

Rosenbluth Scores 22 As UNC Downs S. C., 73-64

Al Lifson Scores 17, Vayda 14; Tar Heels At Clemson Tonight

Close Guarding By South Carolina Fails To Contain Rosie; Fanin's 19 USC's Top

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 14 (AP)—Sharpshooting Lennie Rosenbluth flipped in nine field goals here tonight to break South Carolina's back and give his North Carolina Tar Heels a 73-64 Atlantic Coast Conference basketball win.

The 6-5 sophomore forward provided scoring punch time after time when close South Carolina guarding seemed to have the North Carolinians stymied.

Guard Al Lifson gave fillip to the North Carolina offense by snaring 17 points mostly on long shots, to come in second to Rosenbluth's 22.

The Tar Heels tonight travel to Clemson, S. C. where they meet the Clemson Tigers in another ACC contest.

The lead changed three times and was tied twice in the first 10 minutes, at which point North Carolina took charge and never let go.

It took only six minutes of the second half for the winner to spread a 10-point halftime advantage with 20 points.

With eight minutes left, North Carolina put on a partial freeze as South Carolina had closed the gap down to nine, mostly on some slick floor shots by guard Bennie Fannin.

The Box:

North Carolina	G	F	P	Total
Rosenbluth	9	4	2	22

Carolina Gym Team Tackles Navy Tonight

The gymnastic team, which defeated Jersey City Department of Recreation 51-43 in its first outing, travels to Annapolis to take on Navy this afternoon.

High scorers for the team in its Jersey City meet were Gordon Hudson and Co-captain Pete Brumley. Co-captain Biff Howard trails by only five points and is third.

Coach Bill Meade, quoted as saying this is the best team Carolina ever had, expects this to be a close meet. Navy beat Jersey City by a score of 52-43 earlier in the season.

Meade expects to have a little trouble since two of his tumblers, Qualls and Williams, will be unable to make the trip because of dental admissions exam. Another drawback is the three-event limitation followed by the Midshipmen. This will pull Hudson of the high bar.

The Tar Heels will probably use Brumley and Gilleland on the mats; Howard, Brumley and Hudson on the side horse; Wilson and Howard on the high bar; Rivera and Collins on the rope climb; LeGrand, Hudson and Howard on the parallel bars; and Grantham, Brumley and Hudson on the flying rings.

Frosh Tankmen Meet Richmond Team Today

The frosh swimmers take on Richmond YMCA this afternoon at 2:15 in Bowman-Gray indoor pool.

Victorious in their first three meets, the team is striving for an undefeated season, having beaten High Point High School twice and last Saturday downing Greensboro High. The Richmond YMCA team defeated the Virginia Frosh last Saturday in Charlottesville.

Coach Dick Jamerson has been experimenting with his boys and as yet has made no final decision as to the probable lineup.

CUFF NOTES

By BERNIE WEISS

I wasn't around during the developing stages of the Atlantic Coast Conference, but it was not necessary to be on hand to read between the lines and do a bit of interpreting.

The under-lying motive for the birth of the ACC, though it was not obvious and there were no salient facts to support it, was to create an athletic league which would in turn develop football in this area to the point where it would become "big time."

Another reason was that there were too many teams in the Southern Conference (something like 16) and two leagues could operate much more effectively, competition-wise, than one.

But if football power was a cause in the making of the ACC, its purpose was accomplished. The conference tied up with the mid-western Big Seven in an Orange Bowl contract. The teams of Maryland and Duke have certainly made their mark on the national picture, not only through their bowl appearances but also during the regular season.

Recently, however, the ACC has gained a name in basketball. The N. C. State Wolfpack, though a top team in the nation is being rivaled by a number of clubs for the ACC title. It won't be long ere King Case will be booted off the throne he has held so long.

The Pack was rated second in the nation this week, according to an associated Press poll of writers. Maryland's Terrapins, who have begun to command the respect of the country under Bud Millikan's direction, are rated 11th. Duke isn't far behind, and other ACC teams would be up there high too if they didn't have to beat their brains out against each other.

The conference is producing more than its share of individual stars. Wake Forest claims the nation's leading scorer over a four-year period in Dick Hemric. Virginia in Buzz Wilkinson has the country's No. 5 point man for the season. Clemson's Bill Yarborough is No. 3 across the nation. Carolina's Rosenbluth is No. 10.

For the Southern Conference, the situation is bouncing merrily along also. Furman, the top offensive team, Richmond and George Washington, along with West Virginia, have gained national recognition.

So, what should have been a football circuit is instead a fertile forest for the growth of basketball giants.

Maryland's 68-64 victory over State Thursday night at College Park is a sign of events to come. Facing State for the first time since 1951, the Terps proved that Case is not invincible in the ACC. Duke almost pulled the trick last week, and Carolina scared the wits out of some 12,500 fans at the Reynolds Coliseum during the Dixie Classic. The Tar Heels led by five points, but slipped under the strain and lost by three.

State is host to Wake Forest tonight, and it wouldn't come as a surprise to me if Hemric and his cohorts walked away with the win, though it won't be easy and it is unlikely.

The Pack is due for a tumble. Carolina may jerk the rug, and if the Tar Heels don't certainly Maryland, Duke, Wake, or even South Carolina (with Yarborough) or Virginia (with Wilkinson) will. It is only a matter of time.

Blue Devils Host To Virginia In Durham Tonight, 8 o'Clock

After two conference wins earlier in the week to bring their ACC record to 5-2, Duke's Blue Devils seek their third league win of the week tonight at 8:15 in Duke Indoor Stadium when they meet the University of Virginia's Cavaliers and their potent one-two scoring punch of Buzz Wilkinson and Bob McCarty. The contest will close out the pre-examination schedule for the Blue Devils.

In a preliminary to the Duke-Virginia varsity clash Coach Tony Drago's Duke freshmen, co-favorites to capture the Big Four frosh title, entertain the potent Cherry Point Marines. Game time is 6:30.

Cavalier Coach Evan Male has the Atlantic Coast Conference's highest scoring duo in the persons of guard Wilkinson and forward McCarty. According to the latest figures released by the ACC Service Bureau, Wilkinson leads the scoring parade with a 31.2 average. Not far behind him in sixth place is teammate McCarty with a 22.5 mark.

UNC Thinclads Meet State Today

By RAY LINKER

Indoor track season opens for the Tar Heels when they hook up with N. C. State at 2:15 this afternoon in the Tin Can. Both the freshmen and varsity will oppose the Wolfpack hurriers.

The long distance men and the hurdlers will probably show up best for the Heels. Boyd Newnam, Jim Beatty, and Bob Barden will seek firsts in the 880, mile, and two-mile, while Claude Rhule and Richard Waters will set the pace in both the high and low hurdles. Roger Morris, performing equally well in the shot and discus, is another Carolina strong man.

Leaders in the other events are Charles Yarborough in the pole vault and broad jump, Jim McGhee in the broad jump, Ken Bryant in the high jump, and Jay Zimmerman and Jim Bynum in the dashes.

Pole vaulter John Upchurch and hurdler Gene Drury are two important men the freshmen will be counting on heavily, along with Bob Allison in the shot and discus and Jim Carraway in the high jump.
