

WEATHER

Warmer with some cloudiness and a high of 79 today. Yesterday's high, 72; low, 57.

The Daily Tar Heel

INDOCHINA
The editor thinks about a far-away place today; yet, it's so near. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXII NUMBER 190

Complete Photo and Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, MAY 9, 1954

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES TODAY

Postponed Rushing Will Be Discussed

Students Are Invited To SP Policy Meeting To Decide On Motion To Delay Rushing

Delayed fraternity rushing will be the topic for discussion tomorrow night when the Student Party meets in the first in a series of policy meetings. The meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m.

During the last week, Charles Dean, chairman of a special SP committee, has been holding open hearings on the topic and will present his report at the meeting tomorrow, along with a recommended policy statement. A vote of the members will be taken and, according to SP chairman Joel Fleishman, efforts will be made to carry out whatever decision is reached.

Fraternity representatives were invited to a SP meeting last Thursday to express their views on the delayed rushing question. Speakers reported the InterFraternity Council had "voted unanimously against the motion," that other schools, working under the system, had found it "no good," and that "there is no pressure for freshmen to join fraternities."

Tomorrow's discussion will be the first of several policy meetings which will be continued through next year. All meetings will be open to interested persons. Fraternities now rush for members about three to four weeks after the fall semester begins. Delayed rushing would postpone the season.

The SP, Fleishman said earlier this week, will go into "over 90 problem areas" of student activities and fraternity rushing.

Fifth Birthday Of Planetarium Is Tomorrow

The $3,000,000 Morehead Building observes its fifth birthday anniversary Monday.

A total of 532,000 persons have visited the Planetarium since it was formally dedicated on May 10, 1949.

The Morehead Building, with its Zeiss Planetarium, one of the six in the United States, and art and scientific galleries, is the showplace of Chapel Hill and houses the University's official reception rooms.

Donor of the structure is John Motley Morehead, member of the class of 1891, an internationally known industrialist, engineer, philanthropist and former Minister to Sweden. A native of Spray, he is the grandson and namesake of the first John Motley Morehead, twice governor of North Carolina.

The Planetarium is a monstrous 15-foot metal complicated mechanism of 250 individual stereopticons.

JOSEPH FUCHS
...for tomorrow, violin

Phipps Sings Tonight At 8; Fuchs Concert Is Tomorrow

Carolina students are in for two days of music today and tomorrow.

Graham Memorial will present David Phipps, a baritone from Durham, in the second of its "petites musicales" tonight at 8 o'clock in the main lounge. Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the Student Entertainment Committee will present Joseph Fuchs, violinist, in a recital in Memorial Hall.

Phipps will sing tonight three arias, Handel's "Where'er You Walk," "Ombra Mai Fu" from Serse, and "Chanson Bacchique," from Hamlet by Thomas. Also on the program are two religious selections from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," a group of folk songs including "I Wonder As I Wander," and "The Jolly Miller," and selections from three Broadway hit musicals.

He will be accompanied by Ronald Andrews at the piano.

Yesterday morning in GM's main lounge, Phipps ran through an impromptu concert as about a half dozen students lounged around. He sang for about an hour, evidently prepping for tonight.

Fuchs' violin program will be divided into four sections. The first will include Adagio in E Major and Rondo in C Major, both by Mozart.

Second will be Chaconne from Partita in D minor by Bach. Third Fuchs will play Sonata (1917) by Debussy, followed by intermission. The last number on the program is Sonata in A major by Franck. He will be accompanied by Brooks Smith at the piano.

DAVID PHIPPS
...for today, baritone

Sig Chi Annal Derby To Be Held Thursday

Sigma Chi Fraternity will present an afternoon of fun in the form of its annual "Sigma Chi Derby" Thursday afternoon in Kenan Stadium.

Topping it off will be a beauty contest at which "Miss Modern Venus of 1954" will be selected and crowned. Judges for the contest will be Coaches George Barclay and Bill Meade, and Vic Huggins, E. C. Smith, and Crowell Little, Chapel Hill businessmen.

Preceding the program in Kenan Stadium will be a parade, beginning at 2 p.m. at the Morehead Building which will proceed to the stadium. The parade will feature the Lincoln High School Negro Band, and Miss Modern Venus candidates who will ride in open convertibles. Sigma Chi's and coeds will march in the parade.

A large paper mache hat carried by a couple of fraternity members will head the parade.

Other events on the program will include the "Grand National" relay, involving six coeds; a "race to the flesh," featuring coeds in a strip tease beginning with fur coats and ending in bathing suits; a pie-throwing contest called "Hit the Geek," and original skits by the various teams participating. Door prizes will be given away at the Derby.

The committee on arrangements is composed of Toy Gregory, Lancaster, S. C.; Henry Lomax, and Claude Plumlee, Charlotte.

Dr. C. K. Cheng, on sabbatical leave from the University of Hawaii, will give a first session summer school course on the social and political trends of modern China.

The course will be numbered political science-sociology 120 and will be taught at 10:30 a.m. A joint announcement of the course was made yesterday by Drs. Lee M. Brooks and C. B. Robson, chairman of the Political Science and Sociology Departments, respectively.

"Dr. Cheng," says Dr. Brooks, "is an author and lecturer of note. In scholarship, in clarity of oral and written English, he holds an enviable place in his special field as well as in the larger concerns of political science and sociology."

Dr. Brooks added: "With the Orient such a dynamic area today, here is a real opportunity for students."

Dr. Cheng's teaching experience includes several Chinese universities and the University of Washington. "In big and little places throughout the state of Washington in the 1940's he was in great demand as teacher and lecturer," Dr. Brooks said.

Dr. Brooks himself was a colleague of Dr. Cheng when the Carolina professor was on visiting professorships at Washington in 1945 and Hawaii in 1947-48.

Three High School Seniors Get Four-Year UNC Scholarships

Scholarships to the University have been awarded to three high school seniors who will enter the freshman class in the fall.

The Andrew Bershak Interfraternity scholarship, valued at $2,000 for four scholastic years, was awarded Michele Laren Barringer of Newton. Charles Norman Cross of Statesville received the Monogram Club's scholarship valued at $1,200 for a four-year period. The third winner is James Beam Slaughter of Longhurst, who was awarded the Marvin B. Smith Jr. Memorial Scholarship providing $1,600 covering a four-year tenure.

The Bershak scholarship is made possible through contributions from members of the various social fraternities on the campus and is presented by the Interfraternity Council in memory of Carolina's All-American football star and co-captain of the 1937 team, who died in 1943.

L to R: BARRINGER, SLAUGHTER, & CROSS
...winners of University scholarships

Cross' Monogram Club Scholarship provides $300 annually. The club, with proceeds from its annual Blue-White football game during the spring football practice, established the scholarship for entering freshmen for the purpose of stimulating interest in athletics.

The Smith scholarship is made each year to "an outstanding North Carolina graduating high school boy who plans to educate himself for a business career but who is partially dependent on his own efforts to secure his education." The scholarship was established in 1946 in memory of Marvin B. Smith Jr., class of '26, by his parents, Mrs. Smith, the late Mr. Smith, his sister Alyce and brother Harold, all of Burlington.

Hawaiian Prof Coming Here This Summer

Dr. C. K. Cheng, on sabbatical leave from the University of Hawaii, will give a first session summer school course on the social and political trends of modern China.

The course will be numbered political science-sociology 120 and will be taught at 10:30 a.m.

A joint announcement of the course was made yesterday by Drs. Lee M. Brooks and C. B. Robson, chairman of the Political Science and Sociology Departments, respectively.

"Dr. Cheng," says Dr. Brooks, "is an author and lecturer of note. In scholarship, in clarity of oral and written English, he holds an enviable place in his special field as well as in the larger concerns of political science and sociology."

Dr. Brooks added: "With the Orient such a dynamic area today, here is a real opportunity for students."

Dr. Cheng's teaching experience includes several Chinese universities and the University of Washington. "In big and little places throughout the state of Washington in the 1940's he was in great demand as teacher and lecturer," Dr. Brooks said.

Dr. Brooks himself was a colleague of Dr. Cheng when the Carolina professor was on visiting professorships at Washington in 1945 and Hawaii in 1947-48.

Fancy Models On View Today At Auto Show

By LESLIE SCOTT

Sport cars seem to be the order of the day around Chapel Hill lately and these fantastic little runabouts will be featured in a sport car show this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in the parking lot behind Carr Dorm.

Several of the popular MG-TD's will be on display and although they appear identical externally, they differ in internal design. At one time, the MG-TD was outstanding on the track in its class, but it has since been replaced by the Italian Siata.

In the higher price field, the Jaguar is the most popular. Winner of last year's Le Mans race, the Jaguar is famous for its sleek lines, high speeds, and racing endurance. Such models as the XK-120 and the Mark VII will be open for inspection at the show.

The secret to the success of these sports cars lies in their cornering ability. Their leaf springs and low center of gravity make them nearly impossible to turn over. They slide for a good long time before they will turn over. Also, the four-speed shift and tight steering aid in keeping the car under control at all times.

Dr. Woodhouse Has 2 Classes This Summer

The Department of Political Science and Office of Director of the Summer Session announced yesterday that Prof. Edward J. Woodhouse will teach in the second term of Summer Session.

Professor Woodhouse is scheduled to retire in June of this year after 30 years of teaching in the University but will be recalled from retirement for the period from July 19 to August 25. He will teach the course in Political Parties and Electoral Problems in the United States (Political Science 175) to be given at 7:30 each morning, and Processes and Problems of Government in the United States (Political Science 42) scheduled for 10:30 each morning.

The emergency which required the recall of Professor Woodhouse from retirement is caused by two members of the department who have recently received research assignments which make it necessary to relieve them of summer teaching.

Associate Professor Frederic N. Cleveland will direct a project supported by the National Science Foundation to study the research activities of agencies of state governments throughout the United States. Dr. Robert E. Agger has been invited to participate in a seminar in Political Behavior Research at the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan.

This seminar is supported by the Social Science Research Council with funds received from the Ford Foundation.

Professor Woodhouse will take over two of the summer classes vacated by the absence of Professor Cleveland and Dr. Agger, i.e., Political Science 175 and Political Science 42. It has been necessary to cancel the course in Recent National Policy and Administration (Political Science 181) scheduled to be taught at 12 o'clock each day.

Wilkerson Orgon Recital Is Tonight In Hill Hall

Leo Wilkerson, organist at the Chapel of the Cross, will present an organ recital in Hill Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Wilkerson, from Mebane, is a junior and a business administration major here. Since entering the University, he has been a student of Dr. Jan Schinham of the Department of Music.

The Turtle Says: 'We Hate Fred'

Weaver Effigy Burned By 50 Fraternity Men

Dean of Students Fred H. Weaver was burned in the form of a crude straw effigy about 3 o'clock yesterday morning in Big Fraternity Court.

The act apparently was to indict the dean for the Administration's role in the current coed visiting-drinking snafu.

The effigy was soaked in flammable liquid and burned while about 50 fraternity men milled around. The boys were unaware that their victim had little chance of seeing himself ridiculed since he no longer lives in Abernethy Hall—just across South Columbia St. from Big Fraternity Court.

Howell Lectures Tomorrow On 'A Doctor Looks At Religion'

"A Doctor Looks at Religion" will be the topic of Dr. A. C. Howell's Humanities Lecture tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Gerrard Hall.

Dr. Howell, a member of the English Department, will center his lecture on Sir Thomas Browne's book, "Religio Medici." Howell is considered an authority on Browne. He will also discuss earlier physicians back to Galen, Fernel, and Carden, as well as the later physicians Osler and Finney who have written on religious matters.

A graduate of Denison University, Dr. Howell holds degrees from Columbia University and Carolina. He has been a member of the University faculty since 1920. He has served as secretary of the faculty for the past 10 years.

The University Library has arranged an exhibit in the main lobby by made up of rare editions and illustrative materials about Browne and other medical men who will be discussed in the talk.

DR. A. C. HOWELL
...doctor on religion

Wingfield Due Wednesday For Talk Here

Senatorial aspirant Alvin Wingfield of Charlotte has accepted the UNC Young Republican Club's invitation to speak at the University.

In a telephone call to David Munday, acting club president, Wingfield yesterday expressed "his appreciation for the fairness exhibited," Munday said. "This is a man bites dog affair," the candidate said, according to Munday.

Wingfield promised a 30-minute speech on the "American Two-Party System," the speech "being written by myself." There will be a question and answer session after the speech. Said Candidate Wingfield, "I once volunteered to answer any and all questions, but that lasted until 3:30 in the morning."

The speech is scheduled for 8 o'clock this Wednesday evening, meeting place yet undetermined.

Tomorrow Final Date For Carnival Entries

Tomorrow is the last day for entrance blanks and fees for the University Club Spring Carnival, slated to be held next Friday on Navy Field, to be turned in.

Fraternities, sororities, and dorms may enter separately or together, but only two may combine.

Armstrong Serves Up Hot Jazz With Smile To Rock, Delight Memorial Hall Concert Crowd

By JERRY REECE

It was jazz with a chuckle and a grin yesterday afternoon, and "King Louis the Great" had it to spare.

Playing to a completely packed and frantic Memoria Hall, Satchmo and company literally had them rolling in the aisles.

After opening up with their traditional theme, "Sleepy Time Down South," the jazzers swung right into "Back Home Again In Indiana" with a dixieland beat. From that point on the concert was "gone."

Armstrong continued with two of his favorite recordings, "A Kiss To Build A Dream On," and "Blueberry Hill." Then, breaking all concert tradition, Louis and three of his boys left the stage, leaving only the clarinet man, Barnie Bigard, and drummer Kenny John.

The crowd seemed a little awed at this and Barnie soon gave it reason to be. He blew some of the hottest and sweetest licks to be heard in the old hall for a long time.

After Louis had warmed up the crowd, he called on "little" Velma Middleton, 200 pounds of voice and personality. She scattered her way thru one number, then she and Satchmo teamed up on "Baby It's Cold Outside."

As the curtain closed on Armstrong and company for intermission, Satchmo gave the last note a final accent and let out an easily audible chuckle. The other members of the band grinned back at their leader, and it was obvious that they were all enjoying it as much as the audience.

A boy with a crew-cut wearing Bermuda shorts pushed his way backstage to "get Louie's autograph," a blonde who looked like Marilyn Monroe rustled through the crowd in a starched white dress trying to get a glimpse of the trumpet king, and a dozen photographers crowded around the musicians.

After intermission the combo (6 pieces) got down to the business of playing "old style" dixieland. The group gave its interpretation of a New Orleans funeral and then played approximately eight choruses of "The Saints." Louis and Velma teamed up on one more number and that was the concert—the most to say at the least.