-Clemson-

Wake Forest was unable to move the ball deeper than the six and only once again seriously threatened to score. That was late in the final period when it got to the Clemson eight against third and fourth-stringers.

The game left Clemson with a 1-2 record in the conference, Wake Forest with a 1-3 conference showing.

Clemson — 0 12 6 0 — 18
Clemson scoring: Touchdown, Pagliei, Gaskin, George.

Senate, asks an unidentified newsman to "stop chasing me." Costello was driven from the prison in a private car which was followed by a flock of news men. Newsmen said Costello's auto approached 100 miles-an-hour during the chase. Mrs. Costello is shown in the back seat of the car.—AP Wirephoto.

Press Aids In South's Gains, Journal Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 —(AP)—Newspaper leadership in the economic rebirth of the South was underlined by statements from 14 Southern governors in connection with a special 240-page special section of Editor and Publisher, newspaper trade weekly.

Entitled "Today's South," the section marks the Golden Jubilee of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association. The section points up the relationship of the press to progress and highlights the expenditure of Southern publishers of 73 million dollars in rebuilding and modernizing their plants to keep pace with the economic growth and anticipated future expansion of their area.

Excerpts from the governors' statements include:

Gov. William B. Umstead, North Carolina — By maintaining high standards of journalism throughout our state, our publishers and editors have enabled North Carolina to achieve many goals which would not have been reached without the assistance of our alert and resourceful newspapers.

Gov. James F. Byrnes, South Carolina — I pay tribute to the development of a greater consciousness of public obligation and recognition on the part of publishers that they should perform such worthy public service as comes to their attention... Division between fact and opinion in our newspapers has made them better than in the days around the turn of the century, regardless of techniques.

Combat Artists Display Works At Morehead

Works by six United States Navy Combat Artists will be on exhibit in the North Gallery of the Morehead Building today through December 15.

Comprising 28 paintings valued at $23,250, the exhibit is part of the U. S. Navy's Combat Art Program of 3,000 paintings. This traveling exhibit was made available through the efforts of Lt. Comdr. Robert Schenckan, commanding officer of U. S. Naval Reserve Research Company, 6-6.

The public may view the exhibit without charge daily from 2 to 10 p.m. On Saturdays it will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and on Sundays from 1 to 10 p.m.

Artists exhibiting works are Lt. Mitchell Jamieson, U. S. Naval Reserve; Seaman Hugh Cabot, U. S. Navy Combat Artist; Comdr. Albert Ketcham Murray, U. S. Naval Reserve; Lt. Comdr. William Franklin Draper, U. S. Naval Reserve; Lt. Comdr. Standish Backus, Jr., U. S. Naval Reserve; and Comdr. Dwight C. Shepler, U. S. Naval Reserve.

Col. Robert Carter Burns, commanding officer of the NROTC, in a preview showing of the exhibit, said that the artists have captured the spirit of the times they represent and that the paintings are typical of the individuals taking part in any theater of action.

-Maryland-

(Continued from page 1) and John Bowersox, wheeled a punt back 65 yards for a touchdown. The hot-footed Hanulak, of Hackensack, N. J., also ran seven times for 67 yards.

South Carolina pushed Maryland's second team around throughout the second quarter until finally Tatum tried to stop it with his first team on the 17. But quarterback Johnny Gramling passed and ran one foot from the goal and fullback Bill Wohrman went over.

Hanulak covered 57 yards in three runs and with two seconds to go in the half Dick Bielski kicked a field goal from the 37.

The first stringers left the Maryland subs with the ball on the South Carolina 27 when they left the game at the end of the third period. Ed Vereb took the ball over for the final score on a six-yard dash.

Maryland stayed almost exclusively on the ground with Faloney passing only five times and completing two. South Carolina went hardly nowhere on the ground, gaining only 37 yards rushing. It had to go to the air to move, tossing 23 times, completing 12 for 122 yards, in dropping its second decision in six games.

'Sir Laurence carries it off!

...becoming in truth the soft-hearted scoundrel who could say, 'A man that loves money might as well be content with a guinea as I with one woman.' What a scene that, as he rides his coffin singing up the road, with the townsfolk rollicking in Hogarthian splendor in the streets through which he passes while a decrepit salesman elbows his way with bottles strung over his shoulders beneath a sign reading, 'Drunk for a penny Dead drunk.' It is not apt to be forgotten quickly!"
