Exit DuVal

Tom Lloyd Will Head Quarterly

Ted DuVal, editor of the Carolina Quarterly, announced yesterday he will be succeeded next year by Tom Lloyd, transfer student from Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Lloyd, an English major from Arlington, Va. has written poetry in the Quarterly and the Idiom, Antioch Literary magazine. In high school he was awarded first prize in a short story contest judged by the faculty of the University of Virginia.

"The original goal of the magazine is to foster creative writing on the campus," Lloyd said. "We feel this hasn't been done due to lack of student interest."

Lloyd said he wants to try to expand the subscription list. He said he felt that a university this size should have more subscribers. He requested anyone interested in working on the Quarterly staff, either now or next year, to contact him at the Quarterly office.

DuVal said the prize-winning short story for fiction will appear in the new issue of the Quarterly which he hopes to have out by May 15. The magazine also will feature an article by Paul Green as well as other stories and poems.

Political Science Professors Give Views On Steel Seizure

Last week the varying opinions on that question led two Congressmen to propose impeachment and a top government lawyer to say the President was not limited by the Constitution in the seizure order.

Each of the political scientists was careful to emphasize the complexity of the particular issue. As Dr. Cleaveland pointed out, "It is difficult to give a simple and direct answer to the question because of the fact that the Supreme Court has never defined very precisely the scope and nature of the inherent powers of the

Old East Dorm Receives Cup Permanently

Carr Dorm Wins; Phi Delta Theta, Tri Delt's Second

by Rolfe Neill

A crew of saucy, star-spangled Pi Beta Phi's and a choir of rhythmic, tuxedoed Sigma Chi's pleased the near-capacity audience and the judges last night in Memorial Hall to win the annual Valkyrie Sing.

Old East Dormitory, the entrant in its division, won the dormitory cup for the third straight year and got it permanently. Their theme was "Down the Mississippi." Bert Edwards was song leader.

Carr Dormitory, sole entry for the coed dorms, won its division and a cup for "Poll Business," a takeoff on the presidential race with the surprise ending: "Russell for President—Jane Russell."

Judges were Chairman Wilton Mason, Norman Cordon, Mrs. Arnold Nash, Dr. J. Penrose Harland and Ruth Price. Claude Garren was lighting technician.

"In a Quandary" was the theme that won for the Pi Phi's. The girls were dressed in red, white and blue and wore top hats. They were led by Dee Breslow. The theme was built around the indecision concerning presidential nominees and included appropriate Chapel Hill information such as Sen. R. A. Taft's talk here.

The Pi Phi's were hard pressed to win as Delta Delta Delta Sorority tried to take the cup for the third consecutive year. The Tri Delt title was "Cherchez L'Esprit." The Chi Omegas were third.

Phi Delta Theta fraternity led by Bill Cook, got the most applause from the audience but were placed second by the judges. "Music Born in Strife" was the Phi Delt theme.

The Sigma Chi's sang two Cole Porter selections under the direction of Doug Baker to win first place. Chi Psi, using "New Orleans Functions," for its theme, was third in the fraternity division.
