

WEATHER

Fair and a little warmer today,
with expected high of 89; low,
60's.

VOL. LVII No. 23

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1954

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES TODAY

The Daily Tar Heel

TODAY

Today is the day, says the editor.
See page 2.

Students Will Travel With Football Team To Maryland

The Tar Heel team will go to the Maryland game this weekend on the same train as the students. The announcement was made yesterday by George Reddick of the Seaboard Airline Railway and C. P. Ericson, UNC director of athletics.

Reddick and spokesmen for the Graham Memorial Travel Agency said that there are still seats available on the special train. The seats will be available up until train departure time; however, students are advised to reserve seats as early as possible.

Carolina males were given another break last week when representatives of the University Club visited sororities and girls' dorms to urge them to go to Maryland "Dutch."

According to Ted Tawes and Harriet Parrish the coeds were very cooperative with the plan and seemed eager to share both their time and expenses with the lucky males for the weekend.

The complete weekend will include two games, the Maryland-Carolina one and the Washington Redskins game when Charlie Justice will be the honored, a dance for Carolina students Saturday night, a parade, and pep rally, a reserved train seat and game seat all shared with a date who will share expenses.

The buses will leave Chapel Hill at 3 p. m., Friday afternoon; trains will leave Raleigh for Washington at 4 p. m.; the trains will arrive in Washington at 9:30 and a pep rally will follow.

On Saturday there will be a parade through downtown Washington; the game that afternoon at College Park, Maryland; and a free dance for UNC students and their dates at the Shoreham Hotel. One train will leave for North Carolina Sunday morning at 12:45.

The Redskin game is Sunday afternoon. The last train will leave Washington at 6 p. m.

The train will have a diner for the team, and after the team has been served it will be open to all students. A snack bar, selling cigarettes, cigars, sandwiches, soft drinks, candy and gum, will be open during the trip.

Sauter-Finegan Band Slates Two Concerts

The Sauter-Finegan Orchestra will appear here in two concerts on Monday, October 18.

Concerts will be given from 4 to 6 p. m., and from 8:30 to 11 p. m. in Memorial Hall. Tickets are now on sale at Ledbetter Pickard, Carolina Sport Shop, Monk and Bob's and the information desk in Graham Memorial. They will go on sale in Y court next Monday.

Rated among the country's top five arrangers, for over a decade Sauter and Finegan shaped the music played by a dozen or so of top-flight bands. Sauter is responsible for many of Benny Goodman's most famous arrangements, and Finegan has written many scores for both Tommy Dorsey and Glenn Miller.

Sound is a serious thing to Maestri Ed Sauter and Bill Finegan, whose exciting band, unlike the average aggregation, numbers 25, including five saxophonists who double on such unlikely danceband instruments as the flute, piccolo, oboe, English horn, bass clarinet and recorders. (The last-mentioned is a woodwind instrument of ancient vintage.)

Sauter and Finegan have explained it this way: "We have included an actual percussion section, aside from the drummer because we feel that percussion sounds are needed to add color and thus broaden the musical spectrum of our arrangements. In fact whenever we feel that only a toy trumpet or a toy drum or even a kazoo will give the particular sound we want, we'll use a toy trumpet, toy drum or kazoo! The only thing we don't use are artificial sounds, which is why the band sounds the same in person as on records."

YDC Trip

The University Young Democrats Club will go to Greensboro College today to participate in a panel discussion there.

All YDC members are urged to attend this meeting. The group will meet at the Monogram Club at 5:30 for supper and will leave from there at 6:15 p. m.

Fraternities & Sororities:

Garbage Still There

The Chapel Hill Town Council's ordinance, passed last January, required all town restaurants, fraternity houses and sororities to erect "garbage houses," has not yet been complied with, said Town Manager Tom Rose yesterday.

Rose said the ordinance has not been strictly enforced, since the town wants to give Greek letter societies and eating places enough time to raise money for the buildings.

SOME SOCIETIES COMPLY

... a garbage house, built to specifications

OTHERS DON'T

... a pile of trash, behind a fraternity

Giesekeing, Salzburg, Peerce & Chamber Orchestra:

Concert Tickets On Sale

Student tickets will go on sale today for the newly-instituted Chapel Hill Concert Series, according to Don Geiger, ticket chairman.

The season passes will cost students $5, and will be good for evenings with the American Chamber Orchestra, the Salzburg Marionette Theatre, Pianist Walter Giesekeing and famous tenor Jan Peerce.

Concert Series Secretary Jim Wallace said yesterday only 500 student tickets remained. The Series had originally planned to hold out 600 for students, he said, but 100 of them were bought by students during the recent ticket drive for townspeople and faculty.

Dormitories, fraternities and sororities are participating in the drive, with prizes offered for the group selling the most tickets.

Wallace said the men's dorm with one table will receive a ping-pong table or two card tables; the women's dorm, a block of theater tickets; fraternity, block of movie passes, and sorority, two card tables.

The ticket drive will end Saturday, but passes will continue to be sold up until the first concert Oct. 20.

Chamber Orchestra

Robert Scholz will conduct the American Chamber Orchestra in Memorial Hall Oct. 20.

The orchestra, formerly known as The Mozart Orchestra, is an ensemble of string and wind players "dedicated to the performance of symphonic masterpieces in the authentic manner of their period," according to a spokesman for the group.

(See CONCERT SERIES, page 4)

CAMPUS SEEN
All suits and ties breaking out over the weekend.

Sleepy dorm student walking into Lenoir Hall with tweed pants, tweed jacket, cotton pajama shirt at 7:30 a. m.

Empty, darkened GM television room.

SP Heads Discuss The Party

By JACKIE GOODMAN

"The majority of students on this campus know nothing of student politics. Through membership in this party you can give the students good government," said Virginia Agnew in a panel discussion held in Student Party meeting last night.

With David Reid as moderator, three members of Student Party discussed the question of what the party can mean to the individual, and what the individual can do for student Legislature. The three members of the panel were Tom Bennett, Virginia Agnew and Bob Harrington.

"I have received knowledge from the Student Party, knowledge of student government, of how it is run and how to appreciate it," said Bennett. In connection with the contribution of the individual, Bennett said, "I want to give my time and energy. I want to make it a better organization than it was when I joined it."

Harrington pointed out, "I have received friendship from the Student Party. Here deep and true friendships are made. Here we get experience. These are two of the most important things we will ever get."

"Through membership in Student Party you enlarge your circle of friends by a great number. You also learn how to meet people through campaigning and visiting in the dorms," said Miss Agnew.

Di Senate Meets Tonight

The Dialectic Senate will meet tonight at 8 in Di Hall, third floor of New West. Guests are invited to attend and to participate in the debate, with the regular five-minute limitation on speeches.

The bill of the evening, which will be introduced by David Mundy, proposes the eventual liberation of Red China. It specifically proposes that the United States continue giving Nationalist China its firm moral and economic support; that the Nationalists be aided in propaganda warfare and encouraged to promote unrest and guerrilla activity on the mainland; and that the United States offer limited military support should an actual invasion ever become possible.

An executive session of the Senate will follow the regular debate session.

University Celebrates Its 161st Anniversary Today

Classes Out At 10:50 For Ceremony

Today is University Day.

Carolina, the oldest state university in the United States, will celebrate its 161st birthday this morning with traditional University Day ceremonies, beginning at 10:50 o'clock in the south court of South Building.

Chancellor Robert B. House, who will take part in the exercises, has announced that classes and laboratories will be suspended at that time for the remainder of the day. Administrative offices will be closed from 10:50 until after lunch.

Music and pageantry in pantomime will combine to reenact the laying on October 12, 1793 of the cornerstone of Old East, oldest building on the campus.

Included in the ceremonies will be a brief memorial service "to honor the Founders of the University and those who have contributed to its development over the years." Chancellor House will lead the assembly in the responsive reading of lines from the Apocrypha.

Following the singing of Integer Vitae by the Men's Glee Club, the University Band, directed by Earl Slocum, and the combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, under the direction of Joel Carter, will render Festival Finale, "God of Our Fathers."

June Eschweiler, graduate, assistant in drama, will direct Carolina Playmakers in re-enacting the cornerstone laying. Pantomime roles will be taken as follows: General William R. Davie—Harvey Whetstone; Masons—Larry Braverman and Carl Williams; William Trotman will be narrator.

Immediately following the cornerstone laying, the assembly will follow the band and glee clubs to Davie Poplar for the benediction by Dr. Samuel T. Habel, pastor of the Baptist Church, and the singing of "Hark the Sound."

Color guards for the occasion will be supplied by the NROTC and Air ROTC. Members of the Grail will serve as ushers.

Besides Chancellor House, others taking part in the exercises will include President Gordon Gray and student body President Tom Creasy.

Auditions For 'Figaro' Set

Auditions for roles in Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" will be held in Hill Music Hall Friday, 3:30 and 7:30 p. m. Under the sponsorship of the Music Department, Dr. Wilton Mason will be in charge of production and act as musical director. The scheduled dates for presentation are January 17th and 18th, 1955.

"The Marriage of Figaro" will be the first full length operatic production by the Music Department, though previously several doublebills of short operas have been presented.

Previous operatic experience is not necessary to participate in these auditions. Any selection which displays the range and ability of the singer is all that is required and it does not necessarily have to be from the opera to be produced.

Individuals may bring their own accompanist if they desire, but a pianist will be available at the auditions if needed to assist the singer.

Want A Proofreader

The Daily Tar Heel needs a proofreader. The salary is $340 for the rest of the year. Hours: 8:45-11:30 p. m., Monday-Saturday. If you're interested, apply this afternoon at 4, Daily Tar Heel offices, Graham Memorial.

THE MEN PICK THE SITE

... for the first state university

Oldest Student Says Chapel Hill's Where You

'Keep Your Mind Active'

By SUSAN QUINN

There's a man on the Carolina campus today who probably holds some kind of record for the number of years he has been in school without receiving a degree.

E. B. Jeffress has been in and out of this University since 1903, and in the meantime he has also been publisher and half owner of the Greensboro Daily News, president of the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce, and mayor of that city. From 1931-33 he sat in the State Legislature.

In 1903, Jeffress came to UNC to major in history, but the administration "derailed" him, as he put it. When he left the library was still located in the building now known as the Playmakers Theater, Carr was known as the wildest men's dorm on campus, and there were not more than four or five coeds to brighten up the scene.

Now the picture is quite different, but E. B. Jeffress is back, complete with a cane, a battered grey felt hat that got a smudge on its crown when it blew across the street in Salt Lake City, Utah, and an opinion on almost any subject anyone wishes to discuss.

Having given up hope of obtaining a degree, the bright-eyed old gentleman has simply decided that Chapel Hill is a fine place to loaf and to "keep your mind active."

Currently, he's studying problems of highway transportation in North Carolina, with a political science course thrown in for good measure. The professors are pretty good, he thinks, but "There are too many Republicans among em!"

One of Jeffress' favorite topics is the fact that the "University is losing leadership in the State." He seems to think that the legislature in Raleigh is going to be in pretty sad shape if the people don't wake up and start nominating their own candidates for this body. These bright young men must come from the University, he says. Right now they're not. He blames this, in part, on the fact that students' interests are now scattered among too many activities. In 1903, everyone had to belong to either the Di or the Phi, and the debate against Georgia was more important than the football game against that institution. What takes the place of this now? Campus politics, which, in the opinion of Jeffress, "Get warmed up about once a term."

E. B. JEFFRESS

... University's suffering in North Carolina's eyes

Commenting on campus issues today, Jeffress stated his firm belief that Negroes should be admitted to the medical school without question, as long as they meet entrance requirements. Only in this way can the health of the North Carolina Negro be improved, he said. "We shouldn't make too much of an issue of this thing," he mused. "The only thing wrong with the darkies they haven't got enough bathtubs in the country!" (This last with the hearty slap of the knee which is his favorite method of emphasis.)

This "oldest student" also expressed his views on the drinking

(See JEFFRESS, page 4)

Tom Shores Takes Over Office Of Tar Heel Business Manager

Tom Shores, junior from Hickory, is the new Daily Tar Heel business manager, replacing Oscar A. Shortt.

Editor Charles Kuralt appointed Shores to the position yesterday upon Shortt's resignation. The former business manager gave "pressing outside duties" as reason for his resignation.

Duties of the business manager include supervising the business and advertising offices of the newspaper, as well as keeping an eye on the circulation and subscription departments.

Said Shores yesterday, "I am very pleased with my new position and will do everything I can to run the business end of the campus newspaper on an efficient basis."

TOM SHORES

... new business manager