

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and hot with 92 high.

The Daily Tar Heel

RUARK

The globe-trotter recalls Chapel Hill days on page 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 158

CHapel Hill, N. C. TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1953

FOUR PAGES TODAY

Change In Visit Rules Is Possible

By Louis Krar

Students and administrative officials will sit down today to discuss what may be the completion of a long-sought revision of the coed visiting agreement.

The agreement which will be considered is a revised one recently approved by the Inter-Fraternity Council and other student groups. It embodies several administration-suggested changes.

If the agreement is passed, it would remove some contradictions from the catalogue and Woman's Handbook rules concerning coed visiting and drinking in fraternity houses. Official revision of the agreement would need Trustee approval, should the administration accept it.

Today's meeting will be the first one in which a unified student-approved plan will have been submitted. A new group appointed by President Bob Gorham, called the Executive Council, has contributed towards bringing the student side of the agreement together. The Executive Council is made up of representatives from all major campus groups.

The new proposal, in effect, places more emphasis on self-restraint by men and women in respect to fraternity drinking.

Among the innovations in the suggested agreement is a special committee called the Visiting Advisory Committee. It is to be composed of seven members representing fraternity-interested areas of the University community.

This committee will meet regularly to discuss fraternity social activities and shall be available for counseling and assistance to fraternities, their advisers and the visiting committees. They will approve all members of the suggested visiting committees.

The visiting committee, provided for in the revised agreement, is to be made up of not less than three adult non-student women. Each fraternity is to have one of these groups available for assistance and counseling regarding the entertainment of women and other house matters.

It will be the responsibility of the visiting committee members to visit the fraternity regularly and to be available for advising and serving as hostesses at fraternity functions.

Television

As many students as possible are needed tomorrow morning at 8:45 to participate in a scene for CBS television. Students interested should assemble behind South Building.

Creasy Says Progress Is Made On Fall, Summer Orientation

Orientation Chairman Tom Creasy yesterday reported that his orientation program is well under way.

Creasy said most of the required printed material will be ready by the first week in June. The counselors' manuals will be ready at that time so they can be getting themselves prepared during the summer.

Bill Brown is chairman of the planning committee for the Coed Ball.

Bob Grimes is chairman of the planning committee for the orientation picnic.

A new plan for this fall is to have freshman pictures for the Yack made during orientation week.

Creasy said, "Since we have 20 more counselors than we have had before we can have smaller groups to give each boy a chance to take a greater part in the program."

"Since Summer orientation is limited to two days we can't get in everything from the Fall program, but we have a program planned to include as much of the Fall program as possible, Creasy said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—The world's first atomic artillery shell was fired successfully yesterday from a monster cannon and burst over the Nevada proving grounds to usher in a new era of ground warfare. A brilliant double fireball, the first ever seen by observers of atomic tests in the United States, shot up from the explosion, indicating the military may have something newer even than the shell itself among its store of nuclear weapons.

PANMUNJOM—The United Nations handed the Communists a secret plan to end the Korean war prisoner deadlock yesterday and then gave them a week to think it over. Two brief secret sessions were held here yesterday following an eight-day recess, and American military police kept newsmen from approaching the conference hut or the UN staff's tents nearby.

TOKYO—A group of about 20 Japanese women, led by an American-born woman married to a Japanese, yesterday pulled Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt from her car outside the Labor Ministry Building, the newspaper Yomiuri reported. Mrs. Roosevelt was not hurt.

Ryon, Stewart Win Mangum, Petty Awards

Dale Sanford Ryon, president of Phi Beta Kappa, has been named for the Jessie Mai Petty Award, Dean of Awards Ernest L. Mackie announced yesterday.

The award, given by Jessie Mai Petty in honor of her son, James B. Petty of Gastonia, consists of $100 cash. It is awarded for the first time this year.

The award is given to the junior with the highest average. Ryon is president of Phi Beta Kappa by virtue of his top average. He is a chemistry major and from Asheville.

It was also announced yesterday that Alva Ware Stewart has been awarded the Mangum Medal in Oratory, the oldest medal on campus.

The Mangum Medal, established in 1878, was originally set up by the Misses Mangum in memory of their father, Willie Person Mangum, class of 1815. It has been continued by two lines of his descendants.

This medal is awarded to that member of the senior class who, in the opinion of a group of judges, gives the most excellent oration at an annual oratorical contest.

Some of 15,000 volunteer workers battling time against rising Sabine river dump sandbags along secondary dike after main levee (in tree-grown background) already breached. Workers continue to fight the onrushing water as thousands are homeless in the southwestern states of Texas and Louisiana. This action occurred in Orange, Texas.—NEA Telephoto.

Flood Account Is Reported By Local Man

Corky Cretini, a Chapel Hill resident and alumnus of the University got a first-hand account Saturday of the flood in Louisiana.

Cretini's people live in Lake Charles, La., where most of the residential section was under water last week.

Cretini tried to get a telephone call through to them all Friday night to try to find out if they were safe. Only emergency calls were going through then, but on Saturday he finally got his call through and learned that the flood had missed their home.

"The house stands in the old business district which is the highest point in town," Cretini said.

Lake Charles is a port town in the bayou country. Most of the residential district is built on drained swampland. "This is where the flood did most of the damage," Cretini said.

Cretini said the water was 18 feet above flood level. He said, "Winds from the Gulf kept the water from draining and caused the flood."

Cretini said port towns will be hard hit as the high water moves on toward the Gulf.

Cretini entered the University after serving in the Marines in World War II. He has two degrees from UNC. In 1948 he got a degree in mathematics and in 1950 he received a degree in geology.

Cretini is now working at Merritt's Service Station on the Pittsboro Road.

Woman's College Chancellor E. K. Graham, here for the Trustees meeting, locking car bumpers with the Consolidated Mercury.

Sarcastic downtown clerk to lady at counter: "What did you say you wanted these boxes for?" Lady replies, "You see, I'm Mrs. Snavely and I'm packing."

Judge Parker To Be Honored By Di And Phi

Federal Judge John J. Parker will be honored tonight at the fifth annual Di-Phi Banquet at 8 o'clock in the Monogram Club.

Judge Parker, an alumnus of the University and the Dialectic Senate, will be presented the Di-Phi Award for outstanding service to the University, the state and the nation.

He is recognized as one of the most outstanding and qualified jurists in the nation.

Past recipients of the award are Frank P. Graham, John Motley Morehead, Albert Coates and Archibald Henderson.

Bob Pace, speaker of the Phi, will be toastmaster and will present the award to Judge Parker. Charlotte Davis, president of the Di, will present the Di-Faculty Award to the outstanding Di Senator. Pace will present Phi awards to the outstanding senior and freshman of the Phi.

Grail Awards To 8 Students Announced

The Order of The Grail made its second annual presentation of awards last night.

The awards are made to students in certain fields who have excelled both in their fields and in scholarship.

Awards were made in the following categories: senior self-help student, freshman self-help student, senior athlete, and senior active in student government.

The freshman self-help award was presented to Donald Fowler, and the senior self-help award was presented to David Kent Jackson. James Andrew Bell Jr. was presented the senior athlete award. The senior active in student government award was presented to Gilbert Ernest Marsh.

The Grail officers for the year 1953-54 are Delegate Edward Bailey Gross, Scribe Herbert Browne Jr., Exchequer Harvey Deakins Bradshaw and Vice-Exchequer and Ring Chairman Walter Dallas Gurley Jr.

French Drama Group Opens In Moliere Play

Tomorrow night marks the first of two performances of Moliere's "Les Precieuses Ridicules" by Le Petit Theatre Francais.

The play was Moliere's first Parisian success. The Petit version is to be in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 8:30 p.m. and will star Henriette Rhyne, Norma Flint and Charles Hadley.

Faculty Favorite

Fears, Hopes, Doubts Existed In Ancient Days -- Dr. Caldwell

By Jennie Lynn

To his students it would be an utterly worthless fact that the battle of Marathon was won by Athens over the Persians in 490 BC if Professor Caldwell did not turn the Athenians into a fearful, yet hopeful handful of fathers and sons, fighting against unbelievable odds to overcome the powerful Persian king.

Following the belief that knowledge of occurrences in ancient history is useful only when it gives to students an experience of lasting influence on their characters, in his teaching Dr. Wallace Everette Caldwell combines the feelings and actions of men of long ago with present problems.

These fears, hopes, and doubts that the Greeks felt do not exist for 490 BC alone, but for the hearts of men of all time... for your grandfathers in the Spanish American War, for soldiers on the Korean front today. Although he is able to reach his pupils while he is lecturing, one of Dr. Caldwell's most sincere concerns and desires is to be closer to them outside of the classroom. He feels that the barrier between students and faculty is due partly to the negligence of the students themselves, partly to the largeness of the University.

The few minutes of pre-registering is the only time that teachers see the students, other than in class. "I don't know just what it is," he said. "Either they can't be bothered or the school is just getting too big. During my first years here I used to have Greek history class at Danziger's over Turkish coffee and pastry—now this isn't done. The teachers visited the dorms and fraternity houses frequently for supper and informal get-togethers. Now I find that I know hardly anyone at the formal social teas." As of this year, Dr. Caldwell has 31 years of teaching ancient history and two years as head of the History Department behind him. He was born in Brooklyn and is a Dodger fan. He went to school in the North, receiving his A.B. from Cornell and his Ph.D. from Columbia. After teaching at Columbia for four years following 1919, he came south to make Carolina his home.

In bringing the European world into the classroom, Dr. Caldwell's two trips abroad have been invaluable. He plans to return in July of next year to study the latest excavations and expositions in Athens and Rome. While traveling he will visit his younger son, connected with the State Department in Copenhagen. His older son is a research engineer at MIT, his daughter, following in her father's (See CALDWELL, page 4)

BA School Here Filling Big Need, Says J. E. Webb

With the opening of its three new buildings for the School of Business Administration, the University is taking a long step forward in its program to meet "the constantly growing need for professionally trained business men."

This view was stressed by James E. Webb, president of Republic Supply Company, Oklahoma City, Okla., formerly Director of the Budget Bureau and former Under Secretary of State, who spoke at the opening session of the dedicatory program for the three buildings held here yesterday.

Webb is a native of Granville county and a graduate of the University.

George M. Harrison, Cincinnati, Ohio, grand president, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, and vice-president, American Federation of Labor, the other speaker this afternoon, stressed the importance of training responsible labor leaders.

Three new buildings, Dudley D. Carroll Hall, O. Max Gardner Hall and Hanes Hall, were dedicated. Dean Thomas H. Carroll presided over the opening session which was held in the auditorium of Carroll Hall and welcomed visitors to the ceremonies.

Dr. I. G. Greer, executive vice-president, North Carolina Business Foundation, gave the prayer of invocation. The new buildings were presented by Frank Taylor for Governor William B. Umstead and were accepted by President Gordon Gray.

Brief talks were made by Archibald T. Fort, president of Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Gamma Sigma, on behalf of the students in business administration; R. Arthur Spaug, Jr., president of the University Alumni Association, for the alumni; Dr. William S. Wells, chairman of the University faculty; Robert M. Hanes, first president of the Business Foundation, for that organization; Dr. B. U. Ratchford, Duke University, president, Southern Economic Association; Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, Duke University, president, American Economic Association; and Dean Arthur M. Weimer of the School of Business of Indiana University, president, American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

Dean Carroll responded on behalf of the School of Business Administration. (See HARRISON, page 4)

Gray told the Board the number of prospects for the top position at State has been narrowed down to four, any of whom would accept the post if offered it, as far as Gray knew. A special meeting of the Board will be held in September for the purpose of hearing the name of the final candidate and taking action on the nomination.

Present Chancellor John W. Harrelson, who requested to be replaced at the end of this school year, told the Board he would be willing to continue until September 1 so the office would not be left without an occupant.

Gray said he was not able to present a qualified candidate for the office of provost. He said the morning mail had brought him a request to be dropped from consideration from the foremost candidate.

The Trustees elected members to fill vacancies on several standing committees. Mrs. Albert Lathrop of Buncombe County and Maj. L. P. McLendon of Guilford County were placed on the Executive Committee by unanimous votes.

In other action, the Trustees renewed their three-school policy of permitting 15 per cent of the enrollment in each branch to be students from other states.

The textiles building at State College was named Nelson Hall for the late Thomas Nelson, first dean of the School of Textiles.

There were 78 of 100 Trustees present at yesterday's meeting (plus the governor).

Tryouts Open For 2 Plays

Open tryouts will be held today at 4 p.m. in the Playmakers Theater for two one-act plays, scheduled for production on Commencement Day, June 8. The plays will be under the general supervision of Foster Fitz-Simons, and there will be no admission charge to the performances.

"Two's Too Many," a comedy of married life by William Waddell will be directed by George Spence and requires a cast of two men and two women.

Jean Hillman will direct "Sky-bow," by Dan Reid which has a cast of one man and one woman. The plays will be presented at 2:30 and 4 p.m. Commencement Day.

Carolina Quarterly The spring issue of the Carolina Quarterly will be on sale today and tomorrow in the Y. court, the Intimate Bookshop, the Bull's Head Bookstore, and the Carolina Inn.

MARJORIE STILL

Marjorie Still To Give Recital In Hill Tonight

Miss Marjorie Still of Hillsboro, special student in piano of Dr. William S. Newman of the Music Department, will give a recital in Hill Hall tonight at 8:30 o'clock. The public is invited.

Miss Still's program will include Sonatas in D major and A minor, Scarlatti; Prelude and Fugue in E-Flat minor, Well-Tempered Clavier, Bach; Sonata quasi una Fantasia ("Moonlight"), Beethoven; Scherzo in B-Flat minor, Chopin; Intermezzo in E major, and Rhapsody in E-Flat major, Brahms; and the stirring modern American Composition, the Sonata in C-Sharp minor by Herbert Elwell.

TOM CREASY