

Carr To Get Face Lifted, New Furniture

Room Capacity In Coed Dormitories Will Be Reduced

Carr Dormitory will get a face-lifting beginning in June, Mrs. R. H. Wettach, acting dean of women, said yesterday.

"We hope to make Carr one of the most attractive dormitories on campus," Mrs. Wettach said.

The Carr parlors will be completely redecorated with new furniture, venetian blinds and new carpeting, she said.

The second and third floor rooms will also be painted, she said. Renovated furniture now in the social rooms will be used in lounge and study rooms on the second and third floors. Capacity of Carr will be 64.

Spencer dormitory was painted this winter. New beds will be put in Spencer this summer and Alderman will get new carpeting. Work on Carr will definitely begin in the first session of summer school, Mrs. Wettach said.

Beginning in September there will be no more three girl rooms, she said. This policy will be made possible by converting Carr into a completely undergraduate residence and by space made available in Smith dorm which housed nursing students this year. This effort to prevent over-crowding among the undergraduates will cause more graduate women to live in town, Mrs. Wettach added.

Other members active during this school year were Larry Botto, Ray Jefferies Jr., Dick Jenrette, Allan Milledge, Jim McIntyre, Bill Roth, John Sanders, Robin Scroggs, Richard Walker Jr., and Bill Wolf.

Immediately following the tapping, the new and old Fleece members retired to the Carolina Inn for the annual Fleece banquet.

Symphony Gives 'Music By Carload'

Collier's wrote in the February 23 issue, "The North Carolina Symphony Society delivers music by the carload to tens of thousands who otherwise might never have more than a nodding acquaintance with the likes of Brahms."

The Symphony will bring a carload of Brahms, Back, Reznicek and Rimsky-Korsakov to Memorial hall Thursday at 2:30 in a free children's concert and again at 8:15 for the regular adult program.

Living by the principle that "good music is capable of ennobling its hearers," Symphony Director Benjamin Swalin is dedicated to giving an appreciation of good music to everyone in North Carolina. He has the unique position of conductor of the only state-subsidized orchestra in America.

Every member of the orchestra is a professional, union musician. Each receives a union-scale salary, about $60 a week.

The 25 player "Little" Symphony, all of whom are members of the full orchestra, have already played 90 concerts to audiences of 58,000 school children and 21,000 adults. They have traveled 5,000 miles in and near North Carolina.

Tickets may be purchased at Ledbetter-Pickard's. Prices are adults, $2.10, college students, $1.20, and junior tickets, $60.

HOUSE OFF

Chancellor Robert B. House left yesterday to attend a meeting of the National Association of State Universities in Minneapolis, Minn. He will return on Monday.
