DRAFT FORCES FARBER TO RESIGN POSITION

Rushees Given Until Tomorrow To Obtain Bids

Fraternity Invites Will Be Available In Gerrard Hall

Freshmen have today and tomorrow left in which to pick up their rushing bids.

The bids may be picked up in Gerrard Hall from 9 a. m. until noon today, and from 10 a. m. until noon tomorrow. Those who went yesterday but found no invitations are asked to check again Friday when mixups will be straightened out, Fred McWhinney, IFC rush chairman said.

The rushing schedule for fraternities, as released by McWhinney: Sunday, 7 to 10 p. m.; Monday, 7 to 10 p. m.; Tuesday, 7 to 9:30 p. m.; Wednesday, 7 to 9:30 p. m. and next Thursday, 7 to 9:30 p. m.

There will be strict silence, that is no rushee may converse with a fraternity man, from 9:30 p. m. next Thursday until Saturday, October 18 at 7 p. m. Shake-up Day is Sunday, October 19 from 7 to 9:30 p. m. There will be another strict silence from 9:30 that night until Pledge Day, Wednesday, October 22.

Dime-A-Night Dance Series Opens Today

The YMCA Freshman Friendship Council and SUAB are jointly sponsoring a series of beginning dance lessons starting at 7 o'clock tonight in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial. The group will begin with the basic dancing steps and progress at whatever rate the students desire during the Thursday night hour lessons. Miss Ruth Price, dance instructor from the staff of the Women's Gymnasium, will assist the group in getting off on the right foot.

Coeds are encouraged to attend in order to aid in the instruction by partnering with the boys. Ten cents covers the lesson for each boy.

Ray White is Freshman Friendship Council chairman for the dance classes. Lane Buckley is chairman of the SUAB Dance Committee.

GI's Mascot From Korea Now Student

Special to THE DAILY TAR HEEL. MORGANTON, W. Va., Oct. 8.—Insoo Skippy Kwak, 19, formerly of Korea, is a new member of the West Virginia University freshman class.

The gate to a university education and maybe a degree in medicine was opened to Skippy seven years ago when he met Sgt. Gus Farr of Hinton, W. Va.

A forlorn little waif of 12, Skippy was sitting by a roadside in Korea. Skippy became Gus' mascot. Gus ordered books from home and began teaching English to the youngster.

In a couple of years, Farr sent (See MASCOT, page 2)

Late Papers

Students failing to receive Daily Tar Heel early in the morning should check their residences on their return from class.

Mechanical troubles have forced the paper to be late coming off the press and many student distributors have had to attend class before they could deliver their papers.

UNC Will Mark Birthday Monday

WILLIAM R. DAVIE

University Day, commemorating the 159th anniversary of the founding of the University, will be celebrated next Monday.

The laying of the cornerstone of Old East, on October 12, 1793, is recognized as the formal beginning of the University. This year, however, the birthday falls on Sunday, and ceremonies marking the occasion are scheduled for Monday, beginning at 10:50 a. m. on the south court of South Building.

Pageantry re-enacting, in pantomime, the laying of the cornerstone of Old East will feature the University's birthday party. Arrangements for the celebration are under the direction of Nancy Green of Chapel Hill, University senior in drama. Special music will be furnished by the University Band under the direction of Earl Slocum.

Civil Service Slates Exams

The United States Civil Service Commission yesterday announced an examination for meteorological aid positions paying from $2,950 to $3,410 a year.

Most of the positions are in the Weather Bureau and are located in Washington. Some positions also will be filled outside the U. S.

A written test will be given but appropriate experience or education also is required.

Full information regarding the requirements, and instructions on applying may be secured at the post office.

Plans Ready For Caravan To Miami Tilt

Tentative plans for an extended sojourn to Miami for the Nov. 28 Carolina-Miami football game were released yesterday by John Seely, University Club president.

Each year, the University Club, student pep organization, sponsors all-out student attendance at one football game away from Chapel Hill.

"Students will leave Chapel Hill on Wednesday afternoon and arrive in Miami in time to celebrate Thanksgiving on Thursday," Seely said.

"We will motor to nearby Coral Gables for the football game Friday night and begin the return trip Saturday," he added. "We plan to be back in Chapel Hill on Sunday in time for plenty of rest before Monday's classes."

As is customary for these trips, the University Club will provide an itinerary and arrange accommodations for as many students as plan to go, Seely said.

Transportation for those who do not wish to travel this distance by auto will be provided, Seely said.

Writers Can Aid Quarterly

"The Carolina Quarterly has built up a large off campus contributors list but we are eager to receive contributions from University students," Editor Tom Lloyd said yesterday.

Lloyd said he felt that with the literary tradition that Chapel Hill possesses, it should be able to offer enough talent within the city limits to fill a dozen magazines.

"If you are a struggling poet or short story writer, don't hide your work," he said. "Send it up to the office of the Carolina Quarterly in Graham Memorial in time for the October 27 fall publication deadline."

Preceded by a color guard (representing AROTC and NROTC) Chancellor Robert B. House, Student Body President Hamilton Horton Jr. and members of the Carolina Playmakers in colonial costumes will go from South Building to the pageant platforms. The "Star Spangled Banner" will open the services followed by invocation by Dr. Samuel T. Habel, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Chapel Hill. Those attending will join in singing the University Hymn.

At this point the assembly will pay tribute to students, faculty, and alumni who died during the past year. Chancellor House will lead in the responsive reading of lines from the Apocrypha. One minute of silence will be broken by "Integer Vitae," sung by the Men's Glee Club under the direction of Joel Carter, following which Carter will direct the University combined glee clubs in Gore's "Where Shall Wisdom Be Found?" George Williams will be at the organ.

The re-enactment of the Masonic cornerstone laying will be led by James Pritchett of Lenoir, graduate student in drama. He (See U.N.C. DAY, page 2)

Ike Likers Set Parley Tonight For Students

Students were invited yesterday to join in forming a Citizens For Eisenhower group tonight at 8 o'clock in Room 206, Phillips Hall.

George Scholl, a physics major from Charlotte, issued the invitation. He will preside over the initial meeting tonight.

Speakers for the meeting will be Dr. Malcolm McDermott of the Duke University Law School, and Grady Prichard, Chapel Hill businessman.

"The aim of the committee in Chapel Hill will be to get the students here registered and to the polls on election day," Scholl said.

Scholl said another aim will be to get the campaign "out of the newspapers and onto the campus. Literature and I Like Ike buttons will be available and will be distributed tonight," he added.

Today Last Chance To Buy Film Ducats

The second in a series of outstanding movies to be here under student auspices will be shown in Memorial Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

"Distant Journey," a Czech film giving the personal story of a Jewish family under the Nazi occupation of Czechoslovakia, is sponsored by the Student Union Activities Board.

Students may purchase season tickets at the door for $1. This is the last opportunity to buy ducats.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SEOUL—South Korean infantrymen fighting with bayonets yesterday captured a vital shell-cratered peak overlooking the ancient invasion route to Seoul in a brutal battle that has raged since Monday night. A front line officer said the Korean troops cut a Chinese battalion of 700 men down to 150 in recapturing the crest of White Horse Hill on the Western Front.

HARROW, England—Two speeding express trains ripped into a crowded commuter local at Harrow station yesterday in Britain's worst train wreck in its history. By early last night 82 bodies had been removed from the 30-foot high tangle of crumpled coaches and it was feared the final toll might exceed 100. Three hundred persons were injured.

BERLIN—Two Soviet MIG-15 jet fighters fired warning shots at an unarmed U. S. Air Force hospital plane in the Berlin air corridor yesterday, but the twin-engine C-47 escaped by plunging into a cloudbank. The mercy plane landed safely at Tempelhof Airdrome in the U. S. zone of Berlin. None of the Soviet bullets hit the plane, which carried an Air Force woman nurse and five other crew members.

MADISON, Wis.—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson carried his presidential campaign into the Wisconsin balliwick of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy yesterday with the assertion that the "voice of the accuser" must not still all others in the land. The Democratic nominee—in an apparent team operation with President Truman and Sen. John Sparkman—geared up a fresh onslaught on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Republican record on domestic and foreign policies.

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER—Dwight D. Eisenhower, who recently said that President Truman was shooting "harmless blanks" in his direction, was ready yesterday to "fire some real heavy salvos" at the chief executive.

Greensboro Alumni Will Hear Gray Speak

Consolidated University President Gordon Gray will address a meeting of UNC's Greensboro alumni in that city next Tuesday night.

The affair is held annually by the Greensboro group in conjunction with the University Day celebration.

Dig Deep For George, Canine Shooting Victim

George the Collie, a sort of personal pet to all who know the friendly homeless dog, got shot yesterday.

But the doughty doggie isn't dead. He's very much alive and in a local animal hospital and will recover from the wounds received from an unidentified assailant.

"The dog's face is swollen very badly but we think he will recover," Dr. L. L. Vine said yesterday afternoon. "We removed some No. 8 bird shot

Redistricting Bill Due Again Tonight

The Legislature tonight will attempt for a second time to pass an amendment which would revamp existing dormitory districts.

The bill provides for rezoning the two existing dormitory districts into five districts.

'More Jobs For Grads,' Seniors Told

"The school placement office is the most efficient means yet devised to help students find jobs and to assist business and governmental organizations in filling their manpower needs," Vick Chemical Company Personnel Manager K. G. Bevan Jr. told seniors here Tuesday night. He urged them to take advantage of the University Placement Service.

In discussing prospects for the coming year, Bevan quoted estimates that approximately 1,000 companies throughout the United States will be recruiting about five percent more college graduates in 1953 than in 1952.

"Industry really needs good men," Bevan said, "men who want and are seeking a future, not security. Persons with well defined objectives who will inject themselves fully into any work and exert their full capabilities will find that in jobs with a real future, security takes care of itself."

Following Bevan's talk, Joe Galloway, director of placement at UNC, said 237 companies sent interviewers to the campus last year to interview students and that nearly 600 requests for graduates were received by mail and telephone. "We expect to have available to Carolina students this year more employment opportunities than ever before, and we hope all seniors will take advantage of our service," Galloway said.

According to law, if the Elections Committee fails to report on the proposed amendment at this third regular session, it will automatically be put on the floor. The committee so far has deadlocked on all discussions of the proposed amendment.

Jack Stilwell, one of the leading proponents of the bill, declared yesterday, "This amendment would provide closer contact between the student and his legislator. It is by no means a political move, but actually a return to the original system provided for in the Constitution."

Opponents of the bill feel that the proposed amendment would give them a political disadvantage and advocate a different type rezoning.

Under the present system, dormitories are divided into two districts which together contain approximately 1,800 students. Each student, depending upon his district, votes for eight or nine legislators. The proposed amendment, breaking these two districts down into five, would necessitate the student voting for only four or five legislators.

The amendment if passed would leave women's dormitory and town districts unchanged.

"I'd like to urge all students to contact their legislators and tell them to support this bill," said President Ham Horton yesterday. "This amendment would bring the students and legislators together in a closer relationship," he added.

SUAB committee chairmen will meet this afternoon at 1 o'clock for a luncheon meeting in the upper dining room of Lenoir Hall.

Women's Glee Club The Women's Glee Club will meet today at 4:30 in Hill Hall for a rehearsal in preparation for the University Day concert next Monday.

Alpha Phi Omega The Alpha Phi Omega Campus Project Committee will meet tonight at 9 o'clock in the chapter room of the YMCA Building. Following that will be a meeting of the Executive Committee at 10 o'clock.

Replacement Not Selected For Editorship

Snook, Dear Seen As Top Candidates For Vacant Spot

Barry Farber, editor of The Daily Tar Heel since last April, resigned yesterday to enter the armed forces.

His successor will either be elected in a special election late this month or in the annual fall elections on November 18. If the latter should occur, President Ham Horton will appoint an interim editor until that time.

Farber is a special student from Greensboro. He graduated last June with a degree in journalism. He was elected editor of the newspaper in a landslide majority in last spring's campus elections.

He said yesterday he did not apply for draft deferment because "my studies having been formally completed, I feel as though I have no valid reason for remaining in civilian life." He said it will be a minimum of 21 days before he is inducted.

Farber had been expecting to be called but did not know he had been accepted until he received a telegram from his mother yesterday afternoon. It said: "Your certificate of acceptability to armed forces arrived this morning. Love and tears, Mother."

Already being mentioned as candidates are Harry Snook and Walt Dear. Snook is a longtime columnist for The Daily Tar Heel and also works on the Durham Morning Herald. He has had wide experience in radio writing. Dear is Publications Board chairman and served as editor of the summer Tar Heel as well as having held down a reporter's job on the paper previously. Dear ran for the editorship his sophomore year but was defeated by a more ex-

Payments To Korean Vets Begin Dec. 1

Korean veterans who entered school this fall will not receive any subsistence payments until about the first of December, Col. F. C. Shepard, military affairs adviser, said yesterday.

This does not mean, however, that the first two months of school will have to be financed by the vets themselves. The GI Bill for Korean Veterans provides that subsistence be paid one month after the completion of a month of benefits. This, along with the necessary delay caused by the Veterans' Administrations' record process, is responsible for the tardiness in mailing checks.

Shepard also said Korean vets must turn in to Room 315 South Building the form 7-1993 (certificate for education and training) before they can receive any payments. Those who did not turn in this form at registration but filled out application for it should receive it by mail within (See VETS, page 3)

Do It

Juniors and Law Students should have their 1953 Yackety Yack pictures made today and tomorrow. Picture dress is white shirts, ties and coats for the boys and white blouses for the girls.

The photographing is being done in the basement of Graham Memorial. There is no charge.

Yesterday was the last day for Sophomores and no more will be accepted, the editors said.
