won a 5-4 contest last year.

Back from a very successful round robin series at Winter Park, Fla., where they won three of four games the Tar Heels look for a victory in the home opener.

Coaches Walt Rabb and Bunn Hearn will call on either Bill Lore or Chalmers Port to handle the pitching assignment against Virginia. Both men turned in fine performances in the Florida trip.

The infield will probably have Ben Smith at first base, Mark Herring at second, Fred Dale at shortstop, and Bruce Coats at third. Bill Reeves, Tom Stevens, and Wayne White will start in the outfield. Dick Wiess is the regular catcher.

Rabb and Hearn have 15 lettermen to work with this year and a few of the positions aren't settled yet. The two coaches used 25 men in the four-game stand at Winter Park and most of the boys looked good. Bob Henning, Skeet Hesmer, Bruce Holt, and Ed Hooks might break into the starting infield, while Connie Gravitte, John Stowe, John Motzinger, and Charlie Bridger are trying to move into the first team outfield.

Virginia has back almost the same team that won that state's Big Six title last year. Bob Tata, who led the Old Dominion batters last year with a .371 mark is still around at first base. Bill Davenport, who won All-State honors at second base will play shortstop, while freshman Mel Roach, the handy man with a football, replaces Davenport at second. Freshman Bus Sheppard, a .373 high school batter, will handle the third sack.

Cavalier coach Gus Tebell is in a position to shift his outfield against left or right handed pitchers. Joe Green, Wayne Hicks, and Jack Ryder will start against right handers, while Chet Wiesinger, Johnny Garland, and Bill Bonney will see action against port-siders.

Tom Evans, the Cavaliers talented pitcher who won 9 of their 18 victories last year, has graduated, but Tebell has a quartet of newcomers to fill the gap.

CATCHER DICK WIESS will be one of the mainstays in the Carolina lineup against Virginia's baseball team here today in the home opener. Wiess, a senior from Philadelphia, is probably the most powerful hitter on the team and had an average of .276 last year.
