State Winner Of 3-Way Meet

Carolina's Beatty Is New Frosh Champion

RALEIGH, Nov. 16 (AP)—North Carolina State's cross country squad won its fifth straight North Carolina cross country title today, taking five of the first eight places to dominate the field. State had a low score of 20 points, Carolina was second with 39 and Duke was third with 77 points. The low score wins in cross country.

North Carolina's Tar Babies won the preliminary freshman race, scoring 25 points. Duke was second with 59, State third with 81 and Davidson fourth with 94 points.

Captain Buzz Sawyer, a State senior from Norfolk, Va., broke his own course record along with teammate Joe Shockley of Laurens, S. C. The two tied for first place with a winning time of 20:50, clipping 6 seconds from the old mark of 20:56 set by Sawyer against Duke two weeks ago.

North Carolina's Bob Barden of East Orange, N. J., came home in third place ahead of State's David Miller of Tarboro.

Jim Beatty of North Carolina easily won the freshman division, finishing with a winning time of 13:42, some 200 yards ahead of Davidson's Roy Ashcraft.

Fang Wang, of Chungking, China, will represent Carolina in the 132 lb. class participant has not yet Reidsville, entering the 148 lb. division. Howard will lift against the 181 lb. entries while the 198 lb. class participating has not yet been selected among three contenders.

Southern Conference Makes Final Steps Toward Bowl Game Approval

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 16 (AP)—The Southern Conference today found its anti-bowl rule a bit elastic and voted to let its executive committee pass on the post-season game question should one of its members receive an invitation for a New Year's Day appearance.

The action was for this season only. The conference was not willing to lift completely the bowl ban it adopted here in December, 1951. Executive committee approval is considered only a formality.

By its action today, taken by a vote of 9 to 1, the conference cleared the way to permit West Virginia University to play in a Jan. 1 bowl game if the conference champion Mountaineers receive a bid.

West Virginia has been prominently mentioned in connection with both the Sugar and Cotton Bowls. The Mountaineers suffered their first defeat last Saturday, losing to South Carolina, 20-14. The licking snapped major college football's longest winning streak at 13 games.

Max Farrington of George Washington University, conference president, said after the two-hour meeting behind closed doors that the 10-member league "wants to see how it works out. We're just not willing to take the entire ban off of the bowl situation."

The College of William and Mary, shaken more than two years ago by a recruiting scandal, cast the only dissenting vote.

it was learned reliably. Dr. Wayne Kernode, faculty chairman of athletics, represented the school. William and Mary was one of the leaders in getting the anti-bowl rule passed.

While Farrington declined to identify the dissenting school, he said one member told the conference he didn't see any change in the bowl situation as it exists now and as it existed when the ban was put into effect.

"The rest of us saw considerable change on both the national and the local scenes," Farrington said. "The local scene, of course, is the Southern Conference."

When the conference convened here in December, 1951, it suspended the University of Maryland and Clemson College for accepting bowl invitations. Both schools have since withdrawn and become charter members of the new Atlantic Coast Conference.

"A lot of things have changed in the last two years," Farrington said, "since we voted to ban bowl participation. The National Collegiate Athletic Association has since given its approval of some bowls."

Farrington listed other changes as the manner in which the money from bowl games is distributed, the fact that college faculties now have a hand in bowl games and the distribution of tickets.

A participating team, Farrington said, will deduct expenses as defined by the executive committee, keep 25 per cent of the remainder and place the remaining 75 per cent in the conference's general fund.

Broken Hand Ends Playing

Tar Heels Prepare For Virginia Contest

By Vardy Buckalew
Junior halfback Larry Parker sustained a broken right hand in Saturday's Notre Dame game which will sideline him for the remainder of the 1953 season. Parker, whose home is Charlotte, has scored three touchdowns for the Tar Heels this year.

The hand injury was sustained in the fourth quarter while Parker was playing defense. He had started the game at left halfback but had seen only limited action and the statistics show that he carried the ball one time and lost four yards on that attempt.

Parker's overall season record, excluding the Notre Dame game, shows that he ran the ball 37 times, gained 159 yards and lost 23 for a net gain of 136, or an average of 4.0 yards per carry. One of his three touchdowns came on a pass.

The Tar Heels began preparation for this week's Virginia game yesterday by checking over their offense and defense. The workout was concluded with a half-hour tag football game in which everybody, including the coaches and managers, got into the act.
