Baptists Hear Dr. Poteat Speak On Christ & World

Some 70 Baptist students heard Dr. William H. Poteat of the UNC Philosophy Department discuss the topic "Jesus Christ—the Hope of the World" Sunday night.

The professor first questioned the truth of his topic, pointing out that such a statement is doubtful if one means that Christ is our ultimate hope. But in the sense that He is our hope for tomorrow, the statement is no doubt a truthful one, Dr. Poteat told the students.

Dr. Poteat concluded by saying that if the Christian holds the belief that Jesus Christ is the hope of the world, then nothing can happen tomorrow that will rob his or her existence of meaning.
