The Carolina frosh team, capitalizing on six UVa. fumbles, downed the Cavaliers, 13-7, in their second game of the season here today. The Tar Babies took command on a 47-yard touchdown pass early in the second quarter and never gave the Virginia lads a chance to get back in the ball game.

Especially noticeable for the Tar Heels was the running of halfbacks Roger Killets, Edward Sutton, Stan Donnahoe and Charles Boyette. Gould took off on a 61-yard touchdown jaunt in the fourth quarter but the play was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Coach Jim Gill used all four of his quarterbacks — Doug Farmer, Blanton Dickerson, Danny Williams and Jimmy Love. It was Dickerson's pass to end James Raugh that accounted for the first Tar Heel score. The Tar Heels completed six out of eleven passes for a total of 127 yards. Carolina showed a definite ability to move the ball, covering a total of 314 yards total rushing. This was one of their distinct weaknesses against Wake Forest in their first game.

Carolina's third period score was counted by Donnahoe on a five-yard plunge through the right side of the Cavalier line. This culminated a 32-yard drive which was begun when the Tar Heels recovered Virginia's sixth fumble.

The victory was the first of the season for the Tar Babies. The Cavaliers brought what had been rated as one of the best freshman teams in the south to Chapel Hill. It was their opening game of the season.

The first quarter was uneventful as Virginia fumbled four times, but the Tar Heels were unable to do anything about it. Virginia never got into Carolina territory and the best the locals could do was a drive which fizzled on the Virginia 16.

In the second period, Raugh intercepted a fluke pass which was batted around by several players on the Carolina 42. After a penalty and a short pass had moved the ball to the Cavalier 47-yard stripe, Dickerson faded back and hit Raugh on the 25 who sprinted over the goal line. Goldstein's try for the extra point was no good.

In the third quarter the Tar Heels drove down to the UVa. three-yard line but were unable to score and the Virginians kicked out to the 34. After an exchange of fumbles, the Tar Heels drove to the five, where Donnahoe plunged across for the score.

Virginia came back in the fourth period when quarterback Bill Rector completed a 54-yard pass to Robert Gunderman to advance the ball to the Carolina 19. After three successive runs by halfback Nick Lawyer, the ball was placed on the nine-yard line with a first down. Fullback Bob Trader then took over and in three successive plunges gained the necessary yardage for the score. Trader kicked the extra point and the score was 13-7 in favor of the Tar Heels, the final score.

Dressen Goes To PCL In '54

BROOKLYN — Charlie Dressen was given his official release as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers today in order to become manager of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League in 1954.

Dressen led the Oakland team to a Pacific Coast League pennant in 1950 prior to taking over the reins of the Dodgers in 1951. Oakland is not affiliated with the Dodger farm system.

The announcement was made jointly by Dressen and E. J. Buzzie Bavasi, vice president of the Brooklyn club.

general, is the man to watch in the Maryland backfield. He has done an outstanding job of filling All-American Jack Scarbath's shoes, and like Scarbath, is an outstanding runner and passer. Last week against Georgia he scored two touchdowns himself, and passed for two more.

The Terps are bringing a 4-0 record into the game, having won with ease over Missouri, Washington and Lee, Clemson, and Georgia. They have been ranked in the top five on every occasion so far by the weekly AP football poll.

Both teams are deep in reserves and the Tar Heels have a number two backfield which is almost equal to the first string group. This combination is composed of Charlie Motta at quarterback, Larry Parker and Flo Worrell at the halves, and Billy Williams at fullback.

The Maryland line, which has been led by an All-American almost every year for the past few seasons, is led this season by tackles Bob Morgan and Stanley Jones. Both men stand six feet with Morgan weighing in at 225 and Jones at 235.

Carolina's line will be somewhat crippled this week with the loss of the two first string ends. Captain Ken Yarborough and Will Frye will both miss the action today due to injuries sustained last week against the Deacons. Yarborough will be out for several weeks while Frye is expected back next week.

The two end positions have been taken over by Tom Adler and Dick Starnier. Starnier started one game at end but Adler has been a second stringer all along. Adler played the best game of his career last Saturday.

The remainder of the Carolina line will be the same one which has carried the Tar Heels along so far. This will include Francis Frederer and Thad Eure at tackles, Ed Patterson and Jimmy Neville at guards, and Junior Seawell at center.
