

WEATHER

Fair and warm today with an expected high of 77. Yesterday's high, 77; yesterday's low, 40.

The Daily Tar Heel

HELPERS

The Editor says youngsters can advise oldsters. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXII NUMBER 51

Complete AP Photo and Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1953

Complete AP Photo and Wire Service

FOUR PAGES TODAY

WC, UNC Demos Back Truman With Resolution

GREENSBORO, Nov. 18 — Young Democrats from Woman's College and Carolina Tuesday night took a stand behind former President Harry S. Truman, who is currently embroiled in the controversial Harry Dexter White case.

The Carolina students were guests of the sister institution. The groups held a joint meeting at Eliot Hall, WC's new student union building.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON (AP)—A formerly top-secret letter read during the testimony of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell here Tuesday listed Mary Price, formerly of Durham and Greensboro, as appearing to be linked to the Harry Dexter White espionage ring. The letter linked Miss Price, Progressive Party candidate for governor of North Carolina in 1948, with a group which transmitted secret government information to Communist agents. Miss Price has never been called to testify before the sub-committee investigating the White affair but her name has been injected into the testimony of several witnesses.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations Main Political Committee voted 54-0 yesterday for private big power talks on disarmament. There were five abstentions; the Soviet bloc and Burma. Western Powers, sponsors of the motion, had hoped the vote would provide a rare unanimous ballot and had delayed the vote since last Saturday in this hope.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, answering questions at his regular news conference yesterday, said that he hopes his administration's clean up in the capital will eliminate the Communist-in-government issue from next year's political campaign. He added that he does not believe Americans can afford to live in fear of each other forever.

FORT BRAGG (AP)—An Air Force board arrived here yesterday to investigate the crash of a G-119 "Flying Boxcar" which slashed through a mass drop of hundreds of paratroopers earlier this week, killing 15 men and injuring 11. All but one of the plane's "stick" of 40 paratroopers leaped to safety Tuesday as the big craft whipped in a tight turn to avoid parachutes and then plunged to earth. The pilot, who heroically stayed with his plane, three crew members and one paratrooper died as the plane plowed into a pine forest and burned.

Acting Prexy Denies Citadel Game Change

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 8 — (AP) — Col. L. S. Letellier, acting president of The Citadel, denied tonight he knew of any plans to abandon so-called "money games" next football season.

Col. Letellier was questioned by the News and Courier after an Associated Press dispatch said the new policy was made known in a letter to members of The Citadel Brigadier Club by Glover R. Baillie Jr. of Augusta, Ga. Baillie is president of the club, a Citadel booster organization.

"This is the first time I've known anything about that," Col. Letellier said.

The Citadel's acting president spoke recently before the Charleston Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs. In the talks he criticized subsidization of college athletes. He made it clear, however, he was expressing only his personal opinion.

"I've given no approval to anything," said Col. Letellier, "and I was not announcing any Citadel policy. Mr. Baillie, I believe, is an alumnus of the Citadel. I do not know him. He is speaking for himself."

There will be a short meeting of the Card Board tonight at 7:30 in Roland Parker 1 and 2. Plans are to be made for the Duke game, and members should bring their pass books.

CAMPUS SEEN
J. P. (Archaeology) Harland amusing students with oldie: "I don't mind you looking at your watch during class, but please don't shake it."

Elderly woman's comment after Yack beauty contest: "You know, I saw one that really was pretty."

Yackety-Yack editor Lib Moore strolling out to car in early morning and finding pair of green polka dot shorts waving from antenna.

Calif contently munching grass on lawn of Carolina Inn, pausing occasionally to moo at passerby.

Dean Berryhill Named To Post Of Med Group

DR. W. R. BERRYHILL

Dean W. Reece Berryhill of the University School of Medicine was recently appointed to the executive council of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

The council is the governing body of the Association and is composed of seven outstanding medical school deans throughout the country.

Dean Berryhill's appointment to the position was made at a meeting in Atlantic City, N. J. It is considered an exceptional honor as this is the first year of operation of the four-year medical school here. The Association is made up of all medical schools and colleges. Other colleges whose medical school deans were appointed to the council are Texas, Cornell, Utah, Buffalo, Washington University at St. Louis, and Colorado.

Legislature Not Meeting Until After Thanksgiving

The student Legislature will not meet again until the Thursday after the Thanksgiving holidays, it was announced this week.

A bill was passed during the session last Thursday requesting that the Legislature not meet any more until then because of "before Thanksgiving quizzes."

THREE OF 13 alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan sit at a table in the courthouse in Wilmington, N. C., after their arrest by the F.B.I. They were charged by the F.B.I. with flogging Mrs. Christine Rogers, 35, and her brother, Ernest Rogers, 31, shown at right as they whispered to one another in the Federal Building in Wilmington. The couple charge they were forcibly taken from their homes in Dillon County, S. C., at night, transported to Robeson County, N. C., and whipped. Thirteen of the 14 accused were brought to Wilmington for arraignment. At the table (left) are P. M. Harrington, 20, (head visible at upper left); his father, P. M. Harrington (face covered by hands), and Forrest H. Walters, all of Fairmont, N. C. The man with back to camera is a deputy.—AP Wirephoto.

Mock Legislature Will Open Today

Governor Umstead To Talk To Student Solons; Twenty-Seven Carolina Students To Attend

By Richard Creed
Twenty-seven Carolina students will go to Raleigh this afternoon for a three day session with the State Student Legislature in the State Capitol.

Governor William B. Umstead will open the session with a speech welcoming the delegates from 30 North Carolina colleges and universities at 4 p.m.

The SSL meets annually to discuss bills pertaining to the operations of the various branches of the state government "to point out weaknesses and inefficiencies in our state government when and where they exist." Otherwise, it has no actual power.

The bills passed are handed on as suggestions to the governor or to the heads of the departments which they concern.

One of the bills to be debated in this session provides that the governor be given the right to review all acts of the State Legislature and refuse his signature to any such acts. It provides that the only state official besides the governor to be elected by the qualified voters of the state be the lieutenant governor. It provides also that the Legislature be required to meet once annually instead of twice annually as it does now, and that the operation and maintenance of the state prisons, prison camps and other penal institutions be removed from the Highway Commission and placed in the hands of a State Commission of Prisons.

It provides that all Supreme Court and Superior Court judges be appointed by the governor and approved by the Senate. The Supreme Court judges would be appointed for life; the Superior Court judges, for eight years.

Another bill to be debated denounces "give-away" bills in the U. S. Congress. It attacks the "Tidelands oil bill" passed recently by Congress, but does not recommend that the bill be reconsidered by Congress.

The SSL will be in session almost continually until Saturday afternoon.

Di Defeats Anti-Discrimination Bill; Says Can't Legislate Love

By Tom Lambeth
"You can't legislate brotherly love," argued opponents to an anti-discrimination bill before this week's meeting of the Dialectic Senate. Senators apparently accepted the argument as they defeated the bill after two hours of debate.

The proposal, introduced by Gerald Parker, called for all campus groups to eliminate discriminatory clauses from their charters, bylaws, or constitutions. Specifically mentioned in the bill were those clauses relating to "race, creed, color and national origin."

The debate found proponents arguing that such discrimination was in conflict with the purposes and spirit of the University and that now is the time for the officials to take action to eliminate any discrimination existing at Carolina.

Opponents of the measure said that it was impossible to legislate morality and argued that the bill was itself "discriminatory" since it called for South Building officials to suspend any UNC group which did not seek the removal of such clauses before January, 1955.

All the speakers affirmed their opposition to discrimination. The disagreement seemed to be around which method was best for solving the problem of discrimination. One opposition speaker, Scotty Hester, attacked the bill before the body as a bad way to accomplish a good aim. "Two wrongs don't make a right," he said.

WUNC Today

- 7:00 p.m.—Stories 'n' Stuff.
- 7:30—Evening Music.
- 7:45—Tar Heel Voices, with Chancellor House.
- 8:00—Jeffersonian Heritage
- 8:30—Transylvania Music Camp.
- 9:00—Symphony Hour.
- 10:00—News and Weather.
- 10:05—Evening Masterwork.
- 11:00—Program Resume and Sign Off.

PLAYING THE ROLE of Death, Mr. Brink (Rick Faw of Southern Pines), has the lead in the Carolina Playmakers' new play, "On Borrowed Time," being presented nightly through Sunday at 8:30 in the Playmakers Theatre. Mr. Brink hovers over, left to right, Granny (Les Casey, Chapel Hill); Aunt Demetria (Jane Barringer, Norwood); Pud (Mike Casey, Chapel Hill), and Gramps (Christian Moe, New York City).

Vending Machines? . . . Maybe

Gorham Talks To IDC

By Fred Powledge

Bob Gorham presented last night a preliminary "sort of clearing the decks" for the idea of having cigarette and other type vending machines in dormitories.

The Student Government President spoke at a regular meeting of the Men's Interdormitory Council in Alumni Building. Under his plan, "Coke and cracker machines will be put wherever space is available," while "cigarette machines will be put in social rooms." Cigarette vendors do not entail the bulk and litter drink and other type machines bring, Gorham stated.

Asked about the cost of cigarettes from the proposed machines, Gorham answered, "I imagine the University will sell them for the same price as does the Monogram Club—21 cents or something like that. The profits will go to the University."

"Grants-in-aid," added Carl Gregory. The business of collecting money from each dorm to help the United Nations Club purchase a UN flag was brought up. A motion was made that the IDC take 50 cents from each dormitory's treasury to raise five dollars requested by the UN Club.

"You can't take it from us because we're $29 in the hole now," said Bobby Brown of Joyner. Then it was suggested that the dorm presidents and IDC representatives present pitch in and contribute the five dollars. Nickles, quarters and half-dollars rained down on President Gurley's desk. Soon the five dollars was raised, and the motion was dropped.

Over Two Thousand Alumni Give More Than $30,000

Over 2,000 alumni dug down in their pockets during the first year of the Alumni Annual Giving Program and donated $33,422.88. When the program was initiated a year ago, Chancellor R. B. House and Chairman Mayne Albright stressed that the contributions to the fund would only be used to meet unforeseen emergencies and opportunities for which no other funds were available. A portion of the money has already been used in several departments which had present urgent needs.

A research accomplishment of the Graduate School has been allocated $8,500 and a faculty fund of $3,500 has been set up. Until now the majority of the faculty members of undergraduate departments who have attended meetings away from Chapel Hill have done so at their own expense.

Fred H. Weaver of the Office of the Dean of Students was given $500 to be used for student welfare.

J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the Alumni Association, said that with 67 different classes represented among individual contributions to the Alumni Giving Program, the average gift was $17.89.

The first year ended June 30 and reports will be mailed to 43,000 alumni early this month.

Politician Hits Georgia Paper For Editorial

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 19.—The University of Georgia student newspaper, "The Red and Black" announced editorially this week that it would "stand up for what we believe," in reply to an attack on it by University Regent Roy V. Harris.

Harris, a former speaker of the state House of Representatives and one of Governor Herman Talmadge's top political lieutenants, announced last Wednesday that he would seek to have the Board of Regents cut off the campus weekly's appropriations if the publication does not "stop running editorials advocating the abolition of segregation in schools." Earlier the newspaper had attacked Talmadge's stand on admitting Negro students to Georgia schools.