

WEATHER

Fair and somewhat warmer with a high of 58. Yesterday's high 56; low 40's.

The Daily Tar Heel

REVIEW

A distinguished professor takes a look at a local play. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXII NUMBER 84

Complete Photo and Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, JANUARY 17, 1954

Complete Photo and Wire Service

FOUR PAGES TODAY

EARL SLOCUM

UNC Symphony Sets Concert This Tuesday

The University Symphony Orchestra, composed largely of students and faculty members of the Music Department, will appear in concert in Hill Hall, Tuesday at 8 o'clock.

Directed by Prof. Earl Slocum, the concert is the eighth program of the Tuesday evening series of the Music Department.

The program will include Mendelssohn's (Italian) Symphony in A Major, three dances from "The Bartered Bride," The "Academic Festival Overture," by Brahms, and J. S. Bach's (Little) Fugue in G Major.

Professor Slocum is also conductor of the University Band, a teacher of theory in the Music Department, and founder and director of the All-State High School Music Course at the University.

Four Freshmen Given Braswell Scholarships

Four University freshmen have been awarded the Braswell Scholarships for the academic year 1953-54, it was announced here yesterday by Dean C. P. Spruill, Chairman of the Braswell Scholarship Committee.

They are William Charles Cable, Greensboro; Robert L. Baucom, Monroe; Howard Keith Gallimore, Concord; and Charles G. Overcash, Jr., Lexington. All four entered the University in September.

All four of these winners have part-time jobs at the University and they also hold University scholarships.

The Braswell Scholarships are provided by a fund of $21,000 set up in memory of Dr. Mark R. Braswell of Rocky Mount, class of 1888. The income from the endowment is designated for four scholarships of $200 each annually. The accrued income from time to time allows additional scholarships to be awarded. Mrs. W. D. Perry, Chapel Hill, established the Scholarships in memory of her father, Dr. Braswell.

Recipients are judged on character, scholastic attainment, financial need and general all-round worthiness. The four winners this year were selected from a group of 37 freshmen, all of whom were considered worthy prospects.

Cable, the top-ranking graduate of Rankin High School in Guilford County, was considered for a Morehead Scholarship. While a senior at Rankin he served as president of his class, participated in athletics and dramatics, was sports editor of the school paper, and program chairman of the Beta Club. He plans to major in business.

Baucom graduated from Walter Bickett High School, Monroe, in the first quartile of his class, where he took an active part in dramatics, served on the staffs of the yearbook and of the school paper, and was a member of the Glee Club. He plans to major in radio announcing.

Gallimore graduated from Harrisburg High School in the first quartile of his class. During his senior year he participated in athletics and dramatics, was editor of the yearbook, served on the staff of the school paper, and was a member of the Beta Club, Book Club, and Future Teachers Club. He plans to major in engineering.

Overcash, who graduated from Lexington High School in the first quartile of his class, was also considered for a Morehead Scholarship. During his senior year he was president of the Honor Society, a member of the Beta Club, Key Club, and Lexicon staff, was vice-president of the Hi-Y Club, and a participant in varsity basketball. He plans to major in business.

Delusions of grandeur: English prof asking class, "Any more questions about this universe?"

Add notes on Saturday classes: Student in French class asking instructor to let class out early because, "We don't have a quorum."

$25 Taken From Dorm, Students Say

By Fred Powledge

At least $25 has been stolen from unlocked dormitory rooms in the past week, Everett dorm manager Harry Patton said yesterday.

Patton listed the victims as Arnold Culbreth, Jr., 319 Everett, and Frank Butler, in 112. Fifteen dollars was stolen from Culbreth and Butler lost "between $10 and $15."

Culbreth, a sophomore, said the $15 was stolen one night a week ago between 10:30 and 11 o'clock. "I was in the room next door with the other fellows," he said. "It was the first time I ever left my billfold out of my drawer in two years. When I went back in the room the wallet was lying open with three five-dollar bills missing."

Culbreth said he didn't "have any idea" who could have taken the money. "I thought it was somebody on the hall until something was gone on the first floor the other night."

"If the fellow needed the money that bad, I'd have been glad to split with him. But taking it all... that doesn't go," Culbreth said.

Frank Butler, a freshman, reported his 10 or 15 dollars were stolen while he was asleep last Thursday night "around 12:30." He said he had "not the slightest idea" who took the money, and added, "It's gone now and there's nothing you can do about it."

"You'd have to plan to catch one of these thieves," said Butler.

Manager Patton, commenting on the thefts, said, "The boys should lock their rooms when they're going down the hall and even when they're asleep. We're right here at the end of the semester and there are some boys who are leaving—quitting, getting kicked out, graduating and just leaving for some reason—and they figure they haven't got a thing to lose."

"If somebody'd keep a record of the thefts, they'd see it jumps 500 percent right at the end of the term," said Patton.

Capt. W. D. Blake of the Chapel Hill Police Department said several weeks ago, when close to $90 had been stolen in the course of one week, that the University has "trouble with such thefts every year just before Christmas holidays and at the end of school terms."

This week's money thefts bring his total of reported robberies up to more than $111.

WUNC Today

- 7 p.m.—Sunday Show (Time)
- 7:30—Masterworks from France
- 8:00—Orchestras of the World
- 9:00—Hill Hall Hour
- 10:00—News and Weather
- 10:05—Evening Masterwork
- 11:00—Program Resume and Sign Off

Chapel Hill Dime Drive Beginning

Free Movie Prize To Biggest Givers

The March of Dimes is under way in Chapel Hill.

This year's drive is under the direction of E. Carrington Smith, manager of the Carolina Theater. Smith has offered a free movie to the residents of the dorm, fraternity, or sorority which contributes the most. There will be a winner in each of the four divisions.

The campus drive will be conducted by Gordon Battle and Miss Mary Helen Crain, assisted by other members of Pi Kappa Alpha and Delta Delta Delta.

Sometime tomorrow night, each dorm room, fraternity, and sorority will be canvassed.

Each year the Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has put more money into North Carolina than it has received from this state. The same is true on a smaller scale for Chapel Hill itself. At present there are eight Chapel Hillians under the Foundation's care.

Last year the Foundation gave the hospital here, $15,000 for research. The biggest current expense on the Foundation's budget is the polio vaccine field trial which will begin next month.

"The goal for the campus is only $1,000," said Battle, "but we should be willing to give more than our quota because we get more than our share."

Job Magazine Available Free For Seniors

Senior men may now obtain, free of charge, the 1954 issue of Career, an annual guide to job opportunities, a representative of the guide said yesterday.

The publication, distributed by Career Publications, Inc., and associated with the Student Marketing Institute, is being represented on campus by Jim Weatherly.

Weatherly said copies can be picked up at 211 Gardner, from 2:30 to 6:00 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. He said seniors have been invited by mail to come for their copies, but that any male fourth-year student who has not received an invitation should come by anyway.

'... Couldn't Possibly Know'

College Queen Not False

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 16 (AP). It isn't true what was said about falsies, "Miss College Queen of 1954" declared this week.

The queen, Miss Toby Gerard, a 21-year-old University of Miami senior living at Miami Beach, gave the unqualified answer to a statement by Miss Barbara Spiro of Forest Hills, N. Y., that she won because of falsies. Miss Spiro placed third in the contest held last Sunday.

Miss Gerard, talking sweetly, said:

"There was no stipulation for or against falsies during the judging.

"The answer, as far as I am concerned, is no. There was nothing false about the contest, and that goes for me, too."

"Miss Spiro was a sweet girl, but she couldn't possibly know. She wasn't in my dressing room. The judges didn't examine us for falsies. I'd like to know where she got her information, and I hope her sweetness wasn't false."

Miss Spiro is a junior at New York City College. The contest drew another headline in Miami today. Miss Johnnie White, 19-year-old Miami journalist student, said she entered eight days after the official deadline simply to find out how such contests are conducted and to write a story for the university newspaper, "The BOBBY MICHIELS, 6, plants a kiss on the cheek of Adele Poinexter, 4, after they were crowned king and queen of the 1954 Cook County March of Dimes polio campaign in Chicago. The young polio victims were presented with crowns made of crisp, new dollar bills, studded with shiny dimes symbolizing the drive's slogan, "Join the March of Dimes with dollars"—AP Wirephoto.

Graham, Luxon To Participate In Annual News Institute Here

Dr. Frank P. Graham, special mediator for the United Nations; Dr. Norval Neil Luxon, new dean of the School of Journalism; Dr. James Cleland of the Duke University Divinity School, and John P. McKnight, information attache of the American Embassy in Rome, are among the headliners for the annual North Carolina Newspaper Institute to be held in Chapel Hill and Durham, January 28, 29 and 30.

Dr. Graham, president of the University from 1930-49 and a former United States senator, will speak at the opening session Thursday night, January 28.

Dr. Graham was invited early last fall, but at the time he could not accept. Another speaker, who was selected, recently found he could not come and Dr. Graham was persuaded to give the address.

It will be Dean Luxon's first appearance at the Press Institute. He was formerly assistant to the president and professor of journalism at Ohio State University.

Dr. Cleland will be the principal speaker at the dinner session at Duke University Friday night at which Duke will be host. Dr. Cleland made such a hit at the 1951 session that he is being invited to give a repeat performance.

John McKnight will be the other speaker on the Friday morning program. A native of Shelby and a well-known newspaperman and author, he recently returned home on a two-month leave of absence. He is a brother of C. A. McKnight, editor of the Charlotte News. In his address he will draw on his varied experiences as an observer of world affairs and trends.

Dr. Cleland will be the principal speaker at the dinner session at Duke University Friday night at which Duke will be host. Dr. Cleland made such a hit at the 1951 session that he is being invited to give a repeat performance.

Symphony Trustees Set Meet Here Next Sunday

Some 85 Board of Trustees and Executive Committee members of the North Carolina Symphony Society have been called to meet here Sunday, January 24.

In announcing the annual meeting, Board Secretary Tom Stanback, Jr., pointed out that the election of new trustees will be held, in addition to the reading of the State Auditor's yearly statement, along with Budget and Schedule reports for the forthcoming ninth annual tour by the State Symphony.

TOBY GERARD ... no falsies

What Goes On Here

Statistics Colloquium

P. G. Moore of the Department of Statistics of University College, London, will speak on "Successive Differences in Samples from an Exponential Population" tomorrow at 4 p.m. in 320 Phillips Hall. The lecture is open to the public.

BSU Supper Forum

Dr. Hugh Holman of the English Department will speak to the Baptist Student Union supper forum tonight at 6 o'clock. "Literature in Worship."

Westminster Fellowship

The student Bible class of the Westminster Fellowship will meet at 10 o'clock this morning in room 203 Graham Memorial. The Fellowship will discuss "How Does the Christian Faith Apply to My Choice of a Life's Work" at its supper meeting at 6 o'clock.

Cosmopolitan Club

The Cosmopolitan Club will have an informal party today at 4 o'clock in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial.

N. C. Architects Confab Begins Here Thursday

The annual convention of the North Carolina chapter of the American Institute of Architects will be held here Thursday through Saturday. The Carolina Inn will be headquarters for the convention.

Locally Produced Radio Shows To Be Heard Throughout Nation

Carolina has completed its first dramatic radio series prepared for national distribution. Entitled "American Adventure," the 13-program recorded series was produced by the Communication Center of the University, and deals with some of the basic values of western man as these values have been used and interpreted in this country.

Earl Wynn, director of the Communication Center, says "The series is the most important release of the Center to date."

The program includes a story based on one phase of the life of Tom Wolfe, famous Tar Heel alumnus.

A series of half-hour dramas, the programs were written by John M. Ehle and directed by John S. Clayton. Many of them are based on historical incidents and characters.

The programs will be broadcast first over the stations of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters, through whom the University received a Fund for Adult Education grant-in-aid for the production of the series.

The programs will then be offered to other stations and networks in this country and abroad.

Samuel Selden, director of the Carolina Playmakers, Pulitzer-prize winning playwright Paul Green, and novelist Noel Houston have endorsed the series.

Professor Robert Schenkkan, who prepared the proposal on which the series is based and who was active in the development of the series itself, says that emphasis from the beginning was on producing "powerful dramas about real people, plays which say something worth hearing." Professor Schenkkan believes the completed series serves this purpose excellently.

Nine professors served as consultants for the series, reading and criticizing each script before it was produced so that the writer might re-write the scripts to take advantage of the opinions of authorities in different fields of learning. The consultants are Dr. Bernard Boyd, chairman of the Department of Religion; Dr. John P. Gillin, professor of Anthropology; Dr. Fletcher M. Green, chairman, Department of History; Dr. Everett W. Hall, chairman, Department of Philosophy; Dr. Frank W. Hanft, professor of Law; Dr. Clifford P. Lyons, dean, College of Arts and Sciences; Dr. Howard W. Odum, chairman, Department of Sociology; Dr. William H. Poteat, assistant professor of Philosophy; and Dr. Clemens Sommer, professor of Art History.

More than 70 students, faculty members and Chapel Hill townspeople participated in the preparation of the series. John Ehle (pronounced EE lee) spent nine months in writing the scripts. "We took as much time as we thought we needed," he says, "to do the work the best we could."

John Clayton directed most of the plays during the fall and winter months of last year. Clayton said the work had to reach a high professional standard. "This is difficult even with the vast amount of talent available in Chapel Hill," he says. "We were determined to attain network quality, and authorities who have heard the shows say we did it. It is certain we came as close as dedication to a cause could take us."

The University's own FM radio station, WUNC, 91.5 megacycles, a member station of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters, will broadcast the series on Tuesday nights at 9:30, beginning February 9.

A GROUP OF 18-year-old college students register to vote in the coming election in Georgia. The students are all from the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia. Deputy Registrars in the foreground are L. R. Hughes and Thelma Ardeser. Taking the voter's oath are Joyce Stevens (left) and Joan Killian. Others are, from front to rear: Roy Berry, Joan Washburn, Jim Craft, Vera Westbrook and Donald Clark. Georgia lowered its voting age to 18 in 1943 and remains the only state to open its polls to that age group. Recently President Eisenhower recommended similar action nationally—AP Wirephoto.