

Carolina Booters Get 2-1 Revenge Over N.C. State

Down In Front

Air Raid Wardens

THINGS WILL GET worse before they get better for Carolina's defense. Too often this season opposing passers have caught the Tar Heel air-raid wardens with their helmets off and have reaked irreparable damage to the Carolina end zone. Saturday's game with South Carolina at Columbia will be just as tough, too, for the Gamecocks have one of the best passers in the Southern Conference in Johnny Gramling, and you can expect a real aerial blitz.

The Gamecocks have a fairly respectable record with five wins and two losses, and three of those victories came in the past three games, against Clemson, Virginia, and The Citadel. Passing has accounted for nine of the 20 touchdowns they have scored, and set up countless others.

Gramling has hit on 42 out of 95 throws for 507 yards and seven of the TD's, more than an average mark. But on top of his good passing, the Tar Heel defenders will also have to watch Dick Balka, a senior, who has a better average than Gramling with 17 completions out of 39 tosses for 239 yards and the other two aerial scores.

Outstanding Player

IT WAS BALKA WHO led South Carolina to its amazing victory over Virginia the week before the Cavaliers hit Chapel Hill. In that game, with only 1:40 left in the game, Virginia led, 14-0. But the Gamecocks, led by Balka at quarterback, scored three times before the clock ran out and the South Carolinians won, 21-14. In the press box, in order to expedite releases to the various newspapers covering the game, a third-quarter poll had been taken to choose the most outstanding player in the game, an annual honor given in the Oyster Bowl game, and Virginia's Bob Tata had gotten the nod. But when Balka started moving the Gamecocks those ballots were torn up, a new poll was taken, and Balka was the big man in a walk away.

The South Carolina running attack isn't too potent but still has to be watched. Gene Wilson, Bobby Drawdy, and Hootie Johnson are Coach Rex Enright's top runners with Drawdy probably being the most spectacular of the three. Wilson is tied with end Clyde Bennett for scoring honors on the team with four touchdowns apiece. To illustrate just exactly how much the Gamecocks rely on their passing game—Bennett has scored all of his TD's on passes caught while Wilson has scored two running and two passing.

Running And Passing

SO IT SEEMS THAT if we are to beat the Gamecocks Saturday, some improvement will have to be made. The Tar Heel air defense has granted an appalling 47.9% completion average in its five games. That just won't go against South Carolina.

But one thing in our favor is the fact that their running game doesn't compare to that of Texas, Wake Forest, Notre Dame, Tennessee, or Virginia. Those five strong teams were able to throw fast ground attacks at us to weaken us and pull the linebackers in. Then when they had us like that, it wasn't hard to make their passing games reap the scores. The Carolina line ought to be able to hold the South Carolina running. If it can do that well enough then the pass defenders can stay back, Coach Carl Snavely can switch to a stronger pass defense, and—we might come home with that first victory.

So even if that South Carolina passing attack doesn't paint a pretty picture, just remember—a few quick erasures can change any scene completely.

Russell Scores In Second Overtime For Tar Heel Win

A goal by center forward Gerry Russell in the second overtime period gave the Carolina soccer eleven a 2-1 victory over the N.C. State team at Raleigh yesterday afternoon. Russell was assisted in his game-winning goal by inside left Rennie Randolph.

State jumped into an early lead in the contest when center forward Norris scored in the closing seconds of the first period. Carolina came back to tie things up in the second stanza. Substitute forward Drew Patterson tallied for the Tar Heels. The two teams then settled down to a defensive duel until Russell scored his decisive marker.

Russell and Randolph were both outstanding for the winners yesterday. Also meriting special mention were outside left forward Louie Patseavouras, right half-back Dave Cole, and left fullback co-captain Barry Kalb.

This evens the season's series with the State eleven at one victory apiece. The Wolfpack captured a 1-0 decision here in the season's opener on Adrian Castro's goal. Castro was held scoreless in yesterday's game.

This is Carolina's fourth victory of the season, as against three defeats. Besides yesterday's win, Coach Al Moore's club has won over Virginia, Washington and Lee, and Roanoke. The Tar Heels have met defeat at the hands of Duke, Penn State, and the Wolfpack.

The Tar Heels are slated to meet the booters from Maryland at College Park this coming Saturday, and will return home to meet Duke next Wednesday afternoon at Fetzer Field.

Davidson Back At Football Practice As Team Prepares For Gamecocks

By Vardy Buckalew

The Carolina football team went through a lengthy drill yesterday, practicing everything from punting to kicking off in the last scrimmage before the South Carolina game Saturday.

Protecting the punter was emphasized in the kicking drill while in the kick-off drill, getting down field under the kick was practiced.

Marshall Newman and Charlie Motta alternated the direction of the offense with two different teams. Newman's passing looked good and the running of Larry Parker and Bull Davidson was exceptional.

Davidson spent his second day in heavy uniform since recovering from the attack of polio which had sidelined him since the Texas game. He will definitely play in the game Saturday.

The important players who will be missing from the lineup Saturday are backs Ken Keller, Bob White, and linebacker Doug Brutton. For Keller and White it will be their second week of inactivity. This will be the first game in the end zone for a score. Adam Thorp kicked the extra point.

Then, still in the first half,

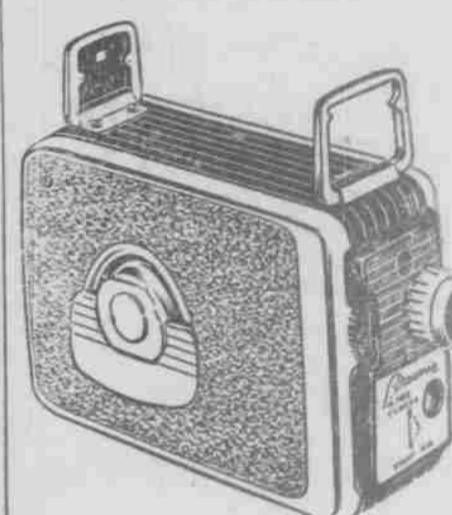

Thorp passed to McKnight for 20 yards and another touchdown. The Law School stayed in the game when John Culbertson passed to Jerry Nall for a 20-yard touchdown. The extra point try was blocked.

In the second half neither team was able to score until the final minutes of play. Then the lawyers took the ball downfield. With the ball on the 10 yard line Culbertson passed to Jim Strickland in the end zone.

The Law School seemed demoralized then and fumbled on its next play. Roddy ran to his left, passed to McKnight, then ran 20 yards to catch a return pass from McKnight and then headed to Smitty Lineburger who stepped into the end zone.

The Law School seemed demoralized then and fumbled on its next play. Roddy came back with his same razzle-dazzle the next time he got the ball. Again running to his left he hit McKnight on a short one, got a return pass and again caught Lineburger in the end zone.
