'Fury' Not Too Raunchy, But Good, Says Sherman

"We hope people will come with a light hearted attitude and be out for a good night of entertainment," said Lew Sherman, chairman of the Graham Memorial Activities Board dance committee, yesterday concerning the coming production of the newly reorganized Sound and Fury.

The reorganization of the stock company is being sponsored by the dance committee.

The show, which will be given tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall, is a satire on Broadway and Hollywood productions according to Sherman.

In explaining the purpose of reorganization of Sound and Fury, Sherman said, "During the war there was a Sound and Fury group. These people were originally Playmakers who broke from them due to dissatisfaction, and formed Sound and Fury. The shows they gave were on the type we have now except they were more raunchy than this one. As a result they were asked to disband. We are attempting to revive Sound and Fury.

"If this show is a success, which we feel it will be, Sound and Fury will again be an organization to stay. All we need is a little enthusiasm from the students on campus.

"By reviving it we are following their theme as far as locale, which is campus life," continued Sherman. "We are being a little suggestive, but at the same time we are keeping in mind what happened to the other Sound and Fury."

In describing the coming show, Sherman said, "Although we think we have a great show here, done in a professional manner, we are not a professional. We are just students who are very much interested in giving this campus something which we feel is very worthwhile. The cast is working very hard on the show and is having a hell of a lot of fun doing it. We hope that a people coming will have a hell of a lot of fun watching it."

The first part of the show entitled Can Can, puts Chapel Hill in Paris by way of student exchange, said Sherman. The second part concerns the daughter of a pajama factory magnate and is titled Pajama Dame.

Although the songs which are used in the show are from the Broadway productions, Can Can and Pajama Game, the script is original and pertains to campus life, according to Sherman.

"I feel we have the type of material in this show that the body would go for. The lines are quick, clever and get to the point. The songs and dances are very colorful. Sound and Fury will add color to Carolina."

Sherman urged that people in dormitories, sororities and fraternities be at Memorial Hall tomorrow night to support the people that represent their dorms, sororities and fraternities.

"They have worked hard and long and deserve a packed theater," he concluded.

2 UNC Alumni Named To New Insurance Posts

J. Richard Hammer and John P. Rogers, both of Chapel Hill and graduates of the University, have been appointed special representatives of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Co., it was announced here yesterday.

Provident attaches said a new office, under direction of Hammer and Rogers, is being opened in the Tankersley Building on E. Franklin St.

Both Hammer and Rogers and their wives are alumni of UNC.

-New Cut System-

The new ruling will mean one more cut per semester as far as physical education classes are concerned. Allowed only two cuts under the present system, students will be able to take three cuts in physical education per semester. Said Marvin Allen of the Physical Education Department: "We're like any other department in the University, and will abide by any rule the Faculty Council passes."
