Tar Heels Smooth With T Formation

Hal Davidson, Chuck Motta Score Twice; Young, Annillo Tally Once For Victors

by Ed Starnes

Blue team quarterback Carmen Annillo used Bob White and Harold (Bull) Davidson, a pair of hard-running fullbacks, to great advantage as he piloted his squad to a 27-13 victory over the Whites in yesterday's Blue-White intersquad game in Kenan Stadium.

The Monogram Club sponsored exhibition drew a crowd of approximately 5,000 fans, but the rain that fell throughout the last three periods of the contest drove most of the people from the stadium.

Putting on their T-formation show for the first time, the Tar Heels looked surprisingly smooth for a team that has been at work with the new style of play for only 20 days.

Annillo, a 175 pound, 5-foot 11-inch sophomore from Union City, N. J., was the offensive show of the first half. He scored the first touchdown himself on a quarterback sneak to culminate a 41-yard sustained drive. The score was set up when Charles Motta was called for interference on Annillo's pass to Dick Kocornik on the Whites' 3-yard line.

Blues Score Again

The Blue team scored again with two minutes remaining in the half. After Charlie Poindexter had returned Bud Wallace's punt to the 50, little Maurice Young, a 5'-9" junior from Bellefonte, Pa., moved the ball down to the 25-yard line on four plays.

Annillo attempted a pass but was thrown at the 27 as he slipped on the wet turf. On the next play Annillo hit Young with a pass on the two-yard line, and Young fell into the end zone for the score. Foti's conversion was good and the Blues had a 14-0 lead.

Motta Moves White Team

The White team found their offense in the second half and drove to two touchdowns to pull within one point of the Blues, 14-13.

Chuck Motta took the helm of the White squad as the second half began and the Teaneck, N. J., sophomore led his squad to two touchdowns to put them back in the ball game.

Bob White's fumble was recovered by the White team on the 41-yard line. Billy Williams and Bud Wallace carried the ball to the 26, and Motta, on a keep-play, cut back inside his own left end and romped down to the 10.

Wallace moved to the 6, and John Gaylord plowed over center to the 4. Motta faked a pitchout (See ANNILLO, page 4)

V. J. Parker Dies As Son Plays Game

Virgil James Parker, 47, of Charlotte and father of Carolina football player Larry Parker, died yesterday afternoon at 2:15 as he sat in the stands of Kenan Stadium and watched his son play in the annual Blue-White game.

Mr. Parker had been in bad health for months and his death yesterday resulted from a heart attack.

An ambulance was rushed to the stands immediately but Mr. Parker died almost instantly after the attack.

Mr. Parker was a native of Greenville, S. C. although he lived in Charlotte for many years. He was manager of the Federal Bakery in Charlotte.

He is survived by his wife, who was with him at the game, his son Larry, and another younger son, Jimmy, who is now in the Air Force.

The body will be returned to Charlotte this afternoon. Plans for the funeral have not yet been set.

Fleece Tap Is Tomorrow In Memorial

The Order of the Golden Fleece, the University's highest honorary society for men, will tap an undisclosed number of new members in ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall tomorrow.

Doors to Memorial Hall will be locked as soon as the tapping ritual begins. The annual Valkyrie Sing will follow the ceremony.

Prior to the tapping service, the names of the new members are kept secret, leaving those who are to be honored completely unnotified beforehand.

During the tapping, the Fleece Officers for 1951-52 will be revealed for the first time. The officers to be named are the Jason, the Grammateus and the Christopher.

UNC BAND IN CONCERT TODAY

Moms And Dads Of UNC Students To Be Received On Campus Today

Mothers and fathers of Carolina students hit campus today as guests of the University.

For its second annual Parents Day program, Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity has planned a jam-packed schedule. Today's program is being held by APO in conjunction with Morehead Planetarium and the University Band.

At 1:30 this afternoon President Gordon Gray, Chancellor

Robert B. House and deans of the colleges will welcome the visitors at an informal open house in the Planetarium dining room.

After the reception the University Band will hold a 3 p.m. concert under Davie Poplar. Conducted by Earl Slocum, the band will play "Father of Victory," "Military Symphony in F," "River Jordan," "Barber of Seville Overture," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "El Abanico," "An American Weekend," "Sea Medley," "Git on Board," and "The Voice of the Guns March." In case of rain the concert will be held in Hill Hall.

Between 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock there will be open house in the dormitories and APO members will conduct guided campus tours. The Planetarium will show its "Rainbows and Halos" for parents and students at 3 p.m., 4 p.m., and 8:30 p.m.

Students Invited Before Probers

Students who have information on alleged hazing here are invited to appear before the Hazing Committee at its meeting at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Chairman Henry Lewis yesterday said the committee has written several students whose names have been turned over to the group. Lewis said these students also have been invited to tomorrow's meeting.

BSU Supper

William Hall Preston, Southern secretary for the Baptist Student Union will speak to the BSU supper meeting tonight at 6 o'clock at the church.

Clothing Drive

Townpeople are reminded of the used clothing and bedding collection this afternoon beginning at 1:30.

Mrs. D. D. Carroll, chairman of the Chapel Hill Council of Churches - Community Club-sponsored drive, yesterday said the clothing should be tied in bundles with shoes tied together.

A campus-wide drive will be held next month.

Bruce Barton, Noted Ad Man, Will Speak

Bruce Barton, dubbed "Mr. Advertising", will be the principal speaker at the second annual Business Fair which opens here tomorrow. The fair closes Wednesday.

Barton is chairman of the board of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn Advertising Agency. He also is a well known writer and former Congressman.

The Business Fair, sponsored by the School of Business Administration and Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, will feature a number of exhibits presented through the cooperation of North Carolina Business and Publishing Companies.

Other speakers at the fair will be J. J. Hall, manager of General Outdoor Advertising Company, who will discuss outdoor advertising; Larry Walker, vice-president of Station WBT, Charlotte, "Radio-TV Advertising," and Chester Rose, advertising manager of the Greensboro Daily News, "Newspaper Advertising." All will appear on the Tuesday night program.

Barton started his business career at the age of nine with a newspaper route. The Amhurst College honor graduate was a reporter for the local weekly newspaper while in high school.

In 1919 he founded the advertising firm with Roy S. Durstine and Alex F. Osborn which in 1928 was merged with George Batten Company.

In recent years his books, "The Man Nobody Knows," and "The Book Nobody Knows" were on the best seller lists for many months. The former was translated into many foreign languages and into Braille.

Members of the student committee arranging the fair are Chairman Bill York, Elmer Bland, Charles Alderman, Tommy Minnis and John Lester.
