

Tar Heel Cagers Meet Richmond Tomorrow

By Tom Pearce

The North Carolina basketball team, winners of two Southern Conference games in as many starts this season, takes a two-day rest and then plays the University of Richmond here Saturday night in another Conference contest.

Carolina will be favored to extend its win streak against the Spiders, but Richmond is always tough and gave Carolina a scare last year before bowing, 62-56, on the Richmond court.

Tar Heel coach Frank McGuire is hoping for an improvement in his squad over the past two games. Carolina opened Monday night with a 70-50 victory over The Citadel, and then beat Washington and Lee, 67-48, on Wednesday. The Tar Heels started slow in both games, allowing the opponent to grab an early lead.

Carolina made 22 of 75 field goal attempts against Washington and Lee for a fair floor average, but did very poorly at the foul line. The new Southern Con-

Carolina Swimmers Go To VMI Tomorrow

Carolina's defending Southern Conference champion swimming team will open the season tomorrow with a meet against High Point High at Bowman Gray Memorial Pool.

The junior varsity will also open its season tomorrow with a meet against High Point High at Bowman Gray Memorial Pool.

Expected to lead the varsity are such swimmers as Buddy Baarck, Donnie Evans, Barry Wall and others who formed the nucleus of last year's undefeated squad.
