—Stevens—

had no political aspirations. Although Stillwell told the UP that he and other UP chiefs had met last week and decided on Stevens, both he and Wolfshimer before the meeting denied that they knew of any plan whereby Stevens might be elected. Stillwell also refused to say where, when and under what circumstances he met with the other UP chiefs and decided on Stevens. Stevens is a fraternity brother of Stillwell. Stevens' only experience in student government consists of one term in the Legislature. Also elected were Jan Winders, secretary; Bob Farrell, treasurer, and Bob Grimes, vice-chairman.

takes. Purdue outrushed Michigan State by more than 100 yards, displayed a fine pass defense and was able to cash in on its only scoring chance. Michigan State, in addition to having five passes intercepted, had a 95-yard touchdown run nullified by a clipping penalty.

the Tar Babies. Included among these are Phil Drake and Bill Dreyer, both of whom placed on the Helms Foundation All-American team last year. These two were included among the top breaststrokers in the nation. Gordon Smith, the Southern Interscholastic and North Carolina state champ, will take over the backstroke duties. Smith is one of the top prospects to come to Carolina in the past few years. David McInnis, a Sumpter, S. C. native, runner-up in the Southern Interscholastics last year, will be on hand for the one-meter diving. He will be aided by Tommy Parker who is in his first year of competitive swimming. Freestylers for the frosh will include Don Hall, Norm Chmaberlain, Tom Brenner, Steve Marks and Tom Roy. The freshman, like their varsity counterparts, will be attempting to carry on a victory string which has accumulated over the past seasons. Carolina frosh teams have not lost a meet in their last eleven outings.

as a result of his performances. In the South Carolina game Saturday night, Vayda led a scoring spurt in the fourth quarter which saw the Tar Heels score 20 points in five minutes. Once during this particular display of offensive power, Vayda scored seven straight points on three baskets and a free throw. Vayda plays well all over the court and can hit from the outside when called upon to do so. However his most effective shot is a two-handed jump shot from about ten or fifteen feet out. It was this type of shot which he made in scoring the basket which beat State.
