

Tar Heel Quint Out To Avenge Terp Football Defeat

Carolina Host To Maryland At 8 Tonight

"Revenge!" will be the word of the Tar Heels tonight.

Carolina meets Maryland's Terrapins in an Atlantic Coast Conference fray scheduled for 8 o'clock at the Woollen Gym, and Tar Heel coach Frank McGuire had only one thing to say about the game yesterday.

"We're out to get revenge for what they did to us in football."

In October, the football Tar Heels followed a hurricane to College Park, getting only four hours sleep on a late train, and were humbled on the grid by a band of red-shirted Terps, 33-0.

The score is expected to be much closer tonight, and the local following is hoping it will be "worm-turning time."

However profuse the "hoping" may be, the game will not be any push-over. Maryland, given an outside chance to cop honors in the conference this season, has shown up very well in early games and presents a definite threat to any of the Big Four teams. The Terps have already whipped Duke, and they lost to Wake Forest only after an over-time period.

Possession Offense

Maryland, which lost All-American Gene Shuo last season via graduation, has changed this season to a possession type of offense which is something different in the high-scoring ACC. Most games thus far have been characterized by scores of 100 points or better but the first Terp-Blue Devil game, for example, was a 49-47 win for Maryland.

To combat the slow-moving offense, McGuire plans to use a collapse man-to-man defense, which should contain some of the expert shooting of forwards Bob Kessler, Frank Fuqua, and center Bob Everett. The coaching staff here easily admits that these three players are helping to make up one of the ACC's best quints.

Furthermore, the Terrapin defense and rebounding is "terrific," according to freshman coach Bruce Freeman. Everett and Fuqua, 6'6" and 6'8", respectively, comprise the Maryland rebounding power. They will probably work out of a double pivot on offense.

Scouting

Carolina yesterday wen through brief but spirited drills in the gym and last night the team was at Duke Indoor Stadium getting an advance view of Maryland. Coach McGuire says his team is in top shape and ready to get revenge.

The probable starting lineups:

Carolina	Maryland
Rosenbluth	F Kessler
Vayda	F Everett
Likins	C Fuqua
Lifson	G O'Brien
Ridovitch	G Dillworth

Freshmen Meet Charlotte In 6:15 O'Clock Prelim

The game will be preceded by a freshman game, commencing at 6:15 o'clock.

The Tar Babies will take on Charlotte High School in the preliminary.

Unbeaten, the frosh will be seeking their seventh victory of the year, and with the return of Bob Cunningham to the starting line-up, appear to be a safe bet. Cunningham, 6'3" forward from New York City, injured his ankle two weeks ago, aggravated the injury last week, but said after Thursday's victory over Campbell College that the ankle felt fine.

Four Service Grid Teams Battle For Rice Bowl Bid

TOKYO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Football teams from all four U. S. military services battle this weekend for a berth in Japan's Rice Bowl game New Year's Day.

An Air Force squad meets a Navy team in Tokyo's huge Meiji Stadium tomorrow and Sunday the Army will take on the Marines. Winners of the two games will meet in Tokyo New Year's Day for the Far East service championship.

JERRY VAYDA

This steady Tar Heel will be starting at forward tonight when Carolina takes on Maryland's Terrapins at the Woollen Gym in an ACC game at 8 o'clock. Vayda, from Bayonne, N. J., is 6'4" tall, weighs 198 pounds. Tonight's game will be preceded by the freshman-Charlotte High School contest at 6:15 o'clock.

WUNC's Shows For Christmas

A number of special Christmas programs have been scheduled for broadcast on WUNC during the next few days.

Tonight WUNC will sign on at 7 o'clock with a program of carols from New College, Oxford, England. At 7:30, a dramatized Christmas story will be presented, and a British radio drama, "A Tailor of Gloucester," is scheduled at 9:30.

Sunday, two special programs are to be aired. "A Vera Lynn Christmas" is scheduled at 7 o'clock, and the regular Evening Masterwork selection at 10 o'clock will be Verdi's "Requiem."

There are five Christmas programs on Monday evening. First a drama from the British Broadcasting Corporation at 7 o'clock, "Little Gold Shoe." At 7:45, there will be carols by the Robert Shaw Chorale. At 8:30, another BBC drama, "Song Beneath the Snow." "The Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols" is scheduled on WUNC at 9 o'clock Monday, and the regular Evening Masterwork program will feature Handel's "Faithful Shepherd Suite," and the sacred arias sung by Eleanor Steber.

Tuesday, the 7 o'clock program will be played on the organ by Virgil Fox. At 7:50, a dramatic production of "A Child This Day Is Born," a BBC drama, is scheduled. At 8:20 WUNC will broadcast Menotti's Christmas opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors." This will be followed at 9:20 by the drama, "Organge In The Toe," and at 9:45 by a program of choral works. The Evening Masterwork program Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock is a performance of Berlioz' "Requiem."

Coeds End Season

By JACKIE MCCARTHY

The women's hockey club recently downed Guilford College 3-1 to finish the season with a 2-1-1 record. Playing their best game of the season, the Carolina lassies displayed some beautiful passing on the forward line, and some sterling defensive play. Trailing 1-0 at halftime, the Carolina coeds stormed from behind to down a fighting Guilford team. Wing Chappie Chapman, playing her last game for Carolina, scored in the second half, as did inner Joan Haley. Joan played perhaps her best game of the season, scoring twice.

Juniors and freshman players on the team this year are: Joan Haley, Janie Clement, Robin Fuller, Charlotte Lilly, Linda Garris, Nancy Nusscaur, Pat Carter, Carol Taylor, Amy Morse and Ann Miser.

Miss Marilyn Crawford, coach of the team, was very pleased with the showing of the team. She said that the girls improved consistently with each game they played. The opening game with Meredith College ended in a 0-0 tie. The team then lost a game to powerful Women's College 3-1, and then bounced back to trounce Duke 2-0 and Guilford 3-1.

It was a good season for the Carolina girls. It is hoped that more coeds will turn out for hockey club next season. With most of this year's team returning, Carolina should have a winning hockey club next year.

Yanks Ready For Aussies

BRISBANE, Dec. 18 Saturday

"Bring on the Australians" was the confident cry of the American Davis Cup forces today as they prepared the final mopup of Sweden in the interzone finals. The exuberant highridding Yanks clinched a berth in the challenge round yesterday when Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert scored a smashing 58-minute doubles triumph over Sven Davidson and Lennart Bergelin 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Following the first day singles victories, this gave Uncle Sam a 3-0 lead in the best-of-five match series and turned today's final two singles tests into a meaningless anti-climax.

Ham Richardson, young Rhodes Scholarship winner from Bratton Rouge, La., was substituted for veteran Seixas with consent of the Swedes and will make his first Davis Cup appearance in Australia against Davidson. The other match sends Trabert, straight set conqueror of Davidson on the first day, against the wily 29-year-old Bergelin who carried Seixas to five hard sets.

U. S. Capt. Bill Talbert explained he desired to make the Richardson switch in order not to take chances with Seixas, who apparently is at the very peak of his form.

"Suppose Vic went out and hurt his leg as he did last year or had some other misfortune which might hurt his morale. We want to keep him hungry."

"We are now ready for the Australians. Bring them on. We came out of the Swedish matches at a physical and mental high and things look mighty good."

The team leaves Sunday for Sydney and a week of practices before the challenge round Dec. 27-29 on the White City Courts.

Bell, Millner Quit Redskins

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Herman Ball and Wayne Millner, veterans of professional football, quit today as assistant coaches of the Washington Redskins.

Announcing their resignations, the club said head coach Joe Kuharich will choose replacements shortly.

General Manager Dick McCann said Ball "has several offers to remain in pro football but may take a business offer instead."

McCann said Millner, who spent 1951 as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, stepped out in order to devote all his time as assistant general manager of an automobile sales firm in Washington.

Ball, former assistant coach at the University of Maryland, has been with the Washington club 11 seasons. He took over as head coach in the middle of the 1949 season and lasted as top man until part way through the 1951 schedule.

He wound up as director of personnel, offensive and backfield coach.

Millner, one of Notre Dame's all-time great ends, served 16 of his 19 years in pro football with the Redskins. The first several were as a player. Later he has coached the ends.

Carter Gets Hickock Honor

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Jimmy Carter, first fighter ever to regain a world championship twice, today was named the winner of the November award in the Hickock pro athlete of the year poll for his spectacular 15th technical knockout of Paddy De Marco.

The lightweight champion lost his crown to De Marco by decision on March 5. In their return in San Francisco, Nov. 17, Carter handed De Marco a sound trouncing, stopping him in the last round.

Carter received 29 first place votes and a total of 122 points on a 3-2-1 basis from a panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Frank Selvy, the high scoring pro basketball player was second with 78 points.

CONSENT, NOT CONTROL

The test of democracy is not control but consent. Moreover, real consent does not mean voting once every four years and then ignoring some mysterious "they" as being "the Government." Consent must be a continuous process. We must explain this ourselves, and it is a continuous process. We must explain that we must explain it more clearly to others.—New York Times.

IT'S A FACT! College smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands—and by a wide margin—according to the latest, greatest coast-to-coast college survey. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Now for the Droodle above, titled: Inept smoke ring blown by ept smoker. He's ept, of course, because he smokes Luckies. Be ept yourself and enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.
