Lay That Pistol Down

George the Dog is back in the Y Court again. As a result of somebody's maladjusted B-B gun, George was forced to spend several days in a plastic surgery ward. But he's all right now, except for a slight "misunderstood" complex.

Now George wants it known that he does not have bull's eyes. He is not a member of the archery department, nor is he on the psychology staff serving as the campus emotional outlet.

As a matter of fact, George is in no way employed by the University. And he's not doing any of these things on his own time, either.

George is not a lion. He's just a good collie who has committed no campus offense which warrants the firing squad. He may have barked at a few people in his time, but he didn't really mean anything by it.

The University apologizes if they have not made it clear that dog-hunting is not among the extra-curriculars. Here are the rules:

1. THIS IS NOT THE DOG-HUNTING SEASON.
2. NO LICENSES WILL BE ISSUED BY THE UNIVERSITY FOR THIS PRIVILEGE NOW OR IN THE FUTURE.
3. NO LICENSES WILL BE ISSUED BY THE LOCAL, STATE, OR NATIONAL GOVERNMENT FOR THIS PRIVILEGE NOW OR IN THE FUTURE.
4. PLEASE DO NOT SHOOT THE ANIMALS.

Attention all contributors to George's hospital bill: You are making it possible for George to pay off somebody's debt to society. Many thanks for your interest in getting George out of the dog house. He only needs seven more dollars, so keep the donations coming in.

Fascist Farber

Editor: In his "Personally" column of the 15th, Mr. Farber advocates the immediate outlawing of the Communist Party, and the "deactivating" of its leaders. Mr. Farber like any hysterical Ku Kluxer puts forward a simple program to clear the way for fascism.

This suggestion would lead in actual fact to scuttling the Bill of Rights and depriving all citizens of their civil liberties. Hitler Germany put Mr. Farber's program in action. The Fascists there started by outlawing the Communist Party, then all opposition to the government was silenced, and finally World War II came and the killing of six million Jews. Hitler's storm troopers also effectively "deactivated" Communist leaders by such means as beating them to death and killing them in gas chambers. Don't be coy Mr. Farber, let's have your suggestions. Why does Mr. Farber suggest that we deport the constitution. He says that the Communists in this country say that capitalism has to go. Well, they never made any bones about the fact that they believe that capitalism has run amok and is driving this country to war and economic and social ruin. It's common knowledge that Communists advocate socialism as the ultimate answer to the ills of capitalism and that they offer a practical program of peace, Negro rights and better living standards as immediate measures. He asks, "Has anybody seen Czechoslovakia lately?" It would be embarrassing for Mr. Farber to answer the rhetorical question because even he can't escape the fact that Czechoslovakia is flourishing economically and culturally and that the working people are running their country.

Mr. Farber is obviously an "advanced thinker" in his peculiar way. He is not satisfied that a climate of fear and intimidation is being created wholesale in this country. He is not satisfied with that same climate aptly described on this campus by Richard Murphy. Most native fascists are chortling with joy over the current "trials" of Communists. The Communist leaders are being accused, and tried for thinking, teaching and speaking.

Their crimes as charged in their indictments are:

Eleven indictments were for writing articles in the theoretical journal of the Communist Party,

"Political Affairs."

Five are for writing articles in the Daily Worker.

Five are for attendance at public meetings.

Two are for attendance at committee meetings.

Two are for attendance at classes.

One is for leaving a building (35 East 12 Street, the headquarters of the C.P. nationally).

One is for becoming a party organizer.

Incidentally, because of increasing pressure of public opinion, the cases against two of these leaders, Simon Gerson and Isadore Begun have been dismissed by the trial judge.

If Mr. Farber were a liberal, instead of a pro-fascist demagogue, he would take his place alongside the truly fearless democrats who at present call on the President for amnesty for the Communist leaders now in jail, the ending of all the "trials" now in progress, and the repeal of the Smith Act.

Gladys Scales

Ed. Note

(For the benefit of those who came in late, Gladys Scales is the wife of Junius, self-avowed Communist and editor of the "Fighter For Peace" publication which was recently circulated among many students of the University.

I feel that this letter is another manifestation of Marxist delusion and deceit. Our Constitution was formulated to protect the rights and freedoms of American citizens—but not to serve as a shield for those whose expressed goal is the overthrow of the system which protects the rest of us.

Mrs. Scales's accusation that I am a Fascist stings me very deeply, as five of the six million Jews who drew their last breath on Hitler's gas were my close relatives. There's not a fascist corpuscle in my most perverted artery, which is precisely why I would like to see the Red barrier to freedom unceremoniously eradicated.

I reject the parallel Mrs. Scales draws between Nazi Germany and my "pro-Fascist demagogism." If you remember correctly, Hitler suppressed ALL opposition parties without regard to their character, beliefs, or political intentions. I seek to "de-activate" only that Party which, by its own admission, would suppress all others if they

The Happy Time

For its first production of the season the Raleigh Little Theatre is presenting "The Happy Time," a comedy by Samuel Taylor, based on short stories by Robert Fontaine. The show will end its run this evening.

"The Happy Time" is the delightful story of the Bonnards, a very ingratiating, but thoroughly amoral family of French-Canadians, and of the effects of their varied and highly colorful escapades on Bibi, the adolescent offspring of the family. The playwright is obviously very fond of the Bonnards and understands them completely. He has brought them alive in a number of amusing incidents, sprinkled throughout the evening and has made them the basis of a thoroughly entertaining and heart-warming play.

The Little Theatre has given the show a more adequate production, although it is not up to their usual high standard. The acting ran the gamut from the very good to the very bad with most of the performances being in a class somewhere between the two limits. My nod for the best work would go to Charles Kahn, as Uncle Louis, the lovable drunkard of the family. Although he tended to overplay at times, he nevertheless gave a performance that left the audience in stitches. Running him a close second was George Hall, who had one of the most magnificent drunk scenes I have ever seen. As the other Bonnards, Richard Jackson, Mike Cannon, Don Vinnik, Bill Alspaugh, Bart Hickman, and Betty Dick all turned in generally able performances.

The entire production seemed to lack pace and to drag in many places. I think this can be attributed more to the inexperience of some of the actors than to the direction of Ainslie Pryor. Dick Snively's sets depicting a cheerful, lived-in looking living room and a conventional school office added a lot to the atmosphere of the play.

I cannot give this production my unqualified recommendation—such as it is worth—but if you have nothing to do tonight, I think you might enjoy a visit with the Bonnards. The performance begins this evening at 8 p.m. The tickets, which can be obtained by phone and also at the box office, cost $1.20 for students and $1.80 for regular admission.

I'm not the least bit embarrassed to answer my own rhetorical question, "Has anybody seen Czechoslovakia lately?" I haven't. My application for a visa to travel through that "Workers' Wonderland" was categorically denied by the Communist "Bliss Boys." But you don't have to eat a bad egg to know it's rotten. If conditions in Czechoslovakia are so agreeable, Mrs. Scales, tell me why hundreds of gallant, democratic Czechs die impaled on the "Peoples'" barbed wire in a futile effort to escape. Those that do manage to reach western Europe tell us a story about Marxist oppression which runs somewhat incongruous to your own. The Czechs once had the greatest little democracy in eastern Europe, until somebody realized that a swift coup d'etat could easily shatter the glass jaw of a complacent, unvigilant democracy.

That's why I would like to slap a congressional ban on the Communist Party—or the Fascist Party—or any other party whose aims were to reduce the population of our country to calculated slavery.

Many of my fellow Americans join me in my denunciation of Communism but would hate to see the Party outlawed straightaway because they feel that the C.P. is merely a frustrated amalgamation of rabid malcontents who present no clear and present danger to the foundations of our society.

I disagree. I advocate the immediate outlawing of the Communist Party without apologizing to anyone or ignoring a single facet of my liberal viewpoint. Look at Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Bulgaria, Romania. Do you sincerely believe, Mrs. Scales, that the Red regimes in those countries could survive a free democratic election?

I do not seek to suppress the ideas generated by the Commu-

Al House Young Democrats

Joe McCarthy, Chairman of the Senate Expenditures Committee; Joe Martin, instead of Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House. Bob Taft, Jenner and Judd, directors of the administration foreign and domestic policy and Richard Nixon presiding over the Senate. That is what will result from a Republican victory, and every vote for Eisenhower is a vote for these men whom he has endorsed and who will hold a high place in his administration.

How many of these so called "Eisenhower Democrats" have really thought of the consequences of their voting for the Republican candidate. This is no mayoralty campaign, where you of course just vote for a single man; this is a campaign where you vote for an entire administration to guide this nation for four years. A vote for Eisenhower is a vote for a Republican administration: a vote for Stevenson is a vote for a Democratic administration. A true Democrat will vote for the Democratic administration and to do otherwise is, in the words of Governor-nominee Bill Umstead, "poor judgment and political hypocrisy."

These facts of the campaign are a matter of record and cannot be refuted. Senator Bob Taft opposed the extension of the Soil Conservation Service, Social Security, the G. I. Bill for Korean veterans, 90% parity prices for farmers, federal aid to education, public housing projects and public power development. General Dwight Eisenhower said "I am in complete agreement with Senator Taft on domestic issues."

Is Eisenhower a symbol of the "new progressive" wing of the Republican party? Was he not nominated by the same wing of the party that nominated Dewey in 1944 and 1948. There is a disaffection in the Republican party that cuts deep and sensitive. They cry, "Change" "change to what?", a struggling elephant that goes down stream with its parts pulling divers ways. The Republican party platform states: "We aim at 90% parity for farmers." General Eisenhower says: "I am for 100% parity prices." Yet the Republicans in Congress have consistently voted against parity prices for farmers, and talk about a "sliding scale" of prices to be determined by a Republican Secretary of Agriculture. Whom shall we believe? General Eisenhower, the Republican platform, or the voting record of the Republicans in Congress. What are you receiving when you buy the Republican ticket in November, McCarthy, Jenner, Judd, et al included. Americans will think deeply before they turn to the party of reaction and fear. They hear them say "it's time for a change" but they answer back "a change to what?"

Americans can find in Adlai nist Party, because they will wither upon exposure to the light of day. I merely urge that we make ourselves aware of the time-tested tactics of world Communism and face the threat promptly and realistically so that our freedom might be preserved long after Stalin lies smoldering in his grave.

Even a rat, by gnawing through a dike, can drown a nation.—Barry Farber)

Stevenson a statesman of vision dedicated to good government. His accomplishments as governor of Illinois are praised by Democrats and Republicans alike. His service to the Agriculture Adjustment Administration, the Secretary of Navy, and with the United Nations show him to be such a statesman. A firm believer in integrity in government, he accomplished more in the clean-up of Illinois than any previous governor. He further believes that the price of freedom cannot be purchased at the doing away with taxes, but that economy in government can be realized. America looks forward with him "with a firm confidence in justice, freedom and peace on earth that will raise the hearts and hopes of mankind for that distant day when no one rattles a sabre and no one drags a chain."
