Crawford Is Elected New Phi Speaker

by Stuart Jones

Amid lively discussion and typical politics, Fred Crawford, junior in the School of Education, was elected new speaker of the Phi Assembly at its meeting this week.

Al Bryant was named speaker pro-tem, and Wade Matthews was elected to the position of parliamentarian. Other officers selected by the Assembly were Katherine Holmes, critic; Stuart Jones, sergeant-at-arms; Syd Shuford, treasurer; Dick Iobst, clerk; Robert Pace delegate to Carolina Forum; Wade Matthews, delegate to Debate Council, and Don Sherry, editor of Phi Speaker.

Crawford, who also was voted the best speaker of the quarter, announced as his goal for the Phi for next fall a program to increase political consciousness and vocal ability, to increase knowledge of the legislative process, to decrease apathy and to promote good citizenship at UNC through debate and other Phi programs. He is from Sanford.

Included among the points in the new speaker's eight plank platform were plans to promote debates with more prepared speeches, greater dignity, statesmanship in speaking, respect for all speakers and speeches and vast improvement in the skills and thinking in debates.

Dr. Chapin Is Honored By Dentists

(Special to THE DAILY TAR HEEL)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 21—Over 700 dentists attending the 88th annual convention of the Illinois State Dental Society here recently paid public tribute to Dr. Marvin E. Chapin who is to be professor and head of the Department of Oral Surgery of the University of North Carolina School of Dentistry.

Dr. Melford E. Zinser, Chicago, President Illinois State Dental Society reported that the convention passed a resolution stating that "Dr. Marvin E. Chapin be given the good wishes of the 7,500 Illinois dentists for his services to the Illinois State Dental Society."

Dr. Chapin, who was the convention program chairman, attended the Illinois meeting with his wife, Betty, and two sons, Tony and Keith. One of the highlight speakers at the meeting was Dr. William W. Demeritt, professor and head of the Department of Pediatrics, University of North Carolina.

During the world war, Dr. Chapin served as a fighter pilot, and flew 22 missions over France, Holland and Germany. He lost his leg parachuting to safety after his plane had been shot to pieces. He was awarded the Purple Heart.

SHIPSHAPE ONCE AGAIN, the aircraft carrier Wasp stands in a flooded drydock at Bayonne, N. J., as tests are made to determine the water tight integrity of the recently-installed bow. The Wasp was refitted with a new bow section taken from a sister ship, the Hornet, following a crash with the destroyer Hobson in mid-Atlantic last month. One hundred and seventy-six lost their lives in the crash.

Journalists Unprepared, Says Gerler

(Special to THE DAILY TAR HEEL)

RACINE, Wis., May 21—The majority of journalism schools are failing to train students for editorial jobs in industry, W. R. Gerler, president of the International Council of Industrial Editors, declared here today.

Too much emphasis is being placed on newspaper reporting and editing which is an insignificant part of everyday business journalism, according to Gerler.

Business requires writers and editors of magazines, pamphlets, speeches, publicity, employee booklets, annual reports, newsletters and radio and television scripts. Very few schools are equipping their graduates with any knowledge of these common editorial requirements of business, the speaker said.

One of the most important communication devices used by industry is the company publication edited for employees, customers and stockholders. Over two-thirds of these being edited by 6,000 businesses are of the magazine format. Gerler pointed out that few college graduates have any conception of the requirements of magazine writing or layout.
