Fountain Urges Enthusiasts To Make Reservations For Maryland Game Assembly

Head Cheerleader Jim Fountain yesterday urged all students and organizations to make arrangements for the trip to Maryland game as soon as possible.

"The success of the weekend will depend on student participation. Let's all unite and let Washington and Maryland know that the Tar Heels have landed. Maryland, here we come," said Fountain of the weekend.

The weekend will include the train caravan to Washington and back; a pep rally Friday night—on Capitol steps, maybe—when trains arrive; a parade through downtown Washington on the morning of the game; the Carolina-Maryland game—a free dance at the Shoreham Hotel, and Charlie Justice Day on Sunday at the Redskin game.

The Athletic Association is taking the entire band and cheerleading squad.

Train Caravan

Train reservations can be made at the Town and Campus Men's Store, at the GM Travel agency, or at the YMCA. If students or groups want to buy their tickets now, they can be bought at the Travel Agency in Graham Memorial. Students or organizations will not have to pay out anything when they make their reservations. Groups may make reservations for whole coaches or parts of coaches. Each coach is air-conditioned, with 50 reclining seats.

There is no maximum on the number of students going. The train can handle three or four thousand students, but there must be at least 300 reservations by October 9th, Fountain said.

Fraternities may take their houseboys (with ticket) on the coach with them.

The price for the round-trip, including bus fare to Raleigh and back to Chapel Hill, is $11.75. The buses will leave from behind Graham Memorial at 3:00 Friday, October 15th and go directly to Raleigh. The trains will arrive in Washington at 9:30 Friday night. Students may either come back at 12:45 A. M. Sunday or Sunday afternoon at 6:00 p. m. If there are not enough students coming back Sunday morning, special coaches will be attached to trains leaving at the same time.

Fountain said, "I want to urge all students who are going to the game to go by train for a number of reasons: A better time will be had, no chance of auto wrecks, and the inconvenience of a car in Washington."

The rate for the trip is half the regular Seaboard fare.

Hotel Reservations

The Graham Memorial Travel Agency will make hotel reservations at any hotel. Groups may reserve rooms in one hotel section.

Washington Pep Rally

Final plans for the pep rally are not ready. Permission has been asked of officials in Washington for holding the pep rally on the Capitol steps. No answer has been received yet.

There will be a parade through downtown Washington, with the band, students and alumni participating, on Saturday morning.

Bus fares (approximately 50c) to the game at College Park, Maryland, will be arranged.

Game Tickets

Tickets to the game are being sold in Woolen Gym for $3.75. All organizations or students may reserve tickets now in a block or individually. They must be paid for by October 10th. Students are advised to get their tickets as soon as possible.

The Eastern District of the UNC Alumni Association is having an annual meeting in Washington during the weekend. The Association is sponsoring a free informal dance at the Shoreham Hotel Saturday night for students and their dates.

October 17 has been officially designated as Charlie Justice Day at the Redskin Park. "Choo-Choo" will be honored at half-time ceremonies. One thousand tickets to the game have been ordered and are on sale at the Town and Campus Men's Shop. The price for the Redskin-Philadelphia Eagles game is approximately $4.50.

Deal Seriously With First Offenders—Dean Carmichael

First offenders of women's dormitory rules should be dealt with seriously, Dean of Women Katherine Carmichael told a meeting of women's house council members yesterday.

"If high morale is to be maintained," the Dean of Women said, "and if procedure is to be uniform throughout student courts, every offense must be judged in accordance with its own legal structure." "The fact that it is a first offense, or a third offense," she said, "relates very little to this in-

Late Permission

The Women's Residence Council, in conjunction with the office of the Dean of Women, has granted a one-hour extension of the closing hour Sunday, Oct. 17, for women going on the football caravan to the UNC-Maryland game.

The extension applies only to those women who will return to Chapel Hill by train or car after attending the Redskin game in Washington, Oct. 17. (The UNC-Maryland game will be played Oct. 16.)

Special sign-out sheets in the residences will be used.

South Art Gallery of the Morehead Building.

Titled "Man's Right to Knowledge and The Free Use Thereof," the exhibit is so much in demand that it has been allotted the University for display only seven days, ending Sunday.

"The freedoms and obligations implicit in the theme of the exhibit are considered the property of all men, not only the academic world," said Dr. W. W. Pierson, dean of the UNC Graduate School and a member of the Consolidated University committee which obtained the exhibit.

"The challenge is not only to the learned and the powerful but to all of us, not only to those who must deal with great and international problems but to those who make decisions for the smallest groups, for a family, a village, a church or a school."

Huxley To Talk Next Week

Aldous Huxley, renown English novelist and essayist, will speak at Hill Hall Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Huxley, one of the most educated of modern day English authors, will speak on "The Non-Verbal Humanities."

"We are very, very fortunate," said Jim Wallace, director of Graham Memorial, "to be able to present such an outstanding event to the students of Carolina and the people of Chapel Hill."

Huxley's first novel, "Chrome Yellow," was published in 1916. Since then he has written such well known books as "Brave and New World," "Point Counterpoint," "Time Must Have A Stop," "After Many A Summer Dies the Swan," and "Ape and Essence."

The program is being sponsored by the GM Activities Board and the English Department.

Press Meet Starts Today

The North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute, sponsored by the School of Journalism and The Daily Tar Heel, will get underway here this afternoon at 5 o'clock when over 250 high school journalists will gather in Gerrard Hall to hear Dean Laurence R. Campbell of Florida State University School of Journalism.

Dean Campbell, executive secretary of the Florida Scholastic Press Association, will be the keynote speaker.

At the concluding banquet tomorrow at 7 p. m. in Carolina Inn, John Harden of Greensboro will speak on "Ladies and Gentlemen of the Press—And a Few Ghosts."

Harden is vice-president and director of public relations for Burlington Mills, and was press secretary to Gov. Kerr Scott.

Dean Norval Neil Luxon of the University School of Journalism will welcome delegates to the campus this afternoon. Tonight a reception will be held in Graham Memorial from 8 to 9:30 with officers from the Institute in charge.

Frances Youngblood, from New Hanover High in Wilmington, is president of the Institute this year. Vance Neece, from Curry High in Greensboro, is vice-president.

Those taking part in discussions tomorrow include Editor Charles Kuralt, Managing Editor Fred Powlidge and Associate Editors Ed Yoder and Louis Kraar from The Daily Tar Heel.

Cecil Prince of The Charlotte News; Carlton Boyd, The Winston-Salem Sentinel; Sandy Gray, The Charlotte News; Herb O'Keefe, The News and Observer; William Whitley, The Durham Morning Herald; Roy Thompson, The Winston-Salem Journal, and Lonnie Braxton, of The Charlotte Observer, will also work with delegates.

Dean Campbell, executive secretary of the Florida Scholastic Press Association, will be the keynote speaker.

At the concluding banquet tomorrow at 7 p. m. in Carolina Inn, John Harden of Greensboro will speak on "Ladies and Gentlemen of the Press—And a Few Ghosts."

University Party's Max Crohn Introduces Dorm Maid Bill

Di Will Inaugurate Officers Tuesday

Asheville, critic; Larry McElroy, Marshall, sergeant-at-arms; Lynn Chandler, Morrisville, president pro-tem; Joel Fleishman Fayetteville, president; Jim Turner, Winston-Salem, chaplain; Ginny Agnew, Hendersonville, clerk, and Clyde Smith, Raleigh, treasurer.

Also Introduces Gasoline Price Inquiry Bill

By LLOYD SHAW

Max Crohn, University Party floorleader, introduced a bill at the student Legislature last night calling for a study of the possibility of maid service in the dormitories.

The bill proposed that a committee of three should "investigate all possible angles which have thwarted the establishment of maid service in the past."

David Reid, Student Party vice chairman, introduced to the Legislature his bill "liberalizing punishment in first offense cheating cases. Reid made his bill public in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel.

A bill "concerning the price of gasoline in Chapel Hill" was also introduced by Crohn. The bill stated that "over the State of North Carolina gasoline prices are considerably lower than those in Chapel Hill" and "it is obvious that the townspeople and students are being taken advantage of."

Crohn asked that a committee be appointed to "investigate the conditions causing this price discrimination and determine what courses can be taken to cause the gas companies to cease these practices."

Bills

A bill providing funds for the Consolidated University Student Council was carried with only one negative vote, Joel Fleishman (SP). A previous motion to recommit the bill to the Finance Committee failed.

The Summer School Activities Fee Bill was recommitted to the Finance Committee, unanimously. Durin discussion of the bill, Manning Munting (SP) said, "Such raising of fees puts the student Legislature in an odd situation since the student Legislature is fighting the raise of tuition by the General Assembly."

McElroy Is Named To Fill Executive Post

Larry McElroy was elected to fill a vacancy on the Executive Committee of the Young Democrats Club at a committee meeting recently.

McElroy will fill a vacancy left by Bob Williams who is no longer in school.

Plans for a mass freshman rally in the near future were made at the meeting. An issue of the YDC News will be published and mailed to members during the week.

The YDC is planning to get an office on campus as soon as possible. The committee decided they will hold a regular meeting on the first Friday of every month at 3 p. m. on the third floor of the law school until an office is acquired.

All members of the executive committee, officers and committee chairman are required to attend meetings and make reports. Members of the club are invited to attend future executive committee meetings and participate in the discussion.

A district six rally will be held in Orange County within the next five weeks with the date to be announced later. District six is comprised of Guilford, Alamance, Orange and Durham counties.

Bob Windsor was elected district six chairman at the convention.

Di To Install Officers Tuesday

Jonathan Daniels, Raleigh, well-known author and editor, will present the fall inaugural address to the Dialectic Senate here next Tuesday.

Installation of senate officers of the Dialectic Literary Society will be held at inaugural ceremonies in the Dialectic Hall in New West at 8 p. m.

This fall marks the beginning of the 160th year of activity of the Dialectic Senate, the first organized of the University's two debating societies.

Daniels, editor of The News and Observer, is also author of seven volumes. His latest, "The End of Innocence," has received much favorable comment, as did his earlier ones, two of which received the Mayflower Cup.

His career has included much government service, including presidential press secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Long a prominent figure in national political affairs, Daniels has served as Democratic National Committeeman from North Carolina and delegate-at-large at Democratic National conventions.

An alumnus of the University, Daniels received his A. B. and M. A. degrees here and edited what was then "The Tar Heel."

Forum Will Sponsor Him

Gov. Meyner To Speak Next Friday

Robert B. Meyner, newly elected Democratic Governor of New Jersey, will deliver a public address in Hill Hall here next Friday night, at 8:30 p. m.

Governor Meyner's appearance here will be the first in a series of addresses to be sponsored during the school year by the Carolina Forum, Chairman Joel Fleishman senior from Fayetteville, announced yesterday.

The Carolina Forum is an official agency of Student Government of the University established to bring speakers of state, national and world importance to the campus.

Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, will introduce the speaker.

Governor Meyner will arrive at the Raleigh-Durham Airport at 3:30 on the afternoon of his speaking engagement after which he will tour of the University campus and will be honor guest at a private dinner. A reception will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at the conclusion of his talk.

A native of Easton, Pa., Governor Meyner graduated from Lafayette College and Columbia University Law School. He first practiced law in Hudson County while studying and later in Phillipsburg, where he still lives.

Governor Meyner qualified as counsellor at law in 1937 and was admitted to the bar of the U. S. Supreme Court in 1940. Two years later, after losing the race for senator of Warren County by 50 votes, he served as Warren County Counsel.

The New Jersey governor was elected to a four-year term in the senate in 1947 and served as Senate Minority Leader in 1950. It was in November, 1953, that he was elected governor of New Jersey by a plurality of more than 150,000 votes, and he was inaugurated in January of this year for
