Sig Chi, McIver, Mangum And Tri D's Win Sing

Salute To America, Crap Game Are Two Of Winning Skits

By Tom Clark

Tri Delts' "Alice in Wonderland," McIver's forlorn girls, Mangum's "oldest established permanent floating crap game in New York," and Sigma Chi's salute to America, took first place in each of their divisions to win the annual Valkyrie Sing last night in Memorial Hall.

The Tri Delts' combined the talents of jesters, rabbits, kittens, madhatters, rats, and footmen in an appeal to Alice and the judges to enter Wonderland.

The girls of McIver confessed to being 'forlorn' and begged

"Just give us a chance. Just give us a chance."

That girl at W.C., Leave her! Remember the girls at McIver, Just give us a chance, boys, just give us a chance."

Mangum took a three tune melody from the score of "Guys and Dolls" to cop their first place cup. The medley included "The Guy's Only Doing It for Some Doll" and "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat."

The Sigma Chi's won with a 20-voice chorus singing "Dixie," "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah," and "This Is My Country."

Honorable mention went to Theta Chi, Alpha Delta Pi, and Alpha Gamma Delta.

Other entrants were Pi Beta Phi's "Tar Heel Springtime," Kappa Delta's "Out of This World," Chi Omega's "Trains," and Aycock Dormitory's Lesson in Shakespeare.

China, Japan Forum Topic

A panel consisting of Dr. John Chu of China and Taketo (Mike) Furuhashi of Japan will discuss "China and Japan" tonight in Lenoir Hall between 5:30 and 7:00 p.m. The Supper Forum will be moderated by Bill Lofquist.

Dr. Chu has been in the U.S. for six years. He is now working as a Research Associate in the Statistics Department of the University. He will talk on the history of the Communist movement in China.

Furuhashi has been in the U.S. for a year and a half and is working for his M.B.A. in the University Business School. His topic will be post-war Japan.

Anyone who is interested in attending the forum is requested to go through the line in Lenoir Hall and carry his tray upstairs.

Students Say Three In Room Too Crowded

By Stan Smith

Rub-a-dub-dub, three men in a dorm room. How would you like it? Men in six University dorms—Alexander, Steele, Grimes, Whitehead, Old East, and Old West—are asking this question, and deciding they don't like the recent Housing Department ruling for three men in a room.

The rooms would be much too crowded, claims Alexander Dorm president, Bill Woosley. "It would almost be worse than solitary confinement."

He pointed out that some of the rooms in his dorm have only one closet, others are crowded with only two roommates.

"You can have this room—we're getting the hell out!" added another Alexander resident.

Opinion in Grimes was about the same. Dorm president Steve Franks plans to write a letter to Housing Director J. E. Wadsworth, possibly including a petition from the dorm members.

"Too, it would almost split up the law students body over here," he said, noting that over half of the Grimes residents are in law school. Several indicate they will leave because of the new ruling.

Opinion wasn't completely against the new change. Jake Tedder, transfer student living in Old East, has lived under the three-man system before, and finds "you like it once you get used to it: The rooms over here are plenty big."

John Ormand, med student from Whitehead, agreed. Jack Lewis, living in Steele, did too.

The new ruling was announced by the Housing Office last week, and added that increased enrollment was the probable cause.

Even so, students wonder—three men in a tub??

A New Old Well

By James Wright

Grass has been planted, and even azalea plants are blooming in some places where only a few weeks ago workmen were turning up earth by the steamshovels full.

With the exception of Mr. Morehead's parking lot at the side of his Planetarium, spring renovating projects around campus are moving into their final stages.

Landscaping has been practically completed around the Old Well, and now about the only thing lacking is the "new Old Well"—according to J. S. Bennett, director of operations, that should be here this summer.

The new well will be little different from the present one, Bennett said, but it will be a permanent structure "for the next hundred years." The base and steps will be of granite instead of the present concrete—which is slowly disintegrating into many pieces.

The roof will be of copper instead of the present "tar-paper," and will shine like a new penny for a few months, but it will eventually weather into a dark brownish-green. The posts and trimmings will again be of wood. When the new well has been completed, the graveled area around it will be bricked.

Evergreens, as well as red, pink, and white azaleas, have been planted along the walkways around the well to add their color to the white dogwoods already there. Grass has been planted, and Ben-

Runoff Vote Today For Council Seats

Students will go to the polls today to vote in the runoff election for chairman of the Women's Residence Council, two Men's Council seats, and two Women's Council seats.

Polls open at 9 o'clock this morning and close at 6 o'clock this evening. Students vote at the same places as in the main election last Tuesday.

Ruth Jones and Joyce Sparger will be in the runoff for Women's Residence Council chairman.

Dick Baker and Charles Katzenstein will compete for the junior seat on the Men's Council, and Quincy Ayscue and Luther Hodges will be in the runoff for sophomore seat.

Babbie DiIorio, Dottie Figel, Betsy Goodwin, and Ann Shannonhouse will compete for two senior seats on the Women's Council.

Voting in runoff elections is generally light, but the Elections Board said yesterday it hoped for a larger turnout in today's election.

Miss Jones, with 224 votes, had the most votes for the Women's Residence Council chairmanship last week. Miss Sparger won 181 votes. Phyllis Shepherd, who was eliminated, polled 104 votes.

Katzenstein, with 744 votes, had the most votes for the Men's Council junior seat. Baker polled 622 votes: Don Huntington, 210 votes, and Charles Vincent, 474 votes, were eliminated.

Hodges had the most votes for the Men's Council sophomore seat with 834 votes. Ayscue had 521 votes. Perky Hayes, 247 votes, and Ed Hudgins, 445 votes, were eliminated.

Miss DiIorio and Miss Figel won most votes for the senior Women's Council seats, polling 239 and 190 votes respectively. Miss Goodwin had 177 votes.

Students Are Kuralt, Jordan, Gurley, Horton, Creasy, McLeod, Cook, Likins, Lowet, Myers, Adams and Browne

Because of their character and contributions to the campus and University, 12 students were tapped last night into the Order of the Golden Fleece, highest men's honorary at Carolina.

Tapped for his service as an alumnus was John Motley Morehead. He was not present.

Students taken into the order were James Ervin Adams Jr., Warrenton; Herbert Howard Browne Jr., Columbia, S. C.; Thomas Eugene Cook, Fayetteville; Thomas Claiborne Creasy Jr., Gretna, Va.; Walter Dallas Gurley Jr., Goldsboro; Phineas Edgar Horton III, Winston-Salem.

Lemuel Russell Jordan, Smithfield; Charles Bishop Kuralt, Charlotte; Paul Ross Likins, Elkhart, Ind.; Henry Augustus Lowet, Winston-Salem; George Holliday McLeod, Florence, S.C., and Kenneth Morton Myers, Coral Gables, Fla.

Also announced last night were the officers for the Order during the past year. Their names are secret while they serve and are revealed at the tapping each spring. They were Ken Penegar, Gastonia, N.C.; Thad Seymour, Chapel Hill, hyparchos; Rolfe Neill, Chapel Hill, grammateus, and Jim Haney, Winston-Salem, christopher.

The ceremony was an impressive one. The heavy strains of Wagner's "Rhine Journey" played throughout the proceedings, which began in Memorial Hall just after the doors closed at 7:30. The students were tapped by one of two Fleece giants who, robed and hooded in black, stalked through the audience. As the student was tapped, a citation was read over the loudspeaker enumerating his contributions.

The tapping lasted for about 45 minutes. Afterwards, a banquet was held for the new members of the Order in the Carolina Inn where they, on-campus members of the Order, and about 30 alumni members, were addressed by R. Mayne Albright, Raleigh attorney.

Coed Visiting Confab Today

With coed visiting in fraternity houses now suspended for 11 days, student, faculty, and administrative negotiators will meet again this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Carroll Hall to continue work on a revised visiting agreement.

The question of coed drinking is the main point of contention in the negotiations. This is the fourth such meeting held.

Since suspension on April 3, six fraternities have had coeds visiting in their houses. But this was a temporary privilege extended only because the affected fraternities had scheduled big social events for the weekend before the agreement was broken. To get the privilege the fraternities had to obtain individual approval from the Administration and approved chaperones had to be present. No alcoholic beverages could be consumed by anyone, female or male.

Last Issue Tomorrow

Tomorrow's Daily Tar Heel will be the last for a week, while students are on spring vacation. The first issue will be next Wednesday morning, April 21. Copy deadline today is 3 p.m. For next week's first issue the deadline will be the same time—3 p.m.—and the same day—Tuesday.

Fountain's Got It; But Has He? Legal Snag Hit

President-elect Tom Creasy announced yesterday that he would appoint Jim Fountain head cheerleader, but there was still some question whether Fountain was technically qualified.

Fountain was on the ballot but had to be disqualified because he didn't have the required academic average of "C" for the previous three grading periods. In announcing the appointment yesterday, Creasy said that "an overall 'C average'" was required of an appointee.

Meantime, Elections Board Chairman Graham Rights pointed out that he didn't know whether Fountain could be appointed. If anyone challenges the appointment, and it may be challenged, the Student Council will have the final say so.

Fountain will be officially appointed by Creasy on the date of the new president's inauguration (April 28), Creasy said.

Confusion over the legality of Fountain's appointment yesterday seemed to center around a part of the Elections Law which says, in effect, that appointees must meet the same qualifications as nominees. However, it was not certain whether this applied to the office of head cheerleader.

"I think Jim's qualifications speak for themselves," declared Creasy. "He had an excellent program this past fall. I haven't seen such a large display of spirit since I've been here. And it was due largely to his efforts. I'm sure the student body can look forward to one of the best years, as far as school spirit is concerned, that we've ever had."

Assuming that Fountain's appointment is legal, it still has to be approved by the student Legislature. But, since leaders of the majority Student Party have already indicated they favor Fountain, that step will be little more than a technicality.

Several other technical points came up yesterday in considering the legality of the appointment that caught some politicians with their constitutional pants down.

The Elections Laws, for instance, don't specifically provide for the appointment of a cheerleader.

Another clause in the student constitution describing the president's appointment powers says that the president may appoint "an attorney-general and such assistants as he shall deem necessary."

No provision for special elections in the Elections Laws specifically refers to the head cheerleader.

Aviation Selection Team Will Be Here Next Week

Representatives of the 304th Aviation Cadet Selection Detachment will be on campus April 20, 21, and 22 to talk to men who are interested in being a pilot or an aircraft observer in the Air Force.

To meet the minimum standards a man must be single, between the ages of 19 and 26½, and be a high school graduate.

Du Pont Offers Science, Math Fellowships

Two fellowships, worth $1,200 plus tuition and fees for the 1954-55 academic year, have just been made available by du Pont de Nemours and Company to qualified graduate students preparing to teach or already teaching science and mathematics in secondary schools. Dean Guy B. Phillips of the School of Education announced this week.

Any student in any college prepared to teach these subjects who will receive a bachelor's degree in June, 1954, or who has been teaching these subjects in a high school for not more than one year, will be eligible to apply for the du Pont fellowships, Dean Phillips said.

The two candidates winning the scholarships will be eligible to pursue courses in the departments of mathematics and sciences, by special arrangements made between the School of Education and those departments.

The du Pont de Nemours Committee on Fellowships and Grants is already reviewing applications made at this University for 12 such awards, worth $225 plus tuition and fees, covering the 1954 Summer School session. The fellowships just announced are in addition to the summer offerings.

Law Students Choose Byrd

Bob Byrd, second year law student from Morgantown, has been elected president of the University Law School Association for next year.

Other officers elected were Al House, Hobgood, vice-president; Bob Windsor, Winston-Salem, secretary; and Jule Rousseau, North Wilkesboro, treasurer.

Lou Bleasoe of Huntsville, Alabama, was elected Chief Justice of the Honor Court. Ed Washington, Chapel Hill, and Dan Perry, Kinston, were elected to the court.

Senior Law Class officers elected were Roy Hall, president; Pete Kalogridis, vice-president; Ben Perry, secretary; and Horace DuBose, treasurer.

Van Tho Says Viet Namees Seek Freedom

Viet Nam—the possible successor to Korea as another United Nations "police action"—is "caught between the colonialism of France and the colonialism of Soviet Russia."

The speaker was Dr. Phillip Van Tho, general secretary of the Catholic Action group in Viet Nam; his audience was the Newman Club Sunday night.

Dr. Van Tho said that "the Viet Namees people seek a way out to independence. Colonialism and Communism share the same founding principle: exploitation of the masses."

He further related his experiences with the "clever techniques of Communist infiltration and propaganda." In his position he said that he was subjected to the "skillful logic of the Communists," who entered his homeland when the Japanese were defeated in 1945, as they attempted to persuade him that Communism and Christianity were both founded on love, and were both working for the "good of mankind."

He said that religious persecution soon followed this "bright proposition"—he was imprisoned and then released to fight against the French whose forces he later joined as "the lesser of two evils."

Dr. Van Tho went on to outline the "intentions of the French Government, citing their refusal to grant independence, and to recruit a Viet Namee army."

A 60-DAY deferment for UNC student James L. "Jippy" Carter led to the resignation of the entire Mecklenburg County Draft Board because of "political pressure" last week. Carter said that he didn't know "anything about political pressure" concerning his deferment. Carter, a basketball player, is from Charlotte.—AP Wirephoto.

Di Will Debate Tonight Congress Over Courts

A bill to allow Congress, by a two-thirds majority, to override a Supreme Court decision declaring an act of Congress unconstitutional will be debated by the Dialectic Senate tonight at 8 o'clock in Di Hall.

Landscaping Near Completion; Azaleas Bloom

Grass has been planted, and even azalea plants are blooming in some places where only a few weeks ago workmen were turning up earth by the steamshovels full.

With the exception of Mr. Morehead's parking lot at the side of his Planetarium, spring renovating projects around campus are moving into their final stages.

The posts and trimmings will again be of wood. When the new well has been completed, the graveled area around it will be bricked.

Evergreens, as well as red, pink, and white azaleas, have been planted along the walkways around the well to add their color to the white dogwoods already there. Grass has been planted, and Bennett says that, barring bad weather, it should be up within the next four or five days.

Work is just about finished on the heating tunnel, which cut the campus with a trench running from Lenoir Hall to the Planetarium. The overhead pipe by Carr Dormitory will come down, and the power lines there will be placed underground.

"A major revolution," as Mr. Bennett called it, is taking place in front of the medical and dental schools. Old trees are coming down and new ones are going up; brick walks are to be built, and the whole area is to be landscaped. The State Highway Department is also widening the highway in front of the hospital.

Work continues on the parking lot at the side of the Morehead Planetarium. Elisha Mitchell's rock wall is being rebuilt; workmen are using the same stones gathered in 1838 by the dignified old University scientist who gave his name to the famous mountain in western North Carolina.

Bennett said that in the center of the parking lot there will be a garden with diagonal brick walks, shrubs, and probably a sun-dial. The drives will be black-topped as soon as the Easter planetarium shows are over.

The parking lot project is a gift to the University by John Motley Morehead, class of 1891.
