Authors-Lecturers Set For Meets Next Week

Dr. and Mrs. Sherwood Eddy, authors, lecturers and world travelers, will be on the Carolina campus next Tuesday through Thursday. The YMCA and YWCA are sponsoring several meetings with them Tuesday.

A tea and informal discussion with Dr. and Mrs. Eddy will be held at 4 p. m. Tuesday in Graham Memorial Lounge. Mrs. Eddy will address coeds at a meeting at 7 p. m. in the Episcopal parish house. Her topic is "Women in the International Scene."

Dr. Eddy is the author of 36 volumes on international, social and religious questions, including his autobiography, Eighty Adventurous Years. Graduated from Yale in 1891, Sherwood Eddy went to India for student work and later became secretary for Asia of the YMCA.

Mrs. Louise Eddy, graduate of MacMurray College, has served the YWCA in Toledo, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil and from 1939-1946 was general secretary of the National YWCA in Canada. She holds offices in many national, state and local organizations.

Dr. and Mrs. Eddy are now making tours across the nation speaking in colleges, universities and churches.

Jean Rayburn, Charlotte, YWCA speaker's chairman, and Roy Taylor, Greenville, YMCA speaker's chairman, are in charge of arrangements for the Eddy's visit.

FTA Selects This Year's Top Couple

The Frank Porter Graham Chapter of the Future Teachers of America, UNC, has recognized Joan Leonard, Asheville, and Herbert B. Stephens, Glen Alpine, as Miss and Mr. Representative Teacher of the year. Dr. Don Tarbet of the School of Education announced yesterday.

Each year a committee composed of faculty and students of the School of Education select representative teachers to be presented at the State Convention of the North Carolina Education.

Miss Leonard, who has served as treasurer of the local chapter of FTA and at present is the State Secretary of Future Teachers of America, is completing requirements to become an elementary teacher. Stephens is Vice-President of the local chapter of FTA, and is preparing to teach English and Fine Arts in secondary school.

Night Classes In Art Slated

Person Hall Art Gallery is again offering an evening sketch class this spring for people in the community and surrounding areas, according to a spokesman for Person Hall.

The spokesman said that the class, set up for people with no previous training in art, will meet on Wednesday evenings from 7 until 9 o'clock, beginning next Wednesday and running for 13 weeks.

The fee including materials will be $13. Robert Howard of the art department staff will be instructor.

'Nothing New'

"I have heard nothing new concerning whether Mr. Truman is coming or not," Dr. Alex Heard said yesterday.

Dr. Heard, chairman of the Committee on Established Lectures, has asked former President Harry Truman to deliver the annual Weil Lectures this spring.

Dr. Heard said that he would announce as soon as he knew if Truman could come.

GM Sets Recorded Concerts

Graham Memorial Student Union will present a new program of recorded concerts starting Monday, John Ludwig, chairman of Graham Memorial's Special Events Committee, announced yesterday.

The purpose of the program is to assure full usage of the facilities in Graham Memorial, he said. Up to the present time, commented Ludwig, students have been asked to request those records they would like to hear but only a few students have made the requests.

The program is designed on the basis of the poll recently conducted in Graham Memorial. The questionnaire included inquiries as to what time of day, what day of the week, what type of music, and at what volume students wished to hear recorded concerts.

The results of the poll showed that students wanted classical selections of music to be heard late in the afternoon and evening. Students, according to the poll, preferred to listen to the music at a medium volume. This would permit both listening and reading at the same time.

The program material is as follows: Monday, Broadway musicals; Tuesday, popular classics (more familiar works); Wednesday, modern classics; Thursday, heavy classics (Mozart); Friday, quiet music (Jackie Gleason, Ray Anthony); Saturday, I. special concert and II. popular classics concert; Sunday, I. classical and II. special concert.

Special concerts are placed in the program for the students to make requests for works not presented in the program. Selections can be made from the Graham Memorial Library and records used from Kemp's Record Shop.

The program has been set up so that all weekday concerts will be scheduled from 4 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Saturday and Sunday I. concerts will be from 4:00 to 6:00 p. m. All Saturday and Sunday II. concerts will be from 8 to 10 o'clock in the evening. Times for radio broadcasts will be announced.

President Creasy To Talk To Profs Today In Opposition To Cut System

Executive Committee Termed 'Resolved' Against Fee Hike

By JACKIE GOODMAN

"I am strongly opposed to any fee raise and along with my committee have resolved to plan our action in a way that we can best fight the proposed fee raise," said student body President Tom Creasy yesterday.

Creasy said that when a dormitory fee raise was proposed by the Advisory Budget Commission to the state legislature Jan. 6, he appointed a group of students to study the problem with him.

"In the past several weeks we have done considerable research and have talked with many people in both an official and unofficial capacity in an effort to arrive at a course of action in the best interest of all," said Creasy. "As a result of this the committee has unanimously agreed that any increase in fees should be strongly opposed," he continued.

The student body president said that the plan of action which he and the committee will take against the proposed raise has not been decided upon yet. He mentioned several courses of action, however, which included appearing before the Legislature, writing to the legislators and personally contacting the members of the Legislature individually.

"Although our plan of action has not been as yet determined, we are determined to make a good fight against proposed fee raises," said Creasy.

In giving reasons why he is taking a stand against dorm fee raises, Creasy said, "For one thing, I feel that while there are many students here in school that can well afford to pay the cost it is now and take care of a raise, I am mainly concerned with how many promising students will be kept out altogether by a raise."

COST DOUBLED

Creasy said that the established minimum cost of attending UNC has doubled from $475 in 1938 to $950 now.

"We as students and the men of the state as our legislative representatives should not forget that one of the cornerstones of University tradition is that the doors have been kept open to qualified applicants irrespective of financial circumstances," said the student body president.

"Also," he continued, "there are many living distinguished alumni of this university that could not have come here at all except for that tradition, not excepting the Governor himself."

"For these reasons," concluded Creasy, "and because I feel that to limit our student body because of high expenses today would limit the leadership of four state tomorrow."

Members of the committee which has been studying the proposed committee with Creasy are Miss Ruth Jones, Louis Brumfield, Miss Sandra Wax, Bob Wilson, Miss Nan Brown, Miss Nancy Whisman, Martin Jordan, Joel Fleishman, Charlie Hyatt, Raymond Taylors, Ed McCurry and Bill Sabiston.

Kollegian In College

According to a story appearing in yesterday's Durham Morning Herald, "A former faculty member of the College of Musical Knowledge is going back to school."

"Georgia Carroll, who was married to the old professor Kay Kyser while serving on his staff, has enrolled as a special student at the University of North Carolina," said the story.

Miss Carroll, who said that she has audited courses here before, will take a course in sketching this semester, according to The Herald.

From Infantile Paralysis Group:

Pediatrics Dept. Of Medical School Gets $29,683 Grant

The Pediatrics Department of the UNC Medical School has received a grant from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The grant, amounting to $29,683, was allotted for research on practical methods for distinguishing between non-paralytic poliomyelitis and other diseases with similar symptoms.

Dr. Edward C. Curnen Jr., professor and head of the Pediatrics Department, will head the research staff. Dr. Curnen and his associates have established laboratory procedures already which will aid in identifying the viruses recovered from blood, fecal samples, or other specimens from patients with suspected poliomyelitis.

APO's Book Exchange Is Now In Operation

The student book exchange run by Alpha Phi Omega is now in full operation in New East Annex.

The book exchange will be run on a strictly non-profit basis with only a 10 percent fee of the book price charged by APO.

The system is set up so that students bring their used books to the exchange, set their own prices and fill out the claim forms. One of these forms the student will keep, one APO will have and one will be placed in the book. When the book has been sold, APO will notify the student and he will collect his price.

Hours for the book exchange are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily and until noon on Saturdays. The book exchange will run through next Wednesday.

Two Profs See Their Volume Go On Sale

Two professors in the University Sociology Department saw their book go on sale here Tuesday.

Rupert B. Vance and Nicholas J. Demerath, editors of the book, The Urban South, were assisted by Chapel Hillians F. Stuart Charvin Jr., associate professor of city planning; Floyd Hunter, associate professor in the School of Social Work; Elizabeth Fink, executive and editorial assistant in social science, and Sara Smith, now an instructor in the sociology department at Woman's College.

The volume consists of a series of studies on the process of the South's urbanization. Cost of the book is $5. It was released by the University Press.

The book is on exhibition in the front hall of the University Library.

Two UNC Students Are Fined In Traffic Court

Two UNC students were fined in court here this week.

Charles S. Ackerman, 121 W. Rosemary St., was served a warrant this week in Town Hall for parking at a fire hydrant.

Ackerman, whose home address is 210 W. 90th St., New York, N. Y., was released on a $50 bond. It was his second offense since Dec. 15.

TRI DELTA SUPPER

Delta Delta Delta will give a spaghetti supper as its annual scholarship benefit Sunday from 6 until 8 p. m.

The supper will be held at the Tri Delta house and the tickets may be obtained from any Tri Delta for $1 each.

20-Cent Days Gone

The price of cigarettes at Graham Memorial, formerly 20 cents, has increased to 23 cents per package.

The cigarette machine in the first-floor hall, in the past geared to receive two dimes, now requires 25 cents for operation, returning two cents change.

Jim Wallace, director of Graham Memorial, says any decrease or increase in the price of cigarettes is a result of Graham Memorial policies, and not of the University.

All profits derived from the cigarettes go directly to the student union, as they have done in the past, he said, and the reason for the increase was stated as being an opportunity to enlarge the student union budget, and thereby aid the students who participate in Student Union Activities, according to Wallace.

Chief Will Carry Out Legislature Resolution

Student body President Tom Creasy said yesterday that he will appear before the Faculty Council this afternoon to express opposition to certain parts of the new cut system which was voted into existence by the Council last Nov. 19.

According to Creasy, his appearance will be the result of a resolution presented to the student Legislature by Manning Muntzing and Max Crohn and passed by that body which opposed some parts of the system.

After the resolution had been signed by him as president of the student body, Muntzing and Crohn began research on the cut system and also formulated arguments against parts of it, according to Creasy.

"I have been working with Manning for the last few days, and . . . I will present the argument for the student body before the Faculty Council," Creasy said.

The bill passed by the student Legislature at its last session which favored certain changes in the cut ruling was introduced and voted upon at the same meeting. The group suspended its rules to facilitate the vote.

The recommended changes which were proposed for the consideration of the General Council of the faculty, were: that undergraduates taking courses listed in the General Catalogue for advanced undergraduate and graduate, and junior and senior electives, be put on attendance probation after missing 20 per cent of their classes; that such students be dropped from the course in question after missing 25 per cent of the classes; that the dean of the school or college in which the student is registered determine whether the student will remain in residence after dropping two or more courses; and that the work taken up while a student was in unexcused absence be made up at the convenience of the student and the instructor.

The judges this year will be Mrs. Doris Betts, winner of the 1953 Mademoiselle College Fiction Contest, and John Ehle, writer for WUNC's American Adventure and instructor in the Radio Department.

To deadline for all entries in the Contest will be April 1. Winning entries will be published in the spring Quarterly. The judges reserve the right to withhold the awards if, in their opinions, the entries do not deserve them.

Last year, the winning story was Louise Hardman's "The Last Beach." It was first printed in the Quarterly, then in Mademoiselle, women's magazine.

Athletic Club Slates Plans

A list of plans for the spring semester for the Monogram Club has been drawn up, according to club president Wilbur Jones.

These plans include continued sponsorship of the Blue-White football game which climaxes spring football practice. The game will probably be played on March 12 this year. Also in connection with the Blue-White game, the club will sponsor a "Miss Blue and White" contest for a queen to reign over the game, Jones said.

Trophies will be awarded at the game to the varsity coach of the year and the freshman coach, as chosen by the club. The winning team will also receive a trophy.

The club is also planning to sponsor a party for orphans during the Easter season.

To Be Telecast

The Duke-Carolina clash to-night in Woollen Gym will be televised over WUNC-TV, according to Athletic Director Chuck Erickson.

Erickson said previous friction between Big Four schools as to the televising of contests has been settled.

Actual telecast will begin with the freshman game between the Baby Devils and the Tar Babies at 6:30 p. m.

Erickson said he still was not sure whether the N. C. State-Carolina game here later this month will be televised.

STATISTICS COLLOQUIUM

"Inverting certain patterned matrices occurring in statistics" will be the subject of a talk by S. N. Roy, professor of statistics, at the meeting of the Colloquium Hall. Discussion will follow his talk.

The Quarterly Starts Annual Fiction Contest

For the fifth year in a row, the Carolina Quarterly is running a fiction contest, but now there are two prizes instead of one.

In previous years, a prize of $50 has been awarded to the writer of the best short story. This year, an additional prize of $25 will be given to the runner-up.

Authors must be enrolled in the Consolidated University at the time their work is submitted. Manuscripts should be between 1,500 and 5,000 words long, typewritten and unsigned. The author's name and address should be attached on a separate sheet of paper.

The judges this year will be Mrs. Doris Betts, winner of the 1953 Mademoiselle College Fiction Contest, and John Ehle, writer for WUNC's American Adventure and instructor in the Radio Department.

To deadline for all entries in the Contest will be April 1. Winning entries will be published in the spring Quarterly. The judges reserve the right to withhold the awards if, in their opinions, the entries do not deserve them.

Last year, the winning story was Louise Hardman's "The Last Beach." It was first printed in the Quarterly, then in Mademoiselle, women's magazine.

Speaker Hails Open & Free Universities

"Our colleges and universities must remain open and free as a means of seeking the truth in this age of some hysteria," Dr. Raymond Paty, member of the three-man board of directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority, told an audience here last week.

"There is a necessity for freedom of the mind and freedom of disagreement if we are to come to adequate solutions of the problems of the 20th century," he added.

Dr. Paty, formerly president of the University of Alabama and chancellor of the University of Georgia, spoke before Emory University alumni from the Chapel Hill-Durham-Raleigh area at a dinner session in the Carolina Inn.

There are some 100 Emory alumni in the area, said William Geer of the UNC social science faculty. Geer pointed out that similar meetings of the university's alumni are being held at this time all over the country.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY

Eugene Mertzbacher of the physics department will speak on "Polarization in High Energy Scattering and the Nuclear Shell Model," and Professor F. Burton Jones of the math department will discuss "An Elementary Two Color Problem" at the meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society to be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in Phillips Hall.

INTERNATIONAL DANCE GROUP

The International Folk Dance Group will meet at 7 p. m. Sunday at Hillel House, 210 W. Cameron Ave.
