

Britt Firm At Quarterback In Deacon Game Today

Tar Heel Freshmen Lose Grid Opener To Wake Forest, 18-13

Roger Killets, Larry McMullen Score Touchdowns For Frosh

Carolina Pass Defense And Offense Are Weak; Deacons Win On Two Scores In Third Period

By John Hussey

BURLINGTON, Oct. 9 — The Wake Forest Deacons, taking advantage of every break, downed Carolina's frosh team, 18-13, tonight in the season's opener for the Tar Heels.

Carolina couldn't seem to buy a pass completion while the Deacs showed a deadly accuracy in the aerial department. Bright spots in the Carolina offense were halfbacks Larry McMullen and Roger Killets. Killets literally set up the first Tar Heel score by himself with consecutive runs of 20, 5, and 10 yards.

The Deacs took the lead early in the second period when they scored on a flat pass from Skip Cswagkus to Lenox Johnson. The touchdown was set up by a pass interception and a 15-yard roughness penalty.

The Tar Heels, who were unable to move the ball at all during the first quarter, took the Wake Forest kickoff and marched to their first score. After Killets had run the ball to the eight-yard line, McMullen and fullback Alfred Rhyne moved it to the one on two successive plunges. Killets bucked over for the score but Klockack's conversion attempt was wide.

Carolina kicked off to begin the second half. The Tar Heel defense finally started working and they held the Deacs for three downs without a gain. However, Killets fumbled the Wake Forest punt and Wake Forest took over on the Carolina 14. The Deacon offense bogged down for three downs but Cswagkus connected with Thomas Crowder to make a first down on the Carolina three. William James took a pitchout and crossed the goal line standing up.

Wake kicked off and Carolina was forced to punt after three downs. The kick was blocked and the Demon Deacons took over on the Carolina one-yard line. Cswagkus connected with Crowder again for the third score.

The Tar Heels hit pay dirt once more in the fourth period. Wake Forest, backed up against their own wall, punted out and Doug Farmer returned the ball to the 30. The Deacons were penalized to their 15 for unsportsmanlike conduct and Carolina pushed across another touchdown, this time on a plunge by McMullen. Alan Goldstein converted to bring the score to 18-13.

BILL ROWEKAMP (left), who was University of Missouri right halfback during the 1952 season, compares his injured foot with that of this year's right halfback, Ed Merrifield, who will miss the Missouri-SMU game in Dallas because of a sprained ankle. Rowekamp, who had been playing with the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Pro Football League, is back in class at Missouri while he waits for an operation on his foot to heal.

Absent-Minded Coach Almost Loses Automobile

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Orv Dermody will do until a more absent-minded professor is found. The Marquette line coach left practice, drove to the student union building for his evening meal with Doc Erskine, the end coach. Suddenly, he remembered his own car. Returning, Coach Dermody found the arena locked. His car was inside.

Deacons Lose Five Backs With Injuries

By Vardy Buckalew

Coach Tom Rogers, a former All-American end himself, has turned out five All-Southern ends at Wake Forest in the last five years, and will have two all-star flankers in his starting lineup today . . . There were ten ends among the 58 players which reported to the coach at the start of the season . . .

Bob Ondilla and Ed Stowers were named to All-Southern teams last year and join the list of Rogers-coached Deacon stars which includes Red O'Quinn, Jim Duncan and Jack Lewis . . . O'Quinn and Duncan made the mythical team two years and Lewis made it three . . .

Carolina has played two games this season without anyone suffering a major injury as a result of a game . . . Miles Gregory and Chris Carpenter, two guards, have been nursing injuries but these were sustained in pre-season practice . . . Carpenter has a knee injury and Gregory sustained a bruised hip . . . Both are expected to play in the game today . . .

Also ailing has been Bill Kirkman, junior center who broke two bones in his hand during practice the week before the season opened . . . He is expected to be out for at least two more games . . .

The Deacons will have five backs on the injury list for today . . . Sonny George, Bill Churm, John Parham and Jim Bland, all regulars, and reserve fullback Nick Maravic are the injured . . . Churm is the leading ground gainer with a 9.1 average . . .

All eyes today will be on No. 35, Carolina's fleet halfback, who delighted the crowd at the Washington and Lee game last week with some broken field running, the likes of which hadn't been seen in Kenan Stadium since No. 22 left . . . The 5 foot 10 inch flash has scored seventeen points for the Tar Heels in two games.

Injuries Plague Booters; Play Hoyas Here Today

Carolina opens its regular soccer schedule today on Fetzer Field against the Georgetown Hoyas. Game time is 10:00 a.m.

Coach Allen reported that the team suffered a number of injuries during practice this week and it is doubtful if some will be able to play. Gerry Russell turned his ankle and is not expected to be at top strength. However, he is going to start. Rennie Randolph has a bad foot and Skidmore is definitely out with a bad arm.

The Tar Heels dropped the practice game last Friday to the Ft. Bragg team, 7-1. However, since the Soldier outfit was composed of booters from foreign countries and some of them had played professional soccer, Coach Allen is not taking the loss seriously.

The Tar Heels looked weak on defense against Ft. Bragg and that is the main thing Allen stressed in practice sessions throughout the week.

Georgetown is a new team on the soccer slate this year so little is known about them. Since the Hoyas have a large number of Northern boys enrolled and have discontinued football they should take the field with a team that has a lot of experience. The Hoyas played Duke yesterday in Durham before coming to Chapel Hill.

Dodd Will Try To Bring Back 'Good Old' Two-Platoon Days

ATLANTA—Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd, the man who owns the longest unbeaten streak in football said today he will do his best to re-create the "good old days of the two-platoon system."

The rulemakers put Dodd and his two-platoon machinery on the mat last spring when they outlawed unlimited substitution, but the Tech head man plans to counter by scattering his offensive and defensive stars throughout two separate teams that will divide up the 60 minutes.

"That way I'll be able to get a balance of offensive and defensive talent on the field at the same time," said Dodd, "and I can use one team to spell the other."

"Most of my veterans came up the ladder playing either offense or defense; none of them worked both ways. Now they find that going on both offense and defense is not only confusing, but it's tiring."

Dodd's action will break up one of the best running combinations in the nation.

Keller, Williams Forfeits Slacken Mural Action; Lead Carolina

Wake Forest Injuries Total At Least Five

Francis Frederic and Thad Eure will begin the game at tackles, as they have in the previous games this year.

Jimmy Neville and Ed Patterson are slated to start at the guard positions, but Line Coach Marvin Bass may move either Gregory or Carpenter into the lineup. Junior Seawell, Bill Koman and Dave Mullens will handle most of the centering duties today.

Lou Britt will be directing the Tar Heel attack against the Deacs Britt, who has shown much improvement since the opening of the season, will be backed up by Charlie Motta and Al Long. Long, who has not seen action in either of the games thus far this year, came out of his shell during practice this week and, according to Barclay, may see considerable action today.

Ken Keller, leading ground gainer last week, will be at the left half slot. A sophomore, Keller caught the eye of the stands with his performance against W. & L. last week and great things are expected from him. Keller performs equally well on both offense and defense.

Billy Williams, who put up such a good performance against N. C. State in the opening game of the season, will be a sure starter at fullback. However, Dick Lackey should also see considerable action. Williams' and Lackey's kicking has been one of the bright spots on the Tar Heel squad this season.

Larry Parker, Flo Worrell, Marshall Newman and Connie Gravitt will also bolster the efforts of the team today.

This will be the fiftieth meeting of the two teams. The series began in 1888 and the first meeting was the first football game ever to be played in North Carolina. The Deacons won that first contest by a 6-4 score but since then the Tar Heels have had a considerable edge. Carolina has won 33 games while losing 15. One game ended in a tie.

Virginia Votes

The United Press called Athletic Director C. P. Erickson yesterday for confirmation on a report that the University of Virginia advisory board voted to join the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Erickson knew nothing of the matter, but commented that U. Va. wouldn't act on the alleged recommendation until December in all probability.

Forfeits Slacken Mural Action; Winston Wins Second Straight

Two forfeits and two complete games made up yesterday's intramural tag football action as both Cobb teams, Cobb-1 and 2, failed to show and Lewis-1 and Connor walked off with victories without taking the field.

In the two games played Ted Richardson went on a scoring spree and scored all the points in a Winston-1 12-0 shutout win over Stacy. It was Winston's second straight win against no losses and of their total twenty-five points scored, two Selma boys, Jack Temple and Ted Richardson, have accounted for twenty four of them. Nash Legrand tallied the lone extra point in the two games played thus far.

TEP-2 really went wild against SPE and when the smoke cleared it was a 32-6 win for the TEP's.

High-light of the day was the opening kickoff as Barry Goldfarb grabbed the kick and passed to Dave Garmize who sprinted seventy-five yards for the initial score. Garmize tallied once again before the game was over as did Ira Davis, Harold Schwartz, Bob Pollar and Goldfarb. Tommy Mofte got away from the strong TEP defense to score the lone SPE touchdown.

In Thursday's games Law School took a forfeit win over Cobb-3, the third Cobb team to fail to show. Ruffin won an overtime from Med. Sch. 2 and Bill McCoy, Jim Bumgardner, Bob Thorburn, and Bob Gibson led Alexander-1 to a 20-0 victory over Old East-2. Tom Suther, Steve Pugh, Joe Allen, and Gus Crowell led Med. Sch.-3 to a 21-6 win over Winston-2 as Malcolm Cox scored the only Winston touchdown.

For her savage kisses . . . he plundered the last forgotten corner of the earth!
