Miss Reed Named For Library Post

MISS SARAH REED

Miss Sarah Reed has been appointed assistant professor in the School of Library Science of the University. She comes here from the Graduate Library School of the University of Chicago where she was Librarian and Supervisor of Induction Training.

Cash Offered By Publisher For Writings

An annual award of $2,000, to be known as the Putnam Prize, is being offered this year for the first time by G. P. Putnam's Sons, publishers, through the English Department, for the best manuscript written by an undergraduate student of any of the three divisions of the Consolidated University.

Manuscripts, either fiction or non-fiction of general interest, may be offered, it was pointed out, not only by students in the Woman's College at Greensboro, State College at Raleigh, and the University at Chapel Hill but by students enrolled in the University's Extension Division.

It is emphasized that works of a strictly scholarly or highly specialized interest are not to be submitted. To be eligible for the contest a manuscript must consist of at least 40,000 words with a detailed synopsis of the unwritten parts of the book.

Half the prize will be an advance on royalties and the other half an outright award.

Three judges are to be selected each year, one chosen at the University, one by G. P. Putnam's Sons, and the third to be agreed upon mutually by the English Department here and by the donors of the prize. The latter will be a distinguished author or critic. This year's judges are to be announced on January 1.

Deadline for this year's contest (1952-53) will be June 1, 1953. In subsequent years, the award is expected to be made in June, at the end of the academic year.

Miss Jessie Rehder of the University English Department, in announcing rules for the contest, said the publishers are to have an option on their usual terms on any book submitted, as well as the winning manuscript. Secondary prizes will be awarded when and if the quality of the material warrants it, she said.

The publishers reserve the right to divide the prize if several manuscripts appear to be of equal merit, she explained, and not to award the prize if no worthy manuscript appears.

Further information on the Putnam Prize may be obtained by writing Miss Jessie Rehder, Box 350, Chapel Hill. Manuscripts may be submitted to her from now until June.

Reception

The Student-Faculty Committee of the Student Union Activities Board will sponsor a reception today from 4 o'clock until 5:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

The reception is particularly for the History and Political Science Departments, but all interested are invited.

Phi Debates GOP Expiry On Tuesday

Tuesday night the Phi Assembly will debate a bill calling for the disbandment of the Republican Party and the formation of a party that will help preserve the two party system.

The bill which, was introduced by representative Bob Pace, would place the Phi on record as favoring the disbandment of the "present corrupt, reactionary isolationistic Republican Party" and urge the formation of a party to be led by such "outstanding republicans as Wayne Morse, Earl Warren and Margaret Chase Smith."

The bill also would place the Phi on record as supporting Gov. Adlai Stevenson for the presidency.

Invitations are being sent to John Sanders president of the YDC and Curt Ratzlge president of the YRC to be present and to participate in the debate. Prof. E. J. Woodhouse of the Department of Political Science also has been invited.

SP Meets Tomorrow At 8:30 To Nominate

The Student Party will meet tomorrow night at 8:30 in the Roland Parker Lounges of Graham Memorial to nominate legislators from women's dormitory, women's town and men's dormitory districts. Freshman class officers also will be nominated.

Medical Panel To Have Boston Heart Specialist

DR. PAUL WHITE

Dr. Paul White of Boston, internationally known heart specialist, will address several groups in Durham and Chapel Hill during the coming weekend.

He will speak informally to the doctors at the Duke University Hospital at a luncheon session Friday. After that he will come to Chapel Hill and serve as moderator at a panel discussion on "Coronary Atherosclerosis" in the amphitheater of the North Carolina Medical Hospital. This session is sponsored by the Durham-Orange County Heart Association and will be the first meeting to be held in the new auditorium. Dr. White will be introduced by Dr. W. Reece Berryhill, dean of the University School of Medicine.

Edwardians Exhibit On In Morehead

"The Edwardians," a photographic exhibition prepared by the editors of Life Magazine, has been opened at the Morehead Building and will continue through November 15.

Historically this exhibition completes the series based on Life's "History of Western Culture." It is both a climax to the earlier chapters and a preface to new ones whose paragraphs have yet to be written.

During the astonishingly brief years of Edward VII's reign—1901-1910—England experienced a burst of optimistic vigor in striking contrast to the mood of the late Victorian era. The Edwardians were extravagant, "fast," and determined to get the fullest enjoyment out of the prosperous world they inherited. But they were also progressive in their outlook, and intensely interested in social improvement. Living amid peace and plenty, they were full of hope for even better things to come.

A glimpse of their exuberant world is like a tonic to our generation which has seen the "Edwardian" "peace and plenty" destroyed by wars and the resultant austerity of post-war living. It gains added interest at this particular moment, when elaborate preparations are already under way for the coronation of England's beloved new queen, great-granddaughter of Edward VII, who was called the Peacemaker.

The exhibition has three main sections. The first sets the stage with pictures of the royal family, the fashionable world, and the pleasures common to all society. This section includes a panel of portraits by the American painter, John Singer Sargent.

The second part deals with the more serious side of life: new movements for social reform—the Fabians, suffragettes and great philanthropists—politics at home and diplomacy abroad. The final section takes up new developments in science and literature, with a glimpse of the contemporary theatre reflecting the ideas and tastes of the period.

NEWS IN BRIEF

NEW YORK—Dwight D. Eisenhower sought to impress upon the voters yesterday that if he is elected president, he will act fast in the war in Korea. He promised to go to Korea personally after the election to see "how best" he can work out "an early end" to the fighting which he said could have been avoided in the first place. Included on the Republican nominee's schedule for yesterday were a reunion at Columbia University, part of the Army-Columbia football game and a civil rights speech in Margem during the late afternoon.

ABOARD STEVENSON SPECIAL—Adlai Stevenson launched a series of bitter attacks on Gen. Eisenhower yesterday in what was hinted as an attempt to puncture the prestige of his GOP opponent in the closing days of the presidential campaign. Yesterday Stevenson moved from New York State into Massachusetts in a trail of speeches at Pittsfield, Springfield, Worcester, Framingham, and Boston. His schedule also called for him to breakfast with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park then visit the Roosevelt memorial for a brief wreath laying ceremony.

SEOUL, Korea—Scrappy South Koreans, knocked off the highest peak on Sniper Ridge by 1,000 screaming Chinese, went right back up yesterday and literally blasted the Reds off the height with demolition bombs. The victory gave the United Nations complete control of the dominating central front ridgeline. In the air Allied Sabre jets shot down two Communist MIG-15 jets 45,000 feet over North Korea near the Yalu River.

PARIS—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, U. S. Air Force chief of staff, said yesterday he believes Russian and possibly German pilots are flying Communist MIG-15 jet fighters against the United Nations in Korea. He made the comment at a press conference when asked the latest "estimate" of the nationalities of pilots flying the speedy MIG's.

NASHVILLE—Federal and state officers here yesterday arrested one member of a three-man gang of marauders who robbed and kidnaped 20 persons, and police in all Southern states maintained a close watch for the other two. FBI Agent Alfred Means announced that Virgil E. LeMay, teen-aged Nashville youth, was picked up at the home of a friend in East Nashville shortly after dawn yesterday.

WASHINGTON—Economic Stabilizer Toger L. Putnam appeared yesterday to intervene in the stalemated coal dispute in an effort to end the strike of 350,000 miners. Informed sources said Putnam unexpectedly had called a meeting of the public members of the Wage Stabilization Board yesterday to settle the dispute.

PANMUNJOM—The chief of the Communist truce delegation protested yesterday the injuring of nine Red prisoners of war at a United Nations stockade at Pusan.

NEW YORK—United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie says he will not "resort to lynch law and smear" in dealing with disloyal American employees of the U.N. Secretariat. Lie said that he was taking "such orderly and legal measures as are available."

WASHINGTON—President Truman, in the last Armistice Day proclamation he will issue as Chief Executive, called on Americans to devote themselves anew to the "tasks of promoting a permanent peace among all the people of the earth."

Notre Dame Dominates Play; Newman Passes For Scores

By Biff Roberts
Daily Tar Heel Sports Editor
NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 25—That mist of football misfortune continued to hand heavy over the head of Carolina this afternoon and the Tar Heels, still seeking that first victory, dropped their third game of the season 34-14 to the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame.

'Bookies Say No, We Say Go' Wire Students

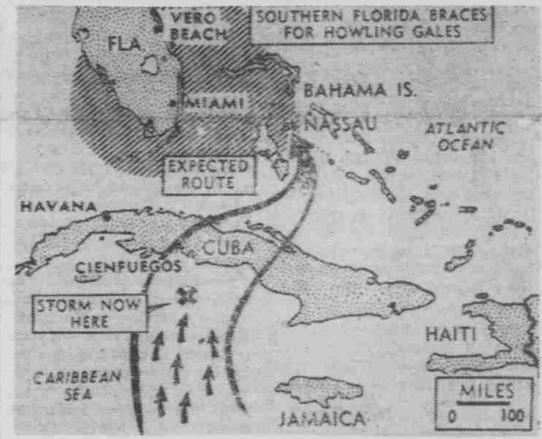

The University's football team had words of encouragement yesterday from nearly half of the stay-at-home student body. Those who found the 1,000 mile journey too far for them, sent their encouragement in the form of telegrams which were presented the gridsters on the field just before the game. The messages were rolled up and tied with blue and white ribbon. Nearly 2,500 students signed the various telegrams.

The mass movement of long distance spirit was mainly the work of five people, Tom Sully of the University Club, John Earnhardt, Western Union messenger as well as a UNC student, and three Western Union telegraphers. The big task was completed at 12:30 Friday night when the last name moved over the special circuit to South Bend.

Also included among the well-wishers were patrons of various business firms downtown who signed the lists on display by the merchants. One, sent by the Porthole Restaurant, said, "Scramble the yeggs and bring back the bacon."

Some of the other messages were: "The bookies say no but we say go," Pi Kappa Sigma Fraternity; "Go Tar Heels and win the game, this will be your claim to fame," Chi Omega Sorority, and "Show those boys in South Bend how the South can bend the backs of the Irish," Cobb Dormitory.

Last year, the Irish backers sent an 80-foot telegram to Chapel Hill.

Tax Meeting Slated Here On Nov. 16-18

A number of well known authorities in several fields have accepted invitations to address the 13th annual Symposium on Accounting and Taxation to be held at the University and Duke University Nov. 16-18.

Plans for the symposium, sponsored by the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants with the cooperation of the University of North Carolina and Duke University, were announced yesterday by Raymond R. Rains, Chapel Hill, executive secretary.

Registration is scheduled to begin at the Carolina Inn at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 16, and that night there will be a reception and buffet dinner in the Morehead Building, after which there will be committee and board of directors' meetings at the Inn.

Full day sessions, including addresses and tax panels, will begin Monday, November 17, at 9:45.

The annual banquet will be held Monday night, and the meeting will adjourn Tuesday afternoon, November 18.

In conjunction with the regular sessions, there will be on Monday a special program for junior accountants in the School of Business Administration. Those participating will join with the senior accountants for several of the major sessions, including the banquet.

But the Irish came back in the second half with the throttle wide open while the Tar Heels seemed to have run out of gas.

Notre Dame grabbed a 21 point lead in the third quarter and held on from there for the victory.

Carolina quarterbacks Marshall Newman and Charlie Motta turned to passing in an attempt to pull the game out before this near capacity 54,333 people crowd in Notre Dame Stadium but it was no good.

The two threw a total of 29 passes but completed only 11 for 123 yards. Both Carolina touchdowns came on passes by Newman, however.

The Irish found the solution to the Carolina defense which ranked second in the Southern Conference before today's game. Breaking their backs repeatedly on pitchouts and handoffs the winners romped for a total of 301 yards on the ground.

It was this running attack which made the difference. Although moving the ball better than they had anytime this year, the Tar Heels still could only muster 32 yards on the ground.

The play in the opening minutes made it look as though the game would produce a scoring deluge. Both teams scored with only three minutes and 45 seconds gone in the first period.

The Irish struck first, crossing the Carolina goal with only 1:40 gone. Billy William's opening kickoff was taken by Paul Reynolds on the eight and returned to the 24. Johnny Latner fumbled on the first play from scrimmage but recovered for a five yard gain.

Quarterback Tom Carey then flipped for 14 yards to end Art Hunter, putting the ball on the Notre Dame 43. Then came the play that sparked the score.

Left halfback Joe Heap took the ball on a pitchout from Carey and, cutting to the east sideline, tore 50 yards to the Carolina eight before Dick Lackey, cutting across field, could knock him out of bounds.

But Lackey's tackle did little good. On the next play fullback Neil Worden took another pitchout and cracked over tackle for the score. Bob Arrix kicked the extra point and it was Notre Dame, 7-0.

But before the Notre Dame fans could finish their cheering, the Tar Heels came back to tie the score. After taking Arrix kickoff and being held on downs, Bud Wallace punted for Carolina from his own 34.

Joe Heap gathered the ball in on the Notre Dame 20, stepped off two yards and fumbled when he was tackled. Dick Kocornik recovered on the Notre Dame 22 to give the Tar Heels the ball deep in Irish territory.

On the first play Wallace dropped a yard on a hand off. But Newman made it up the next time he got the ball by rifling to end Tom Adler on the two yard line from which point Adler stepped over the goal line.

Adler added another point to his personal total by making the extra point kick good and the game was tied, 7-7.

The score stayed that way until (See IRISH, page 3)

Housing
Students who recently pledged fraternities and plan to move into fraternity houses are asked to check by the Housing Office in New East Annex.
Housing Officer James Wadsworth said his office needs the information to accommodate the many students living in dormitory basements, who want dormitory rooms.
