

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and warm with 85 high.

The Daily Tar Heel

U.N.C. Library Serials Dept. Chapel Hill, N. C. 8-31-49

WEEKEND

Saturday classes bring the need for entertainment. Page 2.

VOLUME LXI NUMBER 155

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1953

FOUR PAGES TODAY

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — Investigating senators called yesterday for a statement from President Eisenhower himself on Allied nations' trade with Red China...

TOKYO — The United Nations in a "final" truce offer to the Communists will agree that anti-Red Chinese prisoners of the UN be sent to a neutral country...

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower faced a major test of his political leadership yesterday in Congress to hold off tax cuts until next year...

SEOUL — Allied infantrymen killed or wounded an estimated 230 Chinese Communists near T-Bone Hill yesterday...

FAMED WOMAN PILOT Jacqueline Cochran stands beside the Canadian-built F-86 Sabre jet plane which she used to break the sound barrier in a high-speed test over the Muroc Dry Lake in California.

Linton Talks

Dr. Ralph Linton, well-known anthropologist and Sterling professor of anthropology at Yale University, will deliver a public lecture tonight in Carroll Hall at 8:30.

Dr. Linton, who is being sponsored by the Institute for Research in Social Science and the Anthropology Club, will speak on the subject, "What is National Character?"

Dormitories To Get Streamlining With Bond Issue Funds

A streamlined system of coordination of the housing office, dormitory managers and advisers is among the proposed improvements for dormitories, it was learned yesterday.

Navy Awards Twenty Cadets In Ceremony

Twenty awards, citations and medals were presented cadets in the Naval ROTC unit at the annual Ayards Day program on Emerson Field yesterday afternoon.

Capt. John S. Keating, professor of naval science and tactics and commander of the UNC unit, made the presentations.

The following awards were made: "Professor Naval Science Award," to Arthur J. Egan, Portsmouth, Va., for contributing most to the welfare of the unit.

"American Legion Medal," Joel S. Watkins, Warren Ark., for outstanding qualities of military proficiency.

"Best Drilled Company Award," Erle D. Litzenger, Bethlehem, Pa., for company leadership in inter-company drill competition.

"Best Drilled Platoon Award," Jerome W. Bolick, Conover, for leadership in inter-platoon drill competition.

"NROTC Journalism Award," Joel L. Fleischmann, Fayetteville, for contribution towards the publishing of the unit newspaper, The Carolina Cutter.

"Best All-Around Freshman," citation, Elton A. Abernethy, Blowing Rock.

"Excellence in Marksmanship Award," given by the Sons of the American Revolution, John Payne Jackson, Eau Gallie, Fla.

"Drill Team Award," Donald L. Harley, Haddonfield, N. J. "Rifle Marksmanship Award," Elton A. Abernethy, Blowing Rock.

"Pistol Marksmanship Award," Elton A. Abernethy, Blowing Rock. "Marine Corps Gazette Award," Arthur J. Egan, Portsmouth, Va., as outstanding member of graduating Marine Corps candidates.

"Rifle Team Membership Award," William G. Parmele, East Orange, N. J., for competition in postal and other rifle team matches.

"Pistol Team Membership Award," Loren A. Brandt, Charleston, S. C., for competition in postal and other pistol team matches.

"Navigation Medal," William K. Scarborough, Annapolis, Md., for highest average in navigation.

"Marine Science Medal," Harvey D. Bradshaw, Greenville, for highest average in Marine science courses.

"Supply Science Medal," Harry H. Arnold, Dover, for highest average in supply science courses.

"Ordnance and Gunnery Medal," Frederick D. Hamrick, III, Rutherfordton, for highest average in naval ordnance and gunnery courses.

"Special Letter of Commendation, with Medal," Julian H. Rountree, Mount Airy, for diligence and devotion to duty in behalf of welfare and organization of the unit.

"Naval Institute Proceedings Award," Bruce A. Bauer, Arlington, Va., and William D. Smith, Bethel, for demonstrating exceptional interest in professional, literary, and scientific knowledge of the Navy.

"Trophy for largest blood donation to Red Cross," presented to the entire unit, by Junius C. Fox, Red Cross Bloodmobile Drive chairman.

WUNC Schedule 7:30—Sketches in Melody. 7:30—Night Duty. 8:—Duke Symphony Orchestra. 9:30—Matters of Note by Dr. Wilton Mason. 10:30—News and Coming Events. 10:35—Evening Masterwork. 11:00—Sign Off.

CAMPUS SEEN

South Building drinking fountains, which seem to have been built for midgets, responding to your thirst with a stream of tepid water.

Mayor Ed Lanier sporting a new paint job of his antiquated A-Model.

J. P. Jones' 'Lost Months' Are Revealed

Members of the Graduate History Club heard Dr. Archibald Henderson reveal what happened during the 20 "missing months" in the life of John Paul Jones last night in the Library Assembly Room.

According to Dr. Henderson, no one in the world can show documentary evidence that John Paul Jones was anywhere on the face of the earth for the 20 months after Feb. 1, 1774, although thousands have devoted most of their lives doing so.

Dr. Henderson has had those months on his mind since childhood, and together with the help of his sisters has discovered what he believes to be an answer to the mystery.

"John Paul," Dr. Henderson says, "while the master of a ship around the year 1772, had trouble with a crew member and flogged him. After returning to England the sailor bitterly showed his wounds to many people, denouncing John Paul. Three months later the man died at sea on another vessel, but it was believed his death was a result of the flogging. John Paul had to obtain many affidavits to prove his innocence, but finally did so.

"Two years later, he had trouble again at sea with another sailor, and this time he killed him. These two incidents, were heavy on Jones' conscience, and, afraid he would not receive justice, he went incognito for 20 months."

He then came to Philadelphia, Dr. Henderson said, and looked up James Smith, owner of a shipping company, and an old friend, who sent him to Edenton, North Carolina to see his brother. While in Edenton, he met and stayed at Willie Jones' home, and later became associated with high-ranking Masons. After several months he returned to Philadelphia and gained a captain's rank and master of an American ship.

All the time he was incognito, John Paul signed his name as J. P. Jones.

Movie Cameras Take Over The Campus

CBS Film Maker Is Impressed By Carolina's Drama Activity

Allan Davis, who is in Chapel Hill to direct the CBS-TV film of University life, is an Englishman who came to the States on a three-months trip three years ago, and has been working here ever since.

With the Old Vic company at Bristol, England, Davis directed such actors as George Coulouris, Frances Rowe and Robert Edison. He also has directed several plays in London.

A Rockefeller Foundation grant made possible his tour of American university drama departments, during which he visited Chapel Hill, and was so pleased with the attitude which he found here toward entertainment in all forms that when CBS began to plan its series on American universities he asked to be assigned to this phase of the series.

In his first visit to Chapel Hill, Davis was especially impressed by the great attention given here to young playwrights. "No university, stock theatre, or any theatrical group," he says, "can hope for a lasting place in the development of theatre history unless it encourages, develops and gives birth to new playwrights." It is interesting to note that, at the Old Vic, when he was directing there, for every production of a Shakespeare play they also gave an entirely new play, often by an unknown playwright.

Davis' three-months Rockefeller trip was extended to six, and during that time he traveled over 20,000 miles and saw drama in "every conceivable form and condition—in factories, in wharves, in the mountains, in hotel ballrooms, in converted mills—as well as in more conventional theatres."

Following the tour, he directed a new adaptation of Moliere's "Tartuffe" by Miles Malleon in Boston, with Sam Jaffe in the leading role. Then he went to Hollywood under contract to MGM, and directed there, among other things, "Rogue's March," featuring Peter Lawford, Richard Greene and Leo Carroll, which was shown here a few weeks ago. When "3-D-mentia" set in, Davis left Hollywood for New York, where he has been directing a TV film series, "The Doctor" which has been seen over the NBC network.

Five Tapped By Valkyries In Ceremony Early Today

MARILYN HABEL

ALICE CHAPMAN

NANCY HORNE

LILLIAN YOUNGS

(A picture of Miss Hutchinson was not available)

Five University yomen were tapped by the Valkyries, top honorary organization for women on campus, this morning at 2:30.

The five, including three juniors and two honorary post-graduates, were Marilyn Habel, Alice Chapman, Nancy Horne, Doris Hutchinson and Lillian Youngs.

Selection is based on character, service, scholarship and leadership.

Miss Habel is from Chapel Hill. Her record lists the following achievements: Women's Honor Council, YWCA (president), cheerleader, Phi Beta Kappa, Graham Memorial Board of Directors, Town Girls' Association and Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Miss Chapman is from Welch, W. Va. Achievements: editor of Women's Handbook, president of Alpha Delta Pi, Student Union Activities Board, YWCA and The Daily Tar Heel.

Miss Horne is from Norton, Va. She is president of SUAB, Women's Orientation chairman, Women's Athletic Association, State Student Legislature, Smith Dormitory House Council and Social Committee, Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

The honorary post-graduates were chosen for their interest and help in student welfare and progress.

Miss Hutchinson is from Charlotte. She is an assistant professor of physical education and advisor to WAA. She received her BS degree from Woman's College and taught at Guilford College. She received an MA degree here in 1947.

Miss Youngs is from Kannapolis. She has a teaching fellowship in zoology here and is working on her Ph.D. in embryology. She received an AB degree from Catawba College in 1949 and her MA here in 1952. She is the graduate member of the Women's Council and president of Kenan Dormitory.

Dear Gets Abernethy Award; Jamison, Honorable Mention

Walt Dear, former Daily Tar Heel editor and Publications Board chairman, has been named winner of the Ernest H. Abernethy prize for outstanding work in student publications, it was announced yesterday.

John Jamison, present Daily Tar Heel managing editor, was cited for honorable mention. The award committee lauded Jamison for his work in covering South Building this year.

Honorable mentions usually are not given, but the committee said it felt Jamison's reportorial work merited a special consideration.

The Abernethy prize, established in 1941, consists of an annual award of a plaque and $50 in cash, which is presented to the student who is judged by a committee to have done the most distinctive work during the current year in the field of student publications.

Dear assumed the position of editor after the Fall election. While editor, he helped spearhead the student side of the Saturday class fight, the Charlie Jones controversy and election of Trustees. He originated a special issue for the 60th birthday of the paper.

Both Dear and Jamison are seniors. Dear is from Jersey City, N. J. Jamison is from Charlotte.

Members of the award committee were Assistant Dean of Students Roy Holsten, Daily Tar Heel Editor Rolfe Neill, President Bob Gorham, Graham Memorial Director Bill Roth and journalism Professor Walter Spearman.

Daily Tar Heel Editor's Salary Raised By PB

The Publications Board this week voted an increase in salary to The Daily Tar Heel Editor.

The editor's salary was upped from $7.50 per week to $10 per week plus three per cent of the advertising revenue provided the total salary doesn't exceed $25 weekly.

Increasing the salary of the editor will put it at an amount comparable to the business manager of the paper.

The board also approved all feature services of the paper for the coming year.

Joe Raff, Publications Board Chairman, was chosen financial coordinator. The board decided to wait until Fall to decide the salary for this position.

WAA's Annual Picnic Is Today At 5:30

The WAA will hold its annual Spring picnic this afternoon at 5:30 in back of the Women's Gym. Everyone is invited, at a cost of 65 cents a person—for lots of good food.

Highlighting the afternoon's activities will be the presentation of Senior awards, monograms, and plaques and cups to the intramural winners.

Valkyrie Myth Is Perpetuated

Back in the olden days of Norwegian mythology there lived in the court of the warrior, Chief Odin, nine select maidens called Valkyries.

These maidens were daughters of the gods and yet were mortal as well. As one of their duties, they selected for Odin those warriors who were to be slain on the battlefields and led them to Valhalla, the hall of fame. It was considered a great honor to belong to the chosen group, the Valkyries, because they shared the glorious companionship of departed heroes.

The armor they wore shed a strange light and their appearance on the battlefield meant that great heroes were present and would be chosen.

'Passion, Poison, Etc.' Is English Club's Play

The English Club will present George Bernard Shaw's play, "Passion, Poison, and Petrification; or The Fatal Gazogene" tonight at 8:15 in the assembly room of the Library. The production is directed by Elmer Oettinger.

Members of the English Club, their husbands and wives will take part in the play. Thad Seymour is in charge of sound effects, Norma Jean Hill, props, and Polly Seymour and Edith Potter, costumes.

Coffee and cakes will be served before and after the play.

Degree Candidates

There will be a compulsory meeting today at 4:15 in Memorial Hall for all degree candidates, Dr. J. C. Lyons said yesterday.

Procedures for the ceremonies will be explained and graduates' questions answered, Dr. Lyons said.