Scholastic Average Of 'B' Is Maintained By Most Of Greeks

Chi Omega Sorority, Zeta Beta Tau Men Lead Other Greek Societies In Grades

In spite of eight o'clocks on Saturday and semester complaints, the majority of Greeks on campus maintained last year's scholastic B-average.

Chi Omega sorority's 2.3678 and Zeta Beta Tau fraternity's 2.4624 averages came out on top in grades for Fall semester.

The Chi O's came up from second place last year, taking the lead from Pi Beta Phi sorority. Zeta Beta Tau, rated seventh last fall, jumped out in front of the fraternities and displaced the ATO's.

Averages are computed on the basis of rosters of membership as submitted by the sororities and fraternities to the Chancellor. Active members and pledges are included. Values for the letter grades are: A—1.00; B—2.00; C—3.00; D—4.00.

Delta Delta Delta sorority, 2.3827, and Pi Beta Phi, 2.3948, were second and third; Alpha Delta Pi was fourth with 2.4140; Kappa Delta fifth with 2.4143; Alpha Gamma Delta sixth with 2.5599. Last year Delta Delta Delta was fifth, Alpha Delta Pi fourth, Kappa Delta third and Alpha Gamma Delta sixth.

Fraternities had a complete turnabout. Phi Delta Theta, twenty-second last fall, came up to second place with a 2.5156 average. Thirteenth last year, the Pi Lambda Phi's, with a 2.5743 average, took third place.

Following the Pi Lambda Phi's were: Delta Upsilon, 2.6725; Tau Epsilon Phi, 2.6758; Beta Theta Pi, 2.7528; Alpha Tau Omega, 2.7962; Kappa Alpha, 2.8964; Zeta Psi, 2.9103; Sigma Chi, 2.9147; Chi Psi, 2.9190.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 2.9192; Sigma Nu, 2.9240; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 3.0158; Phi Kappa Sigma, 3.0187; Pi Kappa Alpha, 3.0680; Kappa Sigma, 3.1061; Chi Phi, 3.1130; Delta Psi, 3.1340.

Phi Gamma Delta, 3.1491; Theta Chi, 3.1803; Delta Kappa Epsilon, 3.2085; Lambda Chi Alpha, 3.3439; and Pi Kappa Phi, 3.5331.

JOHNNY LONG on campus tomorrow

Duke Bandman Johnny Long Will Play Here

Johnny Long, North Carolina native who entered Duke University at the age of seventeen and started a band the same year, will play for Carolina students at a concert and dance sponsored by the Interdormitory Council tomorrow afternoon and night.

Both the concert and dance will be free to students. The concert is scheduled to start at 3 and end at 5 p.m., and the dance will run from 8 p.m. until midnight. The dance, which will be semi-formal, will be held in Woolen Gym.

Long recently played a hotel engagement in New York. Driving through Long Island en route to a performance, he was waved down by a cop, who proceeded to write out a ticket.

Before the summons was handed Long, a police sergeant arrived on the scene and called the arrestor aside for a conference.

In a few moments the two officers turned to Johnny. The sergeant apologized for the delay, explaining that his man had flagged down Johnny by mistake, not realizing he was a member of the United Nations.

The sergeant had noticed the flag on Johnny's windshield, and assumed it was the ensign of one of our friendly nations.

Kerr Scott Can Get Things Done, Stumper Edwards Says In Talk

By Stan Smith

"Kerr Scott, in his four years as governor, demonstrated more than anything else his ability to get things done," said Dan K. Edwards, former mayor of Durham, speaking before the Students for Scott Club last night in Lenoir Hall.

Talking on "What Kerr Scott Can Do in the Senate," he noted that the former governor "will take to Congress a humanitarian approach, an attitude of practicality, honesty, and above all, the courage and ability to fight."

Edwards, who is Scott's campaign manager for Durham County, indicated he knew what he was talking about. He opposed Scott twice in the Legislature, on the issues of public power and rural roads. On the roads question, which was hotly debated, there were just two opposing votes in the final count—and Edwards was one. Scott had won over the rest.

"I don't know what his specific attitude on certain issues will be," he continued, "yet we know what those issues will be. They include international relations, taxation, resources, and public utilities."

"And I'm sure that Scott will use his brand of homespun thinking, backed up by practicality and ability to get things done."

Coed Drinking Decision Still Hanging Sir Roger Makins To Talk Tonight

Subject Of Talk Is Diplomacy's Part In World

Reception To Follow Talk In Hill Hall By British Ambassador

"The Function of Diplomacy in the Modern World" will be the subject of Sir Roger Makins, British Ambassador to the United States, when he speaks in Hill Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Dean of Students Fred Weaver will introduce the speaker.

The British Ambassador's visit here is sponsored by the Carolina Forum, non-partisan student organization. A reception in Graham Memorial will follow his address and the public is invited.

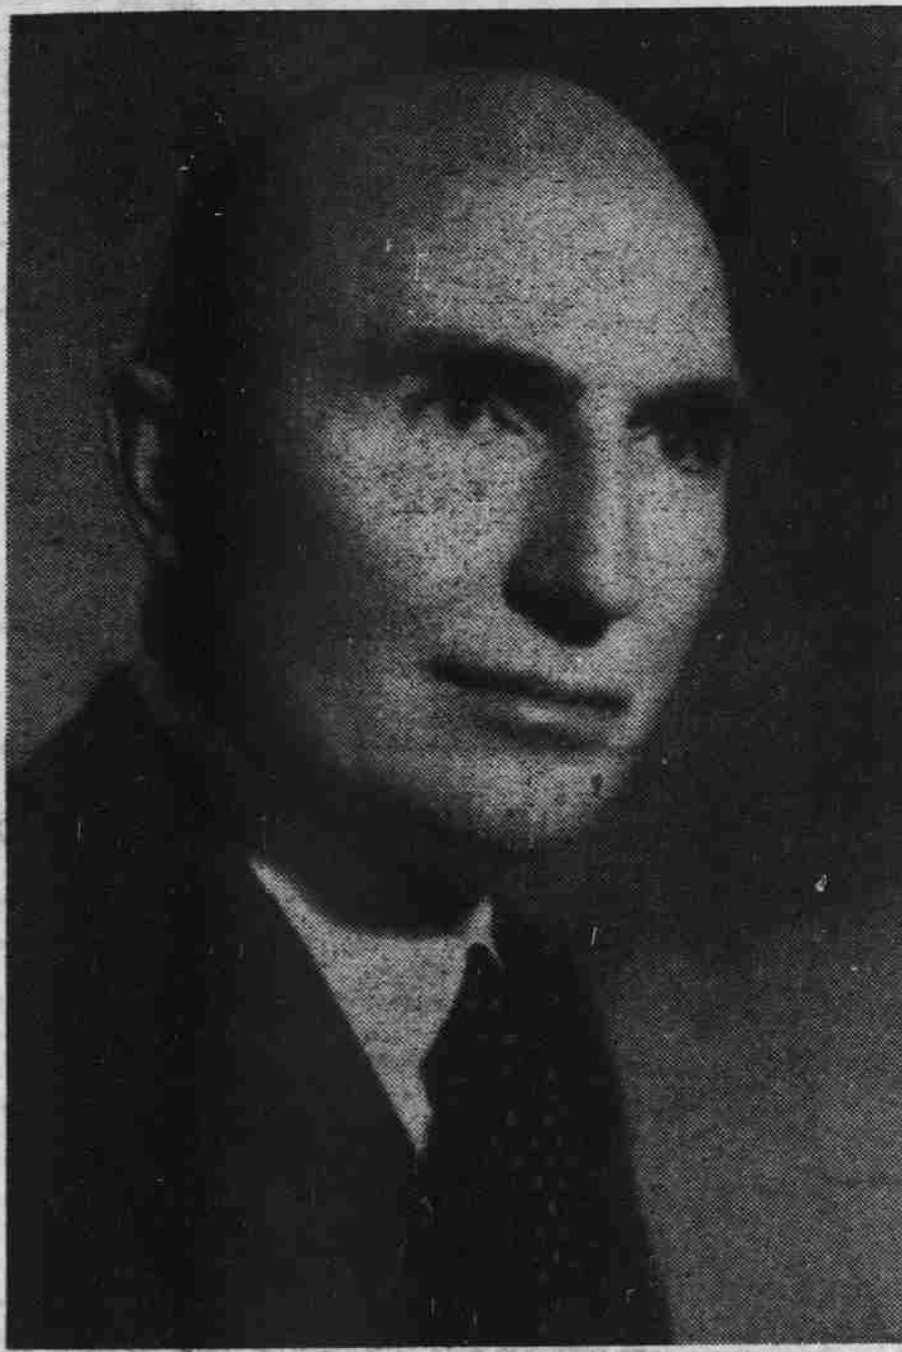

Sir Roger was appointed British Ambassador to the United States in October, 1952, and assumed charge the following January.

In 1928, Sir Roger forsook law for the foreign service. His first overseas post was in Washington, where he served as third, and later second, Secretary from 1931-34. When he left for Oslo he took with him an American wife, Alice, daughter of Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War in President Coolidge's Administration and later Governor-General of the Philippines.

From 1934 to 1942 Sir Roger served at headquarters in the Foreign Office, acting as adviser on League of Nations Affairs, as secretary to the British delegation at the Evian Conference and to the Intergovernmental Committee on Refugees.

In 1942 he was promoted Counselor and posted to the staff of the Resident Minister in West Africa. From 1943 to 1944 he was assistant to the resident minister at Allied Headquarters, Mediterranean Command, first at Algiers and later at Caserta.

At the end of the war, Sir Roger was named Economic Minister in Washington. He returned to the Foreign Office in 1947 and remained based in London for the next five years, first as assistant, then as Deputy Under-Secretary of State, supervising the Economic Departments and later also the North American Department.

New Junior Class Officers Meet Today In Grail Room

Junior class officers will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Grail Room.

51-Year-Old Honorary Society

Golden Fleece Will Tap New Members Monday

The Order of the Golden Fleece, now in its 51st year, is the oldest college honor society to make its tapping in public.

The tapping this year will be held in Memorial Hall on Monday evening, April 12, along with the Valkyrie Sing. Until that time the selections will be secret both to the public and those to be tapped. Also at this time the officers for this year will be announced for the first time to the public.

It was in 1903 that the inspiration for the Order occurred to Dr. Eben Alexander, UNC faculty member who had been tapped as a student at Yale into Skull and Bones. With the collaboration of two other outstanding faculty members, Dr. Edward Kidder Graham and Dr. Horace Williams, the order took in its first 11 members that year.

The Order took its symbolism from the legend of Jason and his quest for the golden fleece, which was suggested by Dr. Alexander, a professor of Greek. This legend was a most appropriate choice and fitted well with the ideals of the Fleece which have continued for a half century.

The first publicly pre-announced tapping was held on April 2, 1914, and the first reunion was held in 1923. The Order taps on the basis of contribution to the campus and University, character, and service. Among the over 500 students tapped in the past have been such men as Governor William B. Umstead, President Gordon Gray, Lt. Gov. Luther B. Hodges, federal circuit Judge John J. Parker, North Carolina Supreme Court Associate Justice William Bobbitt, Kay Kyser, Thomas Wolfe, Chancellor R. B. House, Dr. Frank P. Graham, Dr. Albert Coates, and R. Mayne Albright.

Pair of males opening beer, pouring it into Dixie cups, then blithely walking into Carr Dormitory.

Campused coed commenting, "I wish they would start an H-bomb war; I need some diversion."

Overheard in Y Court: "I'm proud of this F. It's the first one I've gotten by myself."

Coed Visiting Study Started Spring, 1951

Here is the history of attempts to change the fraternity coed visiting agreement:

Negotiations began in the spring of 1951 between the Inter-Fraternity Council and the University administration to bring a new coed visiting agreement into effect.

Those negotiations resulted in an agreement in 1952 which stated that coeds might not drink in fraternity houses or remain in the presence of others who were drinking. That agreement remained in effect until midnight, March 31, when it was revoked by the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Since then, IFC representatives have met twice with Dean of Students Fred Weaver and twice with Dean of Women Students Katherine Carmichael. Two meetings have been held which brought together student body President Bob Gorham's executive council, the IFC executive committee, Dean Weaver and Miss Carmichael, and Dean Weaver's administrative board, which includes faculty members.

After learning of the IFC's action changing the visiting agreement, Dean Weaver issued his statement suspending all visiting in fraternity houses by coeds. The students, while agreeing to support the administration in enforcing the prohibition of coeds from fraternities, decided to stand on the IFC action changing the rule and permitting coeds to drink in fraternity houses.

IDC, Women's Council Plan 'Tennis Ball'

The IDC and the Women's Residence Council are jointly sponsoring an informal "Tennis Ball" on the University tennis courts on April 23 from 9 until 12 p.m.

The courts will be decorated with Chinese lanterns and spotlights, and music for dancing will be furnished by the Graham Memorial Combo. Student entertainment will be furnished during intermission, and refreshments will be served.

Today through Saturday, girls in dormitories and sororities will sign up with their house presidents to attend the dance. Louise Coffey, president of McIver Dorm, will turn the list over to the men's dorms. The men will call up the girls on the list for dates.

The day of the dance there will be a car parade. Ken Penegar is in charge of the parade, and the committee in charge of the dance is headed by Manning Muntzing.

The dance is free of charge to all male dorm residents and to all coeds.

The Count, Basie Band To Play For Pharmacy

All pharmacy students are asked to come by the Pharmacy School to pick up their invitations for the Count Basie dance.

Basie will play for the Pharmacy School's dance the weekend of April 24. The dance will be held in the Naval Armory.

Coed Drinking, Nothing Less, Say Students

Coeds Now Barred From Fraternities; Meetings Continue

By Charles Kuralt

With student leaders holding out for nothing less than coed drinking in fraternity houses and the Administration thus far unyielding, both sides went through another lengthy meeting yesterday with no solution.

So coeds not only can't drink in the fraternity houses at present, they can't even go into one.

The Coed Visiting Agreement, revoked over the weekend by the Dean of Students when he said the students abrogated it by taking for themselves the privilege of mixed drinking, sets the visiting rules for women students in fraternity houses.

The controversy has been brewing since April 1, when student President Bob Gorham presented to the Administration a statement passed by the Inter-Fraternity Council revoking parts of the Visiting Privileges Agreement.

"Women students," the statement said, "will now be allowed to drink in fraternity houses with fraternity men."

An addition to the visiting agreement put fraternity men and women students on their honor to report violations of "acceptable social conduct" and made violations by fraternities subject to IFC Court jurisdiction.

The student leaders have stood fast on their action. A spokesman for the students said yesterday, "We will not use the old agreement in any way, shape, or form."

The student spokesman, who asked that he not be named, said, however, that the students agree that the final decision on the matter lies with the faculty, and that further conferences on a new agreement will be directed toward finding "something that will be agreeable to students and faculty alike."

Yesterday's meeting yielded nothing concrete. The two sides will meet again later this week for more negotiation. Meanwhile, coeds may not set foot on fraternity property.

Dean Weaver said last night any public statement from him might be "prejudicial," since negotiations are still going on. There is no indication whether or not the Administration is willing to permit coed drinking in any form.

The independent action by the IFC, student leaders maintain, was not a hasty move. They point to years of negotiation of the matter of coed drinking and seem agreed that the best chance of an eventual agreement on drinking by women students in fraternity houses lies through independent action.

Dean Weaver's contrary opinion strongly stresses the view that Administration approval is necessary to change the coed visiting rule.

Special permission—after South Building had revoked the agreement—was granted last weekend to two campus fraternities which had planned to hold parties under the revised rule. Theta Chi fraternity had coed drinking in the fraternity house Saturday afternoon. The Administration specified that chaperones be present, and the fraternity complied. Phi Gamma Delta fraternity also held a scheduled party with coeds present.

All groups represented in the series of conferences are agreed that a satisfactory settlement of the matter will be made.

But nobody has a guess as to when. And there is yet no glimmer of the nature of a possible compromise.
