

Patseavouras Leads Booters Over W&L, 4-1

Tar Heel Sports

By Tom Peacock

To whom it may concern:

Tempo, a monthly feature magazine, will come out with a story on one-platoon football in its next issue that is a good deal above the usual pulp magazine tripe. The story points out that there have been three collegiate football fatalities since the beginning of the season, and foresees accusations against the one-platoon system. The system, so the story goes, will be accused of moving football back to the 1920's when so many deaths occurred.

PEACOCK

Tempo finally gets around to defending the one-platoon system with the logical argument that if a coach gets his team in sufficient shape there won't be any deaths attributable to the game. Also, a coach should know the signs of fatigue, and with a bench full of substitutes, will pull a player showing signs of abnormal weariness.

Carolina's head coach, George Barclay, is an example of the "good" coach mentioned in the article. Barclay substitutes whole teams quite often, and much to my satisfaction, will pull a player who is limping or appears foggy.

Another magazine, the well known Sport, pictures Ken Yarborough along with four other team captains in an article appearing in the December issue. Titled "What Makes a Football Captain?", Jack Zanger writes, "Ken Yarborough was first the unanimous choice of the North Carolina coaching staff for team captain. They were pleasantly relieved when the players also picked the aggressive line-man as their leader."

Former Brooklyn Manager Church Dressen has declared he has no regrets over leaving the major leagues.

"I will get just as much money here as I did back there and there will be a lot less grief," says Dressen.

Dressen signed a three-year contract, and has his boss's word that he can stay with the Oakland, Calif., club as manager for as long as he likes. But I'll give you eight-to-five Dressen takes the next big league long-term contract that comes his way.

An old Duke grad wrote the Carolina ticket office not long ago, asked for a ticket to the Notre Dame game, and added this:

"I have a good hexing scheme which I have used many times against quarterbacks, making them fumble or mix signals. This scheme I am going to use on Ralph Guglielmi, Johnny Lattner, Joe Heap, Dick Washington, and also the Notre Dame center.

Trouble is, reasoned Carolina coaches, the guy will probably be at the Duke-Carolina game hexing the Tar Heel backs.

The athletic publicity office adds to this tale that the man got his ticket because the Notre Dame game is not yet a sell-out as some people seem to think.

Sunny Jim Tatum has been asked to comment on Maryland's rating of second to Notre Dame, and as usual, Tatum has a comment or two.

"I'm not worried about who's number one now, I'm interested in who's number one after the season."

When asked if he would like to play Notre Dame to settle the supremacy, a moot question, Tatum answered, "If I say yes, everybody would say I am challenging Notre Dame and I don't want to give that impression. If I say no, they'd say we don't want to associate with Notre Dame or are afraid of them. Certainly, that's not true."

Jim means he hasn't an answer for the question, but he wants his quotes in the paper. He also had a bone to pick with these polls that weren't picking Maryland first.

"I don't like to criticize them," he said in criticism, "but I don't think you can rate the teams that way any more than you can pick 11 All-Americans.

"As long as Notre Dame is undefeated they'll be voted first because of their name in football," Jim pouted. He also feels that the voting is influenced by large scores.

"Look at Navy," he said. "They were tied, 6-6, by William & Mary, yet the week after they beat Princeton, 65-7, they were ranked 10th. Then they were beaten last week by Penn, and dropped to 20th in the Associated Press poll."

Carolina Undefeated After Fourth Game

By Rooney Boone

North Carolina's soccer team remained undefeated in regular season play as it pounded out a 4-1 win over the Generals of Washington and Lee here yesterday. A 2-2 tie with State College is the only blemish on the Tar Heels record.

Carolina completely dominated play from the opening whistle and played probably its best game of the year.

The Heels controlled the ball the entire game, but lacked scoring punch in the first period. Troubled by the inability to make its shots good, Carolina wasted drive after drive until the second quarter.

Finally, Co-Captain Rennie Randolph kicked true for the 1-0 lead. In the third period the Tar Heels actually found themselves as they scored three times. Louie Patseavouras, a spark-plug all day, booted one from almost under the General goal. There had been a mad scramble for the ball when Patseavouras came out of the pile-up for the score.

The Generals penetrated into Carolina territory only four times. In the third stanza, however, Ed Cohen found daylight. After driving downfield all alone, Cohen tapped the ball in for the only W&L goal.

Carolina roared back to put the game on ice, Gerry Russell making a goal when he booted true from an angle. Co-Captain Harry Pawlik, one-minute later, made it 4-1 on a penalty shot.

Carolina's victory was truly a team one. All four goals were scored by different men.

Frosh Swimmers To Defend Title In 2nd Inter Class-Meet Tonight

By John Hussey

Coach Ralph Casey's swimming team will go into action for the second time this year when they hold an inter-class meet in Bowman Gray Memorial Pool at 8 p.m.

It will be the second outing for the swimming team this season. The first meet was won by the freshman members of the squad two weeks ago. The frosh pulled a surprise victory when they nosed out the sophomores in the final two events of the contest.

The team has been practicing since the early part of this month in preparation for one of the toughest schedules in the south. Their twelve meet season will open with the VMI Keydets on Dec. 5 and will include the ACC championship at South Carolina and the NCAA contest at Yale.

Returning from last year's undefeated team will be captain Warren Heeman, Larry Shannon, Smith, Jewell, Tommy Gill, Bob Linker and Duke Widoff. Heeman placed sixth in the nation last year in the 200 yard backstroke event and was outstanding in the individual medley. Shannon and Gill are distance swimmers, Jewell and Linker are backstroke and Widoff is a sprinter.

During the past four seasons the Tar Heels have compiled an amazing record of 38 dual meets without a defeat. They won the Southern Conference championship for ten years in a row and last year they tied for first place with the members of last year's team, N. C. State. However, many of the members of last year's team, reputed to be the best in Carolina history, have been lost through graduation.

Coach Casey will be relying heavily on the material coming up from last year's freshman squad. Like their varsity counterparts, they had an undefeated season against some of the top teams in this area, and many of the members are expected to do well in intercollegiate competition this year.

Most outstanding among the sophomores is Dick Baker, a Greensboro lad who was picked as the outstanding freshman swimmer on last year's team. Gray McAllister, a native of Chapel Hill, will be carrying the brunt of the breaststroke duties for the varsity.

Final Games

Joyner Whips Lewis, Heads For Playoffs

Three games were played yesterday and another was forfeited in tag football as TEP-1, Chi Psi-1 and Joyner won the games played and Phi Gam Delta took the forfeit over SAH.

Most important of the games was Joyner's win over Lewis, 9-0. The win qualified Joyner for the playoffs as they end the regular season in a tie with this same Lewis team. John Medlin and Colen McMillan were the crucial point makers.

Buddy Strause, ace passer for the TEP's, led a 12-0 uprising over Pi Lamb Phi. Noel Petree scored twice in a Chi Psi-1 32-0 win over SPE while in Tuesday's late games it was Connor, led by Erskine Rhodes who figured in three touchdowns, 20-0, over Old East-2, Sig Chi-2 with a 1-0 forfeit over Pi Kap Phi-2; Zeta Psi-1 took another forfeit from Phi Delta Chi, and Ben Toledano, Wade Coleman and Bob Gorham led DKE-2 in a 19-0 barrage of TEP-2.

In the only other Tuesday game it was Sig Chi-1 19 and Kap Psi 13. This was the game of the day and one of the most exciting of the season as John Molsinger, Walt Converse, Cooper Taylor and Charlie Phillips paced the winners and Julian Upchurch, Jerry Rhoades and Jim Robinson led the Kap Psi attack. Both teams showed an aggressive, fighting spirit in this fight for the division No. 3 championship. This concludes the regular mural schedule and the playoffs for the championship will start Monday.
