Dorm Cellars Lose 14; 97 Waiting To Go

Placement of 97 students in proper living quarters continues to trouble James Wadsworth, housing director.

At present students are living in the basements of Cobb, Stacy and Alexander.

The number has decreased only slightly from last week's count of 111, but Wadsworth commented that he hopes the problem will be alleviated with the completion of rushing.

The Director pointed out that there simply isn't enough dorm space, which results in the loss of many prospective students.

Although many newcomers are disappointed, Wadsworth said that rooms are usually available in private homes if conditions become "unbearable" in dorm basements.

Married students are also given assistance by the Housing Office.

However, Victory Village, which houses married students, has at least 100 families on its waiting list for placement.

SUAB Series Brings German Horror Movie

"The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari", part of the SUAB Film Series, will be shown tonight at 8:30 in Carroll Auditorium.

Conrad Veit, Werner Kraus and Lil Dagover star in the film which was directed by Robert Wiene.

Produced in Germany in 1919, this movie has been acclaimed as "a never surpassed symbolic horror."

A SUAB official announced that all those who bought tickets at the last movie and didn't receive them, may pick them up at the door Thursday night, between 8 and 8:30.

TB Sanatorium Is Dedicated In Rites

Dr. Norton Gives Dedictory Address; Building Will Be Occupied November 1

Approximately 60 persons attended the formal dedication ceremonies of Carolina's latest addition to the Medical Center, Gravelly Sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis, yesterday.

This new three-story 100-bed building, constructed at a cost of $1,186,000, is a milestone in the development of North Carolina's Good Health Program. The new sanatorium will be opened to patients Nov. 1.

O. Arthur Kirkman, High Point, chairman of the building committee and member of the board of trustees, presided.

Speaking on behalf of the state, David Coltrane, assistant director of the budget, pointed out that from the middle of World War II until the present and proposed building program is completed, tubercular patient beds increased from 1,100 to 1,900. He said that there had been 548 tubercular deaths in North Carolina in 1952.

Dr. Henry T. Clark, Jr., administrator of the UNC Division of Health Affairs, said, "The close proximity of Gravelly Sanatorium with the UNC medical school means that the next generation will be better prepared to fight TB. With the combined talents of the sanatorium staff and the UNC medical school, we can look to a goal of complete eradication of tuberculosis."

A brief dedicatory address was delivered by Dr. J. W. R. Norton, State Health Officer. Others on the program included the Rev. Carlos P. Womack, chaplain of the N. C. Sanatorium of McCain; the Rev. Harry McCartney, chaplain of Eastern N. C. Sanatorium of Wilson; L. Lee Gravelly, Jr. of Rocky Mount; and Carl C. Council of Durham, chairman of the board of directors.

Gravelly Sanatorium was established primarily for research purposes in the field of tuberculosis. Puzzling and difficult cases from other state sanatoria will be sent to Gravelly for diagnosis.

From 1947 to 1953 the general assemblies appropriated $9,292,531 for permanent improvements at State Sanatoria, including $1,186,250 for the new Gravelly Sanatorium. They added that there should be "no waiting list for white or colored patients when the program is completed."

A tour of the building followed the dedication ceremonies.

Land Of Pines Beats Pampas Says Newbery

A visitor from Argentina had kind words yesterday for the University and the state of North Carolina.

"You should really be proud of being a citizen of this state," Diego Newbery of Buenos Aires, Argentina said. "This state has something very important: the small town." Newbery explained that South America developed no small towns because the Spaniards didn't want government localized.

"There's a difference," Newbery continued, "between a small town and a home town. . . . We have some small towns now—those built up by the railroads—but the people there want to get away from their towns and go to the big cities."

"In North Carolina the people love their towns. Here you have 'home towns.'"

The University is fortunate because "it is so much a part of the structure of the whole state," the visitor said. "You don't have a university town, but a university state."

Newbery made his remarks to Dr. Hugh Lefler's afternoon class in North Carolina history.

Two Days Left For Jr. Pics

Just two more days, today and tomorrow, are left for juniors, graduate and dental students to have Yack pictures taken.

Pictures will be taken from 1 to 8 o'clock each day. Students are asked to come early to avoid a last minute rush.

Argentina Like U.S. --Newbery

"The process of democratic evolution has never been paralyzed in the United States, and in many respects the progress of Argentina over the past fifty years resembles that of this country," Senor Diego Newbery told the Institute of Latin American Studies last night.

Senor Newbery, a prominent author, journalist and lecturer of Argentina, spoke in the Faculty Lounge of Morehead Planetarium on "Argentina: Pampa and the People." He was sponsored by the Institute of Latin American Studies, and introduced by Dr. S. E. Leavitt of the Romance Language Department.

Recalling his father's experiences in Argentina from 1876 till his death in 1935, Senor Newbery related many of the hazards of settling the Pampa land and building it into one of the finest beef-raising countries in the world.

Senor Newbery's father went to Argentina from this country around 1876. After fighting in a civil war there, he was granted many acres of land. His father helped establish the town of Lincoln, Argentina, in the Pampa region and watched it grow from the land of the space-loving gaucho into the fine industrial region it is today.

Senor Newbery told the group he appreciated the friendly feeling this country has for Argentina, and there is a strong feeling in Argentina to further unity between the two countries.

"We of Argentina think of the United States as the symbol of democracy," Senor Newbery said.

University Celebrates Birthday With Pageant Monday Morning

University Day, an observance of the 160th anniversary of the founding of the University, will be celebrated Monday as a feature of the Orange County Bicentennial celebration.

Chancellor R. B. House announced that classes will be suspended and administrative offices closed on Monday from 10:50 to 1 o'clock.

In making the announcement House said, "The continuity of our University Day celebration extends back for many years and is an occasion cherished in memory and thoughts by former students and members of the University with pride and affection."

"It is in the interest of all that such University traditions and occasions be observed and continued in full spirit," House added.

The traditional exercise, in commemoration of the laying of the cornerstone of Old East, oldest building on the campus and oldest state university dormitory in the country, will be staged in the south court of South building at 10:50 a.m. Monday.

Arrangements for the pageantry this year are under the direction of Julianne Hale, drama grad student. The roles of General William R. Davie and other Masons participating in the historic ceremony of October 12, 1793, will be filled by members of the Carolina Playmakers.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the University Band and combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs.

Faculty Group Will Represent UNC At Meet

Dean Guy B. Phillips and several members of School of Education staff will attend the state-wide Professional Meeting for Principals, to be sponsored in Charlotte October 13, 14, and 15, by the Division of Principals of the North Carolina Education Association.

Faculty attending, in addition to Dean Phillips, will be Drs. William E. Rosenstengel, H. Arnold Perry, William H. Piemmons, Carl F. Brown, and Donald Tarbet.

The meeting will feature Dr. William A. Early, president of the National Education Association; State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Charles F. Carroll; Dr. Will French, Teachers College, Columbia University; G. E. Damon, Director of Field Services, National Association for Secondary School Principals, and Dr. W. H. Cartwright, chairman of the Department of Education, Duke University.

In addition to addresses and dinners, the delegates will participate in discussion groups throughout the conference, and will be taken on inspection tours of the new, modern Charlotte city and Mecklenburg county schools. These will include the Myers Park, Piedmont Junior, and East Mecklenburg high schools, and the Ashley Park, Barringer, and Berryhill elementary schools.

Dean Phillips will also attend on Friday and Saturday of this week the annual meeting of the Association of Summer Session Deans and Directors to be held at the University of Illinois. He will fly there and return here Sunday.

Bob Gorham To Give State Of Campus Speech Tonight

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF CAMPUS CLEANS UP
President Bob Gorham plans Legislature talk

Four Students Tried Tuesday In Recorder's Court Session

Four students appeared in Chapel Hill Recorder's Court Tuesday before Judge W. S. Stewart.

C. W. Sneed of Carolina Beach was fined $25 and costs for illegal possession of tax paid liquor. He was found not guilty on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol and narcotic drugs.

Sneed was arrested when he attempted to pass a line of football traffic near Glen Lennox after the State game, an official testified. Sneed testified that he had taken pills for a cold. "Cobb basement gets airy and damp at night," he said.

A doctor's statement introduced in the case said that the antihistamine type pills could cause dizziness. Sneed said that he took three of them at once.

Sneed also testified that he had had only two drinks the day of the game. When a student who was testifying in Sneed's behalf was asked whether the bottle exhibited was the one he drank from with Sneed, he said, "I don't know. It was wrapped, but it sure tasted like 'County Fair.'"

Reece A. Robertson of Chapel Hill was found guilty of speeding and fined $10 and court costs.

Charles P. Umstead of Durham pleaded guilty to a U-turn violation and was fined court costs.

The case of Charles W. Josey of Chapel Hill was not pressed.

Stilwell Asks To Remain As UP Chairman

Jack Stilwell, defeated University Party vice-presidential candidate last spring, last night asked his party if he could remain chairman.

Some question arose at the opening UP meeting over whether Stilwell could be party chairman and UP floorleader in Legislature too. The question will be settled at the UP meeting next week.

The party discussed a $2,000 proposed appropriation for Graham Memorial which is due before Legislature soon. The money is for social functions.

UP members agreed the money is necessary because of Saturday classes. However, the party didn't officially state its feelings. President Bob Gorham said that "most of the members were in favor of it."

The final issue taken up was a bill proposed by the Legislature to loan the Quarterly $600.

Gorham said that the party should go on record as opposing the loan, but as "wishing to see them continue."

Defends Party Stand On NSA Representation

President Will Not Bring Up Drinking Controversy Tonight

President Bob Gorham will present his state-of-the-campus speech to the student Legislature at 8 o'clock tonight in Phi Hall of New East.

Gorham will evaluate the first two months of his administration, telling what the administration has accomplished and where he thinks it has fallen down.

He will discuss NSA, the effect which the administration wants it to have here and its importance.

Commenting on an editorial in The Daily Tar Heel yesterday which pointed out that all five of Carolina's delegates to the NSA congress at Ohio State University this summer, were members of the Student Party, Gorham said, "There are no grounds for complaint by anybody. The delegates were representatives of the University of North Carolina and not of any political party." According to the editorial the University Party was "supposed to have sent three delegates to the congress.

Absent from the speech will be any mention of the administration's recent refusal of a student-proposed fraternity visiting house agreement which would have set up identical rules for coeds and imports concerning drinking in fraternity houses. The next move on that question is up to the IFC, Gorham said yesterday.

Bills for appropriations totaling more than $3,000 will be up for approval by the Legislature tonight and in succeeding meetings. The bills include requests from the Graham Memorial Student Union for $2,000; the Carolina Handbook, $200; the Carolina Quarterly, $600; and the Consolidated University Student Council, $275 annually for dues.

YDC Leader Says GOP Is 'Falling Down'

Campus Young Democrats, meeting last night in Gerrard Hall, heard their state president urge them to take a more active part in party work.

William B. "Billy" Harrison also took a mild slap at Republicans, Dixiecrats, and "self-styled Independents."

"The Democratic Party," Harrison said, "needs the better political approach and the new ideas of college students. The Young Democratic Clubs can be an effective sounding board for the things about the party that are best."

Harrison said the time is ripe for the Carolina club to add new members and to begin work for the 1954 elections. He said there is a growing awareness that, "the Republicans are falling down on the job."

He dismissed Dixiecrats as "extremists who would wreck the party," and drew applause by naming Governor James Byrnes of South Carolina as, "a man we Democrats have no use for." And independent voters, he said, are voters who "haven't learned that under our two-party system, you must align yourself with one party or another."

Harrison, a University graduate who lives with his family of three children in Rocky Mount, (you can be a "Young Democrat" until you are forty), said the recent meeting of Democrats in Chicago was distinguished by the enthusiasm of the young delegates present.

Prior to Harrison's speech, the club elected delegates to Saturday's Young Democratic Clubs convention in Raleigh. They are John Sanders, Bob Pace, Gene Cook, Ken Penegar, Al House, Al Adams, and Lindsay Tate.

Rhodes Award Requests Are Available Here

Applications for 1954 Rhodes Scholarships may be obtained in the office of Dean C. P. Spruill, secretary of the North Carolina committee, in 308 South Building and must be in the hands of the committee by October 20.

Four scholarships will go to applicants from Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Tennessee after each state committee chooses two scholars to appear before a district committee.

"Some definite quality of distinction, whether in intellect or character, is the most important requirement for a Rhodes scholarship, and on this the committee will insist," according to a Rhodes committee report.

As set down by Mr. Rhodes in his will, qualities set as basis for awards are "literary and scholastic ability and attainments; qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness, and fellowship; exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his fellows and physical vigor, as shown by fondness for and success in sports."

Deadline for applications to Dean C. P. Spruill is Oct. 20.
