Offices In Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES TODAY

... REASONABLE PLAN...'

Petition To Uphold Integration Opinion Bill Friday Promoted To UNC Secretary Now In Circulation

A petition calling for "appropriate legislative action" by the state Legislature to uphold the Supreme Court's decision regarding segregation will be put into circulation this morning, according to the petition's sponsor. The petition, calling for "the Legislature of the State of North Carolina to implement a reasonable plan that will uphold this de-from Williamston, yesterday.

In announcing his petition, Levin APO said, "I urge all those students who are in favor of this petition vice fraternity, will have its regand wish to circulate it in their ular meeting tonight at 7 o'clock particular dorm, sorority or fra- in the APO room of Graham Meternity to contact me in Y Court | morial. this morning or as soon as possible. BLAZER FITTINGS Only through a successful unity | Today is the last day that fitdent body," he added.

follows:

"Inasmuch as the recent student petition supporting racial segregation in the public school system has presented a false and incomplete picture of the opinion of the entire student body, and further, that if this country dom and the democratic way of life to the rest of the world, then the University of North Carolina must serve as a similar example to all Americans in supporting the decision of the United States Supreme Court regarding racial segregation; therefore, be it resolved that we, the undersigned, students of the University of North Carolina to implement a reasonable plan that will uphold this decision by appropriate legislative action."

the petition will gain "at least free to all students and will fea-2,000" names. However, he empha- ture lessons in bop, mambo, samsized the fact that he needs help ba, rumba, advanced fox trot and! spewing gasoline and parts 300 in circulating it.

tion in public honorary pre-medical fraternity, schools) by ap-proriate legisla- Will sponsor a talk by Dr. E. McG. Hedgpeth, chairman of the board tive action," will of admissions of the School of begin circula- Medicine, tonight at 8 p. m. in tion on the UNC 207 Venable Hall. Dr. Hedgpeth campus today, will speak on what the board of said sponsor Ron Levin, senior admissions expects of pre-medical from Williamston, yesterday.

Alpha Phi Omega, national ser-

of effort and purpose can we hope tings will be taken for UNC blato meet with any significant stu- zers. The fittings will be taken today from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. The complete petition reads as in the basement of Graham Memorial.

tonight at 7:30 in Roland Parker Lounges Nos. 1 and 2. GEOLOGY TALK consulting geologist from Lakesion of Some Mechanical Factors program, sponsored by Sigma Gam- Lenoir Hall with guests welcome. Gray's assistant, Friday served for ma Epsilon, geological honorary the Atkinson Milling Company of students here. He has often said society, will be held at 8 o'clock in 112 New East.

The Dance Committee of Graham Memorial Activities Board will offer advanced dance instruction every Tuesday beginning today

The instructions will be given from 6:30 until 8 p. m. in the Levin said he anticipates that Rendevous Room. They will be

HEDGPETH TALK

Alpha Epsilon Delta, national

UNIVERSITY PARTY

The University Party will meet

Tonight Harry B. Cannon, Sr., land, Fla., will present "A discus-and continuing until April 19.

TUESDAY DANCES

Charleston.

New Office Is Created For Gray's Assistant

He's now Secretary Friday.

William C. Friday, who has served as assistant to Presi-| dent Gordon Gray since April, 1951, has been promoted to Secretary of the University of North he University and will "serve as" taff officer to the President on student affairs and development programs, and shall be the service officer to the Board of Trus-BILL FRIDAY tees, its officers and committees. . . . Secretary Friday now

Aid Organizer To Talk Here

Minn., organizer of the Million cial assignments which are out-Dollar Fellowship Fund of the side the regular jurisdiction of American Association of Univer- other University officials, and by sity Women, will speak at a dinner acting as the President's personal meeting of the Chapel Hill group representative when so designation tonight at 6 o'clock.

The meeting will be held in tee of the Frederick G. Atkinson has left him with the feeling that Trust, has served as vice president of the national AAUW.

Jet Crashes

RALEIGH, Feb. 14- (P) - A jet fighter plane plummeted into a field 11 miles south of Raleigh tonight and disintegrated, yards or more.

He shall assist the President in maintaining effective liaison with members of the Legislature, University Councils and Committes, University officials, alumni and students.' Secretary Friday will also assist Mrs. John Rood, of Minneapolis, the President by performing "Spe-

Prior to his appointment as Mrs. Rood, who is director of three years as assistant dean of Minneapolis and executor and trus- that his work with the students "it was something that really showed some resuls." His popularity with the students was evinced by a big vote of thanks given him by the entire student body when he resigned to accept the > new office. Friday is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Latham Friday of Dallas. The to the former Ida Willa Howell of Lumberton, and they have one daughter, Frances, age 3.

10 Profs Receive Kenan Professorships

Kenan Profs Named

Ten new Kenan Professors were announced here yesterday. Professorship Endowment and Re- teacher, he deserves recognition Those honored are, top row, left to right: Dr. Gordon Blackwell, Dr. Richard Bond, Dudley Carroll; second row, Dr. Preston Epps, Dr. Hugh Lefler, Dr. Loren MacKinney; bottom row, Dr. Arthur Roe, Dr. M. T. Van Hecke, Dr. William Wells and Dr. William Wiley.

SP Names Campaigners Debate Spikes Session

The Student Party named two of Don Geiger. Appointed to hold the its strategists for the forthcom- position of financial coordinator ing spring elections last evening was Bob Harrington, party treasin a session which saw the ex- urer. The selection of the third 34-year-old executive is married change of theories by a pair of organizer for the campaign, the SP leaders.

Elected as general campaign coordinator was the party chairman.

publicity coordinator, was left at the disposal of the party chairman.

The convening was wound up with Geiger expressing confidence that the "SP can and will capture the spring elections."

Trustees' High Honor Awards Are Announced

Elevation of 10 UNC faculty members to the highlyselect group of Kenan Professors has been approved by the University of North Carolina Board of Trustee's executive committee, upon recommendation of President Gordon Gray and Chancellor Robert House.

The new Kenan professors are Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, noted sociologist and director of the Institution for Research in So-| Dr. Richmond Bond: "Provocacial Science; Dr. Richmond P. tive, enthusiastic and exacting Bond, international authority on teacher, Dr. Bond has aroused and English literature; Dudley D. sustained the interest of a wid-Carroll, professor of economics ening circle of undergraduate and and dean emeritus of the School graduate students in English litof Commerce; Dr. Preston H. Epps, erature. His writings and lec-Greek professor and translator; tures at University of London Dr. Hugh T. Lefler, professor of have won him an international history and award-winning writer; position of prominence and hon-Dr. Loren C. MacKinney, pro- or."

fessor of medieval history; Dr. | Dudley D. Carroll: "As founder Arthur Roe, chairman of the and, for 30 years, Dean of the Chemistry Department; Dr. M. T. Commerce School, Mr. Carroll led Van Hecke, professor of law and in the development of an essenformer Dean of the Law School; tial new division of the Univer-Dr. William S. Wells, professor of sity . . . In his teaching of con-English composition and litera- troversial material in the field of ture; and Dr. William L. Wiley, social reform, he is an exemplar professor of French language and of intellectual and moral integliterature.

HIGH HONORS

ing one of the highest honors that of the Committee on Scholartrustees can bestow on the Uni- ships." versity's teaching staff members, Dr. Preston Epps: "Translator are made possible by the Kenan of Greek classics and outstanding serve Fund.

University in 1917 by the will of tation of classical virtues . . . the late Mrs. Mary Lily Kenan Dr. Hugh T. Lefler: "The award Bingham, in memory of her fath- of the Mayflower Cup to Dr. Lefer, William R. Kenan, and her un- ler in 1954 marked him as the cles, James G. Kenan and Thomas preeminent contemporary histor-S. Kenan, who were graduates of ian of North Carolina. His tire-of merit for men who have dis- students." tinguished themselves here as Dr. L. C. MacKinney: "Publicascholars and teachers.

Dr. Gordon Blackwell: "A writing and teaching in Medieval teacher, author of books and ar- and Renaissance studies are a noticles, promoter and director of table element of strength in one research, and worker for higher of the University's fields of highlearning and finer citizenship in st achievement." the South, Dr. Blackwell has Dr. Arthur Roe: "He combines the majority of posts available in brought credit to himself and dis- with distinction active investigatinction to the University."

rity. Since 1936 he has borne the main burden of the awarding of undergraduate scholarships in his Kenan professorships, represent- distinguished work as chairman

The fund was established at the manity, and persuasive interpre-less, colorful and uncompromis-The Kenan Fund serves not only ing teaching of the history of our as a means of drawing and keep- state and nation have won for him ing men of the highest caliber comparable acclaim in his work on the faculty, but also as an awrad with undergraduate and advanced tion of books and articles has The Kenan professorships brought to him international recawarded and their citations fol- ognition as an authority on medicine of the Middle Ages. His

(See KENAN, page 4)

170,000 BOOKS, CLIPPINGS, NEWSPAPERS:

N. C. Collection Is Living History Lesson

By BARBARA WILLARD

Don't let the solid mohogany furniture and the period rooms fool you, that's a library. Every day or so, however, some student walks into the North Carolina Collection main reading room and cupies the rooms, and part of says, "Can you check books out the Raleigh collection is in the of here?" Wel, you sure can- old world bookcase. anything from a Thomas Wolfe The Raleigh collection includes Durham, endowed the Collection. novel to early North Carolina Sir Walter's writings, biographies His portrait, along with one of

NO SELECTION

Miss Mary L. Thornton, librar- "RIVER HOUSE" PANELING is carefully preserved."

· Miss Thornton came to the Uni- ton, built in that year. sistant librarian, and Mrs. Jane DEVELOPMENT OF COLLECTION as a source of plot and back- are enclosed in bronze grillwork also. Miss Thornton remarked on C. Bahnsen, assistant librarian.

tion daily.

LIVING HISTORY

Time spent in this section of UNC's library is a living history lesson. The Sir Walter Raleigh rooms, in which stands a lifelike carved wooden statue of the versatile adventurer, adquately reproduce another age. The two rooms are done in Jacobean paneling, made in England during the Tudor period, about 1590. Period furniture oc-is extremly rare.

to be included in the North Car- make up the North Carolina Col- Collection. Hill is a graduate of lection shows it to be a story with- books and manuscripts written by olina Collection is very simple- lection are reproductions of rooms UNC and was on the Board of out end, there is no selection. Every book, typical of a North Carolina home Trustees for many years. pamphlet, article that can be se- around 1750. The yellow heart The coming of Miss Thornton can be used outside the library, life. Even the picture post cards cured, relating to North Carolina, pine wall paneling was taken from as curator in 1917 was a great some of it is either too rare or bought every day, with North Car-her present position in 1917, when plete with even a spinning wheel, ment. the State Collection was housed in sets a stage for a move backward Newspapermen use it for re- each. Hill Hall. Working with her now into time, The North Carolina search. Writers of North Carolina Certain rare collections, such as state life, the treasures of today, are William S. Powell, first as- Collection moves forward also. fiction find it has limitless value the complete O'Henry Collection, but every aspect of today's life

The collection as it now stands lection at the University was politicians, the collection pro- Thomas Wolfe Collection, paced collection, which is the most difcontains about 170,000 items, in- started by the North Carolina vides the needed information in there by his family. It includes ficult to keep complete, "Our cluding books, pamphlets, clip- Historical Society. The Society this State. . pings, pictures, newspapers and made an effort to secure "one ALL THE PEOPLE magazines. Documents on current or more copies" of everything "We aim not to aid only stu- ily. First editions and foreign edi- to us to seem of importance as add to the ever-growing collec- 1875, and secured some valuable able to authors, teachers, report- Miss Thorton, is "an unbroken file the future as the historical docu-

It wasn't until 1907 that the North Carolina." collection, as it is known today, was begun. Louis R. Wilson, University Librarian for 31 years, took advantage of the that year to call attention to a growing need. He made the state aware of the importance of preserving its records, its history, its people.

The state rallied to his call, and John Sprunt Hill, retired industrialist and philanthropist from and related data, some of which Bruce Cotten, who left his col-

The first North Carolina Col- ground material. From artists to in the walls, Among these is the the current affairs part of the events, which Miss Thornton says published about North Carolina. dents," Miss Thornton says, "but tions of his books are part of the history." are much more difficult to ob- The Society was killed out by to serve all the people of North collection.

tables and chairs, excellent stu- many ways, once said, "A universdy aids. The tables are re- ity must, like other things, have plicas of a Chippendale table a center from which to draw its

the other furniture. This furni- without a strong heart."

the old "River House" at Nixon- step in the advancement of the too expensive to leave the col- olina scenes on them, have their collection, for she had been more lection room. One volume is place in the Colection. versity of North Carolina and to Furniture of the period, com- than significant in its develop- valued at over $1,000 and several TREASURES FOR THE FUTURE volumes are worth more than $100

> letters and albums of photographs daily life, aiso a changing picof Wolfe and members of his fam- ture, furnishes too little contrast and all other person interested in dating back to 1777. This is one day. or the few complete files in the The North Carolina Collection is The collection is designed to world." be a working collection. In the HEART OF UNIVERSITY found in a North Carolina home strength and sustenance. And such prior to 1880. A photograph of a center is its library. It's as the table was used to design impossible to think of a great the library tables, and the chairs university without a strong library were designed to blend with as to think of a great athlete ture was also a gift from Hill. A serious effort has been made

The entire suite of rooms that to collect in this part of the Unilection of North Carolina material make up the collection present versity's library, for the students to the collection, hangs in the a moving story of North Carolina, and the people of the state, all ian, says, "Selection of material Three rooms in the suite that main reading room of the State and the rapid growth of the col- state papers, authentic documents, North Carolinians or having a di-Although most of the material rect bearing on North Carolina

Not only does the collection represent every aspect of past

What is being collected today, tain than historical documents, the Civil War, but it rose again in Carolina. Our resources are avail- The rarest item, according to however, will be as important in documents still contained in the ers, government officials, lawyers of the session laws of the state ments that are of such value to> day by day laying up treasures from which University students and main reading room, with its out- Paul Green, Chapel Hill play- all over the state will continue to standing 18th century architec- wright, author of "Lost Colony" benefit.

Salzburg Marionettes To Appear Here

The marionettes shown above, appear in "Concert at Schoenbrunn" with the Salzburg Marionette Theatre, which will appear here tonight. The appearance is sponsored by the Chapel Hill Concert Series and will begin at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall. Student tickets are available at the information booth in Graham Memorial. The price is $1.00 each.