Net Team Is Duke's Nemesis

By Jake Wade

Tennis fans will be given their last opportunity to see the fine University of North Carolina team in action here Thursday when the Tar Heels meet strong Rollins College.

Following the engagement with Rollins, Coach John Kenfield takes his squad on its annual northern trip for seven matches, and that winds up the season except for the Southern Conference championships at Davidson May 15-16.

The Tar Heels are the strongest team on the Tar Heels' schedule this year. Those of us who have the notion that this possibly is Carolina's best team in history—that is, for depth and balance all down the line—will watch the outcome of Thursday's battle with great interest. And we hope this bullish notice doesn't put the whammy on our boys.

Correction
It has been pointed out that our bureau was a little too enthusiastic in one of its recent dispatches, which noted that Duke's tennis win over the Tar Heels last year was its first in a quarter of a century. We stand corrected. Duke did, indeed, win a match in 1944, by 6-3, and another in 1945, by 5-4. But that's all. We are glad to set the record straight for those who read the earlier dispatch.

Prior to 1944, the last Duke wins were in 1927, two by 5-4. That was the year before John Kenfield began coaching here.

Up to date, over all, Kenfield-coached teams (1928-1953) now show the following dual-meet record against old rival and highly respected Duke teams: 36 victories, three defeats.

For the record, actually Kenfield was not in charge when the Tar Heels dropped the 1944 and 1945 matches to Duke. They were played in June both those years, after Kenfield had left for his summer job in Illinois. When Kenfield was here, in both 1944 and 1945, the Tar Heels defeated the Blue Devils: by 8-1 in 1944, and by 7-2 in 1945. After those decisive wins, he read with some chagrin, while he was in Chicago, of their subsequent defeats by Duke.

A Different Story
It hasn't been that way in golf, another spring sport in which the Tar Heels have consistently fielded first rate teams with a winning tradition over a long period. We bring this out just to show you that we are willing to print the bitter with the sweet.

From 1927 through 1937, the Duke and Carolina golf teams played on even terms, the decade showing nine wins for Duke and nine for the Tar Heels.

From 1938 through 1950, however, during which time North Carolina had some of its finest teams, led by great Harvie Ward, Duke rolled up an astonishing winning streak of 12 in a row over the Tar Heels.

Duke added its 13th straight in the first match between the two teams in 1951. The Tar Heels broke the jinx, however, in the second match that year, played at Finley, and then went on to win twice over Duke last year.

The Duke-Carolina golf rivalry is keen, as in tennis, and as in all spheres of athletic activity, for that matter. They have only one match scheduled this year, that on May 11 at Hope Valley, Duke's home grounds. The Tar Heel netmen, are undefeated and exceptionally well balanced all down the line, will be seeking their fourth straight win over Duke linksmen. Whammy, stay away!

Jersey Walcott Smears Rocky

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J.—(Special)—There was anger in Jersey Joe Walcott's eyes today as he branded heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano "the dirtiest fighter I ever met in 24 years of fighting."

Jersey Joe, training in virtual privacy for his return shot at the man who knocked him out in September, didn't want to start slinging mud as he sat in his closet-size dressing room having his hands bandaged. But the words tumbled out when he was needed about his quiet attitude.

Tennis Team Meets Rollins; Lore Scheduled To Face Duke

Big Four First Team To Be Decided Today In Important Contest

By Tom Peacock

Big Four baseball standings will be at least temporarily decided here today when Duke and Carolina meet on Emerson Field at 3:30.

Carolina and Duke are tied for first with 3-2 records, way ahead of State and Wake Forest. The Tar Heels are leading the southern division of the Conference, and a win for Duke will put it right in the fracas for a playoff position.

The two top teams in the Southern and northern divisions meet in a playoff, and Duke must beat out Carolina or Furman right now.

Blue Devil coach Ace Parker will probably start his fast balling righthander, Joe Lewis, today, while Walt Rabb is expected to go along with another righthander, Bill Lore.

Lewis is still smarting from a 5-2 licking the Tar Heels gave him here last week in front of his parents who had come all the way from Falls River, Massachusetts to see him beat Carolina. The big redhead was uncommonly effective against Carolina last year, however.

Lore lost his last start, a six hit heartbreaker to Wake Forest, 2-0. It was his first game after an ankle injury, and he seemed completely well. Lore has a 4-2 record and is one of the leading hitters on the squad.

The Tar Heels, supposedly strong at pitching but weak at the plate, have become the hardest hitting team in the league. Their latest outburst was a 13-3 romp over State here Tuesday in which they banged out 17 safeties including a homer and three triples.

Coaches Rabb and Hearn have the personnel, too. When Carolina faces a lefthanded pitcher the coaches may change their lineup all around and insert a whole new outfield. There is no lack of power, either, most of Carolina's hits being crisp line drives, many for extra bases.

Carolina's lineup may be strengthened by the return of third baseman Bruce Holt. Holt was out with an ankle injury, and though a remarkably good fielder, has had trouble unseating the hard-hitting Bobby Williams since his recovery. Williams went hitless Tuesday, however, and Holt may get his chance.

In the rest of the infield, Ed Hooks or Will Frye will catch, Bobby Henning at first, Harry Lloyd, second, and Fred Dale at

Home Schedule Ends For Netters Today Against Rollins Tars

By Vardy Buckalew

Rollins College will close out Carolina's home tennis schedule today and the match should be the best one of the year to be played here. The match is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

The Rollins lineup is studded with champions and the Tar Heels will have to call on their depth if they are to win this one. The Tars have been defeated once this year by powerful Miami.

Carolina, on the other hand, will be seeking its eighteenth straight win. The toughest match for the Tar Heels so far was the one with Duke which they won 7-2.

Alfredo Millet and Calhoun Dickson are the two top men on the Rollins squad. Both have played the number one position at times, but Millet is expected to be the one to face Del Sylvia in the feature match today. Millet defeated Sylvia in the match last year.

Dickson will play number two and will face Herb Browne for the Tar Heels, who has moved up a notch since the last match. Coach Kenfield made the switch after Browne defeated Tom Bradford in a challenge match.

Millet is a member of Mexico's Davis Cup team and Dickson is Florida's public courts champion. Also in the lineup is Eduardo Garcia, Chilean national junior champion, and his brother Memo.

Other international players on the squad include Mexico's Alberto Danel, another Davis Cupper, and Paul Driscoll from Canada. The only other American in the Rollins lineup besides Dickson is freshman George Longshore from Anniston, Ala., last year's Alabama State scholastic champion.

The Carolina team will start on its annual northern tour after this match, opening the trek with a match with Virginia on Saturday. Following that they will play six northern schools, finishing against a strong Princeton team on May 9.

New Girl's Tennis Club Plays Wake Forest Today

The recently formed girl's Tennis Club plays its first match today at 3 o'clock on the clay courts against Wake Forest's girl's team.

Nancy Gerlach will play number one for Carolina, followed by Carolyn Johnson, Sandy Donaldson, Ann Forsythe, Jane Carey and Louise Milligan.

Misses Johnson and Donaldson will play first doubles, Jo Deming and Jane Carey, second, and Joann Murphy and Gerry Norris, third.

short. Al Long, Connie Gravitte, John Motsinger, Wayne White, and Ken Keller are all making bids for the outfield positions.

Golfers Play In Collegiate Tourney Today

Coach Chuck Erickson's undefeated Carolina golf team travels to Athens, Ga., today to compete in the Southern Intercollegiate championships, today, tomorrow and Saturday.

The Tar Heels, unbeaten in nine matches, have racked up impressive wins over Citadel, Williams, Ohio, Notre Dame, Michigan, Virginia, N. C. State, and Wake Forest.

A quartet of veterans head the Tar Heels. Bob Black, Jim Ferree, Bill Williamson and Lew Brown are the oldtimers now in their senior year. Billy Thornton, a sophomore from Manchester, Conn., and freshmen Billy Ford and John Frazier have been the other consistent winners.

Sophomore George Mountcastle will also journey South with the Tar Heels.

Erickson's team finished well up in the pack at Athens last year. Louisiana State is favored in this year's outing with the Tar Heels conceded an outside possibility in the upper bracket.

A Sad Parable With A Happy Ending

Consider the case of C. Alphonso Gull.

By the end of his Freshman year he had trained one girl to wave at him, but she never waved until four minutes till eleven, and she lived in a Dormitory.

In his sophomore year he just gave up and played Field Hockey.

This year he was a junior, and pretty desperate. Every time he listened to a radio program he used a different soap—but no wonderful thing happened to him.

And then he saw our ad for THE UNFAIR SEX. Now C. Alphonso wasn't so slow as you might think. "What's sauce for the goose," he said, "is duck soup for the gander."

Pal, he bought that book, and he's already memorized Line I and Line II.

But we doubt if he'll finish it. His evenings are that busy!
