

Beta Theta Pi Celebrates Its 100 Anniversary

Eta chapter of Beta Theta Pi, third oldest fraternity on the Carolina campus, will celebrate its 100th anniversary the weekend of April 18.

Established in April of 1852, the fraternity will begin festivities with a costume dance in the Carolina Inn Ballroom on Friday night.

On Saturday a buffet luncheon will be served followed by initiation ceremonies for the pledge class. At the same time Mrs. Charles Seward, Beta housemother, will entertain the wives of alumni with a tea at the chapter house.

The Blue Room of Lenoir Hall will be the scene of a banquet Saturday night, which will highlight the organized activities of the weekend.

Delivering the main address will be A. J. Guston Priest, New York, president of the fraternity and head of the Utilities Division of the American Bar Association. He will be a visiting professor of Utility Law at Chapel Hill during the summer session.

Clem B. Holding, Raleigh, District Chief of the fraternity, will preside.

A booklet has been prepared by the active chapter to commemorate the occasion. Among the articles included are a history of the chapter, an analysis of the chapter's present status and a special tribute to the 17 members of 50 years standing.

24 Students Signed For Roslyn Confab

Twenty-four students have registered in advance for the YM-YWCA conference at Roslyn, Va., which opens tonight.

The conference will be led by Dr. Warren Ashby, professor of philosophy at Woman's college. He formerly was at Carolina.

"Our concern during this conference will be a search for a personal understanding of the Christian faith and its relation to the wholeness of life," John Riebel, assistant Y secretary, said yesterday.

Leaders for the program, "Christianity: the Wholeness of Life," will be George Esser of the Institute of Government; the Rev. David Swain, Wesley foundation director, University Methodist church; John Clayton, Communication center, and Dr. Syd Alexander, Infirmary physician.

The three-day program opens with supper at 6 o'clock tonight and closes with dinner at noon Sunday.

Those already signed up are Mary Lilla Browne, Rosalyn Brown, Barbara Braxton, Barbara June Byrd, Hugh Cole, John Colson, Homer B. Glover, Gwen Gore, Virginia Hall, Caroline Hassinger, Robert Hyatt, Bob Johnson, Garland Kirby, Jackie Leverett, Eleanor Martens, Baxter McIntyre, Nancy Nash, Jane Piper, Jack Prince, Betty Ray, Went Wilkes, and Bill Walker.

Three Carolina baseball players stand near the top of their class scholastically. They are Ronald Zagnoli, A. Z. (Country) Wood, and Fred Dale.
