WAVE

There's a tidal wave of students coming. The editor says what NOT to do about it on p. 2.

Violinist In Recital In Hill Hall

The second concert in the Tuesday Evening Series of programs at Hill Hall will be presented by Maurice Wilk, American violinist, tonight at 8 o'clock.

Wilk was born in New York City and undertook his entire musical education and training there, the only exception being last summer while on tour in Europe when Pablo Casals took him as a pupil.

He made his first professional appearance at 14 when he played a Bach concerto with the orchestra of the Mutual Broadcasting System under Leon Barzin.

At 15, he gave a recital in Steinway Hall and at 18 he was chosen by Toscanini for the NBC Symphony, becoming the youngest member of the group.

During his two year stay with the NBC Orchestra, Wilk played in the Stuyvesant Quartet, was concert-master under Sir Thomas Beecham of the Brooklyn Symphony, and appeared in recital at Town Hall.

During the war, the young violinist was concert master of the Army Air Force Radio Orchestra. With them he gave a weekly coast-to-coast broadcast and toured the country playing at Air Force installations.

In the last few years, Wilk has had three Carnegie Hall recitals, at least 15 Town Hall appearances as both recitalist and guest artist, a six-month tour of Europe when he visited Paris, London, Stockholm, Amsterdam, Zurich and other leading cities, besides frequent recitals at colleges and universities over the U.S.

Wilk's program will include "Grave in the Style of Friedemann Bach," Kreisler; "Sonata in D major, op. 12, no. 1," Beethoven; "Sonata in A minor," Bach; "Variations on a Theme by Corelli," Tartini-Kreisler; "Intermezzo," Schumann; "Tambourin Chinois," Kreisler; "Nocturne in C sharp minor," Chopin-Milstein; "Caprice," Paganini-Kreidler; and "La Clochette," Paganini-Kreisler.

Wilk will be accompanied by Dr. Wilton Mason of the University Music Department.

Vets' Club Meets Tonight

The newly-organized University Veterans' Club will hold another meeting tonight.

The club, which was organized during the first week of school by Korean vets Darwin Bell and Jerry Clark, had swelled its membership to 87 as of last week.

Tonight's meeting will be held in Gerrard Hall at 7:30. Vet's plan to ask the University

Shades Of Carry Nation

Customers of a local alchouse had reason to believe Carry Nation and the WOTU were coming the other day. But it was only Hurricane Hazel lifting off part of the Goody Shop roof.

Some of the Friday afternoon customers of the local pub didn't know whether to run out or stay, but most were upset because their beers were being cut by water coming through the ceiling.

Spero Doughton, popular owner of the Goody Shop on Franklin St., was upset because his shop had to be closed for the day.

"That was the biggest damage," he moaned, in a business-must-go-on manner.

Hazel managed to soak the walls, shower the customers and curl the roof.

For State Student Legislature:

Interviews Begin

Interviews began last night for candidates for the delegation from UNC to the North Carolina State Student Legislature, which will meet in Raleigh on Nov. 18, 19 and 20.

The delegates to the legislature will be chosen by the traditional method of having interviews with the selection board. The board met last night and will meet again tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 4:30, Thursday night from 9 until 10:30 and Friday afternoon from 2 until 4:30. All of these meetings will be held in the WWoodhouse Conference Room of Graham Memorial.

All colleges and universities in North Carolina have been invited to send delegations, depending in size on the enrollment. The delegates will debate issues of educational, state, national and international importance.

All students of the University are eligible for membership in Carolina's delegation to the State Student Legislature. Applicants will be asked questions on primarily political topics when they appear before the selection board.

The criteria used in determining the delegates will be their interest, the presentation of their information and the factuality of their information.

The two members of the Interim Council, governing body between legislature sessions from Carolina are Joel Fleishman and Susen Fink.

The first assembly of the North Carolina State Student Legislature was sponsored in 1936 by Pi Kappa Delta forensic fraternity at State College. This group was more a debate society than a legislative assembly.

The State College Pi Kappa Delta in the fall of 1947 announced that it had dissolved itself and the Student Legislative Assembly. This act resulted in action on the part of the Debate Council at UNC to make an all-out effort to revive the group.

Representatives from State, Meredith, WCUNC and UNC decided to continue the Assembly. In November the nucleus group formed a council and elected Earl Fitzgerald of UNC, president, and Rames Cranford of State, secretary-treasurer.

Chancellor Reports On UNC

Chancellor Robert B. House, in his report to President Gordon Gray on the University during the scholastic year 1953-54, covered many points including enrollment changes, special achievements of the University, student affairs, needs of the University and plans for the coming year.

Concerning enrollment, Chancellor House reported, "The total enrollment of 5,656 represented a moderate recovery from the low point of 5,474 reached in 1952. Composition of the student body has changed slightly in the last 5 years, mainly on account of growth of enrollment in Dentistry, Medicine and Nursing."

Heartening

"During 53-54 one of the most heartening developments was the increased appropriations from the Legislature for books and journals for the Library," said Chancellor House in part of his report concerning special achievements of the University.

About permanent improvements to the University, Chancellor House reported that "We dedicated during the year the $1,700,000 addition to our Chemistry building which doubles its capacity and gives us the distinction of having the best-equipped chemistry department in the South, and the 100-bed Gravelly Sanatorium which is located on the campus.

"The University at Chapel Hill has a fortunate tradition for student government, the honor system and a vigorous program of student activities. These traditions and intangibles contribute to a happy and wholesome atmosphere for learning and a stimulating pride among alumni. I am happy to report that the administrative personnel and student leadership have worked harmoniously together during the past year to maintain these values in the University situation," reported the chancellor on student affairs.

Needs

In stating the needs of the University, Chancellor House said, "The Department of Physics is the outstanding example of urgent need for rebuilding. We are requesting the addition of nine persons to the teaching and technical staff and a substantial increase of the annual appropriation for supplies and equipment."

"More adequate State support of faculty research continues to be a basic requirement," the chancellor reported.

Concerning plans for the University, Chancellor House included the following points in his report. "Prominent among those already started is the attempt to improve

27 Counties Designated As Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Small Business Administration SBA yesterday designated as hurricane disaster areas 27 counties in North Carolina.

The action makes residents of the counties eligible to apply for loans to repair homes or business buildings damaged by hurricane Hazel last Friday.

W. Norbert Engles, SBA acting administrator, said loan applications for summer beach homes would be disapproved unless the dwellings were occupied by their owners year-round or were rented and returned prime income to the owner.

SBA disaster loans carry interest of three per cent.

The counties designated: North Carolina—Beaufort, Bladen, Brunswick, Carteret, Columbus, Craven, Cumberland, Duplin, Franklin, Greene, Hartnett, Johnston, Jones, Lenoir, Nash, New Hanover, Onslow, Pamlico, Pender, Pitt, Robeson, Sampson, Vance, Wake, Warren, Wayne and Wilson.

South Carolina—Dillon, Georgetown, Horry and Marion. Engles said temporary disaster loan offices would be opened this Friday in Wilmington, N. C., room 100A Custom House and in Myrtle Beach, S. C., city hall.

In addition, disaster loan applications may be filed at the SBA branch office, 102 W. Trade St., Charlotte, N. C., and at the regional office, 900 N. Lombardy St., Richmond, Va.

University Party Meets

The University Party will nominate candidates for dormitory Legislature seats tonight at 7:30 in the Roland Parker Lounges, announced party chairman Rueben Leonard yesterday.

Leonard asked all members who have been coming to party meetings and have not as yet turned in their list of names, designating them as representatives, to please do so by tomorrow night.

"All students who have not yet attended a meeting but would still like to do so are invited to attend," Leonard said.

Norval Luxon To Speak At National Convention

Dr. Norval Neil Luxon, Dean of the UNC School of Journalism, will speak twice at the national convention of the Associated College Press in Washington, D. C., next Friday.

He will speak on "Copy Editing" at 2:30 p.m. and on "The Editorial Page" at 3:30 p.m.

Fifty 'Research Stipends' Will Be Awarded In Social Science

The Social Science Research Council will, this year again award 50 "Undergraduate Research stipends" to college juniors who devote eight or more weeks during the summer to social science research under the guidance of designated faculty supervisors.

Faculty members of the departments of economics, sociology and anthropology, history and political science are available for further consultation. Fields in which research may be supported, however, are not bounded by departmental lines.

An acceptable project must consist of scientific research on some problem of human behavior, at a level at which the student will be able, with guidance, to participate actively in all phases of the research rather than merely to perform routine tasks. Experimental as well as documentary data may be employed.

Applications to the Social Science Research Council should be filed not later than Jan. 10, 1955 for action on or about April 1. A small number of awards may be allocated about June 1, 1955.

President Creasy Says He Doesn't Approve Measure For First-Offense Leniency

By LOUIS KRAAR

President Tom Creasy said yesterday he would not support the Honor System leniency bill—even if passed by the Legislature. The Student body chief executive said he thought the "principle of the plan was good," but added he objected to an automatic probation in every case.

The leniency bill, sponsored by Student Party Vice-Chairman David Reid, calls for probation as the usual punishment for first offenders. The Legislature will decide whether or not to pass the bill this Thursday night. The Ways and Means Committee, which reviewed the bill recently, will report it without recommendation for or against.

Creasy said that if the Legislature passed the leniency bill, he would veto it. He added that he has told Reid, sponsor of the leniency measure, that he would veto it if passed in its present form.

State-Of-Campus

The student body president said he will elaborate on his proposed program and its progress in a Thursday night state-of-the-campus address before the Legislature.

Asked if he would campaign for a University Party Legislature in the coming fall elections, Creasy said: "I think while it's my duty to work for the student body in general, I also have a duty to work for my party."

President Creasy called the system of having campus political parties "a necessary evil," and went on to explain that he has had a great deal of cooperation from the Student Party-controlled Legislature. (The SP holds a 39-11 majority in the Legislature.)

Creasy said he thought enforcement of the drinking rule on campus was effective. The rule is being enforced by the Inter-Fraternity Council, he said.

'Coalition Cabinet'

The student body president pointed to his "coalition cabinet" as an example of the cooperation between the parties that he said he has been trying to foster.

Thus far, the Cabinet has discussed the drinking situation on campus and the Honor System, he said. "With the rule that any member can call a meeting, everyone has a chance to present his particular problems to the Cabinet," Creasy explained.

Cabinet members are Ed McCurry, Vice-President Martin Jordan, UP Chairman Rueben Leonard and Babbie DiIorio of the University Party; SP Chairman Joel Fleishman, Don Geiger, Sonya Bergan, Treasurer Don Fowler of the Student Party; and independents John Medlin and Bill Sabiston.

Rushing Committee

Creasy also declared that the Student Rushing Committee formed last spring to consider various fraternity rushing problems, has been meeting. He said that a report from that group was expected soon.

Members of the Rushing Committee are Artie Newcombe, Warren Heeman, Bob Young, Myron Konklin, Gil Ragland, and Joe Maverric. Faculty member is Dr. Clayton Jones and Assistant Dean Roy Holsten represents the administration.

Political Season Starts As SP Begins Nominating Fall Slate

Nominations were opened last night in Student Party meeting for all offices which will be elected in the coming November elections. The offices for which nominations were made are the dormitory legislative seats, the town legislative seats, freshman class officers and junior class officers.

The nominations made were the following: for dorm mens' district 1, Louis Brumfield, David Reid; for dorm mens' district 2, Bob Harrington, Keith Snyder; for dorm mens' district 3, Bob Wilson, Morgan Hale, Jack Hudson, Bob Elbert; for dohm mens' district 5, Chuck May, Bill Baum, Jim Turner, Jerry Mayo.

For town mens' districts the nominations were the following: district 1, Sam Bernard, Marion Buie, Dan Wallace, Herb Wentz; district 2, Bill O'Sullivan, Don

Sauter's Band Rated Hit In Concerts Here

BY BERNIE WEISS

Eddie Sauter is a quiet man; his band is a loud organization, but together they made a big hit yesterday and last night at Memorial Hall when the Sauter-Finegan Orchestra presented two concerts for exponents of renovation in music.

Led by Sauter while his partner, Bill Finegan, remained in Atlanta to write more renovations, the band presented 21 numbers of top quality in a two hour show which captured the imagination and tapping toes of approximately 350 Carolina students. The second concert was given last night before a much larger audience.

Sauter was quite a contrast to the band, adding to the varieties of sound which filled the auditorium. He was quiet, seemingly nervous, but drew ripples of laughter with his quips. After one especially long session of applause following "Witchtalk," Sauter said "Thanks, I'm inclined to agree with you."

Superb

The band was superb. Eighteen men played some 75 instruments producing an infinite variety of sounds emanating from such unusual pieces as kazoo, sleigh bells, chimes, a harp, tubas, glockenspiel, recorders and oboes. The average popular band does not carry these instruments in its repertoire. The Sauter-Finegan group is different, producing different music with the accent on rhythm and percussion.

There was plenty of this yesterday. Three percussionists were going full blast throughout. In "Witchtalk," an original developed by drummer Mousey Alexander and percussionists Joe Venuto and Sperry Karris, the three men took off on an Afro-Cuban beat, each sideman replying to the call of another. The too

Playmakers Schedule Tryouts

Tryouts for Kermit Hunter's new play, "Darkening Shores," will be held at the Playmakers Theatre this afternoon at 4 and 7:30.

Scripts for "Darkening Shores" are available at the Dramatic Art

Office, 101 Saunders Hall. The pay calls for a cast of six men and two women. The production will be directed by Samuel Selden.

"Darkening Shores," a story of Communism in post-war Poland, will be given Nov. 10 through 14.

Wash. & Lee Talks Football

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—The governing body of Washington and Lee University talked over the weekend about an earlier decision to drop football, but its chairman reported no official action was taken.

James R. Caskie, rector of the board of trustees, said he "couldn't say" when asked whether the subject was slated for later action.

The Lexington, Va., university abandoned football this season. There has been agitation from some alumni quarters to resume the sport.

Eleven of the 16 trustees, along with University President Francis P. Giles, met today at a Washington hotel on what Caskie described as a number of "internal" school matters.

Church Union Meets Today

The meeting of the Southeastern Region of the American Church Union will be held today at St. Joseph's Episcopal Church in Durham.

At the meeting the Southeastern Region, which includes Georgia, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, will gather to hear an address by the Rt. Rev. Philip Nigel W. Strong, Bishop of New Guinea.

Bishop Strong was Senior Chaplain to the Australian Forces in 1943-45.

The program, beginning at 10:30 this morning, will also feature a student discussion group by members of the UNC student chapter of the ACU. Participating in the discussion will be W. H. Conrad, Greensboro, chairman; Patricia Carter, Chapel Hill, William G. Edwards, Tarboro, Richard Turner, Charlotte and Fredrick W. Vogle, Burlington, Vermont.

Management Institute Opens

The annual North Carolina Wholesaler Management Institute will open here today and will continue through Oct. 27. Dr. Rex Winslow, Director, UNC Bureau of Business Services and Research, announced yesterday.

An educational project for the direct benefit of top management of independent wholesale businesses in North Carolina, the Institute is the first in a series of conferences, seminars and institutes planned for the 1954-55 academic year by the School of Business Administration's Adult Education Program.

Enrollees were picked for their considerable business experience and important management responsibilities. Thirty hours of intensive instruction and informal conferences and discussions will make up the curriculum.

Some of the topics to be studied are sales management, managerial accounting, human relations, public speaking, the procedure for conducting a sales meeting and other general business problems.

The Institute is sponsored by the North Carolina Wholesaler's Association and the North Carolina Distributive Education Service in cooperation with the UNC School of Business Administration and Extension Division.

The Di meets at 8 p.m. on the third floor of New West.

Two More Days

All dentistry students, fourth year medical students, Germans Club officers and members of the Dance Committee will have Yack pictures taken today and tomorrow from 1 to 8 p.m. in Graham Memorial.

Juniors and seniors who missed having their pictures taken can have it done today and tomorrow for a $1 charge.
