

WEATHER

Sunny and somewhat warmer today, with expected high of 70; low, near 35.

VOLUME LVII No. 3 1

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1954

Offices In Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES TODAY

Consolidated University Is Telecasting At State Fair

WUNC-TV is using its facilities to telecast the State Fair now in progress in Raleigh through commercial television station WTVD in Durham.

With a "telecruiser" bus as a studio and four cameras distributed throughout the State Fair Arena, WUNC-TV transmits three half-hour programs daily.

The first series was telecast Tuesday and the last will be telecast Saturday.

For Hurricane-Stricken State:

Governor Umstead Formally Asks For Federal Assistance

RALEIGH—(P)—Gov. Umstead yesterday formally asked for $550,000 in federal aid to help Tar Heel communities repair essential services destroyed by Hurricane Hazel.

In addition, the governor and the Council of State allocated $100,000 from the State's contingency and emergency fund to help the stricken communities.

The State's hurricane disaster committee yesterday recommended to the governor that $420,000 be made available to Wrightsville, Carolina and Kure Beaches, Wrightsville, whose sewage system was wiped out, and Carolina were earmarked for $200,000 each and Kure for $20,000.

Today the committee recommended $235,000 for the Morehead City-Beaufort area; $100,000 for Atlantic Beach, $75,000 for Beaufort, and $60,000 for Morehead City.

In a telegram to President Eisenhower today, the governor said "The hardest hit communities in the coastal areas will require, in addition to funds they are able to provide, an allocation from outside sources, of $655,000 for the temporary restoration of basic public services, including, of course, water, sewage and other essential utilities.

"In addition to the services being rendered by all state, local and private agencies, the governor and Council of State today allocated the sum of $100,000, which is the maximum amount available from state funds.

"I urge you to make immediately available an allocation of $550,000 under authority of public law 875, 81st Congress, to supplement state, local and private agencies in their efforts in this major disaster."

Dr. Leavitt Honored

Dr. Sturgis E. Leavitt, Kenan Professor of Spanish and director of the Institute of Latin-American Studies at UNC, has been invited to participate in a five day conference on "Responsible Freedom in the Americas" to be held at Columbia University in New York beginning Oct. 25.

The conference will be held as a part of Columbia's bicentennial celebration which is being observed this year throughout the world.

Dr. Leavitt's paper on "Inter-American Student Exchange: A Key to Better Understanding" is scheduled for Oct. 26 and will be among some 44 papers to be given at the conference.

Invited to participate in the program are 25 selected scholars from the United States and 25 from Latin America.

Dr. Leavitt, who came to the University in 1917, is considered one of the outstanding authorities on the humanities in the South and is a former chairman of the Southern Humanities Conference.

The South Atlantic Modern Language Association, which he headed 1935-37, honored him last year with the publication of "South Atlantic Studies for Sturgis E. Leavitt," composed of articles written by 17 scholars and professors from institutions throughout the South and California. Dr. Leavitt served as editor of the South Atlantic Bulletin, official publication of the association for 15 years.

DR. STURGIS LEAVITT
... invited to Columbia

Gen. Renfrow Speaks Tonight

Brig Gen Louis H. Renfrow, Deputy Director of Selective Service, National Headquarters, Washington, D. C., will address members of the Spurgeon Dental and Whitehead Medical Societies of UNC tonight in the Clinic Auditorium on the fourth floor of Memorial Hospital.

Prof. Jaffee At Cincinnati

Dr. Hans H. Jaffee, a former UNC faculty member, has been appointed assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Cincinnati.

A native of Marburg, Germany, Dr. Jaffee lived in Chapel Hill eight years while working with the U. S. Public Health Service as physical chemist, and also serving as a faculty member of the Department of Experimental Medicine, UNC School of Public Health.

He completed his Ph.D. degree at UNC in 1952. He holds a B.S.

degree from the University of Iowa and an M.S. from Purdue University.

Dr. Jaffee came to the United States in 1940, and served with the U. S. Army from 1943 through 1946.

The author of many papers in scientific journals, he holds membership in the American Chemical Society, Phi Lambda Upsilon, and Sigma Xi.

Dr. Jaffee's wife and three children have joined him at their new home in Cincinnati.

Dorm Socials Discussed

Social chairmen from the men and women's dorms met jointly yesterday with Dave Reid, GMAB vice president, to discuss and outline a program of social events for the coming year.

Women's dorms have already outlined a social schedule with Sandra Wax serving as chairman.

Reid announced proposed plans to renovate the Rendevous Room and open its facilities to any dorm that wants to rent it. Socials held in the Rendevous Room and approved by the IDC will receive financial aid from the GMAB.

Manning Muntzing, IDC president, said that the program "is one of the best ideas that has ever been instigated for dorm recreation."

Student Proofs Ready

The proofs for the student section of the Student Directory will be at the Y this afternoon and all day tomorrow.

Anyone who wishes to check the proofs may see them during this time.

Legislature Interviews Today

Two days remain for students who are interested in attending the annual North Carolina State Student Legislature as delegates to be interviewed by the selection board. The board will meet tonight from 9 until 10:30 and tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 4:30 in the Woodhouse Conference Room. All students of the University are eligible for membership in the delegation from Carolina.

Applicants are asked questions on political topics primarily, and appointment to the delegation is based on the applicant's interest, presentation and factuality of information.

The legislature is composed of delegates from all colleges and universities in North Carolina, and size of delegations depend upon the size of the school represented. The body gathers to debate and make resolutions concerning matters of education, North Carolina, the nation and the world.

In 1936 the North Carolina State Student Legislature convened for the first time under the sponsorship of Pi Kappa Delta, forensic fraternity at North Carolina State. In the beginning the body was more a debating and oratorical society than a legislative group. In 1945, at the Ninth Annual Assembly, the controversial Glenn Resolution to admit delegates from North Carolina's Negro colleges was debated and passed. In 1947 Pi Kappa Delta and the Student Legislative Assembly were dissolved, but the Debate Council at Chapel Hill began all-out efforts to revive the assembly. Representatives from State, Meredith, WCU, C and UNC convened and agreed to continue the assembly, and in November of 1947 elected Earl Fitzgerald of Carolina president of a nucleus committee and James Cranford of State secretary-treasurer.

The Interim Council of the Legislature announced last week that the Student Legislature will convene in Raleigh November 18, 19 and 20. Carolina students Joel Fleishman and Susan Fink are members of the Interim Council.

WUNC-TV's microwave transmitter is located on top of the Arena and sends beams 25 miles to WTVD's tower in Durham.

The first program begins at 2:30 p.m. It consists of animal judging in the Arena. The second program, beginning at 4:15, is a production designed for women viewers. It features home economists from Woman's College and State College with flower arrangements and food preparation as a theme.

The final daily program begins at 5:30 p.m. and originates in the farm section of the Arena.

'Genuine Service'

Robert F. Schenkkan, director of WUNC-TV here, said yesterday, "This is a cooperative arrangement between WTVD and WUNC-TV. WUNC-TV considers this a genuine service to the state," he said, "which could not be done any other way since our transmitters are not on the air yet."

Two of the cameras are situated in a studio built by State Fair personnel at the main entrance to the Arena. The other two are placed at different levels in the central part of the Arena.

The director in charge of the operation sits in the "telecruiser" with the telecast equipment, directing cameramen and sending messages to workers on the floor of the Arena.

Schenkkan said yesterday that he did not wish to release the names of those responsible for the operation since "it would be impossible to distribute credit properly."

Images 'Good'

He said that the images being picked up by WTVD were "good." "This is encouraging," he said "because it assures us that in the future we will be able to get good pictures from the studio to the transmitter." WUNC-TV's transmitter, located near here, is scheduled to go on the air in December.

"Cooperation between a commercial and an educational station is unusual," said Schenkkan. "I don't know if it has ever been done before," he added.

He said that while telecasts from the fair were test programs, "at the same time they are a public service to the state and they give our people practice."

Images 'Good'

He said that the images being picked up by WTVD were "good." "This is encouraging," he said "because it assures us that in the future we will be able to get good pictures from the studio to the transmitter." WUNC-TV's transmitter, located near here, is scheduled to go on the air in December.

"Cooperation between a commercial and an educational station is unusual," said Schenkkan. "I don't know if it has ever been done before," he added.

He said that while telecasts from the fair were test programs, "at the same time they are a public service to the state and they give our people practice."

State Fair Opens In Raleigh With Hell Drivers & Tractors

RALEIGH—(P)—Some 60,000 persons, many in overcoats, turned out yesterday under clear skies for the second day of the big North Carolina State Fair.

Two grandstand shows, Jack Kochman's Hell Drivers and George Hamid's Hit Parade of 1954, played to a packed house.

One of yesterday's features was a tractor and farm machinery parade in which there were 60 pieces of the latest in mechanization.

A livestock parade of champions will be held today. Winners in pony, sheep, swine, unior dairy cattle and other cattle shows will be presented.

Warren County's Negro 4-H Club won first prize of $300 in the Negro 4-H exhibits yesterday. Craven won second and $250; Jones 3rd and $225, and Bertie, Richmond and Martin prizes of $175 each.

Sgt. R. S. Harris, of the State Highway Patrol, estimated 60,000 persons were at the fair at mid-afternoon yesterday.

A free attraction that is drawing large crowds is the folk festival headed by Bascom Lunsford.

More than 700 dancers and musicians from 20 counties will participate in the annual folk event, presented each day at 11 a. m., 2 p. m., and 5:30 p. m.

Harness horse and pony races will be held this afternoon.

Mrs. L. Y. Ballentine, wife of the state commissioner of agriculture, will crown dairy and beef cattle queens today at 7:45 p. m.

Young dairymen were in the

(See STATE FAIR, Page 4)

Condition 'Fair'

RALEIGH—(P)—A young North Carolina State College student who narrowly escaped death in a fusillade of pistol shots was reported in "fair" condition last night at Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill.

Paul Fulton, 29, Sanford, identified as an ex-convict, is accused of shooting Donald J. Johnson, of Raleigh after holding up a motor court near here. Police said Fulton forced the youth, employed at the motel, to drive him into Chat-ham.

Original reports were that Johnson was shot seven times. A Memorial Hospital spokesman reported he was shot nine times, seven times in the body and twice in the arm. The weapon was a nine-shot .22 caliber target pistol.

Fulton is being held without bond on an open charge pending the outcome of Johnson's wounds.

The Daily Tar Heel

Leniency Measure Before Student Legislature Tonight

THREE OFFICIALS of the student Legislature are shown above as they prepare for tonight's important session. From left to right, they are Parliamentarian Joel Fleishman, Clerk Caroline Davis and Speaker Martin Jordan.—Cornell Wright Photo.

High School Band Day: 53 Bands, 4,000 Musicians Coming For Wake Forest Game

Fifty-three bands, including more than 4,000 musicians, will be on hand in Kenan Stadium Saturday for the North Carolina - Wake Forest football game as UNC observes its annual High School Band Day.

The entire group of young musicians will take the field at half time under the direction of Earl Slocum, director of the North Carolina Band.

Included on the half time program will be "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," "Anvil Chorus," from Il Trovatore, "Finlandia," an excerpt from Hansel and Gretel, "Dear Old Wake Forest," and "Hark, the Sound." The group will also give a display of marching.

The North Carolina and Wake Forest bands will also participate in the half-time spectacle. Game time Saturday is 2 p. m.

The following high school bands and their directors will make up the ensemble: Asheboro, William Webster; Asheville, Joseph De Nardo; Aberdeen, E. H. Poole; Burlington, James Cole; Chapel Hill, Milton Bliss; Creedmore, Lula M. Williams; Concord, George Peck; Charlotte, David Serrins; Cary, H. B. Burt; Clinton, David Holder; Drexel, Kathryn Siphers; Greenville, James Rodgers; Lindley Jr. High, Greensboro, Herbert Hazelman; Central Jr. High, Greensboro, David Arner.

Aycock Jr. High, Greensboro, Sarah Murray; Proximity, Jr. High of Greensboro, George Toenes; Granite Quarry, Louis Bean; Hamlet, Robert Coburn; High Point, David Carter; Henderson, W. T. Hearne; Hanes, William Pennyhouse; Hickory, Landon Walker; Jamestown, Robert Ingram; Kernersville, John Shelton; Kings Mountain, Joseph Hedden.

Laurinburg, Rebecca Dickson; Lincolnton, Joseph Fields; Louisville, Earl Justice; Mt. Holly, Albert Black; Morganton, M. T. Cousins; Matthews, Douglas Hill; Mt. Olive, John Thompson; Mooresville, Robert Klepper; Nashville, Jeanne Montgomery; Newton-Conover, Joshua Taylor (Tyler); Oxford, Daniel Swanger; Plymouth, Ed-

(See 23 BANDS, Page 4)

Making their first American and professional appearance in "Ice Capades of 1955," Silvia and Michel—world-famous European skating champions—will be featured when John Harris' big ice show is presented in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at North Carolina State College Nov. 2-6. They are shown above in one of the intricate numbers which they will present during their Ice Capades performance.

Creasy Sets 'State Of Campus' Talk To Solons At 8 O'Clock

By LLOYD SHAW

After three weeks in committee, SP Vice Chairman David Reid's bill "liberalizing punishment in first offense cheating cases" will come before the student Legislature tonight.

The bill was reported out of the Ways and Means Committee last week by a vote of 4-2 with no recommendation to the Legislature.

Phi Votes In Favor Of Bill

Reid's bill has caused considerable controversy on campus. Student Body President Tom Creasy, who will deliver his "State of the Campus" speech at Legislature tonight, says he will veto the bill if it passes in its present form. A two-thirds vote of the Legislature is necessary to override a presidential veto.

If the vote does not pass the Legislature, a petition bearing approximately 600 names could call a referendum.

Creasy said this week that the "principle of the plan is good," but added he objected to an automatic probation in every case.

Reid says "There has long been a need for rehabilitation and correction, instead of mere punishment in first offense cases."

Sophomore Dance Bill

A bill asking $125 to help pay for a sophomore class dance will be voted on tonight. It was reported out of Finance Committee favorably by a 6-1 vote. An amendment was added to the bill in committee saying that the money appropriated should not exceed half the cost of the dance.

"The Summer School Activities Fee" bill, introduced by Student Party Chairman Joel Fleishman, was reported out of committee unanimously favorable for the second time. An amendment was added setting at 75c the money from the summer students fee going to Graham Memorial. The bill calls for a fee of $1.50 per student per term.

In his "State of the Campus" speech, Creasy will speak "on his program, what has been done, and what is planned."

The first article of Reid's bill says: "Convictions of persons for cheating where it is the first offense shall carry with it a maximum penalty of suspension for a period of one semester. The maximum penalty for first offense cheating shall only be imposed on such offenders as are judged by the council involved to be flagrant and premeditated violators. The usual punishment for first offense cheating convictions will be probation for a period of not less than one semester nor more than two semesters."

Article two says: "Individuals who have been placed on a probation status for cheating will be assigned by the Dean of Students office to a faculty counselor to whom the probationer shall report bi-weekly and at other times when needed to report progress and/or problems of adjustment."

Article three says: "No portion of this bill is to be interpreted as prohibiting or discouraging the imposition of more moderate penalties in cases where the council involved feels that the circumstances warrant a more lenient penalty."

In his reasoning before the bill, Reid says, "There has long been a need for rehabilitation and correction instead of mere punishment in first offense cheating cases brought before the Honor Council; and reform in this area would encourage more widespread participation in the operation of the Honor System since reporting an individual would not necessarily mean automatic suspension; and additional flexibility in the distribution of penalties of this nature would elevate the Honor Councils from their present positions closely akin to juries, to a position of true judicial bodies; and the primary function of the educational institution is to teach, not punish."

Miss Nancy Whisnant, chairman of the Women's Honors Council, in a letter to The Daily Tar Heel, said recently, "If it is passed, I believe that it would lower the entire standards of the campus, and thus would greatly damage the future of the present Honor System."

Reid's bill, which will be voted upon in student Legislature tonight, provides for lesser penalties for students convicted of cheating and other Honor System offenses.

Rep. John Curtis spoke against the Reid Bill. Speaker Frank Warren, Jr., called for the bill to be brought up at the next meeting in view of the fact that Sen. Reid was present.

Sen. Reid, speaking on the bill for leniency, said the bill was not his original idea and that it came from the Judicial Study Commission and from Gene Cooke, the chairman of the commission, when they met this summer.

Sen. Reid said Article 1 was the portion of the bill receiving the most misunderstanding.

The first article states that convictions of persons for cheating where it is the first offense, shall carry a maximum penalty of suspension of one semester, and that the maximum is only to be imposed on persons judged to be flagrant and premeditated violators. The bill proposes a period of not less than one semester nor more than two semesters for first offense violators.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

Reid said first offense cheating cases not turned in promptly by the offender immediately would be suspended.

He said the Honor Council did not believe in Honor and that they did not know the meaning of the word, "premeditated."

Sen. Reid said it was sometimes impossible to keep from cheating under certain circumstances. The bill would violate precedent, but a new precedent needed to be established, Reid contended.

(See PHI VOTES, Page 4)