 professionals and the Daily Tar Heel editor, who provoked the bill with an erroneous editorial, changed the bill after it was pointed out that only the elected officials need an all 'C' average and that athletes must have the same standards as all others participating in extra-curriculars."
 "Chancellor House," Peacock said, "closed the matter by stating that he believed the academic requirements for extra-curriculars were sufficiently high."

Non-Partisan Selectors To Chose Council Slate
 The Non-Partisan Selection Board for the selection of candidates for the Student Council will meet this afternoon from 3:15 to 4:15, and tomorrow afternoon from 4 o'clock to 5 p.m.

There are seven seats to be filled, including three women's seats, three at-large seats, and one six-month seat.

Candidates for the Student Council must have attained the status of Junior. All interested persons are urged to appear before the selection board.

'Reddish-Brown' Canine Now Under Observation
 The case of the "bushy-tailed, reddish-brown" dog has been solved, and the beast apprehended.
 Climax in the mystery came when Daily Tar Heel Editor Rolfe Neill wrote that students need not stand by and get bitten, but are entitled to self-protection.
 "Let the cur reform or take cover!" said Neill.
 The cur has been confined. "Sandy", a small dog belonging to Dr. E. H. Hartzell of the Department of English, is now under observation at the Vine Veterinary Hospital on Durham Road.
 "We will hold Sandy for 10 days", said Dr. Vine yesterday. "So far, however, we haven't noticed anything wrong with him."
 Sandy, evidently in a burst of springtime enthusiasm, bit three men last Monday, one of them a Carolina football player. None was reported seriously injured.

Lenten Group
 The Lenten Discussion Group will meet Friday evening at 8:30 in the Episcopal Parish House. It will take the place of the usual Friday open house, and will continue for the remainder of Lent, dealing with different aspects of prayer.

Bible Lecture
 Saturday morning, March 27, at 10 o'clock, Professor A. C. Howell of the English Department will have a lecture-demonstration of historical Bible materials. The public is invited.
