

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student newspaper of the Publications of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is published daily at the Colonial Press, Inc., except Monday, examination and vacation periods and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates: mailed $4.00 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered $6.00 per year and $2.25 per quarter.

Glenn Harden ..... Editor-in-chief
David Buckner ..... Managing Editor
Rolf Neill ..... News Editor
Bill Peacock ..... Sports Editor
Mary Nell Boddie ..... Society Editor
Jody Levey ..... Feature Editor
Beverly Baylor ..... Associate Editor
Sue Burress ..... Associate Editor
Ed Starnes ..... Assoc. Sports Editor
Nancy Burgess ..... Assoc. Society Editor
Ruffin Woody ..... Photographer
O. T. Watkins ..... Business Manager

Up Back... by Shelton Jay Plager

Having dabbled in campus politics since coming to Carolina in '48, I cannot resist a few biased remarks about this year's group of candidates.

Ken Barton, SP, bucks Ham Horton, UP, for the presidency. Barton is an example of the perennial SP candidate—Well stepped in the party's program, primed in advance, lacking in any particular outstanding ability as a leader, he will be greatly dependent upon the old party workhorses.

Horton's program seems to be almost entirely negative—its time to change the name of the party in office. Ever since three years ago when Ted Leonard lost the UP presidential nomination as a result of back-room sellouts, the UP has nominated relatively unknown men, with little program and less organization. But that is another story. Smart money seems to be on Barton.

The Vice-presidency is a three way gamble. Jim McLeod, UP, suffers from the same difficulty as that of his running mate, Horton. Julian Mason, SP, is one of the old party workhorses. Strong, sometimes stubborn, he is far and away the most experienced man running in this race. Ted Frankel, the Independent, is eager, and injects fresh blood into the situation. He sadly lacks in the first-hand knowledge of the problems and practices of the Legislature, which is the V-P's major concern as presiding officer. Mason appears to have the edge here, but the presence of a third man turns this one into a daily double.

This next has an interesting twist—here, Ken Penegar faces Eddie Gross for the job of secretary-treasurer. Penegar, the white-haired boy of the SP, would seem to be next year's presidential candidate, and yet he is running for a top office this year. That can be very damaging to a man's aspirations—I wonder if they told him? Gross, the UP candidate, has much in his favor—sincerity, experience, capableness. This will be a close one, with Gross having a slight weight allowance.

CPU Did It

The Carolina Political Union has done the best job we've seen all year. Stepping in where the Carolina Forum left a large blank space, a few energetic individuals decided to see if something couldn't be done about getting some worthwhile speakers on campus.

Did they? They turned up two winners and a possible for Spring quarter only, with another possible for next Fall on the waiting list.

The last weak moan we heard from the Forum was several months ago, at which time the lads in official charge of providing the campus with something to sell for the beer joints and cinema said that No body was available.

Whoever this Mr. Nobody is, he didn't turn up on the list the CPU has collected.

Batting average for the Forum, with money, pretty stationary, and personnel provided for the job—.000.

The CPU did it with few props, notably initiative and energy.

Fervently, we hope that his will mark the turning point in the long drought of speakers under which we have suffered so long.

Cosmopolitan Club

The dynamic everchanging environment of the 20th century has brought in its wake multifarious problems which need urgent and wise solution. Gone are the days when isolationism and evasion of responsibility protected the status quo of a nation. All the countries of the world realize the inherent danger of side stepping the responsibility that must be faced if a stable and peaceful world is to be achieved. Not only must the virulent changes be successfully combated, but the ideology attempting to enslave the world be defeated. The voice of totalitarianism is ruthless but coated with sugar. The new barbarism has managed to deceive many intelligent and discerning individuals and has enveloped many nations in the darkness of the middle ages.

This totalitarianism has to be combated both on the fields of war and with new ideas. Ignorance of the world around us is a fertile breeding ground for the destruction of the free nations. An understanding of the different peoples that comprise our world is indispensable for a wise evaluation of the swift moving events that affect every human being with an inexorable force. This understanding is well nigh mandatory for the university students who make up the intelligentsia of the community and whose ideas are the greatest weapons which will defend the cherished liberty of the freedom loving peoples.

The greatest source of astonishment to me is the complacency with which our university students treat this problem. Although most of us are quite aware of the magnitude and urgency of the situation, only a few implement their desires in practice. Fortunately, we have an organization on the campus which endeavours to attain the goal of world fellowship by meeting and discussing world problems. The organization is appropriately called the Cosmopolitan Club, for ideologies and viewpoints from various countries are discussed and evaluated at the Club. A common misconception in the minds of some American students is that only foreign students are eligible to membership. But in a world where U.S. is foremost in espousing the cause of peace and where her sons are paying with their blood for this cause, such inconsistency would be incompatible with the ideals of this club. In fact, the members are surprised at the paucity and dearth of American student members. It would be opportune to state that everyone—students, professors and others—interested in implementing their desires to see a better and finer world are more than welcome to join this club.

The nations and peoples of the world are too closely knit together today for any one of them to imagine that a nation can live apart. Peace has been said to be indivisible; so is freedom, so is prosperity now, and so also is disaster in this one world that can no longer be split into isolated fragments. We can and have to forge ahead in future and opportunities as are given by this Club should not be discarded. —P. M. Ameresy

Hear And See Ray McKinley IDC Concert-Dance Sat.

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS

1. Signal system
5. Christian festival
11. On
12. Descendant of Ham
13. Door section
15. Moderately feeble-minded person
16. Disgraces
18. German meta-physician
19. Fastened with rivets
21. Glacial ridge
23. Wild cat (So. Am.)
24. Recede
27. Hawaiian wreaths
29. On the ocean
30. Cozy room
31. Light bedsteads
34. Half an em
35. Affect strongly
38. Dainty viands (sing.)
40. Wing-footed
43. Destroys
45. Marble
46. Sultan's decrees
48. Baseball team
49. A pineaceous tree
50. Brittle cookie

DOWN

1. Drinking vessels

2. Brightly colored fish
3. German deity
4. Foes
5. Expression of inquiry
6. Liquid measure (Du.)
7. Fumes
8. Long-drawn speeches (abbr.)
9. Kind of jacket
10. Tear in cloth
14. Collect by assessment
17. Varying weight (Ind.)
20. Tantalum (sym.)
21. Ancient center
22. Diocesan
25. Winged insect
26. Forbid
28. First
29. Appoints to a place
31. Candle-power (abbr.)
32. Openings (anat.)
33. Web-like membrane
36. Fixes
37. European country
38. Child's bedstead

CLING SHIRT
HOSEA HOOEY
OSTER ATTAR
PES NEF ADO
TENTS
RECUTS TEAS
ICONS HALVE
MULE COLLAR
SCOPE
ALT ASP PUB
LEARN ERASE
BARED RUPEE
SHADY SEARS

Yesterday's Answer 4-5

39. Subtle emanation
41. Spirit lamp
42. Profound
44. Body of water
47. Samarium (sym.)

HAVE YOU BEEN WASTING YOUR TIME?

Read "They Went to College"

Looking's Free At—

The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. FRANKLIN ST.

