

E. K. Graham To Speak

North Carolina's editorial writers will hear Edward Kidder Graham, Chancellor of Woman's College, speak at their annual Conference here May 23-25.

The conference will feature a "critique session," presided over by Paul Trescott, editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. Others include Vermont Royster, associate editor of the Wall Street Journal, and William H. Harrison, editorial writer of the Washington Evening Star.

The session will open Friday night at 9 o'clock with an informal "get acquainted session." Saturday the editors will hear Mrs. Trescott, editorial page analyst for the Philadelphia Bulletin, speak on "Why Women Won't Read Editorial Pages."

Weimer Jones, editor of the Franklin Press, is membership chairman for the conference, and C. A. McKnight of the Charlotte News is program chairman.

Wednesday.

Horton's fraternity house-mother commented that he was "probably out politicking."

The Winston-Salem junior had earlier said, however, that he was in favor of everyone going to the polls, but not that it be compulsory.

His fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, this week accepted a resolution calling for all members to vote, but declined to impose a fine upon those who do not.

responsible for the enforced voting. He added that "individuals are always the ones to blame. It just happens that in this case all parties concerned are fraternity members and UP party members."

Horton said that he did not necessarily agree with the compulsory voting. Mel Stribling (SP-UP) asked him to elaborate, to which Horton replied that he was in favor of everyone going to the polls, but not that it be compulsory.

In other action, the legislature postponed until next week a proposal to reduce the 1952-53 Daily Tar Heel budget by $3,000.

Write Articles

The April issue of Torch and Trefoil, magazine of Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity, will contain an article by Bill Roth and T. Mac Long, both of Carolina.

The story is a booster for the APO national convention to be held in Columbus, O., this December. Long and Roth attended last year's conference and Roth was elected to the national executive board. He is the youngest member ever to serve on the board.

Band Concert Set

The University Band, under the direction of Earl Slocum, will present a concert here in Hill hall next Tuesday evening at 8:30.

In the past these concerts have been presented on Sunday evenings. This year, however the concert is to be presented Tuesday to allow more people to hear this fine organization. There is no admission charge.

In addition to the Tuesday concert the band will give two Sunday afternoon concerts and a request performance at Hamlet, N. C. The bandmaster at Hamlet high school is a former Carolina bandsman.

The program Tuesday will consist of three marches, Ganne's "Father of Victory," Javaloyes' "El Albanico" and Alford's "The Voice of the Guns," six symphonic band compositions, Gossec's "Military Symphony in F," Whitney's fantasy on Negro spirituals, "River Jordan," Rosini's "Barber of Seville" overture, Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," Morrissey's "An American Weekend" and Lang's "Sea Medley," and a rhythmic novelty, Yoder's "Git on Board."
