

HORTON, FARBER, UP TAKE OVER

EDITOR FARBER

PRESIDENT HORTON

Vote In Other Years

Yesterday's election fell three percent short of the all-time voting record set in 1946 when 54 percent of the students cast ballots.

Erline Griffin, Elections board chairman, said totals showed that 2,621 students of the University's 5,139 enrollment went to the polls yesterday. This is 51 percent.

Figures for the last six years:

Year	Voting	Year	Voting
1946	54%	1949	40%
1947	50%	1950	43%
1948	36%	1951	43%

Election Day Odds 'n Ends

by The Staff

While voters poured to the polls yesterday, several humorous sidelights turned up.

Probably the funniest was a satirical sign posted on the first floor of the political science building, Caldwell hall. Appearing odd and homemade among the fancy, multi-colored posters was one sketched by hands. It bore a fuzzy snapshot of a student saying "I don't want to run for anything."

The poster had various slogans on it which were take-offs on those that have been circulating on campus for the past several weeks.

Independent Ted Frankel seemed to be making news on every side. Bleary-eyed students in Dr. J. P. Harland's archaeology classes were in for a surprise in the morning slide (See ODDS 'N ENDS, page 8)

Frankel, McLeod In Runoff For Veep Job; Gross Tops Penegar

UP Sure To Control Legislature, Puts In First President Since '45.

by Rolfe Neill

A dynasty died last night.

After nearly two college generations of Student party presidents, the University party took command and swept all major offices and the Legislature—to the amazement of all, including many of its own members.

Ham Horton, an unassuming guy who was out to "beat the clique," will become the first UP president since 1945 when Bill McKenzie took office. The rising senior from Winston-Salem whipped Ken Barton (SP) by 1,360 to 1,233. The count was announced complete at 2:19 this morning.

Zany Barry Farber won the editorship of The Daily Tar Heel in a landslide vote that swamped both his opponents. Farber had 1,786 votes while Dave Buckner (SP) got 504 and Bev Baylor (UP) had but 343. It was the first time in 3 years that a Daily Tar Heel editor had been chosen without a runoff. It also was the third consecutive time that an independent candidate has won the job in spring elections.

The vice presidency fell into a runoff between Jim McLeod (UP) and Ted Frankel (Ind.). McLeod led with 1,219 votes followed by Frankel with 783. Julian Mason (SP) trailed with 610. This eliminated Mason. Frankel, should he best McLeod next Wednesday, would be considered UP although he ran independently.

Ed Gross (UP) edged Ken Penegar (SP) by 1,383 to 1,188 to take the third major post—secretary-treasurer. With either Frankel or McLeod coming in, this gives the UP all three of the top positions.

The UP is within one seat of holding half the Legislature, pending a runoff in the Town Women's district to break a tie vote between Shirley Gee (SP) and Dot Smith (UP).

Prior to yesterday's election, the UP held 10 seats, which with 14 elected, gives it 24 out of 50 seats. The SP elected seven legislators, and held 11 seats prior to yesterday.

Seven double-endorsed candidates and one independent elected yesterday will hold the balance of power.

In 1948 Jess Dedmond won the presidency over a field of six. Dedmond was UP-Campus party endorsed but actually was SP in administration. In 1946, Dewey Dorsett bucked his own party, the UP, and won the job independently, thus making 1945 the last time the UP put a man into the president's chair.

The polls closed at 6 o'clock last night after being open since 9 a. m. After an hour out for supper the long vote-counting process began. It moved slowly at first but soon the volunteers—including many candidates—began coming into the three Graham Memorial lounges set aside for the tabulation. By midnight it was nearly an all-male show for the next-to-last coed had used up her late permission. Elections Board Chairman Erline Griffin was the sole remaining coed.

Tom Creasy (Ind.) and Jack Stilwell (UP) will be in next Wednesday's runoff for the presidency of the sophomore class. Creasy got 174 and Stilwell 167. Others were Max Balingier (Ind.), 103, and Bob Barlow (SP), 120. Skippy Roddey (UP) beat Henry Isacson (SP) for the vice president's job by 287 to 236. Bonnie Baker (UP) was elected secretary with 289 over Donna Blair's (SP) 272. Gordon Forester (SP) was chosen treasurer and Dave Young (SP) was named social chairman. Forester beat Pete Block (UP) 292 to 261 for his post and Young topped Weston Hauck (UP) by 297 to 255.

Farber said in a statement this morning: "My heartfelt thanks to the student body for its expression of support and confidence. I can assure you a top-notch staff that will work long, hard, and conscientiously to give you a good Daily Tar Heel. I humbly call upon you to cooperate, bear with us, and have patience. I wish anyone interested in working with the new staff to see me personally as soon as possible."

Twenty-one Coeds To Vie For Title 'Miss Modern Venus' In Derby Today

It's derby day in Chapel Hill today and 21 "fillies" will be after the title of Miss Modern Venus in the eighth annual Sigma Chi affair.

This afternoon's program begins at 2:30 in front of Chapel Hill high school with a parade. Leading it will be Sigma Chi Rupert Bliss, kilted and astride a white steed. The derby itself will begin at 3:30 in Kenan Stadium.

In addition to the contestants for Miss Modern Venus, 103 other coeds will battle it out for team honors in six events. First will be the grand national, an obstacle race. Spectators will be treated to a coed "strip" in the next event, entitled a race to the flesh.

For the third part, contestants will throw pies at Roddy Dowd.

The last three acts will be a secret event, a three-minute skit by each group, and a wheelbarrow race.

Participating organizations are Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta, and Alpha Gamma Delta sororities, the Stray Greeks, and the Independent Coed board.

There will be 106 door prizes given away during the afternoon. There is no admission charge to the derby.

Queen contestants are Calista Pope, Columbus, Ga., Joan Charles, Sea Girt, N. J., and Dolores Funai, Richmond, Va., Alpha Gamma Delta sorority; Mary McConnell (Bitty) Schaeffer, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Fran McColl, Ben-nettville, S. C., and Jackie Krell, Columbia, S. C., Kappa Delta sorority; Sue Cheek, Shelby, Carmel, Deland, Fla., and Gayle Ruffin, Tunstall, Va., Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Anne Sory, Palm Beach, Fla., Mary Frances (Frankie) Allen, Statesville, and Katherine Armistead, Kinston, Chi Omega sorority; Judy Taylor, Lawrenceville, N. J. and Sandra Klostermeyer, Asheville, Alpha Delta Pi sorority; Dorothy Smith, Charleston, W. Va., Gini Polk, Atlanta, Ga., and Sally Trowbridge, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Delta Delta Delta sorority; Alta Barger Oakboro, Janie Bugg, Daytona Beach, Fla., and Nancy Burgess, Ft. Pierce, Fla., Stray Greek organization, and Peggy Holt, Greensboro, Independent Coed board.

Judges for both the beauty contest and skits will be Chancellor Robert B. House, Mayor Edwin S. Lanier, E. Carrington Smith, Capt. J. S. Keating of the Naval ROTC, and Vic Huggins.

"Miss Modern Venus of 1952" will be chosen solely on the basis of beauty with emphasis on figure and poise, according to Donnie Thomas, publicity chairman.

College Profs Flabbergasted By Abilities Of Franz Polgar

Billed as a man who can read minds, memorize entire magazines at a single sitting, and hypnotize many persons simultaneously—Dr. Franz Polgar has proved it to amazed and delighted audiences the world over.

The Student Entertainment committee has lined up an astounding evening when Polgar unfolds his "Miracles of the Mind" program in Memorial hall on next Tuesday, at 8 p. m.

Heralded as "America's greatest one-man show" by the Saturday Evening Post, the Hungarian-born entertainer and master of telepathy and hypnosis has flabbergasted college professors and laymen alike with his uncanny demonstrations.

The show will consist of three parts. In the first portion memory demonstrations including the mastering an extensive list of (See POLGAR, page 8)

Planetarium

Additional showings of "Easter, the Awakening" have been scheduled by the Planetarium for 3 p. m. on both Good Friday and Easter Monday.

The regular Sunday presentations, at 2, 3, 4, and 8:30 p. m., will be shown on Easter day.

Some 10,000 visitors have thus far witnessed this tribute to Easter and the spring season.

Class Rings

Juniors and seniors may place orders for class rings today in the Y lobby from 2 to 4:30 p. m.

Orders taken now will be delivered to the student's home address in early June.

The ring sales are conducted on the campus by the Order of the Grail.

One Amendment Passes

The size of the Legislature will remain at 50 members, the student body decided yesterday in voting for a constitutional amendment to whittle it to 35.

The voters passed the other amendment which will revamp the campus judiciary.

The constitution requires a two-thirds affirmative vote of those balloting to pass an amendment. The reduce-the-Legislature amendment fell short of the requirement by 229 votes. The tally: for reduction, 1,227; against, 957.

The judicial changes were approved by a 1,663 to 623 vote.
