

Tar Heels In Excellent Shape After State Victory

Dressen Is Named Senator Manager

Charlie Dressen, former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is the newly-named manager of the Washington Senators, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement came as no surprise. It has been rumored for some time the 55-year-old veteran was going to replace Bucky Harris at the helm of the Senators.

No salary was announced, but it was estimated to be about $40,000 a year plus a bonus based on attendance.

Dressen's return to the big leagues came only one year after he relinquished the reins of the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers for a managerial post with Oakland of the Pacific Coast League.

The veteran Californian did right well with the Acorns. He took a seventh place club and raised it to third. He then won the PCL's playoff championship.

Dressen's parting with the Dodgers after winning two straight pennants was one of the major news stories and surprises of 1953.

After losing to the Yankees in the World Series for the second straight year, Dressen insisted on a long-term contract of two or three years. President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers stood pat on a one-year offer. They couldn't agree and Dressen quit the club on Oct. 14.

The appointment was announced by Calvin Griffith, vice president of the Senators.

Dressen said he had four propositions during the year from major league clubs and finally settled on the Senators Saturday. He did not say who the others were.

Calvin Griffith said Clark Griffith would be in New York tonight or tomorrow and the three will sit down and talk over plans for the team.

Keller To Be Set For Tulane

Green Wave Has Top Guards In Southeast

By LARRY SAUNDERS

With one down and nine to go, Carolina's undefeated Tar Heels began practice yesterday for their encounter with Tulane at New Orleans next Saturday.

The entire squad is in fine shape after their 20-6 win over N. C. State. Only Ken Keller, who saw limited action Saturday because of his badly sprained ankle, was not fully dressed yesterday. However, Coach George Barclay and Trainer Fritz Lutz feel certain that Keller will be in good shape for the Tulane clash.

Monday's workout was rather light with the first and second teams running through plays and taking wind sprints. The third squad, however, scrimmaged the frosh and showed up well, with Don Lear breaking away for several nice gains from his fullback post. Freshman Buddy Payne was a standout defensive end, breaking through the varsity offense to smear backs on several occasions.

"We'll spend most of the week working on our blocking and tackling," Barclay commented. "I believe that we were rather weak on them." The Carolina mentor also felt that the Tar Heels did not take advantage of State's mistakes.

Carolina fans watched something new Saturday afternoon. Tar Heel quarterbacks Marshall Newman and Len Bullock threw 15 passes and completed eight, more than any other Barclay coached team has ever done. "You can bet we'll be throwing the ball a lot from now on," Barclay told reporters.

The Tar Heel coach had special praise for the defensive work of Guard Bill Koman and the fine all-around play of end Will Frye and fullback Don Klochak. He said, "In Klochak I think I have solved my fullback problem."

Freshman Coach Ralph Floyd, who has scouted Tulane in their loss to Georgia Tech and their tie with Memphis State, believes that the Tar Heels will have their hands full next Saturday. "Tulane has a fine team, a lot better than most people around here believe, and they have one of the finest lines in the Southeastern Conference. Guards Tony Sardisco and Bryan Burnthorne are the best in their conference," Floyd related.

Contrary to local belief, Floyd emphasizes the fact that Memphis State has a fine team and Tulane's tie to that school was no disgrace. The Green Wave runs from the split-T formation and have a couple of fine backs in quarterback Earl Hubley and fullback Bobby Sala.

DON KLOCHAK solves the fullback problem.

Trio Of Starters Back In '54 Folk

By BERNIE WEISS

Three starters from last year's team will return for action with the 1954-55 edition of the North Carolina basketball squad, according to an early report from Coach Frank McGuire.

The returnees are Al Lifson, Jerry Vayda and Paul Likens. Vayda, a junior, was named to the all-star team of the Atlantic Coast Conference last season. Lifson and Likens are seniors and will be closing out their careers.

The team will be an improvement over last year's outfit, which won only 11 of 21 games. "We were lucky to finish better than .500 with that team against the competition we played," said McGuire. "This year will see an improvement, but not to the extent that we will regularly beat teams which have been in business all these years."

Practice sessions will not begin until the first of November. Until that time McGuire can only sit and speculate, although his players are getting into playing condition on their own time.

Tony Radovich and Jerry McCabe will also be returning from last year's varsity. Up from the freshman squad will be Lennie Rosenbluth, the talk of the Conference after his frosh debut. (Two junior college graduates now attending Carolina, Hillard Greene, who played for Chowan for two years, and Ollie Harrell, of Campbell Junior College, will also be available.

Five other cagers who will probably see some varsity action are Richard Ward, Buddy Clark, Willis Henderson, Frank Goodwin and Ed Sutton, all of whom played for the frosh.

One question is the situation of Joe Quigg. Quigg began to play for the frosh last January and has another half year of freshman eligibility this season, which he undoubtedly will use. McGuire would like to see Joe, an excellent ball-handler with an eagle eye, move up to the varsity when his freshman eligibility runs out. But this would mean Quigg's varsity eligibility would expire in the middle of a season, too. Whether Quigg will play varsity ball beginning in the middle of this season or wait until next season is his puzzle. "I'm leaving the decision up to Quigg," said McGuire.

Likens, (six feet, nine inches), Young (six feet, six inches), and Rosenbluth (six feet, five inches), will provide the height.

The freshman team, the quality of which has been grossly exaggerated, nevertheless will be in good shape. In addition to Quigg, Mc-Guire will have three other metropolitan New York boys in the fold. They are Tom Kerns, of Burgenfield, N. J.; Bob Cunningham, Manhattan and Pete Brennan, Brooklyn.

Kerns was voted the outstanding player in the Metropolitan area last year. Cunningham and Brennan were both among the outstanding high school payers in the state.

Two North Carolina boys are also being counted on... Roy Searcy, of Tri-City and Charley Adams of Carey. Searcy was one of ten players picked on the All-State team. Adams has developed a good point shot from the outside.

Buck Freeman will coach the frosh.

The schedule:

December: 1, McCrary Eagles, (away); 4, Clemson, (home); 9, South Carolina, (home); 11, William and Mary, (away); 18, Maryland, (home); 27, Southern California, (Dixie Classic in Raleigh); 28 and 29, Dixie Classic.

January: 3, L. S. U., (away); 4, Alabama, (away); 8, Wake Forest, (home); 11, Virginia, (home); 14, South Carolina, (away); 15, Clemson, (away); 18, N. C. State, (away).

February: 4, Duke, (home); 11, Virginia, (away); 12, Maryland, (away); 16, Wake Forest, (away); 22, N. C. State, (home); 26, Duke, (away).

March: 3, Atlantic Coast Conference, (Raleigh).

Hotels Jammed City Showers Giants In Parade Tickets Are Scarce For Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—The giddy New York Giants rode up Broadway in a ticker shower today as the big town began to heat up for another World Series, opening Wednesday at the Polo Ground.

Tickets were extra hard to get with the brokers selling only to friends of friends because of the limited capacity of the Giants' home park. Hotels were jammed and the first wave of visiting baseball men and writers crowded the lobbies.

The two managers still refused to make it official that Sal Maglie 14-6, the Giants' veteran right-hander, will oppose Bob Lemon 23-7 of the Tribe in the opener.

Manager Leo Durocher is expected to name Maglie after the Giants' final workout tomorrow morning. He also will pick his starting lineup with left field the only debated position. The "hunch" players think Durocher may start Dusty Rhodes, a left handed hitter, instead of Monte Irvin, a right-hander.

With Durocher, nothing ever is certain. He opened with Dave Koslo against the Yankees in 1951 and might try to pull another one out of the hat. Those who expect him to pitch Maglie, point out the "Barber" can't come back again unless he has a three or four-day rest. Some think he might name lefty Johnny Antonelli, 2-7, on the theory the strong youngster then could be counted upon for three starts if it goes the seven-game maximum.

Lopez probably will go with Lemon if Maglie pitches, for Bob is a lefthanded hitter. If Durocher uses Antonelli, he might switch to Early Wynn, 23-11, a switch hitter who could bat righty against a southpaw.

The fact Lemon lost his last start and was wild while Wynn almost pitched a no-hitter Saturday might influence Lopez. He said in Cleveland he wouldn't decide until he knew about the Giant starter.

Cleveland also has one doubtful spot in its outfield, right field. Dave Philley, the switch-batting regular, has been in a bad slump. Lopez has been toying with the idea of two-platooning Dave Pope and Wally Westlake. The rest of the club is set although third baseman Al Rosen has trouble running.

In recent games, Lopez has been using a pinch runner for the all-star game hero.

For whatever it's worth, at this stage of the game, the weather man said "Wednesday looks like not too bad a day." The long range outlook is for partly cloudy skies with temperatures between 65 and 70.

The Giants expect to pack about 56,000 into the Polo Grounds, including about 3,500 standees. All reserved and box seats have been sold for many days. About 4,000 bleacher seats at $2.10 each will be on sale the day of the game.

After the first two games in New York, the series shifts to Cleveland for the next three games and then back to New York for the sixth and seventh until one team wins four in the best-of-seven competition. All games start at 1 p.m. EST with no day off for travel. In the event of postponement, the clubs will play the postponed game the following day and move the entire schedule back.

Both managers and the six-man umpiring staff—Al Barlick, Jocko Conlan and Lon Warneke of the National and Charley Berry, John Stevens and Larry Napp of the American—will meet with Commissioner Ford Frick tomorrow morning to discuss ground rules.

The Giants will work out for about an hour and a half and then will turn over the field to Cleveland.

Roy Mack Is On Spot About Philly Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—The American League gets an official report on the status of its Philadelphia franchise tomorrow when Roy Mack, executive vice-president of the Athletics, appears before his fellow clubowners in New York.

The only sure thing about the Athletics' situation is that the club treasury is bare and unless outside help is secured, someone, maybe the American League, will have to take over operation of the team.

It is believed that Roy will present two alternatives to the owners: (1) Allow the club to be sold to Arnold Johnson, Chicago business man who wants to transfer the team to Kansas City, or (2) help him to raise the money necessary to carry on the operation.
