

Port Hurls 4-Hitter; Carolina Wins, 4-3

Down In Front

The Good Ole Days Are Still Here

There aren't many people who'll argue with you when you say that the Carolina sports scene has been a dim one this year. Ever since this fall when the football team came out second best eight out of 10 times, Tar Heel teams have been catching it from every angle. The ole timers have, quick to remember how things use to be, let us know about the Golden Era of Choo Choo, Vic Seixas, Harvie Ward, Normi Sper, and company. A lot of us here now saw those fine athletes in action at some time or another and there's no getting around it—they were great.

But, wait a minute. We've got a couple of teams in action right now that fill into any great ear, golden or otherwise. Both the tennis team and the golf team are undefeated right now and from all indications they're going to go on that way for a good while yet. Maybe the boys aren't as polished as the members of those "Golden Era" teams but then you've got to remember that the players on those post-war teams were vets for the most part and held about four more years' experience on most of our present day athletes. Anyhow, when you come right down to it, I'll take the present day tennis and golf teams over the boys of the Golden Age—maybe they aren't as good right now but potentially, they're way ahead.

Take the tennis team. The boys of Coach John Kenfield have swept to 14 straight victories and whereas an undefeated season is something you don't predict when a team has 26 matches on the schedule, the tennis team should come mighty close to that record this spring. The Tar Heel netters are the defending Southern Conference champions and this year's team looks ever better than last year's winners.

Golfers Make A Pretty Picture

As far as individual stars go, Coach Kenfield has three young players who can stand just about even with the "Golden boys." Del Sylvia, last year's runner-up to teammate Bud Ager for the SC singles title, is the captain this season and Kenfield's number-one man. He was the favorite in last year's loop tournament, losing to Agarin an upset, and will probably be the top man when the Conference tourney comes around later this spring.

The real prides and joys and the ones who may turn the Golden Era into the bronze age are a pair of freshmen, Herb Browne and Bobby Payne. Browne won the Interscholastic championship this past summer at Charlottesville, Va. and has been playing in the second position behind Sylvia. Browne is the number three man but there's not a chalk line's difference between the two. Browne and Payne have been playing-doubles together, too, and to watch them play together is better than seeing a TV program without the static.

The best part about it is that they've both got lots of playing time to go before they reach their peaks. Browne and Payne both have a few more years around the Southern Conference and there's no telling what they'll do in those years. After all, regardless of the great record he's posting now, Vic Seixas didn't win the Southern Conference championship until his junior year when he beat Fred Kovalskiek of William and Mary, and he lost the crown his senior year of the same Kovalskiek.

We've Got The Individual Stars, Too

As for golf the picture, it's just as bright. Coach Chuck Erickson has a team made up of four juniors, a sophomore, and a freshman this year and if they don't take any conference or national honors this year then who ever does win had better lock up the trophies next year. You might say that there's no Harvie Ward on the team but even that's questionable now. Tommy Langley, the sophomore member of the team, is showing the same promise that Harvie showed when he was a sophomore, if not more. Langley holds the Finley Course record along with 'Lil Harvie and footballer Larry Parker at 65 and with two more years to go eight will get you five that he'll take that mark down a stroke ortwo. The High Point blaster has been averaging under par 72 for the eight matches the Tar Heels have won and 67 has been his best round in college competition. That's good for any era.

Bill Williamson hasn't quite reached his peak this year but the fact that he went to the semi-finals of the Southern Amateur this past summer shows that he's got what it akes. Coach Erickson is also blessed with something few coaches ever find — strength down the line.

The Golden Era looks like it's on the road back. Or better, maybe it never went away. Any way you look at it the prospects for Carolina teams don't look too bad. Take a look around. The sun still shining in Chapel Hill.

Herring's Hit In 9th Frame Nips Wildcats

by Tom Peacock

Mark Herring singled with the bases loaded in the ninth inning to break a 3-3 tie and give the Carolina baseball team a 4-3 win here yesterday against Davidson in a Southern Conference contest.

Pitcher Chalmers Port turned in one of the best mound performances seen this year, holding Davidson to four hits, striking out seven, and allowing only one walk. Port, who has had poor luck all season after leading the team last year, was ahead of the batters all the way. He retired the side in order in six of nine innings and had trouble with the Wildcats only once.

Wiess Scores

Carolina had a one run lead going into the ninth, but Davidson collected an unearned run on an error and a single to tie the (See LEAD CHANGES, page 5)

Tennis Team To Face Kalamazoo, Blue Devils

The Carolina tennis team will lay its fourteen game winning streak on the line Friday afternoon when it meets the team from Kalamazoo College of Kalamazoo, Michigan. On Saturday afternoon the team will face probably its strongest competition to date when it meets Duke in Durham.

According to Coach Kenfield, the Kalamazoo team will be fairly strong, being led by their number one man, Dick Cain, who beat Del Sylvia last year in two quick sets. Coach Kenfield, however, is optimistic about this one and will be depending on his depth to win.

About Cain, Coach Kenfield says, "He is not a spectacular player but is very steady." This will be the fourth time that he has been to Carolina on the Kalamazoo team and so far he has won two and lost one. Sylvia will be out to even things up.

Coach Kenfield is not as optimistic, however, about the match with Duke on Saturday. Although he expects to win the number one match, he says that they may be stronger on down the line. "According to comparative scores," says Kenfield, "they have a better team than we do. However, you can't count too much on that, the outcome, will depend on the frame of mind the boys are in and how well they play."

Washington Lacrossmen Here Friday

The Carolina lacrosse team will resume play Friday after a week's rest from its tough schedule when they meet Washington College here.

Coach Al Moore's stickmen have a season record of two wins, three losses and one tie, having defeated Georgetown and Norfolk Naval Station while losing to Yale, Dartmouth, Williams, and tying Lehigh.

Goalie Lew Floyd, who has broken the Carolina saves record four times this season, will be one of the leading men on the Tar Heel squad. Freshman Dickie Harrall, holding down crease position, has been the Tar Heel's main scoring threat but may miss the game due to a chest injury received last week.

Washington College, which was best in the Maryland league last year, won ten and lost two last season. The strong Washington squad is expected to have a powerful team this spring and will furnish the Tar Heels with more than enough competition.

The game will begin at 3 p.m. Friday afternoon on Navy Field.

Everett Wins Chess Matches

Both teams from Everett dorm won matches Monday night in the dormitory chess tournament.

Everett 2 won from Graham on a forfeit while Doug Kahn of Everett 1 defeated Bill Little of Stacy and Tom Makens drew with Robert Hubbard of Stacy for the other Everett victory.

In another match David Medlin beat David Moose, Jr., of Lewis while David Moose, Sr., was winning from Carl Howard, also of Lewis, to give Old West a 2-0 win.

In the final match Alexander and Winston tied when David Evans of Winston defeated Ralph Pugh and Kit Crittenden of Alexander defeated Lewis Alread.
