

WEATHER

Some cloudiness and a little warmer today, with expected high of 77; low, 50's.

VOL. LVII No. 22

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1954

Offices In Graham Memorial

FALL

The editor speaks of autumn. See page 2.

FOUR PAGES TODAY

Gravitte Plows Through

HIGH STEPPING Connie Gravitte cuts through right tackle for Larry Parker and Don Klochak (40). Gravitte carried eight times for nine yards to the Carolina 16 yard line. Leading the interference is better than five yards a try. Cornell Wright Photo

Three Grants Are Awarded In Pharmacy

Three research grants, totaling $16,095, have been awarded the School of Pharmacy at the University for the year 1914-55. Dean E. A. Brecht of the Pharmacy School announced yesterday.

A grant of $6,235 was received for the eighth consecutive year from the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Research Foundation, Dean Brecht said. This grant includes research fellowships for four graduate students in the School of Pharmacy and funds for research supplies and library materials. It was incorporated in 1946 through the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association to foster and promote pharmaceutical education and research at the School of Pharmacy and throughout the State.

Industrial research fellowships are assigned as follows: William S. Merrell Company Fellowship to Nicholas H. Batuyios, Wilmington; Vick Chemical Company Fellowship to Earl T. Brown, Leicester; and the Sharpe and Dohme Fellowship to Robert W. Meschke, Darien, Conn. A. W. Jowdy, Jr., New Bern, received a non-industrial research fellowship from the foundation.

Grants totalling $3,360 were received from the American Foundation for Pharmaceutical Education, a national corporation organized to promote pharmaceutical education and research at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. Two graduate research fellowships were assigned to Ben F. Cooper, Warsaw, and Cleborn E. Kimsey, Chattanooga, Tenn.

A post graduate research grant was assigned for a third consecutive year, to be directed by Dr. W. H. Hartung, Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, on the synthesis of amino acids and peptides.

Miss Ann Carlton wandering around behind Med School late Friday evening with a flashlight, looking for something or someone.

At the game: Cute quartet, drinking something besides Big Oranges, with Chapel Hill policeman sitting 50 feet away.

Med School Now Offering Grad Courses

Postgraduate courses in medicine open to all physicians in the State are being offered during the 1954-55 academic year both in Chapel Hill and as extension meetings in other cities throughout the State.

Dr. W. P. Richardson, assistant dean for Continuation Education at the school, released yesterday a preliminary schedule of all courses, which are sponsored by the UNC School of Medicine and Extension Division.

"The programs for these courses are carefully planned to give a balanced presentation of subjects of particular significance to the general practitioner, to aid him in professional growth as well as in meeting his day to day problems," Dr. Richardson said.

He added that certificates of attendance will be given, and all courses provide credit toward fulfillment of the American Academy of General Practice's requirements.

Frat Rush Starts Today

Fraternity row will roll out the welcome mat and extend its glad hands to several hundred rushees this afternoon as formal rushing gets underway.

Rushing begins today at 2:30 p.m. and will continue through Thursday night. The following Monday, Oct. 13, will be shakeup night. Strict silence between fraternity men and rushees will be maintained from Thursday night, until shakeup night.

After shakeup on Monday night, strict silence will be observed again until pledge day — Wednesday, Oct. 20. Silence and rushing will end after Wednesday noon. Inter-Fraternity Council spokesman Ed McCurry reminded fraternities yesterday that it is a violation of IFC rules to inform a rushee that he has been accepted before Wednesday, Oct. 20. It is also a violation for rushees to commit themselves before shakeup night.

Poetry Competition

All college students have been invited to submit original verse to be considered for possible publication in the Twelfth Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

Rules for submission are as follows: manuscripts must be typed or written in ink on one side of a sheet; student's home addresses, name of college and college address must appear on each manuscript.

Students may submit as many manuscripts as desired. Theme and form may be in accordance with the wish of the student. Shorter efforts are preferred.

The closing date for the submission of manuscripts is Nov. 15. They should be sent to the National Poetry Association, 3210 Selby Ave., Los Angeles 34, Calif.

UNC Pianist Carol Sites Will Play Second Petite Musicale

Carol Sites, graduate student in the Music Department, will present a piano recital on the Graham Memorial petites musicales series next Sunday night, Oct. 17, at 8 o'clock in the GM Main Lounge.

Miss Sites is the second artist to appear on the petites musicales series this year. Her program will consist of selections from Mozart, Chanler, Piston, Barber, Debussy and Shumann.

Since the fall of 1952, Miss Sites, a native of Martinsbury, Va., has been a graduate assistant and instructor in piano in the music department here. Previously she taught piano and theory at the Adirondack Music Center and piano and music appreciation at Averett College in Danville, Va. Last summer she taught piano at the University of Wisconsin music clinic.

Bulldogs Capitalize On Tar Heel Fumbles; Win 21 To 7

A Little Heat, A Drill Squad, Little Boy Lost

Football in Kenan Stadium yesterday was 20,000 spectators, some cheering and others silent.

It was a drink vender in the card section wearing an orange and black no. 55 football jersey. And it was the UNC band playing "The Bunny Hop" in the stands when things out on the field weren't hopping in the right direction for Carolina.

It was a couple hundred Boy Scouts who cheered the University's Naval ROTC's crack drill squad when they went into the intricate Queen Anne salute.

Yesterday's football game was the autumn leaves effect that you saw in the air when the card section tossed away their colored cards. And it was the guy next to you who said of the card stunts, "They're droodles. We're supposed to guess what they are."

And it was the cheer that rippled through the Carolina stands when the loudspeaker boomed out the Duke-Purdue score. Duke was ahead. It was Spero in section 15, who (with the help of his portable) was giving a play-by-play of the Blue Devil game.

It was gray sport coats and coed sweaters in the almost too warm sun. And it was the cop who al-fell asleep in the stands during the third quarter.

But most of all it was football — where one team usually loses. And we were the team.

SWEEPING THROUGH right tackle Larry McMullen picks up 10 yards and a first down on the Georgia nine yard line during the Tar Heels' only scoring drive. The play started on a hand off from Quarterback Leonard Bullock. Cornell Wright Photo

Says UNC's Barclay:

Same Old Story

By LARRY SAUNDERS

Coach George Barclay sat in the Kenan Stadium equipment room, his head bent low and his slightly gray hair brushed down over his forehead. Red faced, with his head in his hands, the Carolina coach listened silently to the radio description of the Duke-Purdue football game. Suddenly, he pushed his hair back, got up and walked toward the dressing room. His Tar Heels had just suffered their first defeat of the season, a 21-7 loss to Georgia.

In Barclay's opinion, it was the same old Carolina story. "We made too many mistakes," he said. "We made it easy for them (Georgia). We just made too many mistakes."

Our fumbles really hurt us."

The Tar Heel dressing room was quiet. The players trickled in slowly and headed for the Coke machine. Quarterback Len Bullock talked to friends outside of the locker room. He agreed with Barclay that the fumbles hurt. "Their line was good and I thought their quarterback (Jimmy Harper) played a good game," Bullock said.

Guard George Foti agreed that Harper looked good. He said, "They were just better than we were. I didn't believe they had us beat until the game was over."

End Dick Starnier didn't know what was wrong with the Tar

(See BARCLAY, page 4.)

What Won The Game?

Those Two Drives

By BOB DILLARD

Coach Wally Butts was all smiles yesterday afternoon as he drifted through the crowd of well-wishers and friends toward the Georgia dressing room. And well he had a right to be, after the showing his Bulldogs made.

The Georgia mentor was modest in his statements about the game. "We were fortunate enough to sustain two drives in the second half. That was the main thing, those two drives."

The Bulldogs were a happy lot. The laughter and smiles were flowing freely throughout the room. There was no doubt in the mind of someone entering the room that he was seeing the winning team. The managers were in with the team, making cracks and in general adding to the happy atmosphere of the room. Out of the shower came loud laughing, and noises were hurled back and forth across the room.

When Bill Saye, Georgia center, said, "It was good for us," he echoed the sentiments of the rest

(See BUTTS, page 4.)

UNC's First Loss; Bullock Makes Tally

By BERNIE WEISS

Georgia's Bulldogs recovered two fumbles, converted both into touchdowns, and drove 54 yards for a third score to defeat Carolina, 21-7, yesterday afternoon at Kenan Stadium before approximately 20,000 fans.

It was the Tar Heels' first loss of the season.

Again Carolina bested its opponent in rushing yardage, 186 yards to 168 (net), but the Blue and White just couldn't come through with the offensive power when it was needed most.

Georgia racked up 17 first downs to Carolina's 12.

"We just made too many mistakes," said Carolina coach George Barclay after the game.

Charlie Madison, fleet Bulldog halfback, and Jimmy Harper, the master - minding quarterback, were the big cogs in the winners' ground - gaining monster. The team showed a tremendous amount of power in the second half, scoring two touchdowns on long drives which wilted UNC's defense, previously rated third in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Harper did most of Georgia's damage in the air, completing four passes for 57 yards.

Madison Scores

Georgia tallied its first touchdown on its initial series of downs when Madison ran 28 yards to paydirt. Carolina did not get into the scoring column until halfway through the second period when Bullock dove over on a quarterback sneak. Georgia's other scores came in the third period, Bob Clemens going over from three yards off-tackle, and in the fourth quarter when Howard Kelly made it on the same play.

Madison was Georgia's top ground-gainer, eating up 48 yards in seven carries.

For Carolina, Ed Sutton was the top individual runner, carrying the ball six times for 67 yards. Most of this came on a fourth-quarter 43 - yard run. Ken Keller, his leg still sore from an injury sustained before the season's opening, gained 48 yards.

Len "Teedee" Bullock, starting his first varsity game and playing without relief for more than three quarters, could gain only 14 yards via aeriels. Three of his four completions came in the first half. Bullock was replaced in the fourth period by Marshall Newman, who tried two passes and completed both for 30 yards.

Carolina's old nemesis, the fumbles, got into the game early. On the second play from scrimmage fullback Larry Parker dropped the pigskin, Georgia's Bill Saye recovering on the Tar Heel 47.

Seven Plays To Score

Bulldog mastermind Harper took over from there and engineered the distance to the goal in seven plays. He had moved the pigskin in six downs to the Carolina 27 where he executed a beautiful fake and handed off to Madison, who went around the end all the way. Madison also made good on the point - after - touchdown and Georgia led, 7-0.

Carolina finally got its sputtering offense burning on high octane gas in the second quarter, moving 70 yards behind the running of Sutton and Keller to Georgia's goal. The drive began when a Bulldog punt rolled dead on the UNC 30. With Bullock's arm working full-time, either passing, pitching out or handing off, the Tar Heels quickly got to the Georgia one. Bullock swan-dived over the center of the line for the tally and Keller's placement was perfect to deadlock the score at 7-7.

The Tar Heels almost tallied again toward the end of the period when Gravitte attempted a pass to Keller, who was waiting in the end zone. However the aerial was intercepted by Bob Garrard to end the threat. The first half came to

(See GAME, page 4.)

GM's Slate

The following organizations have scheduled meetings in Graham Memorial Student Union today through Wednesday. (All meetings are in the afternoon or evening unless otherwise noted.)

Today — 7 to 9 a.m., Newman Club in Roland Parker 2 and 3. 11 a.m., Quakers in Grail Room. 3:30 to 4:30, Sigma Alpha Iota in Roland Parker 1. 8 to 9:30, Carolina Political Union.

Monday — 4 to 6, University Club in Roland Parker 1 and 2. 4:30 to 6, Publications Board in APO room. 7 to 11, Bridge in Rendezvous Room. 7:30 to 10, Press Club in Roland Parker 3. 7:30 to 9:30, Intersarsity Carolina Fellowship in APO room. 8 to 10:30, Student Party in Roland Parker 1 and 2.

Tuesday — 2 to 3, Audit Board in Woodhouse Conference Room. 2 to 6, Bridge in Rendezvous Room. 6:30, Dance Lessons in Rendezvous Room (more girls needed). 7 to 9, Alpha Phi Omega in APO room. 7 to 9, Athletic Assn. in Woodhouse Conference Room. 7 to 9, University Party in Roland Parker 3. 8 to 11, Chess Club in Roland Parker 1 and 2.

Cornerstone Re-Laying Will Be Held

Old East's cornerstone will be re-laid Tuesday as part of traditional University Day activities, according to Chancellor Robert B. House.

The 161st anniversary of the founding of the University of North Carolina, called University Day, will be observed Tuesday morning beginning at 10:50 in the south court of South Building. Classes and laboratories will be dismissed at 10:50 o'clock for the remainder of the day.

Scenes of the University's early days are shown on left and right. Loaned to The Daily Tar Heel by UNC Alumni Assn., the sketch on the left shows a trio of men deciding on a site for the University. Davie Poplar is in the background.

On the right, two gentlemen on horseback ride from a meeting concerning plans for the University.

