

Rosenberg, Seal Top Grid Prospects

Atlanta Boys Also Talented At Wrestling

The state of Georgia has sent UNC two shining football and wrestling hopefuls for the coming year. They are Bennie Seal and Barry Rosenberg, both of Atlanta.

Though roommates in summer school here, the two have been athletic adversaries for quite a spell. They were finalists for the Georgia State AAU heavyweight wrestling championship last year, Rosenberg copping the crown and Seal earning the runner-up position.

In football, Seal led his Druid Hill high team to a seven and three record, playing tackle and guard and was chosen to the All-City team. He also received his school's blocking trophy.

Rosenberg played for Georgia Military Academy. He is a tackle standing six feet two and weighing 205 pounds. His team last year had a record of seven wins, one loss and two ties. It was coached by three former All-Americans: Georgia Tech's George Brodnax, Michigan's Les Fouts and Alabama's Grant Gillis.

Both boys are also track contenders. Seal tossed shot javelin, shot and discuss, while Rosenberg was a shot putter. Rosenberg was also a standout baseball player. He played first base and batted .333 in his senior year. His baseball coach was Richard Watts who once caught for the Tar Heels.
