UP Wants To Exempt Vets From Required Phys. Ed.

Party Feels Ex-GI's Need More Academic Life; Legislature Will Get Measure Tonight

The University Party tonight will introduce a bill in student Legislature to exempt all veterans who can pass the fundamentals test from the one year of required physical education.

Rueben Leonard, chairman of the University Party, said yesterday, "The University Party feels that since veterans have been out of school much longer than the average freshman, that it takes more time for them to adapt themselves to academic life."

Tar Heels Got Cold In Hurry Yesterday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolinians turned from the heat of the political campaigns to another favorite subject today—the weather.

Winter's initial assault on the state found several temperatures well below freezing yesterday, with more of the same predicted today.

Low temperatures of 15 to 20 were predicted for the mountains, with readings of 22 to 28 elsewhere. Increasing cloudiness and somewhat warmer was the forecast for today.

As a result, the reported a low of 19 Wednesday morning. Charlotte had a shivering 24, Greensboro reported 25, Raleigh 28 and Wilmington 29.

UNC Agencies Contributed To Negro Study

Two University agencies have already made contributions to the study of racial integration in the public schools as the result of the U. S. Supreme Court decision.

The New York Times, in the Sunday edition, October 31, gave high praise to the University's Institute of Government for its recent report to Governor William B. Umstead on the background of the decision and possible solutions.

"Historically and statistically and for its educational value, the Institute's report is almost without parallel in this field of research," the Times' editorial said. Entitled "A Southern Reconnaissance," the editorial mentioned various Southern groups who have responded cooperatively to the Supreme Court's requests for help from the states in implementing the law.

Governor Umstead's Special Advisory Commission on Education was described as "an able, non-political" group studying the public school system of the State.

Lefler Wins Award

THE WACHOVIA HISTORICAL Society has awarded its Spangenberg medal to Dr. Hugh T. Lefler "in recognition of his excellent 'North Carolina, The History of a Southern State.'"

This medal was "presented as a token of recognition by the Society of important historical contribution to North Carolina's history."

The medal was presented in behalf of the Society by Dr. Douglas L. Rights, Winston-Salem, its president.

Solons Will Get 13 Bills

Thirteen bills will come before student Legislature at 7 o'clock tonight in Phi Hall, New East, including a resolution concerning Rush Week quizzes, a bill setting up a Veteran Affairs Commission, and a resolution putting the student Legislature on record as being "absolutely opposed to any rise in tuition."

A resolution establishing a Judicial Problems Study Commission; a bill establishing a Legislature Complaint Board; a bill which would establish a board for negotiating with the administration; a resolution asking for a spotlight at the gym; a resolution commending the IDC and establishing a Social Activities Commission; a resolution which would initiate a study of the legislative and executive branches of student government; a bill placing a legislature in charge of Victory Village affairs in the Legislature; a bill setting up a training program for new student government officers, and a resolution establishing a commission to study the problems presented by the lack of University housing will be acted on.

Dean Spruill said yesterday that he knew there was much dissatisfaction on the part of all concerned with the present physical education set-up. He also said that the present policy of the one year required physical education was formulated by the Administrative Board of the General College and submitted to the Faculty Council. The Faculty Council represents the whole faculty in all faculty affairs.

The bill will be in the form of a resolution to be presented to the Administrative Board.

The UP completed nominations for candidates for the coming elections Tuesday night in an unusually long session, which lasted more than two hours.

Before the nominations began, Bev Webb gave a legislature report and discussed the bills introduced by the party at the last meeting of the legislature. He discussed at length the bill concerning the abolishment of quizzes during fraternity rush week, and also told of the bills to be introduced in the near future.

Charles Ackerman gave a publicity report and discussed types of publicity to be used in the coming elections.

The complete slate of nominations is as follows: Dorm Men's I, Buzz Merritt and Steve Phelps; Dorm Men's II, Bill Blue and Dave Whitaker; Dorm Men's III, Bob Stapleton, Bill Groce and Bill Ginn; Dorm Men's IV, Bill Kirkman and Lionel King; Dorm Men's V, Pat Hunter, John Zollicoffer and Jim Montie.

Town Men's I, Jack Stevens, Colin McMillan, Hoke Thompson, Larry Cobb, Jim Martin and Tom Johnson; Town Men's II, Jim Exum; Town Men's III, Jim Beatty, Charles Ackerman, Jerry Harrington, Watt Huntley and Lamont Krimminger; Town Women's, Bebe Baumann; Dorm Women's, Luanne Thornton, Laura Ervin, Nan Brown and Jane Coker.

Junior Class Officers: President, Bill Sanders; vice president, Ken Anderson; secretary, Anne Warren; treasurer, Al Resnick, and social chairman, Mary Dunn.

Ed Jordan, attorney general, said, "I sincerely feel that the University Party has the most qualified and responsible candidates running in this election that it has ever had before. They are outstanding."

Chairman Leonard said, "The meeting was undoubtedly the best that the University Party has ever had. There was more enthusiasm present than there is at most Carolina pep rallies. We are confident that we have the best candidates, and we feel sure that the students know it."

'Camille' Tonight

Graham Memorial Activities Board will present Greta Garbo in the most celebrated film of her career, "Camille," tonight at 8 o'clock in Carroll Hall Auditorium. Season tickets, which cover the eight remaining films of the season, cost $2.00 and will be sold at the door.

Peace Trio To Sing Here

THE PEACE College trio, made up of (left to right) Betsy Ann Newsome of Raleigh, Caroline Hackney of Sanford, Fla., and Ruth Sidon of Lawrence, Mass. will be part of the entertainment on hand for the IDC blanket party and radio broadcast of "Our Best to You" Friday night.

100 Gallons Of Coffee Set For Blanket Party

Some 25 young coeds carrying "night club" trays will mingle with the crowd Friday night passing out cookies as Jimmy Capps' "Our Best to You" is presented in the Upper and Lower Quads.

The girls, who will be representatives from the Stray Greeks, Women's Residence Council and the Interdependent Women's Council, will be giving out some 250 dozen cookies from Thell's Bakery.

The Interdormitory Council, which is sponsoring the blanket party and radio broadcast, is also furnishing 100 gallons of coffee through the courtesy of Lenoir Dining Hall.

John Beshara, chairman of the IDC Social Committee, said, "We had originally planned to serve hot chocolate instead of coffee, but we were unable to arrange for anybody to handle such a big order."

"The problem involved was one of keeping the chocolate hot and no one had the facilities. Thanks must go to Mr. Phillaman, manager of Lenoir Dining Hall, who has gone to great efforts in supplying the tremendous amount of coffee. We hope that everybody will be just as happy or happier with the coffee, which will be good and hot."

More than 400 requests have been received by Capps from UNC students for songs on the Friday night show. He has said that he will fill all of them he possibly can.

More than 500 Explorer Scouts attending the annual Explorer Vocational Conference here will also be present for the broadcast.

Arrangements have been made through the cooperation of Marilyn Zager, president of Smith dormitory and the Independent Women's Council, to have groups of men from the various dormitories to escort groups of coeds to the pep rally and the show.

A number of live entertainers will also be present on the Capps show. Among them will be David Phipps, baritone from Durham; Becky Lee, Miss Dunn of 1954, who will do pantomimes; Chee-Chee and Tom Davis, brother and sister dance team; a girls trio from Peace College and the University Band.

Torchlight Parade Friday Night Starts Homecoming Weekend

Activities for the homecoming celebration to take place this weekend will begin with a parade tomorrow night and end with the Homecoming Dance Saturday night.

Plans are being made for tomorrow night's torchlight parade, which will be led by the University Band.

The halftime activities of the UNC-USC football game on Saturday will include the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, a precision drill exhibition by the Air Force ROTC's crack drill squadron and special card stunts.

A special planetarium show following the game will be held in addition to the regular show that night at 8:30.

A Homecoming Dance will be sponsored Saturday night by the Order of the Grail. It will be held from nine until midnight in Woolen Gymnasium. The Homecoming Queen will reign, and music will be furnished by Jimmy Johnson.

The Jimmy Johnson Orchestra was formed in the fall of 1953. The group, composed mainly of Carolina students, was organized to provide a college band that Carolina could call its own.

Johnson has played at all the Grail sponsored dances this year and had a long list of engagements last year, including many fraternity, sorority and independent campus affairs.

Norman Thomas Will Speak Here Tonight

Socialist's Talk Is Set In Hill At 8

Norman Thomas, Socialist Party leader, will speak in Hill Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

The subject of Thomas' speech will be "America's Political Poverty." He has announced that he will discuss "the lack of basic thinking in politics and our instrumental poverty in the light of the election results."

Thomas is being sponsored by the Carolina Forum, "official agency of Student Government of UNC established to bring speakers of state, national and world importance to the campus."

A delegation of UNC students with representatives of the Forum, Student Government and Division of Student Affairs will meet Thomas when he arrives this afternoon at 2:10 at Raleigh-Durham Airport.

An informal discussion in Morehead Faculty Lounge will follow Thomas' arrival in Chapel Hill. There at 4 o'clock this afternoon Thomas will meet with the faculty and graduate students of the History Department.

Thomas will be the guest of honor at a private dinner given by the Carolina Forum at 6:30 this afternoon, and at a reception in Graham Memorial following his address.

Thomas has run for many offices on the Socialist Party ticket, including the offices of mayor of New York City and governor of New York State. He has campaigned for the presidency of the United States six times on the socialist ticket.

Thomas, who has campaigned for world disarmament, is national chairman of the Post War World Council. He is also active in the League for Industrial Democracy, the Workers Defense League and the American Civil Liberties Union. He is a member of the national executive committee of the Socialist Party, is president of the Call Association which publishes "The Call," America's outstanding Socialist journal.

Thomas, who is a radio commentator for the Socialist Call, has written numerous books and pamphlets about America's political conditions. Among his books are Appeal to the Nations, What Is Our Destiny? Human Exploitation, America's Way Out, A Socialist's Faith and The Test of Freedom.

Queen Voting

Voting for the Homecoming Queen will be done today and tomorrow in Y court.

The candidates will include girls sponsored by each women's dormitory and sorority. The queen will be elected by popular vote.

Pictures of the candidates will be on the bulletin board of the Y during the voting.

The queen, whose election is sponsored by the University Club, will be crowned during halftime ceremonies of the football game and will reign at the dance Saturday night.

Fired Catawba Profs Win Right To Papers

By LOUIS KRAAR
DTH Associate Editor

DURHAM, Nov. 3—Two fired Catawba College music professors who are suing their former college for a "malicious and unfair" dismissal won the right to examine certain college documents after an afternoon of courtroom drama.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher J. Thomas, the two former profes-

William Dalton, Jr., attorney for the Thomases, took the position that the two teachers were fired for saying at a faculty meeting that Catawba College President A. R. Keppel was involved in embezzlement and for reporting to a dean homosexuality in the Music Department, which Thomas headed.

"We have to prove these things. And to do it we need the papers. Our position is that the things Mr. Thomas said were true," the attorney said.

Catawba College attorney Stable Lynn, Jr., termed the document request "merely a fishing expedition or scavenger hunt to see what they (the professors) can find." He added, "The reason we deny the plaintiffs the right to have these papers is that they do not pertain to the contract."

And Barney T. Jones, attorney for the Thomases, argued, "This is not just a breach of contract. This is a malicious breach of contract. The plaintiff in this action has been falsely accused and discharged."

Jones said that the papers he wanted would show that the professors were wrongfully fired. He concluded, "It is the ugliest picture I have ever seen."

sors, asked Durham Superior Court Judge Clifton L. Moore for 20 documents—several of which relate to alleged embezzlement and homosexuality on the Salisbury college campus. And Judge Moore, reversing a decision of Orange County's Superior Court clerk, granted all but four.

The Thomases were discharged from the college for alleged disloyalty to the administration in 1952. Since then, the American Association of University Professors have declared that the music teachers "were devoted" and "did not fail in loyalty."

The affair started several years ago with an argument over "standards" in the Catawba Music Department, according to Thomas. The discharged professor, who now lives in Chapel Hill, said: "I wanted high standards, and he (the college president) didn't."

Young GOP's Meet Tonight

Porter Griggs, president of the UNC Young Republican Club, in announcing his group's meeting tonight, said yesterday, "The officers of the YRC are very upset over the seemingly one-sided view of The Daily Tar Heel's editorial page. With Herblock and Drew Pearson running daily with their respective blasts at the GOP, we can't understand why the editor and his associates must also force their pro-Democratic party views on the campus and student body."

The club is meeting tonight in Roland Parker Lounge number 1 of Graham Memorial at 7 o'clock. Griggs said that "The Daily Tar Heel issue and the Carolina Forum" would be discussed.
