Legislature Will Decide On Dorms' TV Tonight

Student lawmakers tonight will consider giving their classmates almost $4,000 in television and $600 in washing machines.

In a move that grew from the Student Party's TV-for-dorms promises in fall elections, bills will be considered which will provide 12 brand new television sets with 21-inch screens to dwellers of certain dorms.

Another $283 may be given to five dorms to finish payments on TV sets already purchased on the installment plan.

The coeds in Spencer and McIver dorms may get $600 for washing machines.

The student Legislature's Social Improvements Committee is handling the program for dorms, which are "inadequately furnished" to provide places for the "relaxation of students." Don Geiger (SP) heads the committee.

The dormitories that may get the 12 new TV sets (UHF and VHF models with rotary antennas) are Grimes, Everett, Graham, Old West, Ruffin, Steele, Alexander, Battle-Vance-Pettigrew, Whitehead, Old East, Carr, and Lewis.

The dorms for which the Legislature may pick up the payments for sets already purchased are Manley, Winston, Aycock, Joyner, and Stacy.

There was talk yesterday in University Party circles that the distribution of TV sets by the Student Party controlled-Legislature was a pre-election device designed to get votes. One UP source, who asked to be unnamed, said he thought it was a "pay-off before elections."

On the other hand, the Student Party holds that this is a needed improvement. Vice President Baxter Miller, an SP member, hailed the TV plan as "something we've needed for a long time."

President Bob Gorham (UP) accused the opposition Student Party of being "irresponsible" and "indiscriminately" distributing student funds. Gorham made his statements recently at a University Party meeting.

Vice President Miller retorted to the Gorham charges in Legislature. He challenged the "accuser or anyone else to show me where the Legislature has been irresponsible and indiscriminate in its appropriation of monies."

Honors Listed In Pharmacy

Twelve students have been named to the Honor Roll of the School of Pharmacy for the fall semester, E. A. Brecht, Dean of the School, announced yesterday.

To be named to the Honor Roll, a student must have made an average of 92.5 on all his courses. Those making the Honor Roll last semester were:

Ralph Ashworth, Eleanor Bullock, Oveda Fisher, Jonathan Hill, Byron Huckaby, Don Rea Kepley, William Powell, William D. Shouse, Jack Silvers, Edith Trosper, Robert P. Wolf, John Dee Wood.

A total of 11 students in the school made an average of 90 or better, which makes them eligible for the Dean's List. Those making the Dean's List last semester were:

John Warren Andrews, James Bolton III, William V. Bradley, Barbara Nan Gilliam, Christopher Hargett, Elbert Neill Herring, James T. Ingram, John A. Klutz, Russell G. Sigmon, Joe D. Stone, and William Stanford Tate.

Graduate History Club Plats Meeting Friday

The Graduate History Club will discuss the topic "Is the Art of Good Teaching Being Sacrificed on the Twin Altars of Research and Administration," at a meeting Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Assembly Room of the Library.

Participating in the discussion will be Hugh T. Lefler, James L. Colley, George H. Callcott, and Roy C. Randall.

Public is invited to attend and take part in the discussion.

Rings

Class rings will be sold to juniors today in the lobby of the Y from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Life On Stars Is New Show At Planetarium

The Morehead Planetarium is presenting a new show entitled "Stellar Populations," during the month of March.

In this show, explanation is made of the recent disclosures made by eminent scientists at Palomar Mountain Observatory. These men have discovered "Star Cities" and "stellar inhabitants" through the 200-inch telescope on Mount Palomar. Reproductions of these majestic star cities may be seen in the new show.

Many astronomers are coming to believe that our solar system is not unique, and are beginning to wonder if there is another planet like the earth. The hypothesis will be explained in the Planetarium's new presentation.

Since it is thought that life may exist in another solar system, it is conceivable that distant planets might well support other life somewhere in outer space.

Much is realized of the universe with a good understanding of its "harmony" and "immensity." "Stellar Populations" is designed to convey this magnitude and harmony which the Creator has privileged to behold and study.

The new presentation will be shown nightly at 8:30, Saturdays at 3 and 8:30 p.m., and Sundays at 3, 4 and 8:30 p.m.

Semper Fidelis
The Semper Fidelis Society will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Naval Armory.

Herman Band Coming Here St. Pat's Day

The Graham Memorial Student Union will present a St. Patrick's Day concert by Woody Herman March 17.

The Herman Herd will give a two hour performance from 4 until 6 p.m.

Herman and his band will appear by special arrangement with GM, on a stop-over from Atlanta to Norfolk. The group is scheduled to go to Europe soon, where they will give a concert tour for the jazz following there. The program here should be a preview of the material to be used in that tour.

Tickets for the show can be purchased for 80 cents, including tax, and will be available at the Graham Memorial Office beginning Monday until concert time. This special price is possible because the Union is sponsoring the concert on a break-even basis.

Jimmy Wallace, director of Graham Memorial, expressed hope that the concert would be a casual, informal one, so that everyone can enjoy the music by the Herman aggregation.

CPU Debates On TV Tonight

"McCarthyism and McCarthy: Menace or Messiah?" will be the topic of the Carolina Political Union's panel discussion over WNAO-TV tonight.

The program, second in a series of six panel shows, will be telecast on channel 28, Raleigh, at 10:30 p.m. (The television series will run till June and will deal with topics of interest and of importance to the world today.

Students appearing on tonight's panel are Gene Cook, Bill Scarborough, Ken Penegar, Stanley Shaw, and Joel Fleishman, chairman of the CPU.

Bulletproof Glass In Congress

Pearson Says Shooting Needless

WASHINGTON, March 3 — The spectacular gun-spraying of Congress by three Puerto Rican fanatics would never have happened if economy-minded Congress had taken the advice of the professional security officers.

Ever since July, 1947, when a disgruntled ex-Capitol cop took a couple of potshots at Ohio's GOP Sen. John Bricker, professional security officers have urged the installation of bulletproof glass in front of the Senate and House galleries. They also recommended revamping the Capitol police force to eliminate many of the inexperienced old men and college students who hold patronage jobs as guards.

IFC Court Convicts Group For Hazing Law Violation

Penegar Heads

State Of UNC Conference Set Tomorrow

"The Student And The University: Their Rights and Responsibilities," will be the theme of the All-Campus Conference beginning here tomorrow.

The opening session of the conference is slated for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the assembly room of the Library. After introductory remarks by Ken Penegar, student body President Bob Gorham will extend a welcome. The keynote address will be delivered by Dean of Students Fred Weaver.

The conference will then break down into six small discussion groups to consider such general questions as, "What is the role of student government and how well is it succeeding?"; "What, actually, is academic freedom and is it really being threatened?"; "Are students really getting an education?" and "What is the proper place of intercollegiate athletics in higher education?"

The groups will adjourn about 5:30 tomorrow afternoon and reconvene at 2 p.m. Saturday in the seminar rooms of the Library.

Co-chairmen of the groups will be Irma Eichhorn, personnel advisor from the Dean of Women's Office, and Phil Thayer, graduate student in history; Roy Holsten, assistant dean of students, and Gene Cook; Thad Sevnour, graduate student in English, and Henry Lowet; William Geer instructor in social science, and Phin Horton; Brad Stroup, instructor in English, and Rolfe Neill; Jim Wallace, director of Graham Memorial, and Charlie Wolf.

The conference will close at 7:30 Saturday evening with a banquet in the Monogram Club dining room. Following summary reports from the discussion groups, Chancellor Robert B. House will deliver the main address of the evening.

A CLOSEUP from Cole Porter's "Kiss Me Kate," a musical version of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," to be given tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday by the Carolina Playmakers, feature: Bill Barnes of Wilson in the dual roles of Porter's Bill Calhoun and the Shakespearean Lucentio and Gurdine Bliss, Chapel Hill, at Lois Lane and Bianca. The production will be presented each night at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

Two Greek Skits Are Halted By Chairman; Phi Gams Win

Greek Week Chairman Ed McCurry halted two fraternity pledge skits at the Stunt Night show in Carroll Hall last night on the grounds that they were too risque.

After the restless crowd had hissed itself out, three judges headed by Dean James M. Parrish of the Business Administration School decided that first-place honors for the evening should go to Phi Gamma Delta's Dixieland combo.

Midway through the show several coeds among the handful who attended got up and left. At the end of the affair only one coed remained in the audience of some 400 males.

Greek Week Chairman Ed McCurry had warned the groups beforehand that "obscenity just wouldn't go." He had to warn several groups to tone down their skits as they went along. Near the end, a joker for Zeta Beta Tau and the skit "Pragnet" of Alpha Tau Omega had to be stopped completely.

Alpha Tau Omega won last year's talent show.

The Phi Gams got plenty of applause as they hustled through "Johnson Rag" and "When the Saints Go Marching In." The judges awarded no second or third place honors, although there were other "clean" skits.

Helping Dean Parrish in the judging were Miss Gladys Cox of the BA School; Charlie Bernard of the Admissions Office; Dr. C. O. Cathey, General College adviser and history professor, and Edgar Thomas Jr. of the Alumni Office.

Twenty-one pledge classes participated and themes ran all the way from take-offs on the "Jose Greco Show" (DKE and Phi Kappa Sigma) to pseudo-radio-TV shows (Betas, SAE and TEP). A gray alley cat in Sigma Chi's skit and a small brown dog in the Zetas' act nearly took the show from the human actors.

The fourth annual Greek Week continues today with field day at 4 p.m. on Navy Field. Pledges from over 20 fraternities will go through a half-dozen competitive events: Tonight the exchange supper will be continued.

Early Friday afternoon the 400 pledges will meet at Graham Memorial and split up to work on various projects throughout the township. The week will conclude Friday night at 8:30 with a banquet in Lenoir Hall with Chancellor R. B. House as guest speaker.

Horton Says Frat Council To Back Law

By Jerry Reece
A grim reminder of "Hell Week" came up yesterday as the Inter-Fraternity Council Court announced the conviction of a fraternity for a violation of the IFC Hazing Law.

Phin Horton, a senior from Winston-Salem and chairman of the court, said yesterday that "in its third meeting in three weeks the IFC Court convicted and fined a Carolina fraternity $100 for a violation of the IFC Hazing Law."

"In the two previous cases," he continued, "both fraternities were acquitted. They were charged with conduct unbecoming a Carolina fraternity and disturbing the peace."

"They were acquitted," Horton explained, "on the grounds that as an organization the fraternities were not responsible for the incidents. This was in view of the fact that only two members of the fraternity charged were there in one case and no members of the fraternity charged knew anything about the other case."

In regard to the first case, Horton made the statement that "The disturbance which took place on the property of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity a few weeks ago was not caused by members of that group. It was caused by members of other campus fraternities, non-fraternity men, and students from other campuses."

"Since there were only two members of that fraternity present," he continued, "and one of them tried to stop the disturbance, the court found this fraternity not guilty as charged."

Regarding the hazing conviction, Horton brought out that the IFC law regarding hazing stipulated the $100 fine for the first offense. The second offense is punishable by 12 months' suspension of rushing privileges. The third offense, if either the second or third offense occur within five years of the first offense, results in the fraternity's being dropped from the IFC, which means revocation of that group's local charter.

"The court is working to prevent further violations of the rules," Horton said. "I would like to impress upon each fraternity man the seriousness of the consequences of breaking the hazing law, and remind them that the court will enforce the law to the best of its ability."

"We're not out to hang anybody," he continued, "but this law will be enforced."

Scarritt Representative At Local Church Today

Betsy Ewing, alumni secretary of Scarritt College, Nashville, Tenn., will be at the Methodist Church from 2 p.m. on today to talk with students about the program at Scarritt.

The college is owned by the General Conference of the Methodist Church, and offers academic opportunities to young people who have dedicated their lives to full-time church-related work.

Through interchange of academic credits, sharing of faculties and facilities, a University Center has been developed in Nashville, including Scarritt College, George Peabody College for Teachers, Vanderbilt, and the School of Social Work of the University of Tennessee.

The majority of Scarritt students are candidates for the M.A. degree. However, students who have completed two years of college may be admitted to the B.A. degree program.

Greek Week

All officials for Greek Week field day meet at Intramural Field at 3:45 p.m. today.

Speaker Tells Of Asian Life

"Man is a man wherever he is, but woman differs," said Mrs. Robert C. Burns in the YWCA cabinet meeting this week.

Mrs. Burns talked about the historical, religious, social and marital characteristics of the Japanese. She portrayed the Japanese woman as being strong and self-sacrificing, her task is the care of the home and the bringing up of her children.

The Japanese woman's greatest crime is barrenness: the only reason sufficient for separation from her husband. The family is harmonious, ruled with unlimited freedom by the man. Marriage bonds are stronger than in the United States, she said, because of the lack of socio-economic competition there.

"Japan's Buddhist and Shinto religions supplement each other," she said. "All marriages take place in the festive Shinto Shrine, which is the symbol of nature, culture, arts and community interest. The Buddhist temple is the symbol of serious things in life, a reminder of death and the inner life of man."

Mrs. Burns worked with the Red Cross in Japan after the war. She brought to the meeting clothes, pictures, and vases she brought from that country.
